The Northwestern Farmer and Breeder, formerly published at Fargo, N. Dakota, but removed to St. Paul, Minn. last spring has been very much improved since its change of base, and is giving the farmers a very much better paper than when it was printed in Fargo. Its recent illustrated articles on the Jim River Artesian basin, have been excellent. It is now discussing the subject of growing sugar beets in the Northwest. Each number has departements devoted to Sheep, Cattle, The Horses, The Farm, Household, and a page devoted to the dicussion of Tariff and other Economic questions in which all farmers take a lively interest. A sample copy, with premium list will be sent to all who address: Northwestern Farmer and Breeder, 146 East 3rd St, St. Paul, Minn.

If you are interested in increasing the profits of the farm, read our clubbing offer with Farm, Stock and Home in this issue.

WHO IS IT?

BREEDER'S GAZETTE

A "SOLID" man of course—one who farms with his brains as well as his hands, and who knows that to make the farm pay in these times requires good live-stock. No man who keeps good stock can afford to be without The Breeder's Gazette. It is the acknowledged head of the American live-stock press, and we should like to see it in the hands of all our intelligent stock owners. It is a large, handsomely illustrated weekly, furnished at $3 per year, or in clubs of five or more at $1.50 each. Send for a free sample copy, or enclose twenty cents postage for the magnificent Christmas Number. Address

J. H. SANDERS PUB. CO.,
210 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law,
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST.

PUBLISHED 50 YEARS CONSECUTIVELY.

RECOGNIZED as the BEST RURAL and FAMILY PERIODICAL in the WORLD, giving Invaluable Help, the Best Information, Thousands of Plans, Practical and Useful hints and Suggestions, and THOUSANDS OF ORIGINAL ENGRAVINGS ANNUALLY. Try it this year, it will Pay You well. No one can read a number without getting thoroughly Reliable and Practical Information. Profitable to Everybody. Each number contains Sketches of Labor-helping Contrivances to aid In-door and Out-door Work. Fine Engravings of Animals, Plants Flowers, Out-buildings, with many Pleasing, Instructive Pictures for Young and Old. Subscription price $1.50 a year.

We are desirous to make this the BANNER YEAR in CIRCULATION, which is now over 100,000 copies monthly.

OUR PREMIUM OFFER.

THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD CYCLOPÆDIA. Price $1.00. Bound in Cloth and Gilt. A Complete Ready Reference Library for Farmers, Gardeners, Fruit Growers, Stockmen and Housekeepers, containing a large fund of Useful Information, Facts, Hints and Suggestions, in the various Departments of Agriculture. Horticulture, Live Stock Raising, Poultry Keeping, Bee Keeping, Dairy Farming, Fertilizers, Rural Architecture, Farm Implements, Household Management, Domestic Affairs, Cookery, Ladies' Fancy Work, Floriculture, Medical Matters, Etc

Containing 644 Pages, with 249 Illustrations.

This Valuable Book furnished with the AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST ONE YEAR, for $1.60, or for only 10 cents additional to the subscription price, paying postage on book.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,

CROOKSTON, MINN.,

Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plainand Fancy

DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, FLANNELS,

BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for	$1.00
Rhadames for	1.00
Faille Francais for	1.00
Gros Grain for	1.00
Satin Luxors for	1.00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS.—

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel	20 cents.
54 inch Tricot	35 "
54 inch Flannel	45 "
54 inch best all wool Flannel	75 "
36 inch Henriettas	25 "

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for	30 cents.
" " "	35 "
" " medicated, for	40 "

A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket	$1.50
" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket	2.00
" 4½ lb. 10¼ white "	4.50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dry Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

The Queen's Latest Offer.

A Free Education or One Year's Travel in Europe.

In the Queen's "Word Contest," which the publishers of that magazine annouce as the last one they will ever offer, a free education, consisting of a three years' course in any Canadian or American Seminary of College, including all expenses, tuition and board, to be paid by the publishers of The Queen, or one year abroad, consisting of one entire year's travel in Europe, all expenses to be paid, will be given to the person sending them the largest list of words made from the text which is announced in the last issue of The Queen. A special deposit of $750 has been made in The Dominion Bank of Canada, to carry out this offer. Many other useful and valuable prizes will be awarded in order of merit. The publishers of The Queen have made their popular family magazine famous throughout both Canada and the United States by the liberal prizes given in their previous competitions, and as this will positively be the last one offered, they intend to make it excel all others as regards the value of the prizes. Send six two cent U. S. stamps for copy of The Queen containing the text, complete rules and list of prizes. Address The Canadian Queen, Toronto, Canada. [33-40]

For a plain, practical and instructive paper, made largely by farmers and wholly for farmers, Farm, Stock and Home of Minneapolis, Minn. has no equal among agricultural journals. We can furnish it in connection with the JOURNAL one year for only $1,50.

Toledo Weekly Blade.

1891.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

THE most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding, year after year, a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

NEW story to commence first of the year, written especially for the Blade by Oliver Optic. "Money Maker Series." A series of special articles on "Side Issues," written for The Blade. Blade China Tea Sets and Dinner Sets given to club-raisers. Send for specimen copy of The Weekly Blade and our interesting announcements for the coming year.

SPECIMENS.

A specimen copy will give you a better idea of The Weekly Blade than any description we can give in an advertisement. We therefore invite everybody to write us for a specimen, which we will cheerfully mail you free; and at the same time please mail us a list of names of your friends and neigbors, and we will also mail them specimens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AGENTS.

ANYBODY can earn Ten Dollars very quickly by raising clubs for The Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address

THE BLADE,
Toledo, Ohio.

Thirteen Grand Winter Excursions

From Northern Minnesota and North Dakota, to Montreal and all points west n Ontario, at the low rate of $40, via Northern Pacific R. R. The dining car line between Northern Minnesota and North Dakota points, by way of St. Paul and Chicago. Dates of sale, Tuesday, Nov. 18th and 25th, and Dec. 2d and 9th; and daily Dec. 16th to 23d inclusive, and Dec. 30th, 1890. Limit of tickets ninety days, good going and returning fifteen days, with stop-over privileges, subject to local regulations of lines over which tickets read. Final limit of tickets extended fifteen day on payment of $5.00; thirty days $10.00; and sixty days $20. Pullman tourist sleeping cars from Winnipeg, Pembina, Grafton, Gilby, Grand Forks and Crookston, will be run through to Chicago without change via the Northern Pacific and Wisconsin Central, leaving Winnipeg on Tuesday, November 18th and 25th, and Dec. 2d, 9th, 16th, 23d and 30th. Sleeping car fare $2 for one double berth. For further information, maps, time tables and tickets via the Dining Car Line, write to or inquire of C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R., Crookston, Minn.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET,—

ROOKSTON, - - - MINN

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

CROOKSTON, MINN., DEC. 18, 1890.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 76.
1 Northern 73.
2 Northern 68.
3 Northern 62.

Dr. Dunlop returned on Sunday.

J. B. Sauve talks of going to Duluth.

Don't neglect to see Herb's holiday stock.

E. M. Hoff was down from St. Hilaire last week.

J. W. Kelley was down from Sletten on Saturday.

Headquarters for Santa Claus. At Herb's.

Henry Bender left for home on Friday evening.

Larger and more attractive than ever. Herb's Holiday stock.

December has been the lovliest month on record so far.

Have you seen those elegant diamonds at Hans Peterson's jewelry store? They are beauties.

Sheriff elect, Arny Grundyson, is now a resident of this city.

Geo. W. Swift and W. W. Attix were down from Mentor on Friday.

Ladies call and see those hats whi Mrs. Bangs is offering at cost. Everything goes at greatly reduced prices.

The Bolton entertainments in this city this week are very highly spoken of.

Holiday goods in great profusion at Hans Peterson's jewelry store. Call and examine.

Court adjourned on Friday and the Judge left for home on Saturday.

Gervais, "the hustler," has a great many novelties for Xmas presents.

T. H. Bjoin was selecting opera chairs on Monday for the new Opera House.

Gervais, "the hustler," is offering great drives in all departments till New Year's.

Preparations are being made to lay the sidewalk in front of the opera house block.

Call and see it. Herb's Holiday stock.

Fred Rauch has been fixing up his place in grand good shape, plastering inside and clapboarding outside.

The highest price will be paid for Oats, Potatoes, Butter and Eggs at Sture's.

The wheat market improves encouragingly. Two cents rise on Monday and one on Tuesday brought it up to 75.

Jewelry of all kinds; just what you want for a Christmas present, at Hans Peterson's.

A. R. Holston has rented chambers in the new McKinnon Block. He will have one of the finest law libraries in the city.

Dress flannels at cost, felt boots and shoes at the lowest figures at A. Sture's.

Chris Steeneson was up from the west side on Monday. Says the proposed road is the great topic of interest down there.

Cloaks, jackets, shoulder capes and shawls must be closed out by New Year's regardless of cost, at Gervais', "the hustler."

Henry Steege opened his new meat market in the McKinnon block on Monday. It is a daisy. Worth going a good ways to see.

Hans Peterson invites your attention to his elegant stock of jewelry for the holiday trade. Before purchasing call and size up that stock.

Every trimmed hat at actual cost at Mrs. E. E. Bangs' fashionable millinery store. Everything at greatly reduced prices. Call early for choice.

Walter Lee returned last week from a pleasant visit with friends in Buffalo, N. Y. Walter looks hale and hearty, as though he had had a grand good time.

The place to make selections for Christmas presents is at Hans Peterson's jewelry store.

In the case of Knute Steenerson vs. Lewis Loderberg and others, on trial on Friday, the jury found for the plaintiff. Usury was alleged. The case was appealed.

Christmas cards, dolls, candies, nuts, and all kinds of Christmas toys, at Herb's in endless profusion.

Peter Cornelius was down town on Friday for the first time in several days. He has been confined to the house by sickness for a fortnight but seems to be on the mend.

We have had many generous responses to the statements sent out, but need many more to meet our obligations due Jan. 1st. We trust our friends will do their best for us.

Very close prices on everything in groceries; catsup, mustard and jelly in bulk, costs you about one-third as much as when bought in bottles at A. Sture's.

The commercial college has outgrown its present quarters and will occupy the big hall in McKinnon block after January 1st. All who intend to go should be on deck for the first.

Gervais, "the hustler," has the prettiest and handsomest line of handkerchiefs and mufflers in the city.

Silver thimbles from 20 cents to 50 cents at C. H. SAAKE'S

J. C. Congdon was up from Brainerd last Saturday to look after his Polk County property and to order THE JOURNAL sent to him at B., so that he may keep posted on the good work going on here.

Special attractions in jewelry and silverware at C. H. Saake's.

Knute S. Aker was up from the west side last week. Speaking of the proposed railroad southwest, he said that everybody was anxious for it down that way, and that the prospects for it were very encouraging.

Headquarters for Santa Claus. At Herb's.

The new Judge of Probate, Martin Benson, has moved in to the city and since his arrival a little girl has arrived to assist him in his official duties. The Judge is having honors showered upon him without stint this fall.

Hans Peterson has just received an invoice of jewelry, among which we saw a lot of the cutest little watches you ever saw. It is a new design in ladies' watches and a lovely one. Call and see them.

Nels Clementson was up from Fertile on Wednesday of last week and called in to set that subscription ahead a peg. Says he must have THE JOURNAL in his business and thinks every farmer in Polk County should have it also.

If you want to make your wife a nice Xmas present, go to Gervais', "the hustler," and get one of those fine rugs. I tell you, they are beauties.

Wheat took an upward turn last Thursday, closing the week at 72—a raise of four cents. The tendency is upward. If a free coinage bill had passed at last session the recent drop in wheat would hardly have happened.

An endless variety of novelties in jewelry and silverware, suitable for holiday presents at C. H. Saake's jewelry store.

Knute Tedmanson, while in on jury duty, did not forget to run in and see how his account with THE JOURNAL stood. He is one of the solid alliance workers in the county, one who believes the alliance can accomplish great things for farmers if they are only true to their best interests.

A three months scholarship in Prof J. B. Lanigan's business college for sale Call at THE JOURNAL office. [21-tf]

E. C. Davis finished his grading job in Dakota a few days since and returned from St. Paul last week where he had been to settle up. Talking of farming, he said if the alliance would urge the sowing of about half the usual area of wheat next year and double the amount of barley, they would do a good thing for the interests of the country, and we think he is right about that.

Leave your orders for all kinds of commercial or fancy printing at THE JOURNAL job rooms. Prices and work guaranteed to suit.

Ole Erickson was out on a hunt last week with several others and the number of jack rabits he shot was a caution. A timber wolf mistook the party for legitimate game and inaugurated a still hunt for them and early one morning Ole got sight of him, and thinking he was a jack rabbit, shot him by mistake. Ole now insists that he knew him all the while, but the boys know better.

I can and will save my customers quite a nice sum in their purchase of Christmas presents, as I have bought my goods at the very lowest cash terms and have marked them at a very small margin of profit. C. H. SAAKE, Jeweler.

Two of the boys, who took their best girls over to the Himmelsback reception on Tuesday evening, Dec. 9th, are keeping pretty quiet but it transpires that they got lost enroute and wanderd about on the cold, bleak prairie eleven or six hours. They by good luck however, arrived at their destination in time to come home. If you happen to ask Fred Rauch about this be sure you have an avenue of escape handy.

There will be a meeting held at the City Hall, Monday, Dec. 22d, at 7:30 p. m., to organize a Nationalist club. Object, to discuss educational, social, economic and political reforms. Every one interested in the cause is requested to attend.

P. C. Schmidt was up from Duluth last week in attendance at court. He says that his firm has a large number of big cases in the court at Duluth, not one of which involves a sum less than $1,000. Mr. Schmidt is one of the brightest lawyers that Polk County had and his loss will be felt here. He says that, in his opinion, Crookston is the coming city of the Northwest. He went up to Bathgate on Saturday on legal business.

It will pay you to look over Herb Mason's Holiday stock. Larger and more complete than ever before.

The warning notes of the fire bell brought many of our citizens from their downy couch early on Tuesday morning to witness a fire in the McKinnon Block. The department responded promptly and found the fire in the room occupied by the G. A. R. Post, and Society of St. Jean Baptiste. By excellent managemet and good work the department subdued the flames with small loss to the building, compared with what might have been. The fire department is entitled to great credit for their efficient action. The fire originated, no doubt from a cigar stub thrown in a box of sawdust.

Gold and silver watches, diamond rings, opal, ruby, emerald and friendship rings at bed rock prices, at

C. H. SAAKE' Jewelry Store.

Cards were received in this city on Monday, announcing the marriage in Tacoma, on the 9th inst., of Perry B. Lawrence to Miss A. Willora Box, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Box. "Lola" came to Crookston with her parents when yet a child and grew up to be a handsome young lady in our midst, while Mr. Lawrence was one of the steady young men of Crookston. The young couple have hosts of friends in this city who wish them oceans of joy.

Crookston Alliance, No. 648, met on Saturday pursuant to call, in the usual place, president Sergeant in the chair. Chris. Houston was elected delegate to St. Paul, with J. O. Sergeant as alternate. After the election an animated debate occurred upon the merits of the sub-treasury bill which was participated in by nearly all in the room. Eli Steenerson made a strong speech in favor of the measure, and but two were found to oppose it. It was voted to meet every fortnight during the winter.

Have you seen Herb's Holiday stock? If there is anything on earth you want in that line he has not got, he will get it or you, if you mention it.

C. O. Melsness was down from Sletten last Friday and called upon THE JOURNAL man to see about that little subscription account. He is one of the live alliance men of the county and has done good work in the cause. He says he wishes THE JOURNAL was in the hands of every farmer in Polk County, and we heartily endorse the wish. There is no good reason why it should not be. Subscribe for THE JOURNAL.

Uncle Billy Wilson, a veteran of the old Minnesota First, was over from East Grand Forks last Wednesday to be examined for pension. He called at THE JOURNAL office about 3 p. m. and gave vent to his righteous indignation because he had failed to secure examination. Said he: "Here I have been put to the expense of coming over to Crookston for examination and have got to go home without it, because there is no quorum of the board present, one of the doctors being obliged to be absent. This idea of having the board scattered all over Polk County is all Tomfoolery and should be corrected at once. The board should be composed wholly of Crookston physicians, then there would be no trouble to secure a quorum. As it is now I have to go back without examination after the trouble and expense of the trip, and my case is delayed no knowing how long. I think this matter ought to be changed and that at once." Mr. Wilson is one of the pioneers in Northern Minnesota, coming early in the seventies. He is an experienced pine cruiser, and what he don't know about the pine lands of Northern Minnesota no tenderfoot could tell him. He was a resident of Otter Tail County for years, later lived at Red Lake Falls and knows all about the pine on the Red Lake Indian Reservation. The old man did good work for Uncle Sam while in the army and now that he needs a pension Uncle Sam should be as prompt to respond as was Uncle Billy when he was young and strong.

No opportunity was ever before offered whereby a farmer can obtain the experiences of others so cheaply as by a subscription to Farm, Stock an Home.

Writing from Spokane Falls, Wash., to renew his subscription to THE JOURNAL, E. F. Smith says:

"We are having delightful weather; no frost in the ground as yet. Farmers are busy plowing and doing their fall work. Crops of all kinds were excellent. Wheat is only worth 42 cents (just think of that once,) per bushel, potatoes 85 cents per hundred pounds. We have had but little rain this fall; the roads are dry and dusty. The latest arrival from Crookston is Mrs. Wm. Stuart. Spokane has made rapid strides during the past year. It now has a population of 28,000."

Mr. Smith was one of the young men of Crookston in the early day, and here he laid up much shekels, laying the foundation of his present wealth. He went west after a time but showed his excellent good sense by coming back to marry one of Crookston's most popular school ma'ams, and we are told that he is coining much wealth in that far off land. Well, he deserves it.

O. D. Rood, the Crookston laundry man, is able to be about again after a severe illness.

J. W. Hammond, secretary of the Fisher alliance, was up last week and called in to subscribe for THE JOURNAL and report progress. He says the work will be taken up and vigorously prosecuted during the coming winter. We would suggest the discussion of topics of general interest to farmers, such as they are familiar with, such as the raising of crops and how best to regulate the balance of wheat to the requirements of the market. The alliance has now obtained such a foothold as to render this entirely feasible.

Mr. M. P. Losey was down from Euclid last week, chatting with old friends. He has been drawn as U. S. Grand Juror, and will go to St. Paul early in January to attend court. Mr. Losey is one of those who took an active part in Crookston's upbuilding in '78 and '79. He put up what was then one of the largest business houses on Main street, and did a large boot and shoe business for several years. He found business rather too confining and disposing of his business, went out upon his farm near Euclid and later moved into the village where he now lives comfortably. Mr. L. has taken a prominent part in the history of this county, has been assessor in his town, justice of the peace, has served as grand and petit juror frequently, and now he goes as United States grand juror to St. Paul. He is always ready to obey the call to duty wherever it leads.

Simon C. Rice was up from Rindal on Saturday and came in to renew. Said he: "I have not had extra good luck this year with my crops nor with my threshing rig, but I must have THE JOURNAL all the same and I know you need the money for it. I feel that the dollar and a half I invest in THE JOURNAL pays me more than one hundred fold every year and I always take all such investments I can get."

Closing Out!

Our stock of coal and wood heaters at actual cost. Have reduced prices on skates and Winchester rifles to close them out.

[35 36] STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD.

For Sale.

A fine new milch cow, five years old. Call on C. Snyder, Sec. 8, Crookston, or at JOURNAL office.

Santa Claus Headquarters

At C. H. Saake's

JEWELRY STORE.

Silver Tea Sets. Water Sets, Desert Sets, Cake Baskets, Berry Dishes, Rose Jars, Butter Dishes, Pickle Castors, Card Receivers, Carving Sets, Card Cases, Cigar Cases, Perfume Stands, Match and Stamp Boxes, Jewelry cases, Bon-Bon Trays, crumb trays, Puff Boxes, Napkin Rings in large variety. Childs' Sets. Forks and Knives, Table, Desert and Tea Spoons, Fruit Knives, Cake Knives, Berry Spoons, Sugar Spoons, Butter Knives, Etc., Etc. My stock of

Gold and Silver Watches

Is immense and comprises all the latest styles and designs. Gold Watches, Silver Watches, Diamond Rings, Ladies' Set Rings, Diamond Ear Rings, Diamond Scarf Pins, solid gold and gold front Lace Pins, Bracelets, Cuff Buttons, Neck Chains, Watch Chains and Lockets, novelties in watch charms, Gold Pens and Holders, Gold Pencils and Tooth Picks, Plain, Band and Friendship Rings, gold and silver Thimbles, marble clocks, Music Boxes and Statuary, and thousands of other handsome articles suitable for Christmas Presents.

Come and See Them!

Notwithstanding the fact that since we sent out our first statements on Dec. 4th, the subscriptions have been coming in encouragingly, we shall be from three to four hundred dollars short of accomplishing our purpose on Jan. 1st. The object that we seek is one that will benefit our readers equally with ourself, as it will enable us to make a stronger and a bettter paper than ever, and we trust our friends will add their mite to that end. To those who have responded so promptly we return our warmest thanks. If all will simply do WHAT THEY CAN for us we shall feel perfectly satisfied.

The judge set an example that the judges of our lower courts do not approve of, when he remitted the fine (as it were) in the case that was brought before him by Tollef Farden last week. After he had tied the knot in due and ancient form, Judge Mills, instead of exercising his right to kiss the bride made her a present of the marriage fees. If he intends that as a precedent all such cases in future will be liable to come to him on appeal from the court below, and he will bankrupt every justice of the peace and minister in the county.

J. V. E. WYATT,

UNDERTAKER.

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for

NEW GOODS.

A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material.

Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

Railroad Meeting.

A meeting will be held in the school house, near the residence of C. Steenerson, in Vineland, on Saturday, December 20th, to discuss and to devise ways and means for building a railroad southwest from Crookston through the towns of Andover, Roome, Vineland, near Tyncid, Hammond and Sheley to a point on Red River, opposite Goose River Valley. All persons interested should be present.

CROOKSTON, Dec. 10, 1890.

Notice is hereby given that a special session of the Board of County Commissioners will be held at the Court House, in Crookston, on the 22d day of December, at 10 a. m.

P. J. MCGUIRE,
County Auditor.

There will be a meeting of the W. C. T. U. Thursday, Dec. 18th, at 3:30 p. m., at the reading room. Members, please take notice of the time and that this is the day of our regular meeting.

MRS. A. M. STEWART,
Pres. W. C. T. U.

If any of our readers have failed to get satisfactory profits from horses, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, bees, fruits, grain or vegetables, they should commence at once and read every number of Farm, Stock and Home during the coming year. If ordered in connection with this paper its cost will not be felt.

Winter Excursions.

A chance to visit the old home in Canada and say a good word for the new home in the Red River Valley.

Forty dollars for round trip from Crookston, Minn., to Montreal and all points west in Ontario via the Great Northern and connecting lines. Tickets good for 90 days, 15 going and 15 returning. Time extention at small additional cost.

Tickets for sale December 9th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22d, 23d and 30th.

For further information, maps and publications apply to C. H. Mix, agent Great Northern.

For Sale Cheap.

One hundred and sixty acres of first class land situated three and one-half miles north-east of Crookston. Will take wheat at one dollar per bushel. For further particulars address,

J. H. MITTON,
[12-tf] Wahpeton, N. D.

Polk County Alliance.

FERTILE, Minn., Dec. 4, 1891.

Polk County Farmers' Alliance will meet at the Court House, Crookston, on the 26th day of December, 1890, at 10 o'clock a. m. Each sub-alliance should send three delegates.

NELS MUGS, Sec.

The current number of Farm, Stock and Home Minneapolis, Minn. should be read by every farmer in the State In fact, for a farmer to miss reading any number of that excellent journal is a misfortune which he can escape almost without money and without price, by taking it in connection with the JOURNAL.

Wanted at Once.

A good man or boy for work upon a farm. Apply to M. E. Bartlett on Section 9, town of Fairfax, or at JOURNAL office.

Notice.

All persons interested in the D. N. Taylor elevator scheme are requested to meet at City Hall, Crookston, on Saturday, Dec. 6th, and 20th 1890, at 2 o'clock p. m., to take steps for self-protection.

CHRIS. HOUSTON,
Chairman.

FOR SALE.

A fine full blood Holstein-Friesian bull, about eight months old. For particulars apply to C. Snyder, Sec. 8, Crookston, or call at JOURNAL office.

For Sale.

New milch cow. Call on M. E. Bartlett, Fairfax, or at JOURNAL office.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited.

Terms $1.00 per Day.

P. J. RUSSELL,

Attorney-at-Law,

AND COLLECTIONS.

Special attention paid to Real Estate cases.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-eight dollars, ($198.00) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Eugene W. Danells, unmarried of Polk County, Minnesota to James M. Hawley of Albany, New York, bearing date the fourth day of October, A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of October, A. D. 1887, at 5 o'clock p. m., in book "T" of mortgages, on page 402; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: The west half of the south west quarter Section eight, (8) and the north half of northwest quarter of Section seventeen (17) in Township one hundred and fifty-three, Range forty-three, containing one hundred and sixty acres more or less, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Dec. 15th, A. D. 1890.

JAMES M. HAWLEY, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[35-41] Crookston, Minn.

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, December 15th, 1890.

In the matter of the estate of Sam Johnson, deceased.

Whereas, an instrument in writing, purporting to be the last will and testament of Sam Johnson, deceased, late of said county, has been delivered to this court;

And whereas, James Hanson, of the city of Stillwater Washington Co. Minn., has filed therewith his petition, representing, among other things, that said Sam Johnson died in said County of Polk on the 19th day of November, 1890, testate, and that said petitioner is the sole executor named in said last will and testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be to him issued thereon.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument and the said petition, be heard before this Court at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county, on the 13th day of January, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when all concerned may appear and contest the probate of said instrument.

And it is still further ordered, that public notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested by publication of these orders once in each week for three weeks successively previous to said day of hearing, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 15th day of December, A. D. 1890.

By the Court. C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
[35-37] Judge of Probate.

L. E. GOSSMAN,

Attorney-at-Law,

No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

from selected Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North Star.
Fife.
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

The Great Transcontinental Line.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

SHORTEST,——BEST,——QUICKEST.

This is the "Yellowstone Park and Dining Car Route"

Lowest Rates to Chicago and All Points East. Tickets sold to all prominent points throughout the East and Southeast.

Pullman Drawing Room Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars through to St. Paul.

TO EAST BOUND PASSENGERS.

Be careful not to make a mistake, but be sure to take the NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R. and see that your ticket reads via St. Paul, Minneapolis or Duluth. Only line traversing Minnesota, Dakota, Manitoba, Montana, Idaho, Washington, British Columbia, Oregon and California.

PULLMAN SLEEPERS, DINING CARS AND COLONIST SLEEPERS

On Pacific Coast Express Trains Daily. This line offers special attractions to California tourists.

☞ An elegant coach runs through between Crookston and St. Paul. Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St Paul. Dining Cars on all trains.

For full information concerning rates time, etc., call on or address your nearest ticket agent, or

CHAS. S. FEE, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.
E. L. HARRISON, Agent Crookston, Min

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estaee

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY
OUR NEW

Fall Styles

LADIES,

Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailev.

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,
GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA.

PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

1 new 13-horse power Russell Engine. (A bargain.)

1 12-horse power Giant Plain Engine.

1 A 1 Driving Team, with Buggy and Harness.

Chas. m. Lowe,

The Loan Agent

WILKIN ON & O'BRI EN,

LAWYERS,

FOURNET BLOCK,

CROOKSTO N, - - MIN

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

DR. M. WATTS,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank. ☞ Professional calls by day or nigh promptly attended to.

M. LeGUEE.

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

Councils at Red Lake.

The Duluth & Winnipeg Right-of-Way Settlements.

Being Closed Satisfactorily.

Councils are Ordered Along the Line and Soon Will Take Place.

Duluth Evening Herald.

H. P. Haskell, right-of-way agent of the Duluth & Winnipeg road, returned yesterday from his trip among the Indians of the Red Lake reservation. Mr. Haskell left Detroit last week for a tour among the reservation and to attend councils which the government had ordered held in reference to granting the railway right-of-way through Indian lands. Mr. Haskell attended a council of the Red Lake Indians, and there was no disposition on their part to keep the railway out; on the contrary, all signed a right-of-way agreement.

Other councils have been ordered, and are now taking place. The Indians are all willing to concede the right to the Duluth & Winniepg company, and the matter will be amicably settled within a short time.

General Manager Fisher returned from the East this morning. He has but little to say regarding Duluth & Winnipeg matters. The affairs of the road are progressing satisfactorily, and all contemplated improvements will be carried to completion. Mr. Fisher took no stock in the reports of trouble on the Fond du Lac reserve over pine and other matters, though the disaffected reds there are stating that Duluth & Winnipeg contractors are putting in tie and cedar camps without permission.

PUBLIC OPINION.

Warden Randall All Right.

Preston Times.

Some time before the late election the St. Paul Daily News took occasion to attack the management of the State Prison at Stillwater in a vicious and, we may add, a very unjust manner. Knowing that the source of its information was a putrid one, that the stream was poisoned at the bubble by the minds of disreputable men and unprincipled office-seekers, we permitted the attack to go unchallenged, believing that time would crystalize the waters so that the seekers after truth could drink therefrom without danger. Events have turned up just as we anticipated. In a recent issue the News having learned that they have unjustly belittled the reputation of an honest and honorable servant of the state, came out in a praisworthy defense of Warden Randall and his administration, and to its lasting honor be it said it was done in a manner that reflects the highest credit on its journalistic management. The News is still more laudable when we come to consider the disgraceful attitude taken up by the morning sheet of the same city. In the name of honest journalism we thank the managers of the News for the honorable change of front they have assumed in this matter, and beg to assure that the position taken up is the correct one. The management of the Stillwater penitentiary is all right; and the order and discipline which prevail in that institution to-day will rank on an equality if not superior to any similar institution.

Confederation.

The Western Rural.

Last winter The Western Rural proposed a convention that should be composed of delegates from all the farmer's societies with a view of effectual confederation, if a more intimate union could not be secured; and our judgment this confederation cannot be to quickly consummated. It is not enough for a part of the organizations to confederate. It is not enough that the organizations should come together and agree on paper to confederate, while as a matter of fact, each one intends to go along about as it has always done, doing as it likes without much reference to the others. No confederation that is not practical amalgamation will be effective. There is no objection to the Alliance, Farmer's Mutual Benefit Association, Patrons of Husbandry and other organizations maintaining their form of government and distinct existence, but if the movement ever becomes what it is capable of becoming there must be a central, supreme body, created out of various societies which will have control and the direction of affairs. We have some-times thought that the prevalent idea of confederation is a very imperfect one. If nothing is to be done except to profess confederation, we might as well remain just as we are, for we are confederated now in a sense. That is to say, we are all aiming to accomplish one thing-the bettering of the farmer's condition and mean to travel the same road to the end. But we are not together. Part of the army is at one point, another is at another, and-yet other parts are at other points. When the enemy makes an attack, he finds but portions of our army to oppose him. The purpose real confederation would accomplish would be placing of the entire army in one line of marsh, to consolidate all our forces and to place them under one general management.

But in order to accomplish this the different bodies must give up something; they must each delegate to some other power a part of the authority that they now exercise; and if any of the organizations are unwilling to do this, an affective confederation will never be made. There should be but one ruling passion in any organization, and in the heart of every member of every organization, and that is a desire to the condition of the agricultural interests and permanently to insure to the farmer his full rights and privileges as a free citizen and as a man who is of more importance to the country than any other man in it.

Alliance Department: Glyndon News.

Dear Brother Lamphere: That is queer logic! Have you been editing a paper in the interests of the farmer for the last ten years, and do not know that we farmers—(I wish you would spell farmer with a big "F"—since the election you know) have been paying twenty per cent interest for the use of money, secured by both realty and chattels? I grant that at the present time we can secure loans on better terms, on the principle, probably, that the angler gives the fish more line when there is danger of the line breaking. Then, according to your logic, all the security in Red River Valley lands, horses, etc., is of the "saw-dust" kind, and all the farmers here are simply another set of fast fellows, like the Washington clerks, who live beyond their means. It will be news to many that agents place out money on uncertain security. It is never done, unless they are deceived—character has but little to do with it. It is their duty to examine the security offered. Of all the statements for an intelligent business man to make, this is the strangest: "Therefore the latter (the agent of the Eastern capitalist) acting under the special or general instructions of his principal, charges the full amount of legal interest allowed by law, and the highest bonus that can be obtained, which is in the nature of a compensation to the agent for his service in obtaining the consent of the owner to let the money go out on such precarious risk." Well, well! Print that sentence in big letters and send it to all the capitalists in the East. It will be a "bee in their bonnet." It will say to them: Your agents here in Red River Valley, are loaning your money on uncertain security, and are charging a large bonus by way of a compensation. Brother editor, human nature works in about the same way; it is after the compensation. Then according to your logic, the bigger the uncertainty, the bigger the compensation. A premium on rascality. Pretty hard that, too, on the agents here.

I agree with you that farmers are fools for paying twenty per cent interest for the use of money, and we have made up our minds to quit it.

Cincinnati, O, Dec. 13.—United States Treasurer Huston stopped at Cincinnati on his way to Indianapolis where his wife is ill. Suggesting a method for relieving the present financial stress, he said:

There is a scheme by which there might be about $25,000,000 of a surplus secured that would relieve the general feeling of dread uneasiness now existing, There are some five millions in standard silver dollars lying piled up, and in addition there are about twenty millions in abraded silver half dollars and in dimes. Now the government has no use for this. There is on call for half dollars in silver, and most of the fractional silver could not be cirulated anyway, because being worn. Now, here are $25,000,000. Let congress authorize the secretary to charge this to the bullion account and then issue treasury notes, and if congress would suspend the rules and do this there would be an immediate relief afforded.'

The Sub-Treasury Scheme.

A Scriptural Precedent For Its Establishment-It Saved Egypt

Industrial Age.

Now that the election is over, why not get the reins of the order on the sub-treasury bill? Union papers of other States are full of it. Brother Hall thinks it would be putting into National legislation this passage of Scripture, "Unto every one which hath shall be given, and from him that hath not even that he hath shall be taken away from him."

To me the story of Joseph much better illustrates the subject: The King in his dream saw seven good and perfect ears upon the stalk, and again seven nubbins blasted by hot and dry winds. Joseph interpreted this dream to mean full crops and failures. He recommended to the King and sub-treasury to store the surplus during the years of plenty. Did Joseph's sub-treasury scheme save Egypt and the surrounding countries? We also have years of plenty and years of failures. The sub-treasury would enable us to hold our grain until we know what the next crop would be. Often it would save us from buying back our own product at twice the price we received with railroad charges both ways. Would not this be for general welfare as much as light house on our coasts or big appropriations to world's fairs, that only the rich can hope to see. Brother Hall opposes it as he does National banks, because it is class legislation:

A Yankee sometimes answers a question by asking another, perhaps the best way to wipe out class legislation is to demand our part. If we farmers got our part in proportion to our numbers like National bankers we should have $72,000 000,000 at one per cent, instead of the paltry sum of $50,000,000. I put bankers and families at 150,000 and our number at 30,000,000. If the other industrial classes joined hands with the farmers in a demand for fair play, that is, to be treated by the General Government as it treats bankers, the combined wealth of this country and England, estimated at $150,000,000 would but little more then go round. With such partial legislation is it any wonder that so few of our boys are found in colleges? Brother Hall says it would bring financial ruin to the farmers of our entire country. If this kind of legislation injures the farmer as it has the National bankers. I for one want to be surround by such ruins (plenty of greenbacks at one per cent.) Brother Hall opposes it because it is unjust and inequitable only 21 out of 114 counties in this State getting the benefit of, the law, and those the richest. These 21 counties most likely furnish half the grain that is sent to the markets from this State. If it went into Government warehouse would it not give small counties like Webster bare instead of glutted markets to sell on. Again he says, that the paying out of so much money in those 21 counties will so increase the volume of currency that the price of every thing will be doubled. What a good time for the small counties to sell their wheat pay their debts, taxes and patch the old wagons for another year. Brother Hall says the warehouse would require 30,000 bins. All the wheat ever shipped from Webster has graded 2, 3 and 4. No number 1 ever reported and rejected, a Government warehouse would not want to touch. So his 30,000 bins are reduced to nine for wheat oats and corn. He speaks of the expenses; railroad, freight and elevator charges are reducted from the farmer when he sells his wheat. Elevator charges are made to cover interest, taxes and expenses. In a Government warehouse interest and taxes can be dropped. Importers and distillers have bonded warehouse's why not the farmer? Importers can ship goods under bond from New York to St. Louis. Why can't we ship grain from one bonded warehouse by pying freight or as a letter is sent from one office to another. This is the only bill before the country for the relief of our class. Let us have it. It would pull the fangs of the option dealers by making the price of grain nearly uniform the year round. I am for the sub-treasury plan.—Edmund Hosmer, in Journal of Agriculture.

The Chippewa Timber.

It May Be Sold Before the Survey Is Completed.

Duluth Daily Tribune.

St. Paul, Minn., 11.—[Special.]—Washington dispatch to the Pioneer Press: The officials of the interior department today informed Representative Comstock that the act under which the Chippewa Indian reservation was ceded to the United States could be so interpreted as to allow the allotment of lands to Indians and the appraisal and sale of the timber in advance of the time when the entire reservation shall have been surveyed. Mr. Comstock says, that being the case, the fact that the appropriation for surveys is about exhausted will not cause the delay as at first anticipated. As soon as the surveys authorized under the appropriation of $50,000 are approved by the secretary of the interior the timber appraisers may be sent to the reservation. Representative Comstock today secured an allowance of pension for John McClellan of Duluth and John Logan of Royalton, Minn.

Closing Out!

Our stock of coal and wood heaters at actual cost. Have reduced prices on skates and Winchester rifles to close them out.

[35 36] Stewart & Spottswood.

Until further notice, any person, contractor or not, can have bags to haul his wheat to my warehouse, have it stored and put aboard the cars all for one cent a bushel. D. N. Taylor.

H. STEENERSON

ATTORNEY AT LAW

CROOKSTON, - MINNESOTA

NOT QUITE SO TONY AS

THE REEONG DRUG STORE

Of St. Paul, but as near it as any city north of St. Paul can boast, is

DURAND'S NEW DRUG STORE

One Door West of the Post Office, in Mcinnon Block.

A Full Stock of Everything in my Line.

CALL AND SEE ME!

Durand, the Druggist

ON DECK.

Tom Morris, the Jeweler,

Is now located in Durand's Drug Store, McKinnon's Block, Robert Street.

lightly disfigured, but still in the ring.

A trifle upset by removal,
but all O. K, for business
just the same.

☞Remember the place, one door west of the Post Office, in McKinnon Block.

CROOKSTON

BUSINESS COLLEGE

And Institute of Short Hand,

Crookston, - Minnesota.

1. This School makes a specialty of Practical Instruction.
2. Pupils are under the Teacher's instruction the Entire Day.
3. Our graduates have no difficulty in procuring and filling First-class Positions.
4. Diplomas given, when earned.
5. Positions secured for students when competent.

Usurious Interests.

From the Industrial Review.

The Arkansas supreme court has handed down an important decision. Sometime ago Hardy M. Banks, a farmer of Yell county, negotiated a loan of $1,000 from the New England mortgage and security company and the Corbin banking company. The loan was made through a broker, Ocobock, of Memphis. The sum of $200 was taken out of the principal for interests, and Banks was paid only $800. In return, the farmer executed notes and gave the security company a mortgage on his farm to secure their payment. The notes came due, but were not satisfied, and proceedings for foreclosure were commenced in the Yell county circuit court. Banks lost his case, and appealed to the supreame court. A few days ago a decision was rendered against the security company. The court held that the interest charged was usurious, which fact forfeited the principal and interest. The farmer is ahead just $800. Considerable interest is felt in the decision, as it is the first rendered since the passage of the act by the last legislature, fixing the rate of interest at not more than 10 per cent.

See D. N. Taylor's proposition to store and ship wheat elsewhere in this issue.

Politics in the Alliance.

Western Rural.

The mistake must not be made that the Alliance is a partisan machine. Individual members of the Alliance, including any of its officers, may think it wise or unwise to form an independent party, but the Alliance, as such, has nothing at all to do with that sort of movement. Its laws and customs are against partisan action, and the Alliance should not be held responsible for what its officials or individual members may say or may not say. In the Alliance men and measures may be fully discussed. There is no objection what ever to the discussion of political questions and the wisdom or unwisdom of political movements, new and old, may be fully debated. The great purpose still to accomplish is to effect union among farmers for their own protection. The union already effected does not include half the farming community. If those who are not now in ever come into the Alliance or other farmers' organization must be careful as to what position it assumes on politics. It need not be said that political partisan prejudices are very strong in the average man. To attack his political belief is like flaunting a red rag before the animal that does not like redness.

We need effective organization. We want to get into the Alliance or other farmers' organization the republican or democrat who never will come in if he supposes that the organization is to be used as a club to smash his political organization. Get the man in; get him where he can discuss the situation with his brother farmers; give him to understand that the purpose is to aid in securing farmers' rights. The active means of doing that will be revealed in due time. There are thousands of men who believe that all needed reforms can be achieved through the old political parties, and if that is true, it is all that the farmer wants. Now let such men come and show how it can be done; and let the man who believes that nothing can be accomplished except through independent political action, show why. Reasonable men will listen to reason, and all are interested in accomplishing certain purposes. The means are nothing, if they are honorable. The object is everything.

Millions of people never expected that the time would come when there would be such an immense independent vote as there is now in the country a vote that will go to any party or to any man that is cosidered reliable. The Alliance has been a great educator on this line. It has taught men that political prejudices, when they are own interests, are costly. It has taught them that what the people want in a political party is honesty and the spirit of fairness toward the majority.

We desire once more to call attention to the fact, however, that the men who have shown their influence at the polls have not been converted from a belief in the doctrines of one political party to those of the other. They have simply been independent, and will swing back to their respective parties, whenever the parties act to suit them. If we could be assured that every farmer in this country would join a farmers' organization we should not have the slightest doubt the farmer would get his rights. It is organization that we have been working for hoping for all these years. A grand work has already been done in that direction. An immense work is yet to do; and let us go on steadily and wisely to accomplish it. Do not make the mistake of supposing that because the organizations are already powerful that they are as powerful as they can be. Gather the agriculturists together, and when they understand each other, and the full extent of their needs, they will agree upon a remedy; and whatever course they may decide to persne, The Rural will gladly support.

The Plaindealer:—On the boom, says the Drayton Echo. It is perfectly right and proper to boom the Red River Valley country extensively. The richness and productive qualities of its soil is beyond comparison with any other part of this Continent, as experience has abundantly proved. There is no other part of the country where such large and valuable cereal and vegetable crops can be produced with so little labor as this same Valley. It is the land of golden grain and the vegetables grower's Eldorado. Hundreds of small fortunes have already have been made from the soil products, and there is wide opportunity for thousands more to be secured from the same source.—North Dakota is the garden spot of this continent, and the outside people ought to know and realize it.

TRY

O. J. BARNES,

THE

CITY GROCER!

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN, MINNESOTA,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

Doors, Windows and Mouldings

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY.

—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized the State Laws.

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $5,700

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections, Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.

C. HENDRICKSON, President.
C. O. CHRISTIANSON, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice-President.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch
H. Steenerson. L. Ellington. J. H. Locken, C. Hendrickson.
Max Ericsson. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. None Finer in the Northwest

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS. - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop. A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh. John Moore. W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

Crookston Meat Market

E. STEENERSON, Proprietor,
E. ERIKSON, Manager.

Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

THE NEW

NORTHWEST

FARM LANDS. Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana

NEW TOWNS. 100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. Whitney, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.

LOW RATES. Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.

Horses, Cattle. Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.

Health, Wealth. In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns. New Railways. New Mines. Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.

Sheep, Hogs. Sweetest Grass Hills. Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise.

Herds, Mines. These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.

Hunting, Fishing. The valleys of Red, Mouse, Missouri, Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890. Write F. L. Whitney, St. Paul, Minn.

E. STEENERSON,

"Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of snide Co's. ☞CALL ON ELI!

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

CROOKSTON, MINN., DEC. 18, 1890.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
8:25 "	Minneapolis	6:30 "
8:00 "	Duluth	7:00 "
1:30 a. m.	Brainerd	2:00 "
2:46 "	Staples	12:40 "
5:37 "	Detroit	10:07 p. m.
6:26 "	Winnipeg Jc	9:00 "
8:28 "	Fertile	7:14 "
9:40 "	CROOKSTON	5:50 "
0:55 "	Grand Forks	4:45 "
2:20 p. m.	Pembina	12:55 "
:35 "	Winnipeg	10:50 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

CROOKSTON TIME CARD.

South Line.

	Leave.	Arrive.
Passenger,	7:25 p. m.	6:35 a. m.
Freight,	10:15 a. m.	7:35 p. m.

North Line.

7:15 a. m. — 6:25 p. m.

West Line.

Passenger,	6:55 a. m.	7:25 p. m.
Freight.	7:35 p. m.	10:15 a. m.

Fos-ton Line.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

7:30 a. m. — 5:00 p. m.

St. Hilaire Line.

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

10:45 a. m. — 4:00 p. m.

Alliance Legislators.

Farm Stock and Home.

The Alliance members of the Minnesota legislature have grave and weighty responsibilities resting upon them. Though in the minority they must by their acts and votes clearly show what they would do if they had the power, and that exhibition must be in the line of sound, conservative, justifiable legislation, legislation that will commend itself to the confidence and and judgment of citizens who have the best interests of our legitimate industries at heart. No scandal, no taint of corruption must be allowed to cling to the garments of a single man. The movement that elected them will be justified are condemned, by their legislative action.

They must not disappoint the thousands of earnest men who voted the Alliance ticket; they must be faithful to constituents, true to principle, and display a devotion that no power of persuasion or money can destroy. It is no easy task those men have got before them, and if they perform it well approving consciences and the plaudits of admiring countrymen will be theirs.

* * *

Legislation must be along economic lines, and it must be mindful of the rights of all men, poor as well as rich. The elements of hatred or revenge never finds place in wise or helpful legislation. The legal rights of all men must be respected. "Equal privileges to all and special privileges to none" is an excellent platform, but it must be accepted in its truest and broadest sense. When a party or a class attempts to legislate in its own special interest without regard to the rights of others the attempt will always react with fatal effect. Of all citizens farmers should be the strongest opponents of class legislation, even if ostensibly in their own interest. Farmers, being a mass, cannot receive benefits intended for a class; hence instead of encouraging class legislation in their own behalf they should discourage it every where and under all circumstances. "If such and such a scheme or system is fair for bankers, liquor men, etc, why is it not fair for farmers?" is a question often asked. The question implies the the fact that the scheme or system is unfair, in which event it should be destroyed, not extended.

* * *

Laws looking to a more equitable distribution of the burdens of taxation come clearly within the province of a "reform" legislature; but, unfortunately, in this case the best of laws are of no value unless faithfully executed. Still, reformers can give effect to their desires by advocating the enactment of laws that have for their object needed reforms in this important direction. Whatever legislation can do to lift a burden from the shoulders of industry must be done, and to that end economy in every department of the state's affairs must be insisted upon. The greatest possible freedom in selling the staple crops of our farms is of the highest importance, and so is the lowest possible coast of transporting them; and to those ends much of the time and thought of the next legislature will undoubtedly be given.

* * *

But the true reformers understand that it is not in the multiplicity of laws that relief or reform will be found. A few wise and helpful laws are all that the present exigency demands, and to their enactment due thought and labor should be given; and that, too, early in the session, leaving the unimportant, if any thing, to the hurry, confusion and neglect, of the closing days. Regarding these and many other matters the Alliance legislators will be carfully watched, and that they may be ably and wisely guided and influenced is the prayer of every good citizen of the state.

Our combination offer with Farm, Stock and Home elsewhere in this issue should not be overlooked. A year's subscription to this grand agricultural paper means a 384 page volume size 11½x15 in that to any farmer is well worth $5.00, yet we give it and this paper one year only $1.50.

The Reform Press.

The Discussion of Current Topics in the Organized States.

Northern Light Press, (Spokane Wash.) says:

The recent uprising of the Farmers. Alliance shows that the people are beginning to wake up the perils which threaten destruction to the republic. The only question is whether they will wake up soon enough, and whether they will get their eyes wide open and their senses on the alert before the crash comes. It behooves workingmen to study well the problems of the hour, and to be prepared not only to talk but to vote. If any proposition is self evident it is that the power is in the hands of the workers, let them use it and we shall see an end of the operations which, conducted by a heartless man, threaten ruin to the thousands.

The Peninsula Farmer (Federalsburg, Md.) says:

The answer of the monopoly organs to the election of Alliance Congressmen is that "this thing will all be over before'92; its only a temporary frenzy." But the Alliance has a real, not an imaginary reason for existence in the actual condition of the present laws and times, and until that reasons ceases to exist the Alliance is a necessity to the farmers and laborers of the United States. While combines and monopolies exist there needs also be an opposing force marshalled against them. This force at present is the Alliance, and the plutocracy of the country must understand that it has come to stay with them, and further, that it can not be bought, sold, or scared. We mean business, gentlemen, and this election just passed is only the few drops of promise for a coming shower that will make some of you think Noah's flood no circumstance before you get through with the coming down pour.

National Stockman and Farmer (Pittsburg, Pa.); good advice:

The farmers' institutes held in many States the comming winter will furnish a rare opportunity for discussing organization in new place and in strengthening it in places where it is already introduced. These opportunities should not be allowed to pass unimproved. Winter is of all seasons the best time for pushing work of this kind, and the coming winter should see a great deal more done than has ever been done in any single season to promote the working hand. Do not omit from the program of a single meeting coming season anything which will stir up an interest in organization.

The Industrial Phalanx (Indianapolis), a prohibition advocate, says:

Out in Kansas they have been electing farmers to judical positions. Besides judging Farmer McKay, there are three farmers elected prosecutors. The old party lawyers will endeavor to prevent their acting. But the farmers are about to have their own way in Kansas for a time. The principle involved is one that often confronts prohibitionists. The difficulty some times to secure lawyers for candidates for judical positions and that part of ticket is left blank or old party candidates indorsed, which is bad policy. The Kansas farmer has found the right solution. Laws will be better executed by an intelligent farmer than by an old party trickster Purify politics at whatever cost.

Liberty Bell Sioux City, Iowa) says:

The idea of making government loans directly to the people, instead of to the banks for speculative purposes, does not, of course, meet with very warm favor in Wall street, nor any of its outlying provinces. The enactment into law of such an idea means simply that all other lines of business shall be placed on an equality with banking, where each must stand or fall on its own merits, and where neither shall have power to destroy others at will. To the banking syndicate which has had the exclusive privilege of government loans for a period of nearly thirty years—loans which have cost them but 1 per cent per annum—such a law, no doubt, seems almost like giving up the pound of flesh. But the surrender of a privilege which has enabled them by its enormous profits to obtain title to and control of the entire money supply of the country, is little more than a quarter of a century, is not all that they forsee in the enactment of such a law. With the loss of their "dear interest" would go their power to control prices and market and exchanges, and it is from the first of these that their principal profit has been derived, large as have been their incomes from interests. Of course they do not want any more subtreasury law any more than a thief wants locks and bolts. But the honest business of the country does want such a law, and is going to make a vigorous effort to get it at once. It is greatly to the credit of the farmers that they are leading in this effort.

Pickler On Coin.

He Says the Country Must Have More Circulating Medium.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Congressman Pickler of South Dakota, is back from the meeting of the National Farmers, Alliance in Florida, and he has a good many suggestions to offer the republican party, in order that it may win back the support of the majority of vote in the farmers' party. He said today:

"The republican party should take up the money question this season. The first and only thing to do is to pass the free coinage bill. Even that will not put money enough in circulation, and some other plan for inflation should be considered. It is evident that we have got to put more money in circulation to prevent financial disturbances in the western states. While I am not wedded to the sub-treasury scheme, it is evident that this or some similar plan must be adopted. If the republicans do not pass the coinage bill this season, the democrats are sure to do it next, and; in addition, will adopt some method of getting more money afloat. It can be seen that it behooves the republican party to give these matters fair consideration. If this is not done, I do not see how the party can win in the coming campaign."

Evidence.

"Evidence," says Blackstone, "signifies that which demonstrates, make clear, or ascertains the truth." Now, we propose to furnish you evidence which fully answers this description. We shall send you a book full of testimonials. We shall not stop here however. We have permission from many of our patients to refer you to them for further information. What more can you ask?

Here are a few specimen testimonial;

Drs Starkey & Paln.—Since using your Compound Oxygen Treatment I am not troubled with headache any more." Frederick W. Sargent.

Watertown, N. Y., Oct. 21, 1888

Drs. Starkey & Palen—In 1883, my husband, who was suffering from Asthma, took a two months' treatment of your Compound Oxygen Treatment which gave him immediate relief.

Mrs. H. J. Sanderson.
Coolville, Ohio, Nov. 19, 1888.

Drs. Starkey & Palen—Your Compound Oxygen Treatment has done wonders for me.

Mrs. Henry J. Ronalds.
1518 Pacific St. Brooklyn, N. Y. Nov. 5, 1888.

But you will find hundreds of others in our treatise on Compound Oxygen, records of cures in various chronic cases, and a complete history of this remedy. Send for the book. It will be mailed free. Address DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1529 Arch St. Philadelphia Pa.

We wish every farmer in this county would become a reader of Farm, Stock and Home. Taken in connection with this paper its cost is nominal.

Oakesdale(Wash.) Weekly Sun says:

Eastern elections show the National Farmers Alliance has come not merely to stay, but soon, as the ruling factor in our national government, to right the wrongs that are daily bringing the masses down to abject slavery. The Washington Farmers Alliance is here to stay, and through it must come relief to our farmers. Never before has united action on the part of the farmers shown itself to be of as much importance as at present. The same condition that gave the Kansas legislature to the Alliance is the kind of leaven that is already working in our legislative lump. There is victory ahead for the farmers, for their claims are just.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

☞ All work in my line skillfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

SPRING SMILES!
Upon the Well Wintered Farm.

"How to Preserve the Season's Crop," "Butter Making in Winter," "When Shall We Sell," "How to Feed in Winter," "Keep the Animals Growing," "Sheep Farming," "Why I Raise Swine," "Does Poultry Pay," "Shall We Use Blooded Sires," "The Horse Market," "My First Experience with the Silo," "My First Fruit and Vegetable Garden," "Why I Don't Leave the Farm," "The Wasteful Wife," "Our Country Roads," "Are Bees Worth their Keep," "Minnesota an Apple State," "Notes Obtained by Fraud," "The Stranger's Promise," "Are Politicians Our Friends," "What Should the Teacher Be," "How to Preserve Meats," "When to Buy Seeds," "The Boy Mechanic," "A Quarrelsome Family," "Fighting Animals," "My Early Mistakes," "Shall We Heed the Experience of Others."

These are only a few of the subjects to be found in forthcoming numbers of

FARM, STOCK AND HOME,
OF MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The most popular and reliable semi monthly Agricultural journal published.

Edited by S. M. OWEN, assisted by scores of practical farmers, stockmen, dairymen, poultrymen, apiarists, gardeners, fruit growers, housewives, etc., etc.

Every number contains sixteen to twenty pages of 64 to 80 columns, printed from clear, new type, on fine, white book paper.

FARM, STOCK AND HOME Is issued the 1st and 15th of every month—24 numbers a year—at an annual subscription of only 50 cents.

Appreciating the value of a good, practical agricultural DON'T PASS THIS OFFER. paper to all farmers, and desiring to get the one best adapted to this locality, we have arranged with the publishers of Farm, Stock and Home to accept subscriptions at regular rates; or we will send it and THE JOURNAL one year for only $1.50. Sample copies can be seen at this office.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r.
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,
Attorneys and Counselors at Law,
CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

W. A. ROBERTSON
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

100 PAGES
WIDE AWAKE.
1891

BEGINNING WITH THE HOLIDAY NUMBER

Is permanently enlarged to one hundred pages, radiant with new and larger type, a new style of page, and fresh, strong literary and pictorial attractions.

Mrs. Burton Harrison, whose story of "The Anglomaniacs" has been the sensation of the season in The Century, has written for Wide Awake a story called "Diamonds and Toads."

Hon. John D. Long (ex-Governor of Massachusetts) furnishes six articles, under the general title of "Our Government," for the enlightenment of coming citizens—the boys and girls of to-day.

Margaret Sidney's new serial, "Five Little Peppers Grown Up," will tell more about Polly and Jasper and David and Joel and Phronsie, and others, as it runs through the year. Fifty charming illustrations by Chas. Mente.

Marietta's Good Times will chronicle in her own words, from her own manuscript, the childhood adventures of Marietta Ambrosi.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn, a little girl who had a great many ancestors, is an irresistible little folks' serial, by Elizabeth Cumings.

Unusually Interesting Articles, some elaborately pictorial: "Dining with Gladstone," by Mrs. John A. Logan; "Amy Robsart's Embroidery," by Frances A. Humphrey? "Mother Goose's Pets," by Agnes Repplier; "Gypsies and Gypsying," by Elizabeth Robbins Pennell; "Some Horses that I have known," by Maud Howe; "Seinte Marie College of Wynchestre," by Oscar Fay Adams; "Boston's Girl Sculptor," by Mrs. Newberry; "The Sugar Crank," by Theodora R. Jenness.

Some Problems in Horology, by E. H. Hawley, of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, will interest High School students. Three sets of cash prizes.

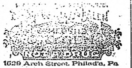
The Best of Short Stories from thousands offered and solicited the past year—some by new authors.

Figure Drawing for Children, in twelve illustrated lessons by Caroline H. Rimmer, with four prize offers each month.

The Ever Popular Ways to do Things, the School and Playground Stories, Tangles, Post Office and Men and Things.

Wide Awake is only $2.40 a Year.

D. LOTHROP CO., Publishers, Boston.



DRS. STARKEY & PALENS
1529 Arch Street. Philad'a, Pa
TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

1891—THE ST. PAUL—DAILY NEWS.—1891

Furnishes all the News of the World.

Bright,
Fearless
and
Independent.

Champions the cause of the people independent of the political parties. Opposes monopolies and all public or private robbery by means of unjust tariff or other inquitous legislation, State or National.

The full reports of legislative proceedings, which the Daily News will supply during the coming session of the Legislature, will alone be worth the cost of a year's subscription.

Sent by mail, postage paid, at the following remarkably low price:

Six months $1.75
One year 3.00

For 75 cents additional to either a six months or a yearly subscription a complete set of the works of Charles Dickens, eleven volumes, (paper binding) will be sent postage paid.

Send for sample copies of the News Address: The Daily News, St. Paul, Minn.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.
Office on Second Street, Crookston.

The Northwestern Farmer
ONE YEAR FREE

REDUCED SAMPLE ILLUSTRATION in the NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul.

(See November 15th number, how Boys and Girls can get Christmas Gifts FREE.)

The publisher of the NORTHWESTERN FARMER will send the paper free from November 15th for the balance of the year, to every one of our readers who send their address on a postal card. Address, FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul, Minn.

THE NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER published in St. Paul, Minn., is a sixteen page, 64 column Illustrated Semi-Monthly Agricultural Journal (24 numbers in the year). It is a well-known, enterprising, ably edited and popular farm paper.

WE OFFER IT FREE
for one year to all who will pay us one year's subscription to
The Polk County Journal.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., Nov. 29th, 1890.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before Register or Receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on Jan 8th, 1891, viz: Joseph L. Thomas, D. S. No. 11,925, for the ... Sec. 15 Township 149, R. 41. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Charles Ohles, of Tilden, Minn., Frank G. Horton, of Godfrey, Minn., Alfred Wade, of Tilden, Minn Arthur Adams, of Godfrey Minn

[32-37] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., Nov. 5th, 1890.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Louis P. Bramsness against Peter G. Alsson, deceased, or his heirs, for abandoning homestead entry No. 11,171, dated May 28th, 1885, upon the nw¼ (Sec. 20) Section 20, Township 152, Range 42, in Polk County, Minn., with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 23d day of December, 1890, at 10 o'clock a. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

[30-35] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., Nov. 5th, 1890.

Complaint having been entered at this office by August Kilmann against Amasa Stewart Thompson, for failure to comply with law as to timber-culture entry No. 2,761, dated Sept. 25th, 1882, upon the e½ sw¼ and lots 6 and 7, Section 6, Township 147, Range 44, in Polk County, Minnesota, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; contestant alleging that the said Amasa Stewart Thompson and his heirs have wholly failed to break, cultivate or plant to trees, tree seeds or cuttings any of said land since date of entry, and that there are now no trees, tree seeds or cuttings standing or growing thereon except about 40 acres of natural growth of small poplar and willows, the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 29th day of December, 1890, at 10 o'clock a. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged failure.

[30-35] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

(First publication Dec. 4th, 1890.)

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss.
District Court, 14th Judicial District.

The The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston a corporation, plaintiff, vs. John McLean, defendant.

The State of Minnesota to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber, at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of three thousand three hundred thirty-nine dollars and sixty cents, with interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum from the 17th day of July, A. D. 1890, on the sum of $947.10, and from the 11th day of May, A. D. 1890, on the sum of $2,392 50, together with costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated November 15th, 1890.

JOHN CROMB, Plaintiff's Attorney,
[32-39] Crookston, Minn.

(First publication Dec. 11th, 1890.)

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss,
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Alexander Finlayson, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Agnes Finlayson, of Crookston, Minnesota, representing, among other things, that Alexander Finlayson, late of Crookston, Minnesota, on the 30th day of November, A. D. 1890, at Augus, Minnesota died intestate, and being a resident of this county at the time of his death, leaving goods, chattels and estate within this county, and that the said petitioner is the widow of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to her granted. It is ordered that said petition be heard before the Judge of this court, on Friday, the second day of January, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. at his office in said county.

Ordered further, that notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased, and to all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, the 8th day of December, A. D. 1890.

By the Court: C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
[34-36] Judge of Probate.

REMOVED
BACK
TO THE OLD STAND
In the Fifth Ward.
CALL
AND SEE
WHAT WE CAN DO FOR YOU
E. D. CHILDS & CO.

KEEPING STILL
AND
Sawing Wood.

While some of my competitors are making a great parade about what they are doing for the people, I am not boasting, but just quietly

Selling Lots of Goods!
AT FIGURES THAT CAN'T BE BEAT.

Close buyers will do well to call and see my new stock and get prices. Everybody call at

STURE'S STORE
Hack & Gallasch' Old Stand. - - - Crookston, Minn

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,
DEALERS IN

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, OLE OLSON GANG PLOWS,
SHELF —AND— HEAVY HARDWARE,
F. F. Thompson & Sons WALKING PLOWS. Sole Agents for the Domestic Sewing Machines

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK O
STOVES AND RANGES
or ner Main and Fletcher Sts, - - - rookston.

S. L. COLLINS,
PROPRIETOR OF
MAIN STREET
Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.
CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,
Crookston, - - - Minnesota.
Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.
FINE HEARSE
in connection which I will attend to in person

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, - MINNESOTA.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor.

DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY.

TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, DECEMBER 25, 1890. NO. 36.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m.	6 m.	1 year
½ inch....	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch.....	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches...	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches...	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches...	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches...	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column..	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

Beltrami Telaugraphs.

When D. T. Herriott took Thursday's train for Pennsylvania, he carried with him the best wishes of all who knew him. In his departure, our town loses its best citizen. May his declining years be filled with peace and happiness.

E. W. Johnson will spend the holidays with friends in Iowa.

A. Boddy is busily engaged in the insurance and collection business.

Joe says he likes to have his drinks handed to him in a more gentle manner.

If those young folks who have made so much trouble in a quiet, peaceable family continue their deviltry they will soon learn that the majority of our people have a great love for justice.

Our merchants are selling goods for cash lower than they can be bought at in most country villages.

The farmers have in times past "kicked" because they couldn't get cars to ship their wheat. But the farmer who couldn't get cars this year can thank his guiding star, for all those who have sold to the elevators here this fall have done well, and many of them have gained at least one grade.

Hardly a day paces but some one here gets filled with the Elixer of Hell, and makes trouble for himself and family. It has been carried on to such an extent in this county that even our moderate drinkers are disgusted with the whole business and many of them hereafter will be teetotalars, if not prohibitionists. How many deaths within the past three months have been indirectly caused by it, we know not, but we do know that there has been four deaths within that time caused directly by the infernal traffic.

"Touch the goblet no more,
It will make thy heart sore
To its very core.
Its perfume is the breath of the angel of death,
And the light that within it lies
Is the flash of his evil eyes.
Beware, O beware, for sickness, sorrow and care
Are all there!"

If any of our readers have failed to get satisfactory profits from horses, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, bees, fruits, grain or vegetables, they should commence at once and read every number of Farm, Stock and Home during the coming year. If ordered in connection with this paper its cost will not be felt.

The Independent Bulletin (Hubbard, Minn.) says;

The wild talk that has been done by Democratic and Republicans papers during the campaign, that voters were for sale and that money always ruled and always would rule, reacted against them and awoke the people. Every intelligent man knows that if American politics ever can and does sink to the level that a majority of voters can be bought, it means a total annihilation of free institutions. Voters are often deceived by the bribe takers into voting against their interests, but it is worse than an insult to American manhood to accuse them of polluting the ballot. There are fewer Benedict Arnolds among the people than the worshipers of the golden calf expected, and the Alliance vote is a just rebuke to them.

The National Economist:—Just now the old party papers that were not prepared for the late political disaster are advising the farmers that all the ills of which they complain cannot be cured through legislation. The farmer is cautioned not to neglect his farm in any event: to attend carefully and intelligently to its needs, and, inferentially, to trust the politician for the rest. Such advice has been given before, but just at present the farmers are not inclined to take kindly to it and have determined upon a little independent action of their own.

The Express Monopoly.

Albert Lea Standard.

The transportation question has justly become one of the leading issues of the times. In involves so much that directly affects the business and prosperity of the country and especially of the farmers and other producing classes, and it has come to be in its various phases so onerous, being virtually in the control of a few insatiable monied magnates, that it is arousing the sentiment of the people to an emphatic protest and to the consideration of effective means of redress. The demand for a reform is one of the chief planks of the platform of the alliance, and to say that it is supported by the overwhelming judgment of the best business interests, is to state a well-acknowledged fact.

The rates for transporting produce and goods by railroad enter immediately into the cost, the selling and the buying price, and affect not only the profits and the rewards of toil but actually the development, stability and success of all kinds of business.

The great issue, of course, is as to the control of the railroads. That has been ineffectually attempted through the interstate commerce law and State railroad commissions, and the result is a scandalous failure. The national commission has proved powerless, the railroad officials admit that they ignore its laws and rules, and our State board of commissioners is little better than an ignoble farce. Government confiscation upon some equitable basis and ownership of the railroads is advocated, and that seems to be the only complete remedy, the only escape and relief from the gigantic mastery and oppressive burden of exaction which the railroads inflict.

Next to the railroads and closely allied to them in the business of transportation are the express companies. They have ever exercised unlimited and unbridled rule within their domains, and the latter includes every city and hamlet in the country. No legislation has been attempted by congress and in a few only of the states to curtail their greed, and they have continued to and yet practice their arts of extortion without restriction, and governed by no dictates of justice or rules of business except to relentlessly exact from their customers all they will stand it to pay without hazarding a decrease of patronage.

These facts are patent; all who deal with them know it; every business man, every citizen who patronizes them, who sends or receives goods or packages, is forced to submit to the extortions of the express companies, and is constantly forced to feel the effects of their excessive charges.

In a large measure it affects the newspapers of the state, a careful estimate showing that in this line of business alone, the total annual express charges paid by publishers amounts to over $35,000. Publishers have a right to rebel against this, and on behalf of the people who in a much greater measure are affected,, it is the duty of the papers to demand a reform and to insist that the legislature shall grasp the question and afford, through strong and effective laws, the needed relief.

At the last meeting of the state editorial association the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the question of the regulation of the tariff rates and business of the express companies in this state deserves the earnest and vigilant consideration of this association; that efficient restrictive and regulative laws should be enacted by the legislature; that the newspapers of the state are all urgently requested to fully discuss this question, to impress the importance of a reform upon the people, and to aid in all proper ways in effecting it; that particularly they present the subject to candidates for the next legislature, and that during the coming year especial effort be made by every newspaper to obtain a redress of grievances, and to secure a permanent reform of the evils of the express business monopoly.

The matter is too all-important to be ignored by the legislature, and we especially present it to the attention of the members of Freeborn County, confidently believing that it will receive their earnest, faithful and practical affirmative consideration.

Some of the papers have already discussed the question, and we suggest to all that no better service can be performed than to unite in a strong and persistent demand for summary legislative action.

The Mankato Free Press, the editor of which is L. P. Hunt, president of the editorial association, in a recent issue says: "It is clearly within the province of the state legislature to regulate express charges within the state, as it is those of freight or passenger. But for some unexplained reason express companies have escaped investigation and are allowed to charge exhorbitant rates with impunity. The amount of business required to be transacted through express transportation is simply enormous, and is constantly on the increase. The merchant, the mechanic and the farmer, even, is at their mercy, and it is high time the brakes were applied and these corporations brought under reasonable subjection. The congress of the United States should also take the matter in hand and pass an inter-state express law similar to that regulating inter-state railroad commerce. Recently rates were advanced 25 per cent. on express matter east of Chicago, to New York, Boston, Philadelphia, and one or two other leading commercial centers, when the tariff already was quite too high. As an example of the outrageous charges exacted on small packages, it is only necessary to note the fact that a nine pound parcel was received at this office last week from Cincinnati, Ohio, upon which we paid 90 cents. Such a tax as this is nothing short of robbery, and still it is practiced hundreds of times daily. The local rates on express matter are entirely out of proportion to the condition of the times, and a thorough investigation into and overhauling of the schedule within the state, is quite in order. A beginning cannot too soon be made."

Other papers have presented the matter as follows:

Lanesboro Journal: The express companies talk of reducing the wages of their employes May 1st. There is evidently no reason for such a course, other than pure cussedness, for the rates of all these companies are so extortionate and their business so vast that they can well afford to pay much higher wages than they do. An an evidence of this robbery we will cite an instance occurring here recently. A man had a small package which cost him thirty cents and he wished to send it to Minneapolis, and to do so the express company charged him sixty cents, or just twice the cost of the article. The government should transact the express business of this country just as it carries the mails, and the subject should be agitated to that end.

Owatonna Democrat: The express companies should be compelled, like all other corporations of their character, to conduct their business in the interest of the public so far as consistent, and goods should be transferred from one line to another to save time and travel just as the mails are. There never yet was a giant corporation developed by the "protective" laws of the country that did not seek to ignore the public just as soon as it got strong enough. Now is the time to teach the express corporations a good lesson.

At every session of the legislature during the past ten years, hired lobbists of the express companies have been employed to prevent the passage of laws taxing them or interfering with their charges or their manner of doing business. These agents have carried their pockets full of express franks which they judiciously distributed among members, and what other "inducements" were presented will probably never be known. They will be on hand at the coming session, and it will be safe to set it down, if a member is indifferent about "meddling with the express companies," if he fails to heed the demand which arises throughou the state, and especially if he seeks to throttle proposed legislation or oppose it, he has "made arrangements" with a lobyist; in other words he has been paid, bribed, corrupted to betray his constituents in the interests of the express monopoly.

The daily papers might render great assistance in demanding and securing an efficient law, if they were so disposed, and we shall consider it strange, at least, if they neglect to join the country papers in so just a cause. The question should be pressed without any cessation until the relief sought is obtained, and no sham measure should quiet the demand; no stupefied state railroad commission should be trusted to enforce a law, and no means should be accepted that does not go to the root of the evil.

The Natonal Economist:—One would conclude, from reading the more important daily Democratic journals, that the action of the Alliance and the results of the late election were to be construed simply and only as a vindication of President Cleveland's administration. Such an assumption is in perfect harmony with the rule of plutocracy, and discloses a desire to ignore the Alliance and its demands entirely. This may have the effect of misleading the voters in the cities, but will produce a decidely effect in the country. The fact has been demonstrated that the farmers of the country when united can overthrow any political party, and it is well for the Democratic party to hear this in mind, as the agricultural portion of the people are in no humor to be trifled with.

No opportunity was ever before offered whereby a farmer can obtain the experiences of others so cheaply as by a subscription to Farm, Stock and Home.

To Issue Grain Certificates.

The National Economist.

The rumor that the millers of the Northwest are issuing scrip in consequence of the financial stringency may be explained by the fact that the grain men of Minneapolis have proposed a plan by which they will avoid the necessity of borrowing money at half per cent and by which the Northwest will be furnished practically with so much additional currency. Under this plan grain certificates are to be adopted by the jobbers as money for their goods. The grain man would pay the farmer for his wheat, the farmer in turn would pay the grocer and the general store, and the store men at least would pay the jobber for his goods—all with the same certificates. The certificates are to be secured by ample collateral. Anthony Kelly, who was delegated on the part of the Minneapolis jobbers to broach the matter to the St. Paul jobbers, says; "The St. Paul jobbers all think favorably of the scheme. It is not so much to help the grain men out as it is to check the decrease in the value of wheat held by farmers."

So says a recent press dispatch. The seed sown by the advocates of the sub-treasury plan is doing its perfect work, From the above it is seen that its principles are to be practically applied in the great grain centres of the nation. The main features of the plan are recognized at legitimate and the benefits accuring to the farmer conceded. It is quite significant that these men who handle grain in immense quanities fail to find anything impracticable or impossible in the details of storing, grading, etc., which have been such an insurmountable barrier to certain Congressmen who could not tell the difference between No. 1 and rejected wheat, or never examined the workings of a warehouse. There is no doubt that the Minnesota millers and grain dealers will make this plan work smoothly and result beneficially to all, unless interfered with by Congress at the instance of the banks. They will demonstrate beyond a question that the government can safely and easily do the same in accordance with the provisions of the sub-treasury bill and thereby extend this system to all the producers of cotton and grain, and through them benefit and bless the whole people. Let the friends of this measure continue to discuss it in plain, argumentative, candid manner, meeting all objections fairly and squarely upon the broad ground of justice and rights; continue in this course and the principles involved in the sub-treasury bill will, in the near future, become incorporated into the laws of the land.

Our combination offer with Farm, Stock and Home elsewhere in this issue should not be overlooked. A year's subscription to this grand agricultural paper means a 384 page volume size 11½x15 in that to any farmer is well worth $5.00, yet we give it and this paper one year only $1,50.

Western Advocate (Burr Oak Kans.) Who has a better right to unite for protection than the agricultural class? For the welfare of the whole country, what class is it more necessary should unite? They are the foundation of every industry, the corner stone of all progress. Without the products of the soil man could not exist. One of nature's beneficent gifts to man is the land, and the "horny hand of toil,' prepares the grounds and sows that with rain and shine brings forth rich harvests to supply man's needs, and rightly controlled furnish an abundance for every human being. Let agriculture, as a pursuit, die, and every industry would soon be paralyzed and national decline be swift and certain, as the downfall of great nations under such conditions has proved. The agricultural class should be thinking class, that their rights may not be overthrown. They should have the leisure to read and study, and the means to make their homes comfortable and Pleasant and give their childern the advantages of the best schools in the land. When the conditions are such that their toil brings remuneration sufficient to enable them to enjoy comforts of home and the benefits of socity, and their life is not one continual round of drudgery the boys and girls will not as soon as old enough, leave the farm for the city. They will not choose any other occupation rather than farming, when equal rights are restored to the people; nor will men who never did an honest day's work, look down upon those who are engaged in manual labor. Then farmers may even ride in buggies and occasionally have a new suit of clothes, without being twitted, by those who have plenty, of extravagance.

The current number of Farm, Stock and Home Minneapolis, Minn. should be read by every farmer in the State In fact, for a farmer to miss reading any number of that excellent journal is a misfortune which he can escape almost without money and without price, by taking it in connection with the JOURNAL.

Nationalism.

The Western Rural.

The government of the United States will yet own the telegraph lines of the country in our opinion. It is the only way out of the clutches of as bold a set of robbers as has ever done business in this country, and that is saying a good deal. It would not be practical for the government to parallel the present lines. We have had too much parlleling in the United States already. A lot of capital has been dumped into a railroad for instance, and although that road was sufficient to do all the business between the points which it connected, after a while a lot of capital would be dumped in to parallel road and the public was compelled to support both lots of capital. How? By paying much higher rates than service that was rendered was worth. This must always be expected under such circumstances. When to railroads or two telegraph lines parallel each other, the natural result is combination, and with combination comes an arbitrary fixing of exorbitant rates. It is the only way that the two lots of capital can save themselves from utter destruction. It would be the same if the government should parallel the telegraph lines of the country. If competition were kept up one line or the other would be ruined, and the public may never have thought that the government would be driven to the wall. In such a contest as that, Gould's company could make the government lose so much money that the people would not stand it.

The object to accomplish is the prevention of the investment of any more capital in telegraph companies or carrying companies than is absolutely needed to do the service. The government should purchase the telegraph lines at a fair valuation and operate them. It is said that in those European countries where the government owns the telegraph it costs but ten cents to send a message that would cost sixty cents here. That is a big profit for the people to be compelled to pay Jay Gould. The idea that the government should own the telegraph is constantly growing. But that is nationalism as far as it goes. And if the government should own the telegraph, why should it not own the railroads? And if it should operate the railroads why should it not operate the express companies? And if it is said that it should and perhaps conduct severable other kinds of business, the banking, for instance, the advocates of such innovations will find themselves pretty robust nationalists, although many of them would no doubt throw Mr. Bellamy's book one side as the veriest trash. There are many things to take into consideration when we begin to advocate even partial nationalism, but we have little doubt that the government will sometime be more largely engaged managing the industries which the people are called upon constantly to patronize than it now is. Only one thing can prevent it, and that is some other course upon the part of the government that will put a stop to the present outrageous corporate robberies. If that is not done the people will demand the ownership by the government at least of the railroads.

The Sugar Trust.

Farm' Stock and Home.

The sugar trust has at last made public a statement of its affairs since its formation, a little over two years ago. It confesses, to a clear profit of $26, 591,746 02: a very pretty sum to make out of one of the primest of life's necessities. Such enormous profits could not have been made but for the tariff on refined sugar, imposed solely to secure better wages to laborers. The latter have not yet made public the report of their net earnings, but if the proprietors, who are not supposed to be benefitted by the tariff, could make so much under its operation, what must the labors, the real beneficiaries, have made? The worlds will undoubtedly be amazed at the size of the fortunes built up by the employees of the sugar trust.

We wish every farmer in this county would become a reader of Farm, Stock and Home. Taken in connection with this paper its cost is nominal.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST.

PUBLISHED 50 YEARS CONSECUTIVELY.

RECOGNIZED as the BEST RURAL and FAMILY PERIODICAL in the WORLD, giving Invaluable Help, the Best Information, Thousands of Plans, Practical and Useful hints and Suggestions, and THOUSANDS OF ORIGINAL ENGRAVINGS ANNUALLY. Try it this year, it will Pay You well. No one can read a number without getting thoroughly Reliable and Practical Information. Profitable to Everybody. Each number contains Sketches of Labor-helping Contrivances to aid In-door and Out-door Work. Fine Engravings of Animals, Plants Flowers, Out-buildings, with many Pleasing, Instructive Pictures for Young and Old. Subscription price $1.50 a year.

We are desirous to make this the BANNER YEAR in CIRCULATION, which is now over 100,000 copies monthly.

OUR PREMIUM OFFER.

THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD CYCLOPÆDIA. Price $1.00. Bound in Cloth and Gilt. A Complete Ready Reference Library for Farmers, Gardeners, Fruit Growers, Stockmen and Housekeepers, containing a large fund of Useful Information, Facts, Hints and Suggestions, in the various Departments of Agriculture. Horticulture, Live Stock Raising, Poultry Keeping, Bee Keeping, Dairy Farming, Fertilizers, Rural Architecture, Farm Implements, Household Management, Domestic Affairs, Cookery, Ladies' Fancy Work, Floriculture, Medical Matters, Etc

Containing 644 Pages, with 249 Illustrations.

This Valuable Book furnished with the AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST ONE YEAR, for $1.60, or for only 10 cents additional to the subscription price, paying postage on book.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,

CROOKSTON, MINN.,

Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plainand Fancy

DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, FLANNELS,

BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for.......... $1.00
Rhadames for 1.00
Faille Francais for.......... 1.00
Gros Grain for.......... 1.00
Satin Luxors for.......... 1.00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS.—

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel.......... 20 cents.
54 inch Tricot.......... 35 "
54 inch Flannel.......... 45 "
54 inch best all wool Flannel... 75 "
36 inch Henriettas.......... 25 "

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for.......... 30 cents.
" " " .... 35 "
" " medicated, for 40 "

A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket.......... $1.50
" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket...... 2.00
" 4½ lb. 10¼ white " 4.50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dry Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

The Queen's Latest Offer.

A Free Education or One Year's Travel in Europe.

In the Queen's "Word Contest," which the publishers of that magazine anouce as the last one they will ever offer, a free education, consisting of a three years' course in any Canadian or American Seminary of College, including all expenses, tuition and board, to be paid by the publishers of The Queen, or one year abroad, consisting of one entire year's travel in Europe, all expenses to be paid, will be given to the person sending them the largest list of words made from the text which is announced in the last issue of The Queen. A special deposit of $750 has been made in The Dominion Bank of Canada, to carry out this offer. Many other useful and valuable prizes will be awarded in order of merit. The publishers of The Queen have made their popular family magazine famous throughout both Canada and the United States by the liberal prizes given in their previous competitions, and as this will positively be the last one offered, they intend to make it excel all others as regards the value of the prizes. Send six two cent U. S. stamps for copy of The Queen containing the text, complete rules and list of prizes. Address The Canadian Queen, Toronto, Canada. [33-40]

For a plain, practical and instructive paper, made largely by farmers and wholly for farmers, Farm, Stock and Home of Minneapolis, Minn. has no equal among agricultural journals. We can furnish it in connection with the JOURNAL one year for only $1,50.

Toledo Weekly Blade,

1891.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

THE most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding, year after year, a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

NEW story to commence first of the year, written especially for the Blade by Oliver Optic. "Money Maker Series." A series of special articles on "Side Issues," written for The Blade. Blade China Tea Sets and Dinner Sets given to club-raisers. Send for specimen copy of The Weekly Blade and our interesting announcements for the coming year.

SPECIMENS.

A specimen copy will give you a better idea of The Weekly Blade than any description we can give in an advertisement. We therefore invite everybody to write us for a specimen, which we will cheerfully mail you free; and at the same time please mail us a list of names of your friends and neigbors, and we will also mail them specimens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AGENTS.

ANYBODY can earn Ten Dollars very quickly by raising clubs for The Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address

THE BLADE,
Toledo, Ohio.

Thirteen Grand Winter Excursions

From Northern Minnesota and North Dakota, to Montreal and all points west in Ontario, at the low rate of $40, via Northern Pacific R. R. The dining car line between Northern Minnesota and North Dakota points, by way of St. Paul and Chicago. Dates of sale, Tuesday, Nov. 18th and 25th, and Dec. 2d and 9th; and daily Dec. 16th to 23d inclusive, and Dec. 30th, 1890. Limit of tickets ninety days, good going and returning fifteen days, with stop-over privileges, subject to local regulations of lines over which tickets read. Final limit of tickets extended fifteen day on payment of $5.00; thirty days $10.00; and sixty days $20. Pullman tourist sleeping cars from Winnipeg, Pembina Grafton, Gilby, Grand Forks and Crookston, will be run through to Chicago without change via the Northern Pacific and Wisconsin Central, leaving Winnipeg on Tuesday, November 18th and 25th, and Dec. 2d, 9th, 16th, 23d and 30th. Sleeping car fare $2 for one double berth. For further information, maps, time tables and tickets via the Dining Car Line, write to or inquire of C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R., Crookston, Minn.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

CROOKSTON, MINN., DEC. 25, 1890.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 73.
1 Northern 70.
2 Northern 69.
3 Northern 57.

Ira DeCamp was up from Fargo last Saturday.

H. E. Wold was down from Winger this week.

Now is the time to subscribe for THE JOURNAL.

Special attractions in jewelry and silverware at C. H. Saake's.

Miss Lottie Anglim is at home for the holidays.

Miss Jennie Miller went to St. Paul last week on a visit.

Silver thimbles from 20 cents to 50 cents at C. H. SAAKE's

Ladies call and see those hats which Mrs. Bangs is offering at cost. Everything goes at greatly reduced prices.

Prof. Wishard was greeting his friends in the city last week.

Wheat took a two cent tumble on Monday, reaching 76 cents.

The "Owl Club" met with Mrs. Frank Gravel last Thursday evening.

The Board of County Commissioners met in special session on Monday.

Chris Steenerson represents sub-alliance No. 553 in the state convention.

Wheat took another two cent drop on Tuesday morning, reaching 74 cents.

THE JOURNAL extends the compliments of the season to its many readers.

Joseph Netzer Jr., returned from the insane asylum on Wednesday morning.

Such list being circulated, the amount of $2,000 was subscribed by those present.

Gold and silver watches, diamond rings, opal, ruby, emerald and friendship rings at bed rock prices, at C. H. SAAKE' Jewelry Store.

Mrs. Bert Bivins was down from Argyle last week visiting friends and relatives.

An endless variety of novelties in jewelry and silverware, suitable for holiday presents at C. H. Saake's jewelry store.

Ole P. Rene was up last Wednesday and attended the Bolton matinee at the Opera House.

Levi Myers went down to St. Paul on Tuesday evening to see about a big lumber deal he has in view.

G. C. Holden was down from Warren on Tuesday enroute for Montana. He may conclude to locate out there.

Lovely weather? Well, we do not know where you would go to beat it. It is the finest weather so far one could wish to see.

J. L. Bailey, who was injured last week by being run over, had a narrow escape from a serious injury, but is doing nicely now.

Otto Kankel was up from Fertile on Saturday. He told THE JOURNAL man that he expected to start for a trip to the old country soon.

C. C. Knappen, of the Fisher Bulletin, has started a new paper at Detroit, Minn., called the Free Press. He opens out with his usual vigor.

This is a good week in which to remember the printer. We are striving to add needed improvements and need your help if you are in arrears.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas and the little shaver departed for the land of oranges on Sunday evening. They will stay in Florida some four or six weeks.

Now is the time to subscribe for THE JOURNAL. You all need it and we need your help. Don't be backward in coming forward, but everybody come.

Leave your orders for all kinds of commercial or fancy printing at THE JOURNAL job rooms. Prices and work guaranteed to suit.

In a year like this, with good crops and good prices, we ought to be able to collect at least 50 per cent. on our list. If we can do that we shall be perfectly satisfied.

Al. Roberts returned from Grand Forks last week, having finished work in the mill for the season. Al says Crookston leads 'em all if Grand Forks is a slick little city.

On Saturday morning our citizens beheld a regular summer rainbow. It was raining a little at the time. Whoever before heard of a rainbow on the 20th of December in the Red River Valley.

Rev. S. H. Barteau has accepted a call to preach at Stephen and will remove to that place as soon as arrangements can be made. We congratulate the thriving village of Stephen on their valuable accession to its social circle.

The remains of Mrs. M. Smith, of Grand Forks, were brought to the city last week for interment. At the time of her death her child, about one year old, was sick and shortly died and was buried by the side of its mother on Sunday.

Ladies, in your shopping expeditions you have not neglected to call at Mrs. E. E. Bangs' fashionable millinery emporium, have you? Of course not, for Mrs. B. has given notice that all those lovely hats must go at startlingly low figures.

F. O. Sustad reports the sale of 1,800 acres of railroad land last week, and says that the demand for farming lands never was greater. He sold one quarter—160 acres for spot cash. The majority of these sales were made to men from North Dakota.

George McManus says ten farmers are paying off their mortgages this fall to one in any fall before since he came to Polk County. Many are paying a large portion of it and renewing for the balance. George says he shall raise more barley next year than anything else.

Lambeth's celebrated choir from Glasgow, Scotland, will give a concert here at the Opera House, on Jan. 8th, 1891. The first day's sale of tickets will be reserved for those who have subscribed, and any one who desires to have their name on the list should call on Hugh Robertson.

A correspondent writes us to know if there are any fish in Red Lake. Parties who have been there say they never saw better fishing grounds, and we know that the outlet, the Red Lake River, is alive with fish of all kinds incident to the Northwest. Fish? You bet! Fish till you can't rest.

We know you would LIKE awful well to make THE JOURNAL a real nice Christmas gift or a New Year's present. Well we hung up our stocking (those statements we sent out) and there is nothing to prevent you chucking in your gift. We will call it that, anyhow, and be very much obliged.

A. J. Hamre and son came up from Fertile on Saturday to attend to business matters at the county seat and greet old friends. A. J. is one of the comrades, a former member of the old Minnesota 7th Infantry, and he is chuck full of the old reminiscences when he meets the old comrades.

A. E. Brush was in from Angus on Tuesday. Reports that the residence on the Angus stock farm took fire on Monday and was entirely consumed. Mr. D. Miller, who occupied it, saved his furniture. Mr. Campian's house took fire the same day but was saved; also the residence of L. J. Lake.

Knute Nelson was up from Garfield on Monday and did not forget to drop in and renew his subscription. He says that wheat was an excellent crop in his neighborhood this year, and hundreds of bushels are coming into Fertile daily. Says his neighbors are all getting in pretty good shape financially.

IF YOU KNOW yourself indebted to THE JOURNAL come and see us before Jan. 1st, whether you received a statement or not. WE ARE IN need of your help, be it ever so small, NOW, greater than we shall be after Jan. 1st, if we are obliged to carry our obligations over until next year. Let us hear from all who can respond.

W. O. Wilson was up to St. Hilaire and Thief River last week. Says our old friend, Charlie Kretzschmar, is doing a rushing business in his mill, and we are glad of it, for if any man on the footstool ever merited ample success that man is Carl Kretzschmar. It don't require many such enterprising men to build up a grand city. Charlie is one of the salt of the earth.

W. D. Carlton was down on Saturday last. He left for below on Monday evening intending to visit in Wisconsin a bit before the legislature convenes. W. D. will make an excellent representative, we opine. He will always be found advocating an economical and wise administration of government for the people. If we had more of that sort it would be better for the interests of the state.

W. Campbell was down from Godfrey last week and dropped in to speak words of good cheer to THE JOURNAL man and order THE JOURNAL sent to his address. That is just what we would like every farmer in Polk County to do. Then we could do a grand good work in this country, and every farmer and every business man should have THE JOURNAL in his family, for what we seek is for the common good of all. Every body come and join our ranks.

A small lad near McIntosh last week took a few bushels of wheat to town, receiving for the lot a check for $1.20. This he took and by a little funny business made it read $21.20. Receiving the money he went to a store and applied it on the family store debt and went home as big as a lord. A constable woke him start before morning and took him before a justice of the peace, but in consideration of the tender years of the lad, settlement was allowed and the boy went home sadder but much wiser financially.

Hans Hanson, register of deeds of Becker County, was up last week shaking hands with his old Becker County friends. Well do we remember, in 1877, when Hanson was first nominated for register. He was found at his threshing machine busy at work with the dust of the golden grain upon him 7 or 9 inches thick, and he accompanied the emissary who had been sent to ask his consent to present his name to the convention, right into the convention, and he was nominated without any trouble; at the following election he was elected, and moreover he has been re-elected at every election since, some 15 years now. That speaks pretty well for a man when the people will not let up on him no how. But we remember that the people of Becker are peculiar in that. When they get a good man they keep him. It was so when they had John Cromb for auditor. They kept him constantly in office until Polk County needed his services more than they did down there and then he had to resign to get away. Becker County has truly learned the secret of good, economical government.

Railroad Meeting.

Pursuant to a call previously published, a meeting was held in the school house at Climax, in the town of Vineland, to consider the prospect of securing a railroad from Crookston through the towns of Andover, Roome, Vineland, Hubbard and Shely. More than fifty enthusiastic farmers were present, all the towns, excepting Andover, being represented.

While waiting for the crowd, who were seen to approach from every direction, and previous to calling the meeting to order, the audience was entertained by Eli Steenerson, who drew a large map on the blackboard, showing the starting point and general direction of the proposed road. He called the attention of the assembly to the fact that this location had been proposed on account of the ease in grading, fertility of soil and denseness of population, it being a continuous expanse of well cultivated farms; and also to the fact that the said location would be most convenient for the adjacent country on either side, who are suffering for want of transportation facilities. His remarks were met by general approval. It being now 2 o'clock, the meeting was called to order and Knute S. Aaker was elected chairman and Chris. Steenerson secretary.

E. Steenerson read a letter, which was a response from the N. P. authorities to enquiries as to what could be expected from that road. Said letter intimated in a vague way that if the recent disturbances and stringency in the money market would abate in the near future, railroad enterprises might revive; and that if good and substantial inducements were offered the project would be submitted to the consideration of the proper authorities.

A general discussion then followed as to the best plan to pursue in order to secure the co-operation and confidence of all farmers interested, in which P. Simons, H. Simons, H. G. Dale, from Hubbard, S. Morrison, from Sheley, J. Steenerson and A. Steenerson, from Vineland and others took a lively part.

The meeting finally agreed upon the following resolution which was unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

Resolved, That we, the citizens of the towns of Roome, Tynsid, Vineland, Hubbard and Sheley, believe that a railroad to be run from some point near Carman directly west to about the central part of Roome, thence southwesterly to near the northwest corner of Vineland, thence due south through the towns of Vineland, Hubbard and Sheley to some convenient point opposite the Goose River Valley in North Dakota, is greatly desired by all the farmers in said towns; and we further believe that the Northern Pacific would be the most desirable, or any company that would secure us connection with said road; and in order to attain these ends, be it further

Resolved, That we organize ourselves into a body, and that we are hereby organized into a body, to aid and encourage the construction of such a road.

A motion was then made that the chair appoint a committee of three from each town to solicit subscriptions to aid the proposed road and to secure options for right of way and to report to the chairman or secretary at the next meeting. This motion was carried and the chair appointed the following committee:

Town of Roome—Jacob Ide, John Gilbert, Martin Finseth.

Town of Tynsid—Thos. Logan, Ole Larson, A. Stortroen.

Town of Vineland—Hans H. Bangen, A. Steenerson, Erik Stortroen.

Town of Hubbard—Halvor G. Dale, Henry Simon, John J. Ellingson.

Town of Sletten—Ole A. Tronnes, Ole Hanson, A. Annesen.

The following form of subscription list was ordered sent to each member of said committee:

We, the undersigned, hereby agree to subscribe the sum set opposite our names to aid in the construction of a railroad, to run from Crookston west through the town of Andover to about the central part of Roome, thence southwest to the northwest corner of the town of Vineland, thence south through the towns of Vineland and Hubbard and into the town of Sheley, to some convenient point opposite Goose River Valley in North Dakota. And we further agree to sell the right of way at a price not to exceed fifteen dollars per acre, provided the said road will run on some line on the side of our land and not make necessary the removal of any buildings or do any other serious damage. Said road to be ready and in operation in September, 1891.

On motion the secretary was requested to ask the courtesy of the papers of the county to publish these minutes.

The meeting adjourned to the 3d Monday of January, 1891, at 1 o'clock p. m., to meet at the same place, that is, Climax school house, in Vineland. While bidding each other good evening with a hearty wish for the success of the undertaking, many a weather-beaten face was lit up with dawning hope for the day when 20 miles to market in a stormy Red River Valley winter would be a thing of the past.

KNUTE S. AKER, Chairman.
C. STEENERSON, Sec.

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Scandia-American Bank of Crookston, Minn., will be held at its banking rooms, on Tuesday, the 13th day of January, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., for the election of directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

[36-38] L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.

Prize Medal Contest.

The young people are now prepared to compete the second time in elocution for the silver medal. The contest will be held in the Presbyterian church on Monday evening, Dec. 29th. Everybody is invited. Admission free.

Alvin B. Carlton, son of Hon. W. D. Carlton, of Angus, was united for life to Miss Maggie Cruikshank, of Buffington, at the residence of her sister, in this city, on Saturday morning, the Rev. Mr. Sharpe performing the interesting ceremony. Miss Cruikshank is the daughter of one of Polk County's leading farmers, has been for some time a faithful teacher in our public schools and the young couple enter the new relation in life with the best wishes of hosts of friends. They will commence housekeeping at once under the paternal roof of papa Carlton and oversee the place during his absence in the legislature.

No, friends, THE JOURNAL was not placed on the FREE list by the McKinley bill. Didn't know but some had got that impression, but it is not so. The price is still $1.50 when paid in advance to any address in Polk County, $1.65 outside of Polk County if paid in advance, otherwise $2. We have offered to accept payment at the rate of $1.50 per annum if paid before Jan. 1st. Do not make any mistake in this matter and feel hard toward us, if you have to pay $2 a year and costs of collection. We have no desire to make trouble nor extra costs, and shall not unless absolutely compelled to do it. All we ask is for square, honest treatment, and we think we are fully entitled to this.

Johnny Cromb.

The Eleven-year-old Hero.

Good News Humane Society's Gold Medal is presented this week to Johnny Cromb, of Crookston, Minn., for saving the life of his little playmate. On the morning of July 10, 1890, a little girl, known by the name of Little Clipper Bucknoma, while playing on the logs near the shore of the Red Lake River, Minnesota, accidently fell in the water which was over her head in depth, and would have been drowned had not little Johnny rendered her timely assistance.

AFFIDAVIT FROM HIS FRIENDS.

Crookston, Minn., Nov. 24, 1290

Messrs Street & Smith:

Gentlemen: We the undersigned, hereby certify that the young hero. Johnny Cromb, is known to us as a boy worthy in all particulars, of receiving the Good News Humane Society's medal, which is offered to life-savers by you.

Signed. ADOLPH P. KIRSCH,
G. W. LEWIS, Justice of Peace,
GEO. J. MCMANUS, Notary Public,
M. E. KIRSCH, Notary Public,

Mr. DuCharme relates to THE JOURNAL man a singular incident that occurred on the farm of his brother Moses, at Badger Creek, in this county. Six weeks ago, just after having completed his threshing, Moses DuCharme missed a full grown sow, and after diligent search had failed to reveal her whereabouts, gave her up for lost. A day or so ago, while near one of his straw stacks, he heard a noise in the stack and upon digging into the stack found the sow still alive, but pretty weak. She had been in the stack for six weeks, but is alive yet and doing well.

FOR SALE.

One Full Blood Jersey Bull.

Twenty-five to Thirty head of Grade Jersey cows and young stock. Will sell the same cheap for cash or negotiable notes or will trade for young steers.

Will also sell 2 span of good brood mares, one fine driving team, one three year old colt, and three sucking colts.

Also all of my household furniture and farming utensils will be sold at private sale before March 15th 1891.

E. J. Haseltine.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write
W. D. PALMETIER,
[36-tf] Lisbon, N. Dakota.

Dissolution of Copartnership.

Notice is hereby given that the copartnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, partners under the firm name of Stewart & Spottswood has been this day dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by Wm. C. Spottswood, who is authorized to collect and discharge all debts due the firm, and who assumes the payment of all debts owing by the firm.

Dated Dec. 20th, 1890

A. M. STEWART,
[36 38] W. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

Closing Out.

Our stock of coal and wood heaters at actual cost. Have reduced prices on skates and Winchester rifles to close them out.

[35-36] STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD.

For Sale.

A fine new milch cow, five years old. Call on C. Snyder, Sec. 8, Crookston, or at JOURNAL office.

Wanted at Once.

A good man or boy for work upon a farm. Apply to M. E. Bartlett on Section 9, town of Fairfax, or at JOURNAL office.

NOT QUITE SO TONY AS
THE REEONG DRUG STORE
Of St. Paul, but as near it as any city north of St. Paul can boast, is

DURAND'S NEW DRUG STORE

One Door West of the Post Office, in Mcinnon Block.

A Full Stock of Everything in my Line.

CALL AND SEE ME!

Durand, the Druggist

ON DECK.

Tom Morris, the Jeweler,

Is now located in Durand's Drug Store, McKinnon's Block, Robert Street.

Slightly disfigured, but still in the ring.

A trifle upset by removal,
but all O. K, for business
just the same.

☞Remember the place, one door west of the Post Office, in McKinnon Block.

Santa Claus Headquarters

At C. H. Saake's

JEWELRY STORE.

Silver Tea Sets. Water Sets, Desert Sets, Cake Baskets, Berry Dishes, Rose Jars, Butter Dishes, Pickle Castors, Card Receivers, Carving Sets, Card Cases, Cigar Cases, Perfume Stands, Match and Stamp Boxes, Jewelry cases, Bon-Bon Trays, crumb trays, Puff Boxes, Napkin Rings in large variety. Childs' Sets Forks and Knives, Table, Desert and Tea Spoons, Fruit Knives, Cake Knives, Berry Spoons, Sugar Spoons, Butter Knives, Etc., Etc. My stock of

Gold and Silver Watches

Is immense and comprises all the latest styles and designs. Gold Watches, Silver Watches, Diamond Rings, Ladies' Set Rings, Diamond Ear Rings, Diamond Scarf Pins, solid gold and gold front Lace Pins, Bracelets, Cuff Buttons, Neck Chains, Watch Chains and Lockets, novelties in watch charms, Gold Pens and Holders, Gold Pencils and Tooth Picks, Plain, Band and Friendship Rings, gold and silver Thimbles, marble clocks, Music Boxes and Statuary, and thousands of other handsome articles suitable for Christmas Presents.

Come and See Them!

Winter Excursions.

A chance to visit the old home in Canada and say a good word for the new home in the Red River Valley.

Forty dollars for round trip from Crookston, Minn., to Montreal and all points west in Ontario via the Great Northern and connecting lines. Tickets good for 90 days, 15 going and 15 returning. Time extention at small additional cost.

Tickets for sale December 9th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22d, 23d and 30th.

For further information, maps and publications apply to C. H. Mix, agent Great Northern.

For Sale Cheap.

One hundred and sixty acres of first class land situated three and one-half miles north-east of Crookston. Will take wheat at one dollar per bushel. For further particulars address,
J. E. MITTON,
[12-tf] Wahpeton, N. D.

FOR SALE.

A fine full blood Holstein-Friesian bull, about eight months old. For particulars apply to C. Snyder, Sec. 8, Crookston, or call at JOURNAL office.

For Sale.

New milch cow. Call on M. E. Bartlett, Fairfax, or at JOURNAL office.

Closing Out.

Our stock of coal and wood heaters a actual cost. Have reduced prices on skates and Winchester rifles to cloce them out.

[35-36] STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD.

The Great Transcontinental Line.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

SHORTEST,——BEST.——QUICKEST.

This is the "Yellowstone Park and Dining Car Route"

Lowest Rates to Chicago and All Points East. Tickets sold to all prominent points throughout the East and Southeast.

Pullman Drawing Room Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars through to St. Paul.

TO EAST BOUND PASSENGERS.

Be careful not to make a mistake, but be sure to take the NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R. and see that your ticket reads via St. Paul, Minneapolis or Duluth. Only line traversing Minnesota, Dakota, Manitoba, Montana, Idaho, Washington, British Columbia, Oregon and California.

PULLMAN SLEEPERS, DINING CARS AND COLONIST SLEEPERS

On Pacific Coast Express Trains Daily. This line offers special attractions to California tourists.

☞ An elegant coach runs through between Crookston and St. Paul. Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul. Dining Cars on all trains.

For full information concerning rates time, etc., call on or address your nearest ticket agent, or

CHAS. S. FEE, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.
E. L. HARRISON, Agent, Crookston, Min

Crookston Meat Market

E. STEENERSON, Proprietor.
E. ERIKSON, Manager.

Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

THE OLD RELIABLE
CROOKSTON
LOAN AGENCY
STILL ON DECK.

MONEY
On Real Estaee
MONEY
On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.
A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

New Millinery Store
ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY
OUR NEW
Fall Styles

LADIES,
Call and Examine.
DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

KOPS BRO'S
105 Third Street,
GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA.

PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

FOR SALE
CHEAP.

1 new 13-horse power Russell Engine. (A bargain.)
1 12-horse power Giant Plain Engine.
1 A 1 Driving Team, with Buggy and Harness.

Chas. m. Lowe,
The Loan Agent

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN,
LAWYERS,
FOURNET BLOCK,
CROOKSTON, - - MIN

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third Sts.,
CROOKSTON, MINN

DR. M. WATTS.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office over Merchants' Bank.
☞ Professional calls by day or nigh promptly attended to.

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon.
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON, MINN.

Well, there are some very peculiar men in the world. Several years ago we went to work for a prominent farmer in this country and we worked hard and faithfully for him a whole year; at the end of that time he said he was unable to pay us that year but wanted us to continue right along and work another year, when he would pay us. Well, we did it cheerfully, and at the end of the second year he made the same plea and so we worked for him still another year; put in long, faithful hours, winter and summer, sometimes working until 11 or 12 o'clock and later, and yet another year and another we worked and still he said that because certain wheat dealers were extortionate and took an undue proportion of the profits he could not pay us for all the work we had done for him. Well, we knew that was true. so, at his request, we continued to work for him although, in order to do so, we were obliged to borrow money to carry on the work and pay therefor at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum and a good snug bonus besides, sometimes, until this fall, when we had worked for him well and faithfully for ten or eleven long years, and he had harvested this fall a fine crop of No. 1 Hard wheat, receiving therefor at the rate of 80 cents per bushel, we sent to him a statement of account, telling him that for prompt payment we would accept $1 50 per annum for our work In due time his reply came, and as we took it out of the office we inwardly blessed him for his generous promptness, but when we read that letter we did not. Instead of appreciating our labor in his behalf and enclosing even a portion of our just dues he gave us a red-hot coaling over for presuming to send, what he was pleased to term a "dunnin' letter" to him. "Why," said he, "you act as if you think I am not an honest man, and if you ever do such a thing again I will QUIT PATRONIZING (?) you! I want you to distinctly understand that I AM honest and intend to pay my debts." But all this is mild compared to what he actually said and the way it was said, and some of these days we may take a notion to publish the letter with the name of the writer so that our readers may see what kind of men a kind providence sometimes permits to live upon this earth for some inscrutable purpose of His own. Our offense consisted in working hard and faithfully for this man, borrowing money to enable us so to do, and for all those years he had enjoyed the fruits of our labors, and just because we send a statement to him he raved. He did not dispute the time, nor the service, nor any of the facts, but because we asked him for a little money to strengthen our efforts in his behalf, he kicked, and kicked with both hind feet viciously. Gentle reader, if this was your case we imagine you would feel as though you had been abused—and that is just what we thought.

Our friends have responded in many cases promptly and generously, but yet we are some $400 or $500 short of accomplishing our purpose on Jan. 1st. We have more than enough due us on our list and six more days yet remain before Jan. 1st, and we should feel grateful to all who have received those statements if they would make to help THE JOURNAL now that it needs your help. It will pay you in that it will enable us to make a better paper, and we assure you it will be a favor that we shall highly appreciate. We have not been extortionate nor grasping in this matter but have given all a reasonable time, and we think that our friends will appreciate this fact and will now do their best for us, to show that they do appreciate it. If we can accomplish what we propose to do our patrons will not suffer by making a little extra exertion in our behalf at this time, for we propose to put every cent we receive into the paper. Very many of our friends have responded promptly and these we are not now addressing—only to thank them very heartily, and yet others have written us in the matter, showing that they are interested, and we are not talking to them, only to thank them for their kindly interest and good wishes, and some of our friends we personally know are unable to do anything this fall, but we have an idea that many are intending to fix the matter up soon and to them we would say: "GET THERE BEFORE JAN. 1ST, IF POSSIBLE," as, if we cannot accomplish what we are after by that time we cannot do it in 1891, as our obligations must be met on Jan. 1st or renewed for one year. All we ask of you is to do all that you can for us and this we consider a very reasonable request. We do not expect nor require a man to actually distress himself and family for us, but we should feel under lasting obligations to all who will at this time help us to accomplish our purpose, and we feel confident that there are enough among those to whom we sent a statement who are abundantly able to meet the small amount in full to enable us to meet our January payment. Will you do it, friends?

AN EXTRA EFFORT

The Sugar Trust.

Farm. Stock and Home.

The sugar trust has at last made public a statement of its affairs since its formation, a little over two years ago. It confesses to clear profit of $26,591,646.02; a very pretty sum to make out of one of the primest of life's necessities. Such enormous profits could not have been made but for the tariff on refined sugar, imposed solely to secure better wages to laborers. The latter have not yet made public the report of their net earnings, but if the proprietors, who are not supposed to be benefited by the traiff, could make so much under its operation what must the labors, the real beneficiaries, have made? The world will undoubtedly be amezed at the size of the fortunes built up by the employers of the sugar trust.

Our combination offer with Farm, Stock and Home elsewhere in this issue should not be overlooked. A year's subscription to this grand agricultural paper means a 384 page volume size 11¼x15 in that to any farmer is well worth $5.00, yet we give it and this paper one year only $1,50.

Railroads are not Sacred.

Farm. Stock and Home.

There is one sentiment that we should expel from our minds, and that is the one that concedes the right of railroads to charge sufficient rates to enable them to "pay," under any and all circumstancess. In the building of railroads in this country there has been a recklessness unparalleled. Lines have been unnecessarily duplicated; roads have been extended into uninhabited regions; non-paying branches have been built; in fact, railroads have occupied territory, like conquering armies, so as to be in possession when railroading there became profitable, and the dear public has been and is expected to foot all the bills. Rates on main lines are made high to cover losses on branches: productive lines are made to sustain unproductive ones, and so the people are oppressed and extorted from to gratify the ambitions and fill the coffers of railroad monarchs. If a word is said or a deed done looking to lowering rates, railroad owners at once pathetically exclaim: "You don't expect us to do business at a loss, do you? You certainly will not object to our making fair earnings on capital invested?" Well, why not? If the merchant, the manufacturer, the banker of the farmer makes a bad investment or chooses an unprofitable site, he has to stand the racket; he appeals in vain to the public 'fair earnings on complain of "unfriendly legislation" when the cries are disregarded, "What divinity doth hedge" a railroad that makes it more sacred then other property? By what reasoning, or principle of justice, is the public under obligation to make good the mistakes of railroad projectors and owners? What license have the latter to be reckless, extravagant and ambitious at the public's expense? If unprofitable railroad lines are built let the builders and not the public be the losers. The public is not responsible; it should not be taxed to make the building profitable.

Railroad Depression.

Farm. Stock and Home.

In its last issue Farm, Stock and Home asserted that the recent depression in railroad stock was the result of gambling manipulation, and not of scant earnings or "unfriendly legislation." It is now generaly conceded that this journal's view was correct. Jay Gould alone is said to have rounded up $35,000,000 during the flurry, and a few other kings did nearly as well. But better still, for the kings, they secured control of sufficient lines and interests to make themselves the supreme dictators of transportation rates. The next act in the drama will be an advance of rates all along the line, increased earnings, booming stocks, liberal unloading by the kings at the advance, countless more millions concentrated in a few hands, and so the merry dance goes on! This is all very well, but how about the poor toilers who must pay the fiddler? There is one and only one extensive railroads owner that will not so manipulate railroad the government—and the sooner it assumes the ownership the better.

The Sub-Treasury Bill.

The Toller Nashville, Tenn.

The organs of monopoly are trying to scare weak kneed and shallow brained people to death over the possibility of the passage of the sub-treasury bill. The monopolists say it is unconstitutional, undemocratic and unrepublican because it provides only for the benefit of the farming class. The idea that it provides only for the farming class, arises from a superficial view of it. The aim is not more to provide for the farming class then it is to promote the welfare of all classes by making the formation of trusts, corners and combines impossible. By cornering grain, cotton, tobacco and money, the whole country except the monopolists severely injured and the imposition of paltry fines and short terms of imprisonment do not operate even in the smallest degree to prevent their formation. It is true that, in order to provide these warehouses for the storage of farm products, and money to be of advanced in part payment of their value, and thus the farmer immediately benefited, but the whole country is benefited resultantly, and quite as much, if not more, then the farmers. The federal government makes an annual appropriation of $1,250,000 for the use of the Agricultural Department of the government. Will any one contend that because the farmers receive the immediate benefit of this appropriation, that only they are benefited, and that it is of no advantage to the whole country for the farmers to thrive, and receive from the government encouragement and assistance in their business? The government appropriates anually $50,000,000 for the improvement of our rivers and harbors, the benefits arising from which are enjoyed most immediately and in greatest degree by the merchant vesselwhof are in the free and daily use of our great waterways. Will it be said, however, that this appropriation is entirely for the benefit of the navigator class, and that the people of the whole country do not participate in some degree in the advantages thus secured to the navigators? We do not propose to go into a discussion of this question, and only print the bill that those whose attention is now for the first time perhaps being directed to it by these furious attacks of the monopoly organs, may have the opportunity of reading it for themselves. and of deciding upon its merits, uninfluenced by empty denunciation. It will be noticed that it is a non-partisan measure, having strong advocates and opponents in all parties, and is not adopted as a distinct plank in any platform and is merely suggested by a large element of our American citizenship as a possible remedy for the very greatest evil which this country ever has or possibly ever will again encounter; that is, the formation of combines and corners for the purpose of depressing the price of the five great American agricultural products, wheat, corn, oats, cotton and tobacco, when the farmer is compelled to go into the markets to sell, and then when the farmer has sold out, to corner the produce and make the consumers pay all that they possibly can and still subsist, the average difference between the price paid the farmer and the price paid by the consumer, as shown by statistical tables, being 40 per cent. The burden of this huge steal is borne partly by the farmer and partly by the consumer. Of course, in aproving the Pickler bill, we only approve the principle embraced in it and got every provision. It is merely a skeleton proposition, subject to change an amendment in committee and upon the floor. and is liable to be changed every materially in form. If the government will only incorporate into law the essential features of the Pickler bill, we will be satisfied.

The Frankfort (Kan.) Sentinel says:

The efforts of the Alliance, when fully carried out, will lift this nation to a higher plane of civilization. A moneyed monarchy shall not then exist by having a system of tyranny underlying all law, and with the emblem of freedom afloat, to exact tribute as extortionate as old time tyrants would from conquered provinces. We have implicit faith in the patriotism of the people and hope to see them awaken to a full realization of present realities instead of longer fostering hatred that should not exist in the breasts of sane people. Let every reader study carefully the declaration of purposes of the Alliance and learn that while its plans and purposes can only be consummated by political action that will destroy the sacredness of party altars; yet it will be so complete when fully carried out that coming generations will bless the leaders of the movement as we now do those of our patriotic fathers. Progression signifies advance; fossilism to retrograde. In what columns are you marching to-day.

Timid Capital.

Farm, Stock and Hme'

Now comes the wail from eastern money centers: "Capitalists fear granger legislation, and will be slow to invest in states where the Alliance has a strong foothold." Now, really, it is too bad for the "granger" to so frighten the poor, innocent little capilists! Farmers should not do a thing like that; should not attempt to meddle with financial matters at all, for convulsions. But the little dears need not fear; the the great nawsty farmers shan't hurt them—any more than they deserve. Farmers are just begining to understand that they should have feared capitalistic legislation years ago, then they would not now find it necessary to suggest to capitalists any fear of farmer legislation. The Industrialists do not propose to take a real, honest dollar from any man, but they do not to propose to stop paying tribute to fictitious dollars; to do what they can stop the rapid centralization of dollars in the hands of the few, and to destroy capitalistic conspiracies which enable the conspirators to illegitimately absorb the dollars that industry legitimately slowly to toilfully earns. If this programme hurts anybody it will be the body's fault, not the hurt's.

Grand Forks Items.

From The Herald. Dec. 22.

Prof. Lanigan, of Crookson, spent Sunday here. It's approaching.

Miss Nellie O' Keefe returned this morning from a pleasant visit with judge Montague's family at Crookston.

John Brown and Miss A. Brown, of Crookston and O. H. Elmer, of Crookston and Mrs. Julia A. Elmer, of Moorhead, are guests at the Dacotah.

A few local sports went out to the fair grounds yesterday p. m., to witness a fox hunt. Accompanying them were two hounds and Mr. Fox. The latter was allowed quite a start but the hounds were too much for him and speedily caught him. The fox was released again but the hounds fearing interference didn't attempt to catch him and he steered for the open prairie and escaped.

An old Farmer's Views.

Correspondence of Alliance Farmer.
The National Economist.

The agricultural world has long since felt the want of more money and cheaper money, a flexible currency which could not be contracted or expanded at the will of a few speculators—money kings who can pool together and put the product of the farm up or down to gratify their greed or gain. Supply and demand no longer govern the market, value of the products of the farm. The money power concentrated in the hands of the few, is the main factor in the wholesale robbery. For instance, "Old Hutch," as he is familiary called, at one strok of the pen, put flour up $1,50 per barrel. A few money kings can pool together and buy the entire cotton crop, and then, like "Old Hutch," dictate terms. The farmers have discovered that there is a great wrong practiced upon them. They are organizing for the purpose of inquiring into and correcting said wrongs upon the Jefferson idea of equal rights to all. The wholesale abuse from certain quarters that the farmers are trying to build themselves up by pulling other people down, is not true to day, nor has it ever been. They have managed to live; that is, have kept from starving to death, not on account of good legislation, but in spite of bad legislation. The first organized effort of the farmers to correct some of the national evils oppressing them was made at the St. Louis convention. The demand was more money and cheaper money—a flexible currency that could not be contracted or expanded at the will of the money kings, whose consciences are seared as with a hot iron. The demand, when the oppression and the class legislation which has been going on for a quarter of a century or more is considered, was moderate. It was the outcome of an oppressed people who had assembled in convention for the purpose of making an honest effort to right, if possible, a great wrong The result was the sub-treasury bill now before Congress. The convention said if the bill was unconstitutional they did not want it. "Give us that or something better. If you don't help us, don't help the bear." A great deal of fun was made of the clause, "or something better." None so blind as those who will not see. Congress almost in a body jumped upon the bill with both feet, and the news from this august body flew with lightning speed to the remotest parts of Tom Reed's moral government. Unconstitutional! Death in the pot and blood on the bushes! In their eagerness to bury the bill too deep for possible resurrection, they forgot the something better. The sub-treasury bill may be unconstitutional, it may be class legislation, it may be impracticable, but will friend or foe say that its discesuion has done no good? This beneficial result cannot be estimated. First of all, it has kindled the flame of hope once more in the brest of those who have toiled uncomplainingly with but scanty reward; it has aroused the sensibilities and sympathies of thousands of noble hearts who were ignorant of the chicanery and falsehood that pollutes the careers of the seemingly pure and undefiled; and it every day causes men to look about them and wonder if they have not been deaf too long to the distress of the very ones who gave them prominence and life of ease. The politician who supposes that the underlying principle of the sub-treasury bill—the discontent of the farmers—the demand for equal rights to all and special privileges to none, will pass off like a morning dew, is as blind as a stump. The farmers are slow to start, but like the ox they drive, when they make up their minds and are sure they are right, they are hard to turn. Common toil, common suffering, common poverty and a common destiny will bind them together. It may be that quite a number of the true and tried, as we are told, who refuse to stand upon the battle for Alliance principle may be elected to stay at home. If so, and the farmers find out fifteen or twenty years hence that they have made a mistake; that they cannot get along without these sages, they will doubtless let them know, and may take after them sooner should they turn their attention to farming in the meantime and make a success of it.

No opportunity was ever before offered whereby a farmer can obtain the experiences of others so cheaply as by a subscription to Farm, Stock and Home.

THE NEW
NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana — FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS — 100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products. — LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills — Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth. — In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines. Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills, Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise. — Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines. — These have made Montana the richest state per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers Now is the time.
The valleys of Red, Mouse Missouri, Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890 Write F. L. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn — Hunting, Fishing.

Valley Roller Mills
MANUFACTURERS OF
FINE FLOUR
From selected Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North Star.
Fife.
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.
LEE & HERRICK.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL. - $100,000
SURPLUS. - - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.
GEO. O. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. O. Erskine, B. B. Northrop. A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh. John Moore. W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,
ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.
WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.
Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.
☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,
Terms $1.00 per Day.

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law,
AND COLLECTIONS.
Special attention paid to Real Estate cases.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

NEW CIGAR STORE,
SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, - MINN
Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.
Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTH WEST.
CALL IN.

E. STEENERSON,
Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of snide Co's. ☞ CALL ON ELI!

CROOKSTON
STEAM LAUNDRY.
I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing
Washing and Ironing
Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.
All Those Wanting
FAMILY WASHING
Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.
O. D. ROOD, Prop.,
☞ Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

TRY
O. J. BARNES,
THE
CITY GROCER!

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, MINNESOTA,
——DEALER IN——
Lumber, Building Paper,
PAINTS, OILS,
Doors, Windows and Mouldings
ALSO
FARM MACHINERY.
—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—
MILWAUKEE HARVESTER
AND THE CELEBRATED
WINONA PLOWS,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,
OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.
Organized the State Laws.
Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $5,700
Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections.
Interest on time deposits.
OFFICERS.
C. HENDRICKSON, President. A. G. GALLASCH, Vice-President
C. O. CHRISTIANSON, 2d Vice-President. L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
DIRECTORS.
C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H. Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch
H. Steenerson. L. Ellington. J. H. Locken, C. He[illegible]
Max Ericsson. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul.

CROOKSTON
BUSINESS COLLEGE
And Institute of Short Hand,
Crookston, - Minnesota.

1. This School makes a specialty of Practical instruction.
2. Pupils are under the Teacher's instruction the Entire Day.
3. Our graduates have no difficulty in procuring and filling First-class Positions.
4. Diplomas given, when earned.
5. Positions secured for students when competent.

J. V. E. WYATT,
UNDERTAKER.
Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for
NEW GOODS.
A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material.
Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law,
SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, - MINNESOTA

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

CROOKSTON, MINN., DEC. 25, 1890.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
8:35 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
5:35 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:55 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:42 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
2:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

CROOKSTON TIME CARD.

South Line.

	Leave.	Arrive.
Passenger,	7:25 p. m.	6:55 a. m.
Freight,	10:15 a. m.	7:35 p. m.

North Line.

7:15 a. m. 6:25 p. m.

West Line.

Passenger,	6:55 a. m.	7:25 p. m.
Freight.	7:35 p. m.	10:15 a. m.

Fosston Line.
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
7:30 a. m. 5:00 p. m.

St. Hilaire Line.
Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
10:45 a. m. 4:00 p. m.

Donnelly Retorts.

The Sage of Ninlnger Replies to the Hodgson "Blizzard of Abuse" and Scores His Acts.

Fergus Falls Journal.

Mr. Donnelly was shown a copy of the Minneapolis Times of the 11th, containing a savage attack upon him by Thos. C. Hodgson. He said that he desired no controversy with Hodgson—the game wasn't worth the candle. Hodgson was not an alliance man, nor a farmer. He was a citizen of St. Paul, a hireling of Albert Scheffer, secretary of Scheffer's Heckla insurance company, and a man utterly without influence in the state; but who seeks notoriety by scribbling for the newspapers, and passing as the representative of the alliance when he would not be admitted to the floor of an alliance convention. "I am not popular with the Hodgson family," said Mr. Donnelly. "I just beat one of them for state senator in my own county so badly that he hardly knew he was running, hence their tears and these lies. Hodgson's communication is a lot of slush. After making a series of charges against me, he adds: "If these things are true (and some of them are) then the men who oppose Donnelly are pattriots." etc. But if they are not true, and he admits some of them are not, they are not patriots. As to the story that I wanted Sabin to send me as minister to England it is too ridiculous for serious consideration. The only ministership I ever had offered to me was by Pat. Kelly. He said he was willing to send me to the Fiji Island, because the inhabitants were cannibals, and there was a lively probalility that they would eat me a consummation devoutly to be wished by the whole Hodgson family. And that he says I told James J. Hill that if he would get me a government office I would stand between him and the farmer. I brand Hodgson as a liar—a hired liar; and a hired liar is to the ordinary liar what the purchased assassin is to the ordinary murderer. Mr. Hill is no friend of mine, but I defy this infamous fellow to procure from Mr. Hill a statement that I ever made any such proposition to him. I don't think Mr. Hill would father such a lie even to please Hodgson and injure me.

The trouble in the farmers' alliance is due to the insatiable, and insane ambition of Albert Scheffer to be governor of this state. In 1888 he induced the executive committee to nominte him for governor on an alliance ticket, so as to affect the republican convention of that year. But Merriam was nominated. Then in 1889 he took up an old insurance company, called the Heckla, and made the then president of the alliance, Geo. W. Sprague, president, of it, with a salary of $2,000 a year; and he made this man Hodgson secretary of the company with $2,000 more; and Haigh, the then secretary of the alliance, one of the officers with $1,000 a year more, and so with several others; and as he owend these men body and breeches, for the very fat that lined their bowels was drawn from Scheffer's pocket and enjoyed at his mercy, he has used them to distract and divide the alliance. Scheffer is not an alliance man nor a farmer,—he is a banker. He has no sympathy with the farmers. He voted in the senate in 1889 against reducing the present high rate of interest in Minnesota and stopping the horrible usuries which are stealing the farmers and mechanics of our cities poor. Not satisfied with corrupting the office of the alliance by paying them salaries to become his slaves he went farther. The national alliance was anxious to establish a fire insurance company of its own, but it had not the necessary capital of $200,000, and so it combined with an insurance company already established in St. Paul, and introduced its work. So determined was Scheffer to control the alliance that he and his friends proceeded to buy up the $200,000 capital stock of that company and broke up its relations with the National Alliance Insurance company. This whole fight on me is incited by Albert Scheffer and paid for with his money, simply because I would not help to turn over the alliance to Scheffer in 1888 and help make him governor. When I was defeated in 1888 in Dakota county, both Scheffer and Hodgson worked against me in the county for the same reason. The farmers of Minnesota are getting to understand this scheme. These fellows may possibly defeat me for president of the alliance, but Albert Scheffer will never be governor of this state by the help of the farmers if he lives to be 200 years old, and buys up all the insurance companies in Minnesota.

The Alliance Convention.

Farm, Stock and Home.

If the Farmers' Alliance of Minnesota expects to reap any decided political advantage hereafter the deliberations and work of its coming state convention must be with a view to that end, and must be on a higher and broader plane than if merely social or commercial matter where the only objects. If development of social and fraternal qualities, and co-operative buying of supplies are to be the only considerations of the order, then lack of harmony in its state organization is not vitally necessary, or does it matter much whether other classes or interests are attracted to or identify themselves with it. But if political action is deemed necessary, and if political success is to be even hoped for, harmony in the state organization is of the chiefest importance, and it does matter much whether other classes or interests are attracted to or identify themselves with it.

First, the election of officers should in no sense imply any disrespect for or antagonism to Industrialists other than farmers, whose influence and votes are necessary to industrial success at the polls; and the officers should be selected with a view to internal harmony as well as external affiliations: The Alliance is compelled to acknowledge the existence of factions within itselfe—the relative strengh, or the merits or demerits of which it is not the province of outsiders to discuss—and every member who is patriotically and unselfishly, for the good of the order and the cause it stands for will consider it his sacred duty to do what he can to reconcile the factions. It would seem to be the patriotic duty of those members who have been conspicuous in late and existing quarrels to voluntarily relinquish all claims to office, and devote themselves to the election of men who are not specially antagonistic to either faction; this would be the shortest and smoothest road to that goal of harmony which surely ninety-nine onehundredths of the members desire to reach. If the conspicuous parties to the quarrels do not possess the patriotism suggested, then it will not only be the part of wisdom but the imperative duty of that convention to make them do involuntarily what their patriotism should have prompted them to do voluntarily. It needs no argument to prove that if either faction succeeds in electing its man the other will resent it, keeping alive and intensifying present animosities. Assume, for instance, that Mr. Hall or Mr. Donnelly is eminently fitted in every way for the office of president; neither can be elected without alienating the partisans of the other, resulting in a deplorable weakening of the order. This can be said, and is said, without any unfriendliness to either gentleman named. The situation, so far as they are concerned, is unfortunate, does not necessarily reflect upon their ability or integrity in any sense, but, it seems, so clearly defines the duty of the convention that it is difficult to see how it can go astray.

The necessity of mutual concessions in this matter is also plain, for if the partisans of one aspirant insist upon his candidacy it will compel the partisans of the other to likewise insist, with an effect upon the order that it is unnecessary to describe. Again in this as in all other controversies, some one must be the aggressor, and who ever he is upon him must rest the responsibility for whatever ill follows. If one man asks for an election in the way of vindication or endorsement it will compel his opponent to enter the lists in self defense, and so the old fight will be on with increased bitterness and intensity.

It may be urged that whatever compromise candidate is elected, warfare on the administration will not cease; possibly this is true, but if that event the war makers will be the sufferers, the strength and usefulness of the order will not be seriously impaired. If war is made without justification victory will not be long delayed, nor are there any doubts as to which side will win it. But let us hope that the delegates will prove to be the worshippers of no man; will be intent on doing that which will result in the greatest good to the order as a whole, and will take no note of the ambitions of individuals, then all will be well, even if there is a disposition manifested by any leader or leaders to precipitate a causeless fight.

In the declaration of principles, reasonable conservatism must also be the rule. There are plenty of demands to make that will commend themselves to and win the support of our best citizens. The platform presented by the Alliance, as well as its officers, must be calculated to win from all classes engaged in legitimate avocations. If cool heads and patriotic, earnest purposes rule the convention all will be well, and the Alliance will be so firmly anchored that no powers of greed, corruption, or ambition can prevail against it. Thousands of citizens outside of the Alliance are looking to it with great hope, we sincerely trust they will not be disappointed.

"It Made a New Man of Me."

Ex-Senator, C. S. Powers, of Minnesota, writes: My Rheumatism has left me entirely, and last fall, at 62 years of age, I passed a good examination for life insurance.

Mr. N. M. Brown, editor of The Floridian, of Tallahassee, Florida, writes: I have used your Compound Oxygen Treatment, and it made a new man of me. Any person can use it. I cheerfully recommend it to all.

Mr. Wm. J. Keeder, of Downingtown, Pa., writes on June 29, 1889: Three years ago I used your Compound Oxygen Treatment for Rheumatism, and it cured me.

This is the way patients write about Compound Oxygen. We have hundreds of such letters.

You will find a great number of them in our book on Compound Oxygen, its discovery, nature, mode, of action, and result. It is mailed free, and contains also much valuable information, as well as interesting reading matter. No other genuine than the Compound Oxygen manufactured by DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1529 Arch St. Philadelphia, Pa.

If you are interested in increasing the profits of the farm, read our clubbing offer with Farm, Stock and Home in this issue.

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN COMPOUND OXYGEN NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Dec. 25th, 1890.]

DEFAULT EXISTING IN A MORTGAGE executed by Urgel Wolfe (single) mortgagor, March 18th, 1889, to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, and filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minn., March 18th, 1889, at 10:10 o'clock a. m., and recorded in book 43 of mortgages, on page 477, and by said Penney assigned to Charlotte Winslow and by her assigned to Lyman W. Winslow, on the e½ of ne¼ of Sec. 10, and w½ of nw¼ of Sec. 11, Tp. 151, Range 42, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota; there being now due on said mortgage the sum of $353.58, besides $14 47 taxes paid by the assignee and an attorney fee of $100.00. Now, therefore, the Sheriff of said Polk County, will sell said premises at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, on the 7th day of February, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m., to satisfy said debt and costs of sale.

Dated, Dec. 8th, 1890.

J. H. WILLIAMSON,
Attorney for assignee.

[36-42]

[First publication Dec. 25th, 1890.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, December 18th, 1890.

In the matter of the estate of Martin Nelson, deceased.

Letters of administration on the estate of said deceased having been granted unto Hans Hanson, of Becker County, Minnesota.

It is ordered, that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this Court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in Crookston, in this County, on Tuesday, the 23d day of June, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered, that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 18th day of December, A. D. 1890.

By the Court:

C. O. CHRISTIANSON
Judge of Probate.

[36-38]

[100 PAGES] WIDE AWAKE. [1891]

BEGINNING WITH THE HOLIDAY NUMBER

Is permanently enlarged to one hundred pages, radiant with new and larger type, a new style of page, and fresh, strong literary and pictorial attractions.

Mrs. Burton Harrison, whose story of "The Anglomaniacs" has been the sensation of the season in The Century, has written for Wide Awake a story called "Diamonds and Toads.'

Hon. John D. Long (ex-Governor of Massachusetts) furnishes six articles, under the general title of "Our Government," for the enlightenment of coming citizens—the boys and girls of to-day.

Margaret Sidney's new serial, "Five Little Peppers Grown Up," will tell more about Polly and Jasper and David and Joel and Phronsie, and others, as it runs through the year. Fifty charming illustrations by Chas. Mente.

Marietta's Good Times will chronicle in her own words, from her own manuscript, the childhood adventures of Marietta Ambrosi.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn, a little girl who had a great many ancestors, is an irresistible little folks' serial, by Elizabeth Cumings.

Unusually Interesting Articles, some elaborately pictorial: "Dining with Gladstone," by Mrs. John A. Logan; "Amy Robsart's Embroidery," by Frances A. Humphrey? "Mother Goose's Pets," by Agnes Pepplier; "Gypsies and Gypsying," by Elizabeth Robbins Pennell; "Some Horses that I have known," by Maud Howe; "Seinte Marie College of Wynchestre," by Oscar Fay Adams; "Boston's Girl Sculptor," by Mrs. Newberry; "The Sugar Crank," by Theodora R. Jenness.

Some Problems in Horology, by E. H. Hawley, of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, will interest High School students. Three sets of cash prizes.

The Best of Short Stoples from thousands offered and solicited the past year—some by new authors.

Figure Drawing for Children, in twelve illustrated lessons by Caroline H. Rimmer, with four prize offers each month.

The Ever Popular Ways to do Things, the School and Playground Stories, Tangles, Post Office and Men and Things.

Wide Awake is only $2.40 a Year.

D. LOTHROP CO., Publishers, Boston.

The Northwestern Farmer

ONE YEAR FREE

MR. MCKINLEY—"How are you to-day, Uncle Sam?"
UNCLE SAM—"Miserable! That last dose was a leetle mite too strong for me I'm afraid."
ALLIANCE FARMER—"Yes, and when the medicine begins to work, you will feel worse. We have decided to change doctors for you, and will then see if anything can be done to save you."

REDUCED SAMPLE ILLUSTRATION in the NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul.

(See November 15th number, how Boys and Girls can get Christmas Gifts FREE.)

The publisher of the NORTHWESTERN FARMER will send the paper free from November 15th for the balance of the year, to every one of our readers who send their address on a postal card. Address, FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul, Minn.

THE NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER published in St. Paul, Minn., is a sixteen page, 64 column Illustrated Semi-Monthly Agricultural Journal (24 numbers in the year). It is a well-known, enterprising, ably edited and popular farm paper.

WE OFFER IT FREE

for one year to all who will pay us one year's subscription to

The Polk County Journal.

1891—THE ST. PAUL—DAILY NEWS.—1891

Furnishes all the News of the World.

Bright,

Fearless

and

Independent.

Champions the cause of the people independent of the political parties. Opposes monopolies and all public or private robbery by means of unjust tariff or other iniquitous legislation, State or National.

The full reports of legislative proceedings, which the Daily News will supply during the coming session of the Legislature, will alone be worth the cost of a year's subscription.

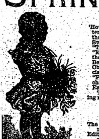
Sent by mail, postage paid, at the following remarkably low price:

Six months........................$1.75
One year........................ 3.00

For 75 cents additional to either a six months or a yearly subscription a complete set of the works of Charles Dickens, eleven volumes, (paper binding) will be sent postage paid.

Send for sample copies of the News

Address: The Daily News, St. Paul, Minn.



SPRING SMILES!

Upon the Well Wintered Farm.

"How to Preserve the Season's Crop," "Butter Making in Winter," "When Shall We Sell," "How to Feed in Winter," "Keep the Animals Growing," "Sheep Farming," "Why I Raise Swine," "Does Poultry Pay," "Shall We Use Blooded Sires," "The Horse Market," "My First Experience with the Silo," "My First Fruit and Vegetable Garden," "Why I Don't Leave the Farm," "The Wasteful Wife," "Our Country Roads," "Are Bees Worth their Keep," "Minnesota an Apple State," "Notes Obtained by Fraud," "The Stranger's Promise," "Are Politicians Our Friends," "What Should the Teacher Be," "How I Preserve Meats," "When to Buy Seeds," "The Boy Mechanic," "A Quarrelsome Family," "Fighting Animals," "My Early Mistakes," "Shall We Heed the Experience of Others."

These are only a few of the subjects to be found in forthcoming numbers of

FARM, STOCK AND HOME,

OF MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The most popular and reliable semi monthly Agricultural journal published.

Edited by S. M. OWEN, assisted by scores of practical farmers, stockmen, dairymen, poultrymen, apiarists, gardeners, fruit growers, housewives, etc., etc.

Every number contains sixteen to twenty pages of 64 to 80 columns, printed from clear, new type, on fine, white book paper.

FARM, STOCK AND HOME is issued the 1st and 15th of every month—24 numbers a year—at an annual subscription of only 50 cents.

DON'T PASS THIS OFFER.

Appreciating the value of a good, practical agricultural paper to all farmers, and desiring to get the one best adapted to this locality, we have arranged with the publishers of Farm, Stock and Home to accept subscriptions at regular rates; or we will send it and THE JOURNAL one year for only $1.50. Sample copies can be seen at this office.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U S. Coms'r.

D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

W. A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-eight dollars, ($198.00) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Eugene W. Danells, unmarried, of Polk County, Minnesota, to James M. Hawley of Albany, New York, bearing date the fourth day of October, A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of October, A. D. 1887, at 5 o'clock p. m., in book "T" of mortgages, on page 402; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: The west half of the south-west quarter section eight, (8) and the north half of northwest quarter of Section seventeen (17) in Township one hundred and fifty-three, Range forty-three, containing one hundred and sixty acres more or less, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Dec. 15th, A. D. 1890.

JAMES M. HAWLEY, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee, Crookston, Minn.
[35-41]

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, December 15th, 1890.

In the matter of the estate of Sam Johnson, deceased.

Whereas, an instrument in writing, purporting to be the last will and testament of Sam Johnson, deceased, late of said county, has been delivered to this court;

And whereas, James Hanson, of the city of Stillwater Washington Co. Minn., has filed therewith his petition, representing, among other things, that said Sam Johnson died in said County of Polk on the 19th day of November, 1890, testate, and that said petitioner is the sole executor named in said last will and testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be to him issued thereon.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument and the said petition, be heard before this Court at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county, on the 13th day of January, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when all concerned may appear and contest the probate of said instrument.

And it is still further ordered, that public notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested by publication of these orders once in each week for three weeks successively previous to said day of hearing, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 15th day of December, A. D. 1890.

By the Court.
C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.
[35-37]

U. S. LAND OFFICE, Crookston, Minn., Nov. 20th, 1890.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before Register or Receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on Jan 8th, 1891, viz: Joseph L. Thomas, D. S. No. 11,366, for the nw¼ Sec. 15 Township 149, R. 44. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Charles Ohles, of Tilden, Minn., Frank G. Horton, of Godfrey, Minn., Alfred Wade, of Tilden, Minn Arthur Adams, of Godfrey, Minn.

[32-37]
H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

[First publication Dec. 4th, 1890.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. District Court, 14th Judicial District.

The The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston, a corporation, plaintiff, vs. John McLean, defendant.

The State of Minnesota to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber, at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of three thousand three hundred thirty-nine dollars and sixty cents, with interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum from the 17th day of July, A. D. 1890, on the sum of $947.10, and from the 14th day of May, A. D. 1890, on the sum of $2,392.50, together with costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated November 15th, 1890.

JOHN CROMB, Plaintiff's Attorney,
Crookston, Minn.
[33-39]

[First publication Dec. 11th, 1890.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Alexander Finlayson, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Agnes Finlayson, of Crookston, Minnesota, representing, among other things, that Alexander Finlayson, late of Crookston, Minnesota, on the 30th day of November, A. D. 1890, at Angus, Minnesota, died intestate, and being a resident of this county at the time of his death, leaving goods, chattels and estate within this county, and that the said petitioner is the widow of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to her granted. It is ordered that said petition be heard before the Judge of this court, on Friday, the second day of January, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m., at his office in said county.

Ordered further, that notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased, and to all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, the 8th day of December, A. D. 1890.

By the Court:
C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.
[34-36]

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office in McKinnon Block.

REMOVED

BACK

TO THE OLD STAND

In the Fifth Ward.

CALL

—AND SEE—

WHAT WE CAN DO FOR YOU

E. D. CHILDS & CO.

KEEPING STILL

—AND—

Sawing Wood.

While some of my competitors are making a great parade about what they are doing for the people, I am not boasting, but just quietly

Selling Lots of Goods!

AT FIGURES THAT CAN'T BE BEAT.

Close buyers will do well to call and see my new stock and get prices. Everybody call at

STURE'S STORE

Hack & Gallasch' Old Stand. - - - Crookston, Minn

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,

DEALERS IN

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, OLE OLSON GANG PLOWS,

SHELF —AND— HEAVY HARDWARE,

F. F. Thompson & Sons WALKING PLOWS. Sole Agents for the Domestic Sewing Machines

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

STOVES AND RANGES

Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., - - - Crookston.

S. L. COLLINS,

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.

Everything neat and nobby.

Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block. Crookston, Minn

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon,
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, JANUARY 1, 1891. NO. 37.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. Outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m.	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	.75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

THE REFORM PRESS.

The Discussion of Current Topics in the Organized States.

Alliance Economist (Locksburg, Ark.)

While we are well aware that these successes have not been gained without a struggle, and the Alliance has met the solid opposition of the would-be boss politicians, yet they are substantial victories, and show what can be done by unity of action. Opposition we expect from those who are not in sympathy with the Alliance movement. But because of this opposition is no reason the members shoulld desert their principles.

Free Speech (Hamburg, Iowa) soliloquizes:

We might learn a good lesson from the story of the leader, as we sit meditating like him on the certainty of death, if we stay in the old parties. If, like them, we should get up and start, we might gain a victory over corruption and restore hope and happiness again to our troubled land. Let us try it, for it is a miserable death that will soon overtake us if we sit still and be swept away by this wicked tide of dissipation and crime that is now rolling up against us.

The Rural Home and Sentinal (Toisnot, N. C.) says:

It the sub-treasury bill had been introduced into Congress through the influence of Wall Street bankers, congress would have taken action upon it and the Supreme Court of the United State would have passed on the constitutionality of the bill by this time, but when 4,000,000 farmers present it and ask that it be passed, Congressmen say it is unconstitutional and "lay it on the shelf," and say that they will not vote for the bill unless the Supreme Court pronounce it a constitutional measure. We would like to know if it is a custom for the Supreme Court to pass upon measures before Congress takes action; measures which have not been discussed in the halls of Congress. Every one knows it is not a custom. The sub-treasury bill is the only measure the farmer have presented for their benefit and it is shelved, and the people are told to wait until Supreme Court says its constitutional. Bah! Such talk two years ago the farmers would swallow, but that day is passed.

Selma (California) Enterprise says:

The Farmers Alliance may not get what they want this year, but they will "get there" all the same. Their presence in the country is, so far as numbers are concerned, an unknown quantity. They are not politicians, but they have a theory which must be made practical. They are taking a hand in partisan warfare only as a means to accomplish an end. They have witnessed the tendency of the government toward nationalizing its forces in the fields of industry by the tariff, which has tended more toward the manufacturers than the producers, and they have an idea that if it is constitutional to protect the manufacturer and the wage-worker, it is constitutional to aid and protect the producer as well. The farmer does not ask protection on his goods but he asks protection against those who want them. The combinations and trusts that control the markets are the enemies of the farmers and once freed from their clutches and relieved of the necessities that compel them to part with them when least needed, and before the demand calls for them, they can have a chance with others in the markets of the world, they demand a sub-treasury system which will extend to them relief from the clutches of the trusts. A system of warehousing or cheap money on safe security.

The Nonconformist, (Winfield, Kan.) crows over the result with justifiable pride:

For twenty-five years Kansas has held a peculiar and altogether conspicuous place in the politics of the United States. She has been known as a State of boundless resources; a State that could not be overburdened with bonds and mortagages—so considered by the money-lenders of the east. Whenever she has been asked to vote bonds, she has done so; whenever invited at the instance of monopoly to turn loose on the prohibition question, and thus give them another lease of life, the managers have only to pull the strings and the people have danced to their music. Whenever the great organizations of the State would set up a howl to kill off and drown out the honest pleadings of the oppressed through their representatives, the little whipper snappers all over the State have taken up and onward, roughshod, the oppressor would ride. But times have changed. The old soldiers have wearied of seeing the close political State getting all the pensions and themselves being led up to vote for pensions each year, and not receiving them. The old farmers have likewise wearied of the toil and drudgery incident to raising the monster crops that they have; and devoting their entire time and energies to keeping the wolf from the door, meeting the interest and following the advice of the "silk hat" dudes sent out from the loan offices in the cities the last week before election to instruct them how to vote. In fact what line of political cussedness can be named that this election does not rebuke; but as we stated at the outset its magnitude cannot be measured. Take a glance at the opposition that has been overthrown. The entire patronage of the United States government; not a dozan Democratic postmasters or federal officers within the boundaries of Kansas; not one federal officer that dared to be in sympathy with the people's movement. There were the skilled henchmen, who, for twenty years had been under the training of the Ingalls school of politics; there were the millions in the corruption fund in the east on which to draw; there were the railrods and the telegraph at the service of whoever should ask; every avenue of communication in the hands of the enemy. But in the face of all this, with the people's party entirely dependent upon their industrial savings for money with which to run a political campaign, no slush fund with which to buy votes, and but a limited amount to employ speakers, on general result compassing a change of 110,000 votes in two years.

The Newspaper, (California, Mo.) gives points on organization by a county lecturer:

To organize is "to form in due order," hence there must be unity of action. The very object in organizing is to have united action. There can be no success to any organization where there is no unity of action in the members or parts forming the organic body. There must be certain principle, or object stated for or upon which the organization is based. If success is attained those who join the order, or organization, must believe those "objects" to be just and obtainable, then they will become a manifestation, or expression of those objects or principles and there believing those principles is shown in their acts; they will be what their belief has caused them to become. To those who have thus become "converted" into organic material of the organization are we to look for the strength and power of the organization. The order cannot be stronger nor more powerful than the membership or the material composing it. Hence the necessity of "conversion" to the principles of the order, through and through. What we eat does us good, only as we are able to digest it, and appropriate its nutritive qualities by our power of ennervation so principles are valuable to our mental organism as we are able to recognize their truthfulness, and appropriate them so then we are only useful and valuable to any organization of reformers as we come to adopt and stand by and defend the principles of that organization. Now, the Farmers and Laborers Union has certain principles as its foundation upon which the order rests its claims. The principles are not exclusive, but are as broad as humanity, and as such the order has made them its standard of right, seeing they could not be incorporated into the laws of our country with organized effort upon the part of the people, this order has organized. Its work is to educate the people into recognition and appropriation of those fundamental principles known as? "The legislative demands of the Farmers and Laborers Union." If they are right and you believe them true and just, join in and help on the good work. If they are wrong, put an argument and refute them and disorganize the order. There is no use for an educational order, that is educating in the wrong direction; if it is going in the right direction, why not take hold and assist and get your part of the "dividend" of honor and glory?

An "Old Timer" in the Alliance Vindicator (Sulphur Springs, Tex.) has heard Congressman Culberson discuss the sub-treasury plan and gives and answers his greatest argument against it:

It was this; he said under the operations of the bill, men would deposit their cotton and draw 80 per cent, on it, they could settle their debts with the money, and of course still have 20 per cent in the cotton deposited, but being without money, they would be compelled to sell to a speculator to get anything out of it. Now the above was the substance of his greatest argument as I heard it. While I am not anything extra for intelligence, not being versed in political economy; yet I with a thousand others of the common people in Hopkins county can answer that argument with fewer words than it takes to state the proposition, and Col. Cuberson nor any of his satellites never can gainsay the answer. This is it; authorize the sub-treasurer with whom the cotton is deposited to sell it for what it would bring, deduct the 80 per cent with any other expenses due the warehouse and pay the balance of the money over to the depositor. No, the sub-treasury plan is an eternal bar to the speculator, and that is why it is so unpopular in certain quarters.

Religious Intolerence in America.

BY IRA D. BLANCHARD.

The central office of the National Religious Liberty Association, at Battle Creek, Michigan, was, some time since notified of the arrest of two of its members in Fayette, Mo., for doing their farm work on Sunday, and a competent attorney was employed to defend them. As the Sunday law of Minnesota is quite similar to that of Missouri, the following report of these cases from the Fayette, (Missouri,) Banner, of Dec. 3d, 1890, will be of interest:

William Fritz and Robert Gibb, members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, near Armstrong, this county, were indicted at the August term, 1890, of the Howard County circuit court, for what is called, in the indictment, Sabbath-breaking. Fritz was accused of plowing in his field, and Gibb with hauling a load of hay, on Sunday. The parties were arrested on the indictment, and put under bonds to appear for trial on Dec. 2d, 1890, at our circuit court.

On the first day of December, 1890, the parties, by their attorney, made the following plea to the indictment:

"State of Missouri against William Fritz: Indictment for Sabbath-breaking. In the Court of Howard County, November term, 1890:"

"Now comes the defendant by his attorney in the above entitled cause, and moves the court to quash the indictment against him for the reasons: Said indictment does not charge any offense or crime against the defendant under the laws of the State of Missouri. Said indictment fails to allege that defendant is not a member of a religious society by whom any other that the first day of the week is observed as a Sabbath, and that defendant does not observe and keep such other day as his Sabbath.

Said indictment is based upon section 3,852, revised statutes of Missouri, 1889, which section of law is religious legislation, and is, therefore, in conflict with sections five and seven, article two, of the Constitution and Bill of Rights of the State of Missouri, and violates the rights of conscience of defendant and of the people of this state.

Said section of the statutes of the State of Missouri, and said indictment are in conflict with the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and also with section two, article four, of the Constitution of the United States, which guarantee to all persons the equal protection before the laws.

JAMES H. ROBERTSON,
Attorney for Defendant.

On Tuesday morning, Dec. 2d, when the Judge called the criminal docket, the prosecuting attorney arose and dismissed the case against Fritz and Gibb, so that they were not brought to trial.

The section of the Missouri statute upon which the indictments were based are are follows:

"Sec. 3,852. Every person who shall either labor himself or compel or permit his apprentice or servant, or any other person under his charge or control, to labor or perform any work other than the household offices of daily necessity, or other works of necessity or charity, on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not exceeding fifty dollars."

"Sec. 3,853. The last section shall not extend to any person who is a member of a religious society by whom any other than the first day of the week is observed as a Sabbath, so that he observes such Sabbath."

Public Control of Railroads.

Farm, Stock and Home.

Several weeks since Judge G. W. Williams, Owensboro, Ky., sent to Farm, Stock and Home a lengthy and very able paper on the present system of railroad management, forcibly and truthfully picturing the abuses and dangers of existing methods, advocating government owner ship as the only practical solution of the trouble, and outlining a plan for giving effect to that scheme. The death of the Judge followed soon after the receipt of his paper, and on consultation with his son it was decided to have it published in one of the magazines, as being a more fitting arena for a paper of its importance, particularly as its length forbid its publication in one issue of F. S. & H., and to publish it in installments would have somewhat neutralized its effect. However an extract from it will be published in an early issue, while a brief outline of of the plan proposed is herewith submitted:

First—The adoption of a constitutional amendment creating a "Board of Transportation," consisting of one member from each state, to be chosen by the people, to serve for six years, be ineligible to re-election, and to draw salaries not exceeding $6,000 per annum each. The powers and limitations if the board are defined in detail, all looking to an honest and faithful administration in the interest of the people.

Second—The Board to have power to purchase, construct, equip and operate railroads and telegraphs, and be empowered to acquire private property for public use, making due compensation therefor on the basis of actual values. The members of the Board will be the railroad managers of the country, appointing all the necessary officials, etc for each line. The powers of the Board will not differ from those of existing managers, but will be exerted in behalf of the people instead of a handful of railway lords and kings.

Third—The Board to have authority to issue bonds, payable to bearer at the treasury of the United States, bearing interest not to exceed five per cent, and taxable as other property, payable at the pleasure of the secretary of the treasury after 10 years, and within 100 years from date, in such sums as may be necessary to pay or build the desired roads. Provisions restrictions looking to the honest performance of this duty are suggested. Railroad rates to be so adjusted by the Board as to pay operating expenses, interest on bonds, and provide for their payment in 50 to 100 years.

It will be seen that the proposed Board will be as nearly non-partisan as is possible to make it; the plan removes the objections of those who believe that government ownership will increase federal patronage and official corruption. Existing departments of the government will have nothing to do with railroad affairs, except the treasury, and it only in a strictly financial sense, having no patronage at its disposal. The Board will also be "of the people" and therefor may reasonably be expected to be "for the people."

The plan proposed is decentralizing, in that it vests in the people of all the states, acting through the representative from each state, the management of railroads, instead of visiting it in the hands of a few plutocrats who have no interests beyond gathering to themselves untold millions of wealth that other men produce.

The plan of the Judge has many other points of merit, which cannot be referred to at this time, and is a contribution to the literature of the question that will prove of value for the suggestions it contains, even if the plan as outlined is not adopted.

The current number of Farm, Stock and Home Minneapolis, Minn. should be read by every farmer in the State In fact, for a farmer to miss reading any number of that excellent journal is a misfortune which he can escape almost without money and without price, by taking it in connection with the JOURNAL.

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

From [illegible] Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North Star,
Fife,
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

1891—THE ST. PAUL—DAILY NEWS.—1891

Furnishes all the News of the World.

Bright,
Fearless
and
Independent.

Champions the cause of the people independent of the political parties. Opposes monopolies and all public or private robbery by means of unjust tariff or other iniquitous legislation, State or National.

The full reports of legislative proceedings, which the Daily News will supply during the coming session of the Legislature, will alone be worth the cost of a year's subscription.

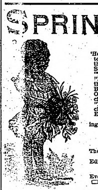
Sent by mail, postage paid, at the following remarkably low price:

Six months........$1.75
One year........3.00

For 75 cents additional to either a six months or a yearly subscription a complete set of the works of Charles Dickens, eleven volumes, (paper binding) will be sent postage paid.

Send for sample copies of the News. Address: The Daily News, St. Paul, Minn.

SPRING SMILES!
Upon the Well Wintered Farm.



"How to Preserve the Season's Crop," "Butter Making in Winter," "When Shall We Sell," "How to Feed in Winter," "Keep the Animals Growing," "Sheep Farming," "Why I Raise Swine," "Does Poultry Pay," "Shall We Use Blooded Sires," "The Horse Market," "My First Experience with the Silo," "My First Fruit and Vegetable Garden," "Why I Don't Leave the Farm," "The Wasteful Wife," "Our Country Roads," "Are Bees Worth their Keep," "Minnesota an Apple State," "Notes Obtained by Frand," "The Stranger's Promise," "Are Politicians Our Friends," "What Should the Teacher Be," "How I Preserve Meats," "When to Buy Seeds," "The Boy Mechanic," "A Quarrelsome Family," "Fighting Animals," "My Early Mistakes," "Shall We Heed the Experience of Others." These are only a few of the subjects to be found in forthcoming numbers of

FARM, STOCK AND HOME,
OF MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The most popular and reliable semi monthly Agricultural journal published. Edited by S. M. OWEN, assisted by scores of practical farmers, stockmen, dairymen, poultrymen, apiarists, gardeners, fruit growers, housewives, etc., etc. Every number contains sixteen to twenty pages of 64 to 80 columns, printed from clear, new type, on fine, white book paper.

FARM, STOCK AND HOME is issued the 1st and 15th of every month—24 numbers a year—at an annual subscription of only 50 cents.

[illegible] the value of a [illegible] agricultural DON'T PASS THIS OFFER. paper to all farmers, and desiring to [illegible] [illegible] locality, we have arranged with the publishers of Farm, Stock and Home to accept subscriptions at regular rates; or we will send it and THE JOURNAL one year for only $1.50. Sample copies can be seen at this office.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST,
PUBLISHED 50 YEARS CONSECUTIVELY.

RECOGNIZED as the BEST RURAL and FAMILY PERIODICAL in the WORLD, giving Invaluable Help, the Best Information, Thousands of Plans, Practical and Useful hints and Suggestions, and THOUSANDS OF ORIGINAL ENGRAVINGS ANNUALLY. Try it this year, it will Pay You well. No one can read a number without getting thoroughly Reliable and Practical Information, Profitable to Everybody. Each number contains Sketches of Labor-helping Contrivances to aid In-door and Out-door Work. Fine Engravings of Animals, Plants Flowers, Out-buildings, with many Pleasing, Instructive Pictures for Young and Old. Subscription price $1.50 a year.

We are desirous to make this the BANNER YEAR in CIRCULATION, which is now over 100,000 copies monthly.

OUR PREMIUM OFFER.

THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD CYCLOPÆDIA. Price $1.00. Bound in Cloth and Gilt. A Complete Ready Reference Library for Farmers, Gardeners, Fruit Growers, Stockmen and Housekeepers, containing a large fund of Useful Information, Facts, Hints and Suggestions, in the various Departments of Agriculture. Horticulture, Live Stock Raising, Poultry Keeping, Bee Keeping, Dairy Farming, Fertilizers, Rural Architecture, Farm Implements, Household Management, Domestic Affairs, Cookery, Ladies' Fancy Work, Floriculture, Medical Matters, Etc

Containing 644 Pages, with 249 Illustrations.

This Valuable Book furnished with the AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST ONE YEAR, for $1.60, or for only 10 cents additional to the subscription price, paying postage on book.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,

CROOKSTON, MINN.,

Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plainand Fancy

DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, FLANNELS,

BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for e next season is the most complete nd satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for	$1.00
Rhadames for	1.00
Faille Francais for	1.00
Gros Grain for	1.00
Satin Luxors for	1.00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS.—

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel	20 cents.
54 inch Tricot	35 "
54 inch Flannel	45 "
54 inch best all wool Flannel	75 "
36 inch Henriettas	25 "

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen business in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for	30 cents.
" " "	35 "
" " medicated, for	40 "
A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket	$1.50
" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket	2 00
" 4 lb. 10¼ white	4 50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dry Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

The Queen's Latest Offer.

A Free Education or One Year's Travel in Europe.

In the Queen's "Word Contest," which the publishers of that magazine anounce as the last one they will ever offer, a free education, consisting of a three years' course in any Canadian or American Seminary of College, including all expenses, tuition and board, to be paid by the publishers of The Queen, or one year abroad, consisting of one entire year's travel in Europe, all expenses to be paid, will be given to the person sending them the largest list of words made from the text which is announced in the last issue of The Queen. A special deposit of $750 has been made in The Dominion Bank of Canada, to carry out this offer. Many other useful and valuable prizes will be awarded in order of merit. The publishers of The Queen have made their popular family magazine famous throughout both Canada and the United States by the liberal prizes given in their previous competitions, and as this will positively be the last one offered, they intend to make it excel all others as regards the value of the prizes. Send six two cent U. S. stamps for copy of The Queen containing the text, complete rules and list of prizes. Address The Canadian Queen, Toronto, Canada. [33-40]

For a plain, practical and instructive paper, made largely by farmers and wholly for farmers, Farm, Stock and Home of Minneapolis, Minn. has no equal among agricultural journals. We can furnish it in connection with the JOURNAL one year for only $1,50.

Toledo Weekly Blade.
1891.
ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

THE most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding, year after year, a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

NEW story to commence first of the year, written especially for the Blade by Oliver Optic. "Money Maker Series." A series of special articles on "Side Issues," written for The Blade. Blade China Tea Sets and Dinner Sets given to club-raisers. Send for specimen copy of The Weekly Blade and our interesting announcements for the coming year.

SPECIMENS.

A specimen copy will give you a better idea of The Weekly Blade than any description we can give in an advertisement. We therefore invite everybody to write us for a specimen, which we will cheerfully mail you free; and at the same time please mail us a list of names of your friends and neigbors, and we will also mail them specimens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AGENTS.

ANYBODY can earn Ten Dollars very quickly by raising clubs for The Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address

THE BLADE,
Toledo, Ohio.

Thirteen Grand Winter Excursions

From Northern Minnesota and North Dakota, to Montreal and all points west n Ontario, at the low rate of $40, via Northern Pacific R. R. The dining car line between Northern Minnesota and North Dakota points, by way of St. Paul and Chicago. Dates of sale, Tuesday, Nov. 18th and 25th, and Dec. 2d and 9th; and daily Dec. 16th to 23d inclusive, and Dec. 30th, 1890. Limit of tickets ninety days, good going and returning fifteen days, with stop-over privileges, subject to local regulations of lines over which tickets read. Final limit of tickets extended fifteen day on payment of $5.00; thirty days $10.00; and sixty days $20. Pullman tourist sleeping cars from Winnipeg, Pemoina Grafton, Gilby, Grand Forks and Crookston, will be run through to Chicago without change via the Northern Pacific and Wisconsin Central, leaving Winnipeg on Tuesday, November 18th and 25th, and Dec. 2d, 9th, 16th, 23d and 30th. Sleeping car fare $2 for one double berth. For further information, maps, time tables and tickets via the Dining Car Line, write to or inquire of C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R., Crookston, Minn.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,
(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,
Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, MINN

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JANUARY 1, 1891.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 74.
1 Northern 71.
2 Northern 66.
3 Northern 58.

Lovely weather for the holidays.

1891. 1891. 1891. 1891. 1691.

Our city schools will open again next week.

Red River Valley weather leads the world.

Wm. Anglim is on the sick list. Bronchitis.

Knute Rollag was down on convention day.

Don't forget to write it 1891 hereafter for awhile.

Friday was a blustering day but not not so very bad.

Comrade Hamery was up from Fertile on Tuesday.

It is thought that wheat will bring a better price shortly.

Bro. Sibley, of the Fertile Journal was in the city on Friday.

Miss Lotta Anglim returns to her school on Sunday evening.

On Tuesday morning we had a regular old English fog for an hour or so.

It looks like wheat would take an upward movement after the holidays.

Wheat seems to have reached bed rock and we look for a rise ere long.

Hon. H. Steenerson left for St. Paul on Sunday evening over the N. P. line.

Mrs. A. G. Cowing has been quite ill for two weeks, but is now much better.

President Geo. M. Swift gave THE JOURNAL man a welcome call on Friday last.

The "Owl Club" meets with Mrs. Wm. Anglim on Thursday evening of this week.

Christmas was duly observed in our city. Everybody seemed merry and happy.

O. Snyder and wife contemplate a visit to the old home back east early in January.

Jens O. Rude was in from McIntosh on Tuesday attending to business and visiting friends.

Albert Roseburg left on Monday evening for Sweden, to visit with the old folks at home.

L. O. Tommerdahl is enjoying a visit from his half brother, Mr. Henning, of Otter Tail County.

Wires are being put into the new telegraphic headquarters in the new McKinnon block this week.

Geo. Vine departed on Saturday evening of last week for a visit with the old folks at home in old Canada.

Mrs. Tom Morris left on Sunday evening for Waupun, Wis., to visit with relatives and friends for a few weeks.

As Mrs. Bangs proposes to go away on Jan. 7th, now is a good time to obtain bargains in Millinery. Go and see.

John R. McKinnon had an attack of typhoid fever last Friday. He has been a very sick man but is said to be better now.

The entertainment at the Congregational church on Christmas eve was very enjoyable, especially to the children.

Many of our friends kindly remembered us last week for which they have our sincere thanks. Let the good work go on.

Miss Ermine Fontaine, who has been spending the holidays at home, returns to her school the first of next week.

Mrs. Freeborn, mother of John Freeborn, was adjudged insane and sent to the asylum at St. Peter on Monday evening.

Bert Wells, the jolly clerk of the Ingalls House, Grand Forks, was shaking hands with his many Crookston friends last week.

Don't forget the Scotch singing choir on the evening of Jan. 8th, 1891. It will be an entertainment long to be remembered.

Levi Myers returned from the twin cities on Tuesday morning, where he had been in the interest of his lumbering business.

J. F. Holmes was down from Red Lake Falls on Wednesday. He has purchased the Gazette and is making a success of it from the start.

Dr. Dunlop is kept pretty busy nowadays. Last Friday he was called to Ada on an important case and this week he seems to be busy enough.

Lambeth's Scotch Choir on the evening of January 8th. Go and hear this excellent company of singers. Too much cannot be said in their praise.

Ladies, in your shopping expeditions you have not neglected to call at Mrs. E. E. Bangs' fashionable millinery emporium, have you? Of course not, for Mrs. B. has given notice that all those lovely hats must go at startlingly low figures.

John J. Ellingson was up from Neilsville on Tuesday and made THE JOURNAL a pleasant call, leaving with us a ray of sunshine to encourage us on our way.

Hardware Stock and Fixtures for Sale.

I Have Recently Purchased the Business

OF

STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD,

And now Wish to Retire from Business in Crookston.

For information regarding this stock call at the store and inquire for A. M. Stewart.

ALL accounts and notes must be SETTLED AT ONCE, and no more credit granted. Call in and see some of the Bargains offered.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

Ladies call and see those hats which Mrs. Bangs is offering at cost. Everything goes at greatly reduced prices.

THE JOURNAL has received an invitation to attend a grand New Year's hop, to be given at McKinnon Hall. As we do not dance, we were obliged to decline with thanks.

Have you got that wood ready? We want some rather suddenly, either green or dry—dry preferred, however. We will take either on subscription until we have enough for the year.

The County Alliance was well attended last Friday. M. G. Peterson was elected delegate to St. Paul and instructed for Donnelly for President. A. N. Hixson goes as alternate.

Mrs. E. E. Bangs intends to start for Salt Lake City, Utah, on Jan. 7th. Miss Jennie Newland will accompany her. Her many friends will wish her a prosperous journey and a safe return.

Hon. Geo. R. Roberts was in the city on Friday last and did not neglect to make us a pleasant call. His district would have made no mistake had they sent him to the senate this winter.

E. E. Abbott and Geo. Tripp, two of Mentor's leading farmers, were in the city last week. E. E. goes as a delegate to St. Paul where he will endeavor to find out "What hay-seed is worth?"

Peter Satermo was up from the west side on Wednesday and called in to set that subscription ahead a peg. He has been a subscriber ever since THE JOURNAL was established on May 1st, 1877.

A. E. Brush contemplates a visit to California with his wife for the balance of the winter. He has been pretty steadily at work since he came to this country and amply deserves a vacation.

Mary Pierce, a domestic in Mrs. Buck's family fell dead on Thursday morning. Appoplexy is said to have been the cause of her death. The coroner deemed an investigation unnecessary.

Uncle Jeff Martin (everybody knows him) was in the city to visit his daughter, Mrs. J. McGlogan, for Christmas. The boys were in hopes to secure his services for the New Year's dance, but did not succeed.

Leave your orders for all kinds of commercial or fancy printing at THE JOURNAL job rooms. Prices and work guaranteed to suit.

John McKinnon is finishing off a room in the McKinnon Bros. big warehouse for a wholesale fruit store. Will move his office to the front part of the other apartment as soon as the storeroom is completed.

Axel Sture, the 14 year old boy of Andrew Sture, while skating on the ice on Saturday, had the misfortune to fracture his left arm very badly, by falling over a comrade. The little lad is doing nicely now, however.

The new Opera House will be as slick as a whistle when completed. The work is progressing favorably. With the steam apparatus at work the workmen can labor to better advantage. The seats alone will cost over $2,000.

Mrs. and Minnie Bailey have moved their millinery establishment into the Erskine brick block, cor. of Broadway and Fletcher street, and are now prepared to welcome their friends in royal style. Call in and see them at the new store.

The legislature will convene on Jan. 6th. We trust that the alliance will evolve measures that will correct the evils existing in our wheat market. If this is done then will the alliance prove indeed a blessing to the Northwestern farmer.

Wilfrid Dion was down from Terrebonne on Wednesday and dropped in to square up with THE JOURNAL. So far Terrebonne is the banner town on THE JOURNAL subscription list, there being only one man in the list who is behind and that one less than one year.

We know of a choice farm of 320 acres within three miles of the court house, every foot of it under cultivation, which can be had at a very reasonable figure with interest at only 6 per cent. If you are looking for a chance, here is a bargain. Call at THE JOURNAL office. [37-tf]

Maj. Mix has resigned his position at the depot, where he has for ten or eleven years faithfully attended to the company's interests. The Major has made many warm friends during his sojourn in the city, whose best wishes will accompany him where'er his future lot in life may be cast.

Unlike most Congressman, Hon. S. G. Comstock did not leave his post of duty to come home and enjoy the Christmas holidays, but remained in Washington to be on deck as soon as the House convenes. Mr. Comstock is one among a thousand for faithful attention to his duties.

While in many of the eastern and middle states they are enjoying all the evidences of a severe winter, consisting of heavy snows, blizzards and the like, up here in the Valley we have been having regular southern winter weather. Our advice to our friends in the east is, "come in out of the storm."

Rev. Battey, of the Congregational church spent the Sabbath with his family in Minneapolis. Jas. G. McGrew, Esq., officiated in his stead on Sabbath morning, giving an interesting talk on the second coming of Christ. No services were held in the evening owing to the union temperance services at the Methodist church.

Lambeth's Scotch Opera, which is to appear in Crookston on January 8th, is a company of genuine Scotch singers, and no one who has ever been charmed by the quaint old Scotch songs and ballads, should neglect this treat. They come highly recommended by the press of this and the old country. Don't fail to hear them.

A large audience gathered at the Presbyterian church on Monday evening to witness the competition in elocution by the young people for the prize, a silver medal. It was a close contest, for all did exceedingly well and merited much praise, showing natural ability and careful training. The prize was finally awarded to Miss Ophelia Larock.

Just now, land can be had in the Red River Valley at figures less than half its real value for farming, because we have more of it than the people now here can find use for. This state of things cannot last forever, and the time is not far distant when land will bring a big price in this market. Now is the time to catch on, while it can be had at way down figures.

During the past week we have added many names to our subscription list. Some of these have come through the efforts of some of our farmer friends speaking a good word for THE JOURNAL to their neighbors. Accept our thanks, friends, and we trust that others will follow suit until every farmer in Polk County is a subscriber to THE JOURNAL. Roll in the names, roll 'em in.

On Saturday last, about dark, A. K. Austin was over to the slaughter house on Sampson's addition and saw two or three fellows hanging around. Upon asking their business one of them pulled a gun and fired several shots at A. K., none, however, taking effect. The man was taken before a justice on Monday, fined and ordered to leave town, which he did via the Northern Pacific on Monday evening.

If any of our readers have failed to get satisfactory profits from horses, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, bees, fruits, grain or vegetables, they should commence at once and read every number of Farm, Stock and Home during the coming year. If ordered in connection with this paper its cost will not be felt.

T. B. McManus and family departed for their old Canadian home on Saturday evening. T. B. says the family will stay for quite an extended visit, but he must hurry back in a few weeks to attend to his business which demands his time and attention almost constantly. Says he has had a better business this fall than ever before, and it always has been pretty fair. We are glad to see honest merit win as it always can in this country.

We have secured an extension of the obligations we were to meet on January 1st for a few days. This will afford all of our friends who wish to do so an opportunity to help us. Remember, we do not require an IMPOSSIBILITY of any one, but all who can help us in this matter we confidently expect will do so. We are four hundred dollars short of the amount we are obliged to raise and we are depending on our subscription list for it. We have thirty days extension given and MUST have our money at that time.

The letters which we get from our friends are cheering, showing as they do a disposition on the part of the writers to help us out in our time of need. We have appreciated the difficulties under which farmers have labored and have not troubled them with many statements of account, feeling assured that they would help us whenever able. We have asked our friends to help us on Jan. 1st this year to enable us to meet our obligations due at that time. Enough have responded to enable us to meet one-half of it, and we have now secured an extension of thirty days in which to raise the balance, and again we request all who have not done so to do what they can for us. We know that with added facilities we shall be enabled to do better service for our friends, and we are anxious to do so. If you cannot pay all that is in arrears and can pay some of it, do not hesitate to send what you can, because it is not all. We shall fully appreciate all the help our friends can give us at this time and we will make it decidedly to their interest.

The immigration committee is doing faithful work in the effort to call the attention of outsiders to the many favorable conditions that exist in the Red River Valley, and we trust that their labors will be met with abundant success. We have the soil and the climate to raise the best quality of wheat in the world, and we can find fine rich land for hundreds of honest, upright, industrious toilers. Many such are coming from less favored sections of the country and still there is room for many more. Every inhabitant of the Valley should make a personal matter of this thing; write to their friends abroad and tell them what this country can do, and in many other ways could they help the good work along. By united effort we can make the merits of this country known. THE JOURNAL is ready and willing to take a hand, as it ever has been. You might send it to your friends in the east for a year, if you like.

THE NATIONALIST CLUB.

The "Nationalist Club" will meet at the City Hall on Monday evening, January 5th, 1891, to complete the organization under the Bellamy system. All are invited to attend—ladies especially. The program will consist of an address by Rev. O. F. Whitney; "What Nationalism Is," by I. U. Jennings; readings, music, &c. Free discussion by all present. Come all.

BY ORDER OF COMMITTEE.

For Sale Cheap.

One hundred and sixty acres of first class land situated three and one-half miles north-east of Crookston. Will take wheat at one dollar per bushel. For further particulars address,

J. E. MITTON,
[12-tf] Wahpeton, N. D.

LINDSAY, Dec. 26, 1890.

ED. JOURNAL: At a meeting of the Hill River Farmers' Alliance, No. 735, held Dec. 20th, 1890, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we ask our senators and representatives in the legislature to obtain the passage of laws to deduct mortgage indebtedness from the assessment of property, and to secure the taxation of mortgages where the mortgaged property is held; further

Resolved, That we favor the passage of laws compelling railroad companies to furnish warehouse facilities for the shipment of grain.

On motion the secretary was instructed to transmit a copy of these resolutions to Senator E. E. Lommen and Representative Carlton, and also to THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL.

O. J. MATSON, Sec.

Christmas Presents.

THE JOURNAL was made the recipient of several Christmas gifts through the mail. One from H. F. Elfrink, of Argyle, who was once a resident of Polk County, coming here in 1879. He was a reader of THE JOURNAL in the old country and through its columns got the idea of coming to see what like it was, and he has retained his love for THE JOURNAL ever since he did come. Another acceptable Christmas gift was from comrade J. B. Carle, of Red Lake Falls. Comrade Carle knows what the boys had to endure in the times that tried men's souls, and he knows how to brighten up a comrade's pathway, so he just sent us a bit of a check to make us merry. Comrade Carle is one of the best harness makers in Polk County and makes a specialty of horse collars, making them so perfectly that a horse cannot gall its neck. And then that jolly alliance man, E. E. Abbott, dropped in with Geo. Tripp and both chucked in a bit of a Christmas gift on subscription. Some who had intended a Christmas gift for us made a bit of a miss-cue—arriving the day after, but none the less welcome. Upon the whole THE JOURNAL fared exceedingly well and wishes to return its sincere thanks to the kind friends who remembered us. May they live long and prosper is our hearty wish.

The editor of THE JOURNAL comes up smiling this week—very happy over his Christmas presents which consisted of several back subscriptions and the opening of an abcess that has been forming ing on his left side since some time in March. It was a regular old timer, had become quite a pet, for, though somewhat painful at times, we were so tender of it that we took especial pains least somebody should slap it familiarly on the head, and managed to prevent undue familiarity with it. We cannot say that we are sorry that it has subsided—"failed in business," as it were; on the other hand we feel more relieved than otherwise, and we rather hope that it will not "open up for business at the old stand" again right away. We don't know as it is the right kind of a spirit to wish such a close friend would not return, yet somehow, we kind o' feel that way in this case. We have heard before now of "Job's comforters," but if Job could find more comfort from such a source than from any other, we cannot say that we admire Job's taste. Our dealings with various men have developed some very small specimens of humanity before now, but we cannot say that we wish some of 'em could have our experience in the last six months—no, we'd rather they would repent and pay up.

FOR SALE.

A fine full blood Holstein-Friesian bull, about eight months old. For particulars apply to O. Snyder, Sec. 8, Crookston, or call at JOURNAL office.

For Sale.

A fine new milch cow, five years old. Call on O. Snyder, Sec. 8, Crookston, or at JOURNAL office.

Dissolution of Copartnership

Notice is hereby given that the copartnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, partners under the firm name of Stewart & Spottswood has been this day dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by Wm. C. Spottswood, who is authorized to collect and discharge all debts due the firm, and who assumes the payment of all debts owing by the firm.

Dated Dec. 20th, 1890

A. M. STEWART,
[36 38] W. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

FOR SALE.

One Full Blood Jersey Bull.

Twenty-five to Thirty head of Grade Jersey cows and young stock. Will sell the same cheap for cash or negotiable notes or will trade for young steers.

Will also sell 2 span of good brood mares, one fine driving team, one three year old colt, and three sucking colts.

Also all of my household furniture and farming utensils will be sold at private sale before March 15th 1891.

E. J. Haseltine.

Winter Excursions.

A chance to visit the old home in Canada and say a good word for the new home in the Red River Valley.

Forty dollars for round trip from Crookston, Minn., to Montreal and all points west in Ontario via the Great Northern and connecting lines. Tickets good for 90 days, 15 going and 15 returning. Time extention at small additional cost.

Tickets for sale December 9th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22d, 23d and 30th.

For further information, maps and publications apply to C. H. Mix, agent Great Northern.

For Sale.

New milch cow. Call on M. E. Bartlett, Fairfax, or at JOURNAL office.

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Scandia-American Bank of Crookston, Minn., will be held at its banking rooms, on Tuesday, the 13th day of January, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., for the election of directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

[36-38] L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.

Our combination offer with Farm, Stock and Home elsewhere in this issue should not be overlooked. A year's subscription to this grand agricultural paper means a 384 page volume size 11½x15 in that to any farmer is well worth $5.00, yet we give it and this paper one year only $1.50.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMETIER,
[36-tf] Lisbon, N. Dakota.

[First publication Jan. 1st, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court. Special Term, Dec. 30th, 1890.

In the matter of the estate of Andrew Johnson, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Mathilda Johnson, administratrix of the estate of Andrew Johnson, deceased, representing among other things that she has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining an allowing her account of her administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to heirs.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard, by the Judge of this Court on Tuesday, the 27th day of January, A. D. 1891 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 30th day of December, A. D. 1890.

By the Court: C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.
137-39]

The Great Transcontinental Line.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

SHORTEST,—BEST.—QUICKEST.

This is the "Yellowstone Park and Dining Car Route"

Lowest Rates to Chicago and All Points East. Tickets sold to all prominent points throughout the East and Southeast.

Pullman Drawing Room Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars through to St. Paul.

TO EAST BOUND PASSENGERS,

Be careful not to make a mistake, but be sure to take the NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R. and see that your ticket reads via St. Paul, Minneapolis or Duluth. Only line traversing Minnesota, Dakota, Manitoba, Montana, Idaho, Washington, British Columbia, Oregon and California.

PULLMAN SLEEPERS, DINING CARS AND COLONIST SLEEPERS

On Pacific Coast Express Trains Daily. This line offers special attractions to California tourists.

An elegant coach runs through between Crookston and St. Paul. Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St Paul. Dining Cars on all trains.

For full information concerning rates time, etc., call on or address your nearest ticket agent, or

CHAS. S. FEE, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.
E. L. HARRISON, Agent, Crookston, Min

Crookston Meat Market

E. STEENERSON, Proprietor.
E. ERIKSON, Manager.

Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estaee

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY OUR NEW

Fall Styles

LADIES,

Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

KOPS BRO'S.

105 Third Street,

GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA.

PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON. PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS. Grand Forks, N. D.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

1 new 13-horse power Russell Engine. (A bargain.)

1 12-horse power Giant Plain Engine.

1 A 1 Driving Team, with Buggy and Harness.

Chas. m. Lowe,

The Loan Agent

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN.

LAWYERS,

FOURNET BLOCK,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

THE PIONEER

HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

M. LeGUEE.

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

P. J. RUSSELL,

Attorney-at-Law,

AND COLLECTIONS.

Special attention paid to Real Estate cases.

The benefits arising from such an institution as the proposed Lutheran college in our midst are too obvious to need discussion; the question to discuss is "shall we pay the price necessary to obtain it?" There is hardly a business man in the city who would not be directly benefitted in his business, and the labor of building the institution and the money paid out therefor in our midst would greatly benefit the laboring man. Then, too, the real estate of our city would be benefitted sufficient to pay the cost of the building, at least. We are informed that it is within the range of possibilities to secure this college if we are willing to invest a few dollars in it, and we can see no more profitable enterprise offered us at present. It does seem to us as though our city had not ought to allow this enterprise to miss us when it can be so easily obtained, if every one will do what he can toward it. To say nothing of its advantages to the city from an educational point of view, it would pay a large percentage on the investment financially considered. Let us have the college by all means.

Thief River Falls Items.

From the Press.

The families of Carl Kreizschmar F. H. Kralka, Phillip Zeh and C. A. Robbecke each enjoyed a tree at their homes Xmas eve.

We failed to mention heretofore that Chas. Vance's family have moved into the dwelling until recently occupied by J. K. Wood.

A. C. Cowing was called from his exploring trip by a telegram from Crookston announcing the serious illness of Mrs. Cowing. He returned to Crookston Wednesday.

Grand Forks Herald:—Misses Gertrude Wright and Evelyn Hall, two Crookston belles are here to-day taking in the beauties of Grand Forks. These ladies think our city just too lovely for anything and we congratulate them upon the exquisite fineness of their taste.

Grand Forks Herald:—Charles E. VauArsdale, stenographer, who has been in the employ of Atty Corbet here for some time past, has accepted a position with a commercial agency firm in Cincinnati, Ohio, and leaves for that city tonight or tomorrow. We wish Charlie prosperity.

Warren Sheaf:—The Red River Valley College Association will hold its annual meeting in Crookston on Jan. 9th. when the location of the school will be settled. Several cities in the valley are making vigorous efforts to secure this institution of learning, notably Grand Forks, but Crookston will hardly allow her rival to capture this prize, and proposes to give a bonus of $20,000 to secure its location. Crookston ought to have it.

Windfall (Ind.) Weekly Dispatch says:

Everybody feels the need of a fractional currency for the purpose of sending small amounts by mail. A few years ago there was the twenty-six million dollars of this convenient money in circulation, but it was all retired and cremated along with the rest of the greenback currency, and every dollar of it is now represented by an interest bearing bond. Can any of our old party friends explain why this was done? If convenient, inquire of your Congressman whether he will make an effort to have the fractional currency restore d to the people?

What it Signifies.

Industrial Age (Duluth Minn.)

As a result of the recent financial flurry, it is believed by those in a position to know, that Jay Gould and his confederates will be able to control all of the trunk lines of railroad west of Chicago except the Canadian Pacific. This practically gives Mr. Gould the control of 40,000 miles of railway, more than all the railways in France and Great Britain: That he will use the advantages which this added power gives him to increase his holding there can be no doubt. These roads will no longer compete with each other, but will unite to make the roads pay remunerative dividends upon all stock—the five-sevenths water included. Of course increased dividends on railroad stock means increased cost of transportation between East and West, which will decrease the profits on agriculture and add to the cost of living of every person who uses any commodity shipped over these roads.

But the evil is not wholly unmixed with good. The lesson may be worth to the people all that it will cost. The natural tendencies of the time are toward combinations. The larger the combination the more economically can the business be conducted, And hence competition must disappear whenever combination is possible. The intention of the inter-State commerce law was to prevent pooling, but it can not prevent the ultimate ownership of all the roads of the country by one combination which practically defeats the law. Undoubtedly the popular opinion among the people was to secure free competition between the roads, and hence lower rates of service for the patrons of the roads. The effect has been to promote rather than retard the work of combination. A remedy for exhorbitant charges the people must and will have. If the inter-state commerce law will not secure this, more radical and effectual measures must be adopted. If combination is good for the roads, why not try it in the interests of the people. We are frank to admit that we believe that it would be better to have but one management for the railroad system of the United States, and that management the government. Then the roads would be run so as to pay expenses and keep the roads in the best possible condition, with a margin to build new roads as needed. Such a system as this would give to the people all the advantage that could be secured by the largest possible combination. It would reduce the cost of operating the roads to a minimum, and give to the people transportation, at actual cost. With the present tendencies toward consolidation, it seems evident that we are rapidly approaching this final and satisfactory solution of the question of transportation. But it is not railroads only which are destined to pass under government control. Everything that is monopolistic in its character will, ere long, be owned and operated by the people, for the benefit of the whole people. And this in the not distant future will be the sole source of public revenues and all other forms of taxation will be abolished, and the people, being their own employers, will produce what they can consume and consume what they produce, without paying tribute to any class of non producers for the privilege. Then will the people be free indeed. It will be objected by individualists that such a culmination would tend to lower the standard of manhood. That competition develops the individual we do not doubt, but the character of the individuality developed depends upon the nature of the competition by which it is affected. John Sullivan has developed his muscular power and is a decided success as a pugilist, but woe to the unlucky one who incurs his ill will. Jay Gould has developed his business faculties as a wrecker of railroads and has amassed millions by his superior power in this line. But how is it with his victims? What chance is left for the thousand of paupers which his strong individuality has created to develop that higher manhood and womanhood, that would really enoble and elevate the race. We see all around us the affect of business competition—a few millonaires on one side and millions of paupers on the other. Remove the business competition which produces this deplorable result, and the individual will still remain. Men will still compete, but the character of the competition will be changed and a nobler class of individuals will be developed. Business competition brings poverty and misery to millions who, under co-operation, could and would compete to develop themselves into the highest types of manhood, physically, mentally and morally. This much-to-be-desired result can not be secured as long as business competition is permitted to fill the world with heartless plutocrats and helpless paupers. Business competition has developed the material resources of the world by appealing to the selfishness and greed of a certain class of minds, and now this same element with charactristic business shrewdness, are resorting to co-operative methods to increase their gains. Hence the organizations of gigantic trusts to control every branch of production and distribution. The time has come to take another step forward and give to the masses of mankind the full benefit of all the material progress of the past and abolish poverty and its attendant consequences of ignorance, vice and crime by establishing justice. Do this and emulation will take the place of business competition, men and women will still seek to excel each other, but not in accumulating wealth which they cannot consume and in the mad race for dollars reducing others to misery. But they will strive to become more intelligent, more refined and more truly good and great. By this kind of competition a higher and more enobling individuality will be developed, and vice and crime will be plased in a course of rapid extinction. This is the grand ultimatum for which every true reformer should labor. And fortunately for the great mass of the people who are to be benefited by the change, the plutocrats are forcing the contest, and by the very means they are showing us just what we must do in order to protect ourselves from their rapacity. The lessons taught by the recent panic in Wall Street and its results are indeed most valuable, and in the present state of popular discontent we doubt not that they will be used for all they are worth. The outlook is indeed encouraging. Plutocratic excesses are the people's opportunity. Let us not weary in well doing but press on in the good work of agitation, organization and education, and all will be well.

Vague and Broad.

The Western Rural.

Mr. Depew curls up his eloquet, after-dinner lip and says that "the platform of the farmers Alliance, like all the utterance of the Farmers Alliance, is beautifully vague and delightfully vast." and yet the next movement the gentlemen has no trouble whatever in finding something very definite. He refers to the farmer's declaration that there should be no class legislation, and says that we will all agree with that—though as a matter of fact, Mr. Depew does not agree with it all—but he chuckles over what he calls the demand of the farmers for class legislation in their demands for government depositories for farm products. He does not like that. Of course he would not. But Mr. Depew seems to forget that the volume of class legislation that has been enacted for the benefit of the class to which he belongs, and for the benefit of other classes, may have driven the farmer to conclude that he can fight fire best with fire. Perhaps he sees no way to get present class legislation repealed—and he certainly never can get rid of its past effects—and he simply wishes to be put upon an equality with other classes. But supposing that this storage scheme is a wise one, it is not necessarily a class matter, for if the farmer was legitimately benefited by any measure, this entire American people would be benefited. The agricultural class is the only class of which that can be said. Make him prosperous, and everybody will be prosperous. Make the railroad prosperous, make the capitalist prosperous or make the manufacturer prosperous, and neglect the farmer, and you will not give general prosperity to the country. He thinks that Congress will soon be full of cranks and demagogues, which are the titles by which he designates the candidates that farmers elect, and if that is true, there will be a good deal of what Mr. Depew would call "cranky" legislation.

The Money Market.

The Western Rural.

The Baring Brothers entered into reckless speculative railroad building to such an extent that they swamped their own house and demoralized the money market of the world. It is usually profitable to build a railroad. It is usually profitable to build one when there is no more present need of a road than there is need of a fifth wheel to a coach. If a road should be projected through a country where nobody lived, and where nobody ever would live, it is reasonable to expect that the builders would make the enterprise profitable. they do this by the sale of bonds, constructing the road by construction companies, organized from among the managers and by other ways that are dark and tricks that are vain. Railroading is immensely profitable when only its ordinary business is taken into account. But it is in the manipulation of stocks, and in the expenses of construction, that the greatest profits are realized. Years ago Jay Cooke conceived the Northern Pacific. There was no more need of the Northern Pacific road, when its construction was commenced, than there is for a candle when the sun is shining. But there was a section of country through which no road ran; sometimes it would be needed, and Mr. Cooke argued that it had better be built and the money that comes from building railroads gathered in.

Consequently he offered the bonds for sale. He advertised in a way that would catch the small investors. Large investors do not always take kindly to building railroads through Indian reservations and uninhabitable mountains. The inexperienced, however, are attracted by splended offers, especially if they are made in the religious press—and Mr. Cooke was partial to religious papers when placing his Northern Pacific advertising—and the aggregate of their little contributions may be very large. Well the collapse of the Northern Pacific enterprise is familiar to all. Cooke went to the wall, the people who had invested in his scheme—including widows and the estates of orphans—were bankrupted, and a financial panic spread over the country that involved every interest and ruined thousands.

The Baring Brothers have been guilty of a similar folly. They have been building railroads in sections where supplies actually had to be carried on mules back for a distance of a hundred miles; and all the money they could get was dropped into this hole. As the Northern Pacific happened to be one wild railroad scheme that was born out of time, and did not pan out; so this scheme of the Baring Brothers failed to meterialize the expected profit. It does not often happen this way, sometimes it does, and when it does the whole world must suffer. The government ought to be able to prevent railroad construction when the road is not needed. That is directly in accordance with what we have advocated for years, viz. :Forbidding the construction of roads when there are already sufficient roads to the business. It is but another step for forbid the waste of the people's money in constructing roads in advance of their needs. The whole business of railroad construction and managment should be more directly under the control of government. It is clearly the province of government to prevent, if possible, the recklessness of the few from involving the millions.

The New Congress and the Farmer.

The Western Rural.

The new men who have been elected to Congress by the vote of farmers are numerous enough to make their influence decidedly felt in the matter of legislation. There is a difference of opinion among farmers themselves as to the wisdom of some of the demands which will be made upon Congress. Perhaps the subject about which there is the greatest diversity of opinion is that of the government loaning money directly to the people upon sufficient security. The matter should receiv the deliberate, intelligent attention of the independent Congressmen. There is argument both for and against it. But the oft repeated declaration that the government cannot go into the banking business should have weight whatever. Whatever may be said against it, that is no argument at all. The government is already in the banking business, and makes no profit out of it either. It backs all the national banks with its guaranty, and pays for the privilege. It loans money to rich, and for the life of us we do not understand, if it is to continue to loan to the poor, if the poor have the security to offer. We believe, however, that it would be quite as well for the government to go out of the banking and money-loaning business altogether. except it shall issue all money direct.

If congress will go to work and repeal all class legislation that has got upon the national statute books, and elect such stringent laws as will prevent corporations and trusts and the moneyed few from absorbing all the profits of agriculture, the farmer will pull through in very good shape, even in the face of the fact that he hass been unmercifully plundered for the last twenty-five years. He is demanding that the government loan him money, as it loans the rich money, because his profits are absorbed by somebody else, his mortgage—drawing a crushing rate of interest—is unpaid, and under present conditions he sees no way of pulling through. Put all classes upon the same level before the law; prevent the strong from devouring the weak—which is clearly the duty of government to do—put a stop to aristocratic communism and anarchy, and the farmer will take care of himself. It is because the government has permitted him to be plundered, and is permitting him to plundered, without showing any marked disposition to put a stop to it, that he comes to the government with unusual demands.

NOT QUITE SO TONY AS

THE REEONG DRUG STORE

Of St. Paul, but as near it as any city north of St. Paul can boast, is

DURAND'S NEW DRUG STORE

One Door West of the Post Office, in Mcinnon Block.

A Full Stock of Everything in my Line.

CALL AND SEE ME!

Durand, the Druggist

ON DECK.

Tom Morris, the Jeweler,

Is now located in Durand's Drug Store, McKinnon's Block, Robert Street.

Slightly disfigured, but still in the ring.

A trifle upset by removal, but all O. K, for business just the same.

☞ Remember the place, one door west of the Post Office, in McKinnon Block.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS, - - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. O. ERSKINE, President.

WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.

CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs

Geo. O. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller

E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby

Chas. E. Sawyer.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom specially invited.

Terms $1.00 per Day.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

— OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET —

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

L. E. GOSSMAN,

Attorney-at-Law,

No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTH WEST.

CALL IN.

E. STEENERSON,

Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of snide Co's. ☞ CALL ON ELI!

W. A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the Univer sity of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Office over Merchants' Bank.

☞ Professional calls by day or nigh promptly attended to.

TRY

O. J. BARNES,

THE

CITY GROCER!

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN, MINNESOTA,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

Doors, Windows and Mouldings

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY.

—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized the State Laws.

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $5,700

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections.

Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.

C. HENDRICKSON, President. A. G. GALLASCH, Vice-Presiden

C. O. CHRISTIANSON, 2d Vice-President. L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch

H. Steenerson. L. Ellington. J. H. Locken, C. He[illegible]kton.

Max Ericsson. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul.

CROOKSTON

BUSINESS COLLEGE

And Institute of Short Hand,

Crookston, - Minnesota.

1. This School makes a specialty of Practical instruction.
2. Pupils are under the Teacher's instruction the Entire Day.
3. Our graduates have no difficulty in procuring and filling First-class Positions.
4. Diplomas given, when earned.
5. Positions secured for students when competent.

J. V. E. WYATT,

UNDERTAKER.

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for

NEW GOODS.

A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material.

Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

MILER, FOOTE & SWEAT,

ATTY'S-AT-LAW.

McKinnon Block. Crookston, Minn

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon

OFFICE IN

McKinnon Block, Crookston

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JANUARY 1, 1890.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
8:35 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
5:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:25 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:43 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
2:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

CROOKSTON TIME CARD.

South Line.

Leave.	Arrive.
Passenger, 7:25 p. m.	6:35 a. m.
Freight, 10:15 a. m.	7:35 p. m.

North Line.

7:15 a. m.	6:25 p. m.

West Line.

Passenger, 6:35 a. m.	7:25 p. m.
Freight. 7:35 p. m.	10:15 a. m.

Fosston Line.
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
7:30 a. m. 5:00 p. m.

St. Hilaire Line.
Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
10:45 a. m. 4:00 p. m

The Sub-Treasury Plan not Abandoned.

By Wm. Manning, St. Francis, Ark.
The National Economist.

I notice that the capitalistic press is industriously circulating the lie that the Alliance has about abandoned the sub-treasury plan, and will be content with the free coinage of silver and the reduction of tariff. Now, with regard to the free coinage of silver: I am at a loss to know why any person, not a silver mine owner, should be content with the free coinage of silver. Why should the owner of silver bullion be endowed with the privilege of turning his product into something that is by law clothed with power not only to measure indebtedness, but to levy tribute on the community by way of interest, for the sole benefit of its owner? Is it a satisfactory answer to say that long usage has made it a custom having the force of law? What is the difference between the free coinage of silver and the national banking system? Practically nothing. The national banking laws enable a person to turn any product into bonds, upon which money is obtained, which is loaned at interest. Therefore there is practically no difference between the two. Both enable their beneficiaries to levy tribute upon the rest of the community. Will any man with sense enough to eat when be is hungry, be content with a measure what will enable his neighbor to tax him at pleasure, for this is what all schemes which endow individual with the right to issue money mean.

This correspondent does not object to the free coinage of silver, but on the contrary, favors it, as a measure that will lessen the evils of our monetary system. But he is not content that the owner of silver bullion—a product—shall be prefered to himself, who is the owner of a product which is far more valuable and necessary to society, i. e., cotton. Inasmuch as the people have abdicated the right to be the sole issuers of money, and as they are not likely to reassert and exercise that right in the immediate future, as a citizen of this country I claim for my self all of the rights (?) and privileges that are extended to other citizens. All I ask is that my products be endowed with the power that is conferred upon the product of other citizens, and upon the product of aliens as well. Is there anything wrong or revolutionary in this? If it is right to clothe one product or its representative with the power to measure and pay debts and settle balances, can it be wrong to confer the same power upon any other product, especially one of great value? No! And I will add in closing this squib: these fellows who write in the interest of the money power, know they are lying when they say that the Alliance will be content with any such special and class legislation as is proposed by the free coinage of silver.

True to First Principles.

The Baptists Refuse to Aid in a Scheme To Teach Religion by Law.

(Communicated.)

Baptists have not altogether forgotten the hardships which they in an early day endured in consequence of an established religion, or quite renounced their first principles declaring for religious freedom and total separation of Church and State. In the "Canadian Baptist" of November 18, 1890, occurs the following editoral note:

"The Presbyterian Synod for New York recently sent a deputation to the New York Baptist Pastors' Conference, which met in connection with the State Convention in Lockport, asking their aid in an effort to secure the compulsory teaching of the essential doctrines of the Christian religion and morals in the public schools. The Pastors' Conference, by a rising vote, adopted a report declining to accede to the request, and declaring that the State should have nothing to do with the teaching of religious doctrines. A Baptist Conference could have made no other reply."

If Church and State are to be kept separate in this country, religious freedom is to be enjoyed as the founders of our government intended, it should be, no other reply should be made to such requests. The Baptists are evidently on the right side of this question. It is to be wondered, however, if those who favor compulsory religious instruction in the public schools, will now class the Baptists, as they have others who oppose the theory, with infidels, foreigners, saloon-keepers, and thugs, and say they are enemies to God, the government, good religion and humanity.

Dyspepsia.

"Many circumstances must concur to render digestion easy and perfect." True, and if, for any reason, these circumstances fail to "concur" considerable time, the result is dyspepsia.

Should any dyspeptic read this, we trust he will send immediately for our treatise on compound Oxygen. He will find that many dyspeptics have been cured by its agency. Not being a drug, it does not act by creating another disease, but being inhaled into the lungs, is taken up by the blood, and distributed over the whole body, imparting new strength and vigor to every organ. Here are a few testimonials:

Drs. Starkey & Palen—For thirteen years I tried various remedies in Indigestion, but it was your Compound Oxygen Treatment that cured me.

F. A. Holladay.
Kelly, Miss., Nov. 6, 1889.

Drs. Starkey & Palen—I have used your Compound Oxygen Treatement for Dyspepsia with benefit to myself, and recommend it to others.

A. S. Evans.
Cheraw, S. C., Oct, 1, 1889

Book on compound Oxygen sent free. Hundreds of testimonials and records of cures in various chronic diseases. Any substance made elsewhere, or by any others than Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, whether called Compound Oxygen or not, is spurious.

Drs. Starky & Palen,
1529 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

No opportunity was ever before offered whereby a farmer can obtain the experiences of others so cheaply as by a subscription to Farm, Stock and Home.

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
Drs. Starkey & Palen
NOT A DRUG
1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

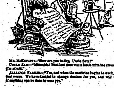
Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 12,000 invalids

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

The Northwestern Farmer
ONE YEAR FREE



Mr. McKinley:—"How are you to-day, Uncle Sam?"
Uncle Sam:—"Miserable! That last dose was a leetle mite too strong for me I'm afraid."
Alliance Farmer:—"Yes, and when the medicine begins to work, you will feel worse. We have decided to change doctors for you, and will then see if anything can be done to cure you."

Reduced Sample Illustration in the Northwestern Farmer and Breeder, St. Paul.

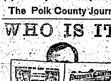
(See November 15th number, how Boys and Girls can get Christmas Gifts Free.)

The publisher of the Northwestern Farmer will send the paper free from November 15th for the balance of the year, to every one of our readers who send their address on a postal card. Address, Farmer and Breeder, St. Paul, Minn.

The Northwestern Farmer and Breeder published in St. Paul, Minn., is a sixteen page, 64 column Illustrated Semi-Monthly Agricultural Journal (24 numbers in the year). It is a well-known, enterprising, ably edited and popular farm paper.

WE OFFER IT FREE
for one year to all who will pay us one year's subscription to
The Polk County Journal.

WHO IS IT?



A "SOLID" man of course—one who farms with his brains as well as his hands, and who knows that to make the farm pay in these times requires good live-stock. No man who keeps good stock can afford to be without The Breeder's Gazette. It is the acknowledged head of the American live-stock press, and we should like to see it in the hands of all our intelligent stock owners. It is a large, handsomely illustrated weekly, furnished at $2 per year, or in clubs of five or more at $1.50 each. Send for a free sample copy, or enclose twenty cents postage for the magnificent Christmas Number. Address

J. H. SANDERS PUB. CO.,
320 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

Notices of Expiration of Time of Redemption.

No. 567.

To Paul M. Duggan: You are hereby notified that on the 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 9, Block 41, in Original Townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and thirty-five cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and thirty-five cents and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota

No. 569.

To Louis Berthiaume You are hereby notified that on the 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 4, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota

No. 570

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes, pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 5, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No 571.

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 6, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 572.

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 8, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 572.

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes Pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 3, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale, (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 574.

To Catherine Fox: You are hereby notified that on the 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 5, Block 19 in Clements' 2d ad. to the townsite of Crookston was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of ninety-seven cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale, exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is ninety-seven cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from the said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 573.

To Francis Asmed: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the state of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit, Lot 13, Block 18, in Clements' 2d ad. to the townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and fifteen cents; the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and fifteen cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

100 PAGES WIDE AWAKE. 1891

BEGINNING WITH THE HOLIDAY NUMBER

Is permanently enlarged to one hundred pages, radiant with new and larger type, a new style of page, and fresh, strong literary and pictorial attractions.

Mrs. Burton Harrison, whose story of "The Anglomaniacs" has been the sensation of the season in The Century, has written for Wide Awake a story called "Diamonds and Toads."

Hon. John D. Long (ex-Governor of Massachusetts) furnishes six articles, under the general title of "Our Government," for the enlightenment of coming citizens—the boys and girls of to-day.

Margaret Sidney's new serial, "Five Little Peppers Grown Up," will tell more about Polly and Jasper and David and Joel and Phronsie, and others, as it runs through the year. Fifty charming illustrations by Chas. Mente.

Marietta's Good Times will chronicle in her own words, from her own manuscript, the childhood adventures of Marietta Ambrosi.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn, a little girl who had a great many ancestors, is an irresistible little folks' serial, by Elizabeth Cummings.

Unusually Interesting Articles, some elaborately pictorial: "Dining with Gladstone," by Mrs. John A. Logan; "Amy Robsart's Embroidery," by Frances A. Humphrey? "Mother Goose's Pets," by Agnes Repplier; "Gypsies and Gypsying," by Elizabeth Robbins Pennell; "Some Horses that I have known," by Maud Howe; "Seinte Marie College of Wynchestre," by Oscar Fay Adams; "Boston's Girl Sculptor," by Mrs. Newberry; "The Sugar Crank," by Theodora R. Jenness.

Some Problems in Horology, by E. H. Hawley, of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, will interest High School students. Three sets of cash prizes.

The Best of Short Stories from thousands offered and solicited the past year—some by new authors.

Figure Drawing for Children, in twelve illustrated lessons by Caroline H. Rimmer, with four prize offers each month.

The Ever Popular Ways to do Things, the School and Playground Stories, Tangles, Post Office and Men and Things.

Wide Awake is only $2.40 a Year.

D. LOTHROP CO., Publishers, Boston.

No. 576.

To J. R. Holton: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886 in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 9, Block 20, in Clements' second ad. to Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of ninety-seven cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is ninety-seven cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 577.

To Ed. Dremery: You are hereby notified that on the 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 3, Block 83, in the original townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and fifteen cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and fifteen cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 578.

To H. B. Montgomery: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes, pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th judicial district of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 23, Bl'k 40, in the original townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and fourteen cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and fourteen cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 579.

To H. B. Montgomery: You are hereby notified the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 6, Block 41, in the original town-site of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and thirty-five cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and thirty-five cents, and interest on said amount at the rate 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Dec. 25th, 1890.]

DEFAULT EXISTING IN A MORTGAGE executed by Urgel Wolfe (single) mortgagor, March 16th, 1889, to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, and filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minn., March 18th, 1889, at 10:10 o'clock a. m., and recorded in book 43 of mortgages, on page 477, and by said Penney assigned to Charlotte Winslow and by her assigned to Lyman W. Winslow, on the e½ of ne¼ of Sec. 10, and w½ of nw¼ of Sec. 11, Tp. 151, Range 42, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota; there being now due on said mortgage the sum of $143.68, besides $14.47 taxes paid by the assignee and an attorney fee of $100.00 Now, therefore, the Sheriff of said Polk County, will sell said premises at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, on the 7th day of February, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m., to satisfy said debt and costs of sale.

Dated, Dec. 8th, 1890.

J. H. Williamson,
Attorney for assignee.

[36-42]

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Com'r
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

Licensed College Physician and Surgeon Quebec.

Office in McKinnon Block.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-eight dollars, ($198.00) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Eugene W. Danells, unmarried of Polk County, Minnesota, to James M. Hawley of Albany, New York, bearing date the fourth day of October, A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of October, A. D. 1887, at 5 o'clock p. m., in book "J" of mortgages, on page 402; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: The west half of the south-west quarter Section eight, (8) and the north half of northwest quarter of Section seventeen (17) in Township one hundred and fifty-three, Range forty-three, containing one hundred and sixty acres more or less, in Polk County and State of Minnesota; with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Dec. 15th, A. D. 1890.

James M. Hawley, Mortgagee.
John Cromb, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[35-41] Crookston, Minn.

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss.
In Probate Court, Special Term, December 15th, 1890.

In the matter of the estate of Sam Johnson, deceased.

Whereas, an instrument in writing, purporting to be the last will and testament of Sam Johnson, deceased, late of said county, has been delivered to this court:

And whereas, James Hanson, of the city of Stillwater Washington Co. Minn., has filed therewith his petition, representing, among other things, that said Sam Johnson died in said County of Polk on the 19th day of November, 1890 testate, and that said petitioner is the sole executor named in said last will and testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be to him issued thereon.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument and the said petition, be heard before this court at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county, on the 13th day of January, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when all concerned may appear and contest the probate of said instrument.

And it is still further ordered, that public notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested by publication of these orders once in each week for three weeks successively previous to said day of hearing, in The Polk County Journal, a newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 15th day of December, A. D. 1890.

By the Court. C. O. Christianson,
[35-37] Judge of Probate.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., Nov. 26th, 1890.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before Register or Receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on Jan 8th, 1891, viz: Joseph L. Thomas, D. S. No. 11,256, for the nw¼ Sec. 15 Township 149, R. 41. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Charles Obles, of Tilden, Minn., Frank G. Barton, of Godfrey, Minn., Alfred Wade, of Tilden, Minn Arthur Adams, of Godfrey, Minn

[32-37] H. H. Dickmann, Register.

(First publication Dec. 4th, 1890.)

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss.
District Court, 14th Judicial District.

The The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston a corporation, plaintiff, vs. John McLeaul, defendant.

The State of Minnesota to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber, at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of three thousand three hundred thirty-nine dollars and sixty cents, with interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum from the 17th day of July, A. D. 1890, on the sum of $917.10, and from the 14th day of May, A. D. 1890, on the sum of $2,322.50, together with costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated November 15th, 1890.

John Cromb Plaintiff's Attorney.
[33-39] Crookston Minn.

[First publication Dec. 25th. 1890.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss.
In Probate Court, Special Term, December 18th, 1890.

In the matter of the estate of Martin Nelson, deceased.

Letters of administration on the estate of said deceased having been granted unto Hans Hanson, of Becker County, Minnesota.

It is ordered, that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this Court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in Crookston, in this County, on Tuesday, the 23d day of June, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered, that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in the Polk County Journal, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 18th day of December A. D. 1890.

By the Court; C. O. Christianson
[36-38] Judge of Probate.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law,
SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

REMOVED
BACK
TO THE OLD STAND
In the Fifth Ward.

CALL
AND SEE
WHAT WE CAN DO FOR YOU
E. D. CHILDS & CO.

KEEPING STILL
AND
Sawing Wood.

While some of my competitors are making a great parade about what they are doing for the people, I am not boasting, but just quietly

Selling Lots of Goods!

AT FIGURES THAT CAN'T BE BEAT.

Close buyers will do well to call and see my new stock and get prices. Everybody call at

STURE'S STORE
Hack & Gallasch' Old Stand. - - - Crookston, Minn

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,
DEALERS IN

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, OLE OLSON GANG PLOWS,

SHELF
AND HEAVY
HARDWARE,

F. F. Thompson & Sons WALKING PLOWS. Sole Agents for the Domestic Sewing Machines

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF
STOVES AND RANGES
Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., - - - Crookston.

S. L. COLLINS,
PROPRIETOR OF
MAIN STREET
Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.
CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,
Crookston, - - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE
in connection which I will attend to in person

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon,
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JANUARY 1, 1890.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
8:35 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
6:10	Duluth	7:00 "
5:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:25 p. m.
8:20	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:43	Grand Forks	5:50
2:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35
4:10	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

CROOKSTON TIME CARD.

	Leave.	Arrive.
South Line.
Passenger,	7:25 p. m.	6:55 a. m.
Freight,	10:15 a. m.	7:35 p. m.
North Line.
	7:15 a. m.	6:25 p. m.
West Line.
Passenger,	6:55 a. m.	7:25 p. m.
Freight,	7:35 p. m.	10:15 a. m.
Fosston Line. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.	7:30 a. m.	5:00 p. m.
St. Hilaire Line. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.	10:45 a. m.	4:00 p. m.

The Sub-Treasury Plan not Abandoned.

By Wm. Manning, St. Francis, Ark.
The National Economist.

I notice that the capitalistic press is industriously circulating the lie that the Alliance has about abandoned the sub-treasury plan, and will be content with the free coinage of silver and the reduction of tariff. Now, with regard to the free coinage of silver: I am at a loss to know why any person, not a silver mine owner, should be content with the free coinage of silver. Why should the owner of silver bullion be endowed with the privilege of turning his product into something that is by law clothed with power not only to measure indebtedness, but to levy tribute on the community by way of interest, for the sole benefit of its owner? Is it a satisfactory answer to say that long usage has made it a custom having the force of law? What is the difference between the free coinage of silver and the national banking system? Practically nothing. The national banking laws enable a person to turn any product into bonds, upon which money is obtained, which is loaned at interest. Therefore, there is practically no difference between the two. Both enable their beneficiaries to levy tribute upon the rest of the community. Will any man with sense enough to eat when he is hungry, be content with a measure what will enable his neighbor to tax him at pleasure, for this is what all schemes which endow individual with the right to issue money mean.

This correspondent does not object to the free coinage of silver, but on the contrary, favors it, as a measure that will lessen the evils of our monetary system. But he is not content that the owner of silver bullion—a product—shall be prefered to himself, who is the owner of a product which is far more valuable and necessary to society, i. e., cotton. Inasmuch as the people have abdicated the right to be the sole issuers of money, and as they are not likely to reassert and exercise that right in the immediate future, as a citizen of this country I claim for my self all of the rights (?) and privileges that are extended to other citizens. All I ask is that my products be endowed with the power that is conferred upon the product of other citizens, and upon the product of aliens as well. Is there anything wrong or revolutionary in this? If it is right to clothe one product or its representative with the power to measure and pay debts and settle balances, can it be wrong to confer the same power upon any other product, especially one of great value? No! And I will add in closing this squib: these fellows who write in the interest of the money power, know they are lying when they say that the Alliance will be content with any such special and class legislation as is proposed by the free coinage of silver.

True to First Principles.

The Baptists Refuse to Aid in a Scheme To Teach Religion by Law.

(Communicated.)

Baptists have not altogether forgotten the hardships which they in an early day endured in consequence of an established religion, or quite renounced their first principles, declaring for religious freedom and total separation of Church and State. In the "Canadian Baptist" of November 18, 1890, occurs the following editorial note:

"The Presbyterian Synod for New York recently sent a deputation to the New York Baptist Pastors' Conference, which met in connection with the State Convention in Lockport, asking their aid in an effort to secure the compulsory teaching of the essential doctrines of the Christian religion and morals in the public schools. The Pastors' Con- [illegible]

[illegible] dently on the right side of this question. It is to be wondered, however, if those who favor compulsory religious instruction in the public schools, will now class the Baptists, as they have others who oppose the theory, with infidels, foreigners, saloon-keepers, and thugs, and say they are enemies to God, the government, good religion and humanity.

Dyspepsia.

"Many circumstances must concur to render digestion easy and perfect." True, and if, for any reason, these circumstances fail to "concur" considerable time, the result is dyspepsia.

Should any dyspeptic read this, we trust he will send immediately for our treatise on compound Oxygen. He will find that many dyspeptics have been cured by its agency. Not being a drug, it does not act by creating another disease, but being inhaled into the lungs, is taken up by the blood, and distributed over the whole body, imparting new strength and vigor to every organ. Here are a few testimonials:

Drs. Starkey & Palen—For thirteen years I tried various remedies in Indigestion, but it was your Compound Oxygen Treatment that cured me.

F. A. Holladay,
Kelly, Miss., Nov. 6, 1889.

Drs. Starkey & Palen—I have used your Compound Oxygen Treatement for Dyspepsia with benefit to myself, and recommend it to others.

A. S. Evans.
Cheraw, S. C., Oct. 1, 1889.

Book on compound Oxygen sent free. Hundreds of testimonials and records of cures in various chronic diseases. Any substance made elsewhere or by any others than Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, whether called Compound Oxygen or not, is spurious.

Drs. Starky & Palen,
1529 Arch Pt., Philadelphia, Pa.

No opportunity was ever before offered whereby a farmer can obtain the experiences of others so cheaply as by a subscription to Farm, Stock and Home.

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN

NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

TREATMENT BY INHALATION,

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50 000 cases, in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

The Northwestern Farmer

ONE YEAR FREE

REDUCED SAMPLE ILLUSTRATION in the NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul. (See November 15th number, how Boys and Girls can get Christmas Gifts FREE.)

The publisher of the NORTHWESTERN FARMER will send the paper free from November 15th for the balance of the year, to every one of our readers who send their address on a postal card. Address, FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul, Minn.

THE NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER published in St. Paul, Minn., is a sixteen page, 64 column Illustrated Semi-Monthly Agricultural Journal (24 numbers in the year). It is a well-known, enterprising, ably edited and popular farm paper.

WE OFFER IT FREE

for one year to all who will pay us one year's subscription to

The Polk County Journal.

WHO IS IT?

[illegible]

Notices of Expiration of Time of Redemption.

No. 567.

To Paul M. Duggan: You are hereby notified that on the 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 9, Block 41, in Original Townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and thirty-five cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and thirty-five cents and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 569.

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 4, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 570

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes, pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 5, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 571.

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 6, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 572.

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 8, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 572.

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 8, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs, for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale, (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 574.

To Catherine Fox: You are hereby notified that on the 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 5, Block 19, in Clements' 2d ad. to the townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of ninety-seven cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale, exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice, is ninety-seven cents and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from the said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 575.

To Francis Ansel: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the [illegible]

100 PAGES

WIDE AWAKE. 1891

BEGINNING WITH THE HOLIDAY NUMBER

Is permanently enlarged to one hundred pages, radiant with new and larger type, a new style of page, and fresh, strong literary and pictorial attractions.

Mrs. Burton Harrison, whose story of "The Anglomaniacs" has been the sensation of the season in The Century, has written for Wide Awake a story called "Diamonds and Toads."

Hon. John D. Long (ex-Governor of Massachusetts) furnishes six articles, under the general title of "Our Government," for the enlightenment of coming citizens—the boys and girls of to-day.

Margaret Sidney's new serial, "Five Little Peppers Grown Up," will tell more about Polly and Jasper and David and Joel and Phronsie, and others, as it runs through the year. Fifty charming illustrations by Chas. Mente.

Marietta's Good Times will chronicle in her own words, from her own manuscript, the childhood adventures of Marietta Ambrosi.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn, a little girl who had a great many ancestors, is an irresistible little folks' serial, by Elizabeth Cumings.

Unusually Interesting Articles, some elaborately pictorial: "Dining with Gladstone," by Mrs. John A. Logan; "Amy Robsart's Embroidery," by Frances A. Humphrey; "Mother Goose's Pets," by Agnes Repplier; "Gypsies and Gypsying," by Elizabeth Robbins Pennell; "Some Horses that I have known," by Maud Howe; "Seinte Marie College of Wynchestre," by Oscar Fay Adams; "Boston's Girl Sculptor," by Mrs. Newberry; "The Sugar Crank," by Theodora R. Jenness.

Some Problems in Horology, by E. H. Hawley, of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, will interest High School students. Three sets of cash prizes.

The Best of Short Stories from thousands offered and solicited the past year—some by new authors.

Figure Drawing for Children, in twelve illustrated lessons by Caroline H. Rimmer, with four prize offers each month.

The Ever-Popular Ways to do Things, the School and Playground Stories, Tangles, Post Office and Men and Things.

Wide Awake is only $2.40 a Year.

D. LOTHROP CO., Publishers, Boston.

No. 576.

To J. R. Holton: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886 in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 9, Block 20, in Clements' second ad. to Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of ninety-seven cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is ninety-seven cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 577.

To Ed. Dremery: You are hereby notified that on the 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 3, Block 83, in the original townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and fifteen cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and fifteen cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 578.

To H. B. Montgomery: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes, pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th judicial district of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 23, Bl'k 10, in the original townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and fourteen cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and fourteen cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 579.

To H. B. Montgomery: You are hereby notified the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 6, Block 41, in the original townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and thirty five cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar, and thirty-five cents, and interest on said amount at the rate 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Dec. 25th, 1890.]

Default existing in a mortgage executed by Urgel Wolfe (single) mortgagor, March 16th, 1889, to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, and filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minn., March 18th, 1889, at 10:10 o'clock a. m., and recorded in book 43 of mortgages, on page 477, and by said Penney assigned to Charlotte Winslow and by her assigned to Lyman W. Winslow, on the e½ of ne¼ of Sec. 10, and w½ of nw¼ of Sec. 11, Tp. 151, Range 42, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, there being now due on said mortgage the sum of $[illegible], besides $14.47 taxes paid by the assignee and an attorney fee of $100.00. Now, therefore, the Sheriff of said Polk County, will sell said premises at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, on the 7th day of February, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m. to satisfy said debt and costs of sale.

Dated, Dec. 8th, 1890.

J. H. Williamson,
[36-41] Attorney for assignee.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Com's'r

D. S. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted. We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

[illegible]

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, QUEBEC.

Office in McKinnon Block.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-eight dollars, ($198.00) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Eugene W. Danells, unmarried of Polk County, Minnesota, to James M. Hawley of Albany, New York, bearing date the fourth day of October, A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of October, A. D. 1887, at 5 o'clock p. m., in book "T" of mortgages, on page 402; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The west half of the south-west quarter Section eight, (8) and the north half of northwest quarter of Section seventeen (17) in Township one hundred and fifty-three, Range forty-three, containing one hundred and sixty acres more or less, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Dec. 15th, A. D. 1890.

James M. Hawley, Mortgagee.
John Cromb, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[35-41] Crookston, Minn.

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

State of Minnesota, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, December 15th, 1890.

In the matter of the estate of Sam Johnson, deceased.

Whereas, an instrument in writing, purporting to be the last will and testament of Sam Johnson, deceased, late of said county, has been delivered to this court:

And whereas, James Hanson, of the city of Stillwater Washington Co. Minn., has filed therewith his petition, representing, among other things, that said Sam Johnson died in said County of Polk on the 19th day of November, 1890, testate, and that said petitioner is the sole executor named in said last will and testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be to him issued thereon.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument and the said petition, be heard before this Court at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county, on the 13th day of January, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when all concerned may appear and contest the probate of said instrument.

And it is still further ordered, that public notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested by publication of these orders once in each week for three weeks successively previous to said day of hearing, in The Polk County Journal, a newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 15th day of December, A. D. 1890.

By the Court. C. O. Christianson,
[35-37] Judge of Probate.

U. S. Land Office,
Crookston, Minn., Nov. 20th, 1890.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before Register or Receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on Jan 8th, 1891, viz: Joseph L. Thomas, D. S. No. 11,356, for the nw¼ Sec. 15 Township 149, R. 41. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Charles Ohles, of Tilden, Minn., Frank G. Horton, of Godfrey, Minn., Alfred Wade, of Tilden, Minn., Arthur Adams, of Godfrey, Minn.

[32-37] H. H. Dickmann, Register.

(First publication Dec. 4th, 1890.)

State of Minnesota, County of Polk—ss. District Court, 14th Judicial District.

The The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston, a corporation, plaintiff, vs. John McLeaf, defendant.

The State of Minnesota to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber, at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of three thousand three hundred thirty-nine dollars and sixty cents, with interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum from the 17th day of July, A. D. 1890, on the sum of $[illegible].10, and from the 11th day of May, A. D. 1890, on the sum of $[illegible], together with costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated November 15th, 1890.

John Cromb, Plaintiff's Attorney,
[33-39] Crookston, Minn.

[First publication Dec. 25th, 1890.]

State of Minnesota, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, December 18th, 1890.

In the matter of the estate of Martin Nelson, deceased.

Letters of administration on the estate of said deceased, having been granted unto Hans Hanson, of Becker County, Minnesota.

It is ordered, that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this Court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in Crookston, in this County, on Tuesday, the 23d day of June, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered, that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in the Polk County Journal, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 18th day of December, A. D. 1890.

By the Court. C. O. Christianson,
[36-38] Judge of Probate.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

REMOVED

BACK

TO THE OLD STAND

In the Fifth Ward.

CALL

AND SEE

WHAT WE CAN DO FOR YOU

E. D. CHILDS & CO.

KEEPING STILL

AND

Sawing Wood.

While some of my competitors are making a great parade about what they are doing for the people, I am not boasting, but just quietly

Selling Lots of Goods!

AT FIGURES THAT CAN'T BE BEAT.

Close buyers will do well to call and see my new stock and get prices. Everybody call at

STURE'S STORE

Hack & Gallasch' Old Stand. - - - Crookston, Minn

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,

DEALERS IN

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, OLE OLSON GANG PLOWS,

SHELF —AND— HEAVY HARDWARE,

F. F. Thompson & Sons WALKING PLOWS. Sole Agents for the Domestic Sewing Machines

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

STOVES AND RANGES

Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., - - - Crookston.

S. L. COLLINS,

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,
ATTYS AT LAW,
McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn

A. A. JUST, M. D.
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JANUARY 1, 1890.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
6:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
6:35 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
6:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
5:28 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:25 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:43 "	Grand Forks	6:50 "
2:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

CROOKSTON TIME CARD.

South Line.

	Leave.	Arrive.
Passenger,	7:25 p. m.	6:55 a. m.
Freight,	10:15 a. m.	7:35 p. m.

North Line.

	7:15 a. m.	6:25 p. m.

West Line.

Passenger,	6:55 a. m.	7:25 p. m.
Freight.	7:35 p. m.	10:15 a. m.

Fosston Line.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

7:30 a. m.	5:00 p. m.

St. Hilaire Line.

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

10:45 a. m.	4:00 p. m.

The Sub-Treasury Plan not Abandoned.

By Wm. Manning, St. Francis, Ark.
The National Economist.

I notice that the capitalistic press is industriously circulating the lie that the Alliance has about abandoned the sub-treasury plan, and will be content with the free coinage of silver and the reduction of tariff. Now, with regard to the free coinage of silver: I am at a loss to know why any person, not a silver mine owner, should be content with the free coinage of silver. Why should the owner of silver bullion be endowed with the privilege of turning his product into something that is by law clothed with power not only to measure indebtedness, but to levy tribute on the community by way of interest, for the sole benefit of its owner? Is it a satisfactory answer to say that long usage has made it a custom having the force of law? What is the difference between the free coinage of silver and the national banking system? Practically nothing. The national banking laws enable a person to turn any product into bonds, upon which money is obtained, which is loaned at interest. Therefore there is practically no difference between the two. Both enable their beneficiaries to levy tribute upon the rest of the community. Will any man with sense enough to eat when he is hungry, be content with a measure what will enable his neighbor to tax him at pleasure, for this is what all schemes which endow individual with the right to issue money mean.

This correspondent does not object to the free coinage of silver, but on the contrary, favors it, as a measure that will lessen the evils of our monetary system. But he is not content that the owner of silver bullion—a product—shall be prefered to himself, who is the owner of a product which is far more valuable and necessary to society, i. e., cotton. Inasmuch as the people have abdicated the right to be the sole issuers of money, and as they are not likely to reassert and exercise that right in the immediate future, as a citizen of this country I claim for my self all of the rights (?) and privileges that are extended to other citizens. All I ask is that my products be endowed with the power that is conferred upon the product of other citizens, and upon the product of aliens as well. Is there anything wrong or revolutionary in this? If it is right to clothe one product or its representative with the power to measure and pay debts and settle balances, can it be wrong to confer the same power upon any other product, especially one of great value? No! And I will add in closing this squib: these fellows who write in the interest of the money power, know they are lying when they say that the Alliance will be content with any such special and class legislation as is proposed by the free coinage of silver.

True to First Principles.

The Baptists Refuse to Aid in a Scheme To Teach Religion by Law.

(Communicated.)

Baptists have not altogether forgotten the hardships which they in an early day endured in consequence of an established religion, or quite renounced their first principles declaring for religious freedom and total separation of Church and State. In the "Canadian Baptist" of November 13, 1890, occurs the following editoral note;

"The Presbyterian Synod for New York recently sent a deputation to the New York Baptist Pastors' Conference, which met in connection with the State Convention in Lockport, asking their aid in an effort to secure the compulsory teaching of the essential doctrines of the Christian religion and morals in the public schools. The Pastors' Conference, by a rising vote, adopted a report declining to accede to the request, and declaring that the State should have nothing to do with the teaching of religious doctrines. A Baptist Conference could have made no other reply."

If Church and State are to be kept separate in this country, religious freedom is to be enjoyed as the founders of our government intended, it should be no other reply should be made to such requests. The Baptists are evidently on the right side of this question. It is to be wondered, however, if those who favor compulsory religious instruction in the public schools, will now class the Baptists, as they have others who oppose the theory, with infidels, foreigners, saloon-keepers, and thugs, and say they are enemies to God, the government, good religion and humanity.

Dyspepsia.

"Many circumstances must concur to render digestion easy and perfect." True, and if, for any reason, these circumstances fail to "concur" considerable time, the result is dyspepsia.

Should any dyspeptic read this, we trust he will send immediately for our treatise on compound Oxygen. He will find that many dyspeptics have been cured by its agency. Not being a drug, it does not act by creating another disease, but being inhaled into the lungs, is taken up by the blood, and distributed over the whole body, imparting new strength and vigor to every organ. Here are a few testimonials:

Drs. Starkey & Palen—For thirteen years I tried various remedies in Indigestion, but it was your Compound Oxygen Treatment that cured me.

F. A. Holladay.
Kelly, Miss., Nov. 6, 1889.

Drs. Starkey & Palen—I have used your Compound Oxygen Treatement for Dyspepsia with benefit to myself, and recommend it to others.

A. S. Evans.
Cheraw, S. C., Oct, 1, 1889

Book on compound Oxygen sent free. Hundreds of testimonials and records of cures in various chronic diseases. Any substance made elsewhere. or by any others than Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, whether called Compound Oxygen or not, is spurious.

Drs. Starky & Palen,
1529 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

No opportunity was ever before offered whereby a farmer can obtain the experiences of others so cheaply as by a subscription to Farm, Stock and Home.

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.

Drs. STARKEY AND PALEN

NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 19,000 invalids

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

The Northwestern Farmer

ONE YEAR FREE

Mr. McKinley—"How are you to-day, Uncle Sam?"
Uncle Sam—"Miserable! That last dose was a leetle mite too strong for me [illegible]"
Alliance Farmer—"Yes, and when the medicine begins to work, you will feel worse. We have decided to change doctors for you, and will then see if anything can be done to cure you."

Reduced Sample Illustration in the Northwestern Farmer and Breeder, St. Paul.

(See November 15th number, how Boys and Girls can get Christmas Gifts Free.)

The publisher of the Northwestern Farmer will send the paper free from November 15th for the balance of the year, to every one of our readers who send their address on a postal card. Address, Farmer and Breeder, St. Paul, Minn.

The Northwestern Farmer and Breeder published in St. Paul, Minn., is a sixteen page, 64 column Illustrated Semi-Monthly Agricultural Journal (24 numbers in the year). It is a well-known, enterprising, ably edited and popular farm paper.

WE OFFER IT FREE
for one year to all who will pay us one year's subscription to
The Polk County Journal.

WHO IS IT?

BREEDER'S GAZETTE

A "SOLID" man of course—one who farms with his brains as well as his hands, and who knows that to make the farm pay in these times requires good live-stock. No man who keeps good stock can afford to be without The Breeder's Gazette. It is the acknowledged head of the American live-stock press, and we should like to see it in the hands of all our intelligent stock owners. It is a large, handsomely illustrated weekly, furnished at $2 per year, or in clubs of five or more at $1.50 each. Send for a free sample copy, or enclose twenty cents postage for the magnificent Christmas Number. Address

J. H. SANDERS PUB. CO.,
320 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

Notices of Expiration of Time of Redemption.

No. 567.

To Paul M. Duggan: You are hereby notified that on the 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 9, Block 41, in Original Townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and thirty-five cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and thirty-five cents and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota

No. 569.

To Louis Berthiaume You are hereby notified that on the 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 4, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D 1886, until such redemption is made and, that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota

No. 570

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes, pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 5, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal this 11th day day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 571.

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 6, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 572.

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 8, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 572.

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes Pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A.D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 3, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale, (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 574.

To Catherine Fox: You are hereby notified that on the 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 5, Block 10 in Clements' 2d ad. to the townsite of Crookston was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of ninety-seven cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale, exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is ninety-seven cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from the said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 575.

To Francis Asmed: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the state of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit. Lot 13, Block 18, in Clements' 2d ad. to the townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and fifteen cents; the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and fifteen cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

100 PAGES

WIDE AWAKE.

1891

BEGINNING WITH THE HOLIDAY NUMBER

Is permanently enlarged to one hundred pages, radiant with new and larger type, a new style of page, and fresh, strong literary and pictorial attractions.

Mrs. Burton Harrison, whose story of "The Anglomaniacs" has been the sensation of the season in The Century, has written for Wide Awake a story called "Diamonds and Toads."

Hon. John D. Long (ex-Governor of Massachusetts) furnishes six articles, under the general title of "Our Government," for the enlightenment of coming citizens—the boys and girls of to-day.

Margaret Sidney's new serial, "Five Little Peppers Grown Up," will tell more about Polly and Jasper and David and Joel and Phronsie, and others, as it runs through the year. Fifty charming illustrations by Chas. Mente.

Marietta's Good Times will chronicle in her own words, from her own manuscript, the childhood adventures of Marietta Ambrosi.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn, a little girl who had a great many ancestors, is an irresistible little folks' serial, by Elizabeth Cummings.

Unusually Interesting Articles, some elaborately pictorial: "Dining with Gladstone," by Mrs. John A. Logan; "Amy Robsart's Embroidery," by Frances A. Humphrey? "Mother Goose's Pets," by Agnes Repplier; "Gypsies and Gypsying," by Elizabeth Robbins Pennell; "Some Horses that I have known," by Maud Howe; "Seinte Marie College of Wynchestre," by Oscar Fay Adams; "Boston's Girl Sculptor," by Mrs. Newberry; "The Sugar Crank," by Theodora R. Jenness.

Some Problems in Horology, by E. H. Hawley, of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, will interest High School students. Three sets of cash prizes.

The Best of Short Stories from thousands offered and solicited the past year—some by new authors.

Figure Drawing for Children, in twelve illustrated lessons by Caroline H. Rimmer, with four prize offers each month.

The Ever Popular Ways to do Things, the School and Playground Stories, Tangles, Post Office and Men and Things.

Wide Awake is only $2.40 a Year.

D. LOTHROP CO., Publishers, Boston.

No. 576.

To J. R. Holton: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886 in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 9, Block 20, in Clements' second ad. to Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of ninety-seven cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is ninety-seven cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire.
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 577.

To Ed. Dremery: You are hereby notified that on the 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 3, Block 33, in the original townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and fifteen cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and fifteen cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 578.

To H. B. Montgomery: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes, pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th judicial district of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 23, Bl'k 10, in the original townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and fourteen cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and fourteen cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 579.

To H. B. Montgomery: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 6, Block 41, in the original townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and thirty five cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and thirty-five cents, and interest on said amount at the rate 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGuire,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Dec. 25th, 1890.]

DEFAULT EXISTING IN A MORTGAGE executed by Urgel Wolfe (single) mortgagor, March 16th, 1889, to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, and filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minn., March 18th, 1889, at 10:10 o'clock a. m., and recorded in book 43 of mortgages, on page 477, and by said Penney assigned to Charlotte Winslow and by her assigned to Lyman W. Winslow, on the e½ of ne¼ of Sec. 10, and w½ of nw¼ of Sec. 11, Tp. 151, Range 42, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota; there being now due on said mortgage the sum of $351.03, besides $14.37 taxes paid by the assignee and an attorney fee of $100.00. Now, therefore, the Sheriff of said Polk County, will sell said premises at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, on the 7th day of February, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m., to satisfy said debt and costs of sale.

Dated, Dec. 8th, 1890.

J. H. Williamson,
Attorney for assignee.

[36-42]

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Com's'r

D. S. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Offices at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

Licensed College Physician and Surgeon Quebec.

Office in McKinnon Block.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-eight dollars, ($198.00) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Eugene W. Danells, unmarried of Polk County, Minnesota, to James M. Hawley of Albany, New York, bearing date the fourth day of October, A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of October, A. D. 1887, at 5 o'clock p. m, in book "[illegible]" of mortgages, on page 402; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: The west half of the south-west quarter Section eight, (8) and the north half of northwest quarter of Section seventeen (17) in Township one hundred and fifty-three, Range forty-three, containing one hundred and sixty acres more or less, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Dec. 15th, A. D. 1890.

James M. Hawley, Mortgagee.
John Cromb, Attorney for Mortgagee.
[35-41] Crookston, Minn.

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss.
In Probate Court, Special Term, December 15th, 1890.

In the matter of the estate of Sam Johnson, deceased.

Whereas, an instrument in writing, purporting to be the last will and testament of Sam Johnson, deceased, late of said county, has been delivered to this court:

And whereas, James Hanson, of the city of Stillwater Washington Co. Minn., has filed therewith his petition, representing, among other things, that said Sam Johnson died in said County of Polk on the 19th day of November, 1890, testate, and that said petitioner is the sole executor named in said last will and testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be to him issued thereon.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument and the said petition be heard before this Court at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county, on the 13th day of January, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when all concerned may appear and contest the probate of said instrument.

And it is still further ordered, that public notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested by publication of these orders once in each week for three weeks successively previous to said day of hearing, in The Polk County Journal, a newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 15th day of December, A. D. 1890.

By the Court. C. O. Christianson,
[35-37] Judge of Probate.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., Nov. 20th, 1890.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before Register or Receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on Jan 8th, 1891 viz: Joseph L. Thomas, D. S. No. 11,356, for the nw¼ Sec. 15 Township 149. R 41. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Charles Ohles, of Tilden, Minn., Frank G. Horton, of Godfrey, Minn., Alfred Wade, of Tilden, Minn Arthur Adams, of Godfrey, Minn

[32-37] H. B. Dickmann, Register.

(First publication Dec. 4th, 1890.)

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss.
District Court, 14th Judicial District.

The The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston a corporation, plaintiff, vs. John McLean, defendant.

The State of Minnesota to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber, at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day, of such service; and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of three thousand three hundred thirty-nine dollars and sixty cents, with interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum from the 17th day of July, A. D. 1890, on the sum of $917.10, and from the 14th day of May, A. D. 1890, on the sum of $2,392.50, together with costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated November 13th, 1890.

John Cromb Plaintiff's Attorney.
[33-39] Crookston Minn.

[First publication Dec. 25th, 1890.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—SS.
In Probate Court, Special Term, December 18th, 1890.

In the matter of the estate of Martin Nelson, deceased,

Letters of administration on the estate of said deceased having been granted unto Hans Hanson, of Becker County, Minnesota.

It is ordered, that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this Court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in Crookston, in this County, on Tuesday, the 23d day of June, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered, that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in the Polk County Journal, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 18th day of December A. D. 1890.

By the Court; C. O. Christianson
[36-38] Judge of Probate.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law,
SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

REMOVED
BACK
TO THE OLD STAND
In the Fifth Ward.
CALL
AND SEE
WHAT WE CAN DO FOR YOU
E. D. CHILDS & CO.

KEEPING STILL
AND
Sawing Wood.

While some of my competitors are making a great parade about what they are doing for the people, I am not boasting, but just quietly

Selling Lots of Goods!

AT FIGURES THAT CAN'T BE BEAT.

Close buyers will do well to call and see my new stock and get prices. Everybody call at

STURE'S STORE

Hack & Gallasch' Old Stand. - - - Crookston, Minn

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,

DEALERS IN

SHELF
AND HEAVY
HARDWARE,

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, OLE OLSON GANG PLOWS,

F. F. Thompson & Sons WALKING PLOWS.

Sole Agents for the Domestic Sewing Machines

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

STOVES AND RANGES

Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., - - - - Crookston.

S. L. COLLINS,

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, JANUARY 8, 1891. NO. 38.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. I outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	60 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

The Alliance Vindicator (Sulphur Springs, Tex.) gives good advice:

In the midst of the excitement, the turmoil and uproar following the election, the Alliance people should keep cool and collected and not allow a word to escape their lips that would bring reproach upon the fair name of the organization. The tendency of the times at this season of the year is to disunite, disorganize and disband. Hence every member of the order who feels an abiding interest in the welfare of the Alliance, who is sincere in his devotion to patriotism, who looks forward to better times through the field glasses of hope, and who desires honestly from the depth of his heart to leave as an heritage to his children a better government then the one in which he lives, should at once take hold of the institution and work, talk about the Alliance to your neighbors, tell them of its objects and purposes, the platform of principles upon which it is founded and the methods it proposes to employ in order to carry out those principles. Attend your meetings as regularly as the time of meeting comes; get up in your Alliance and make propositions that will invoke discussion on questions that directly affect your welfare as a class. Study to improve existing methods of managing your business as a people and let the world know the result of your studies and by so doing much good will be bound to follow. Reader, take this home to yourself, it is meant for you.

The Ottawa (Kan.) Journal puts matters in this way:

Our congratulations and compliments to the people's party voters. The great query that burthened the minds of the shylooks, the corporation pimps, the mortgage wreckers, the lawyers and the old party in general, was, "would the farmers stick?" The answer that "you would," was the subject of their scoff and jest. But no smile adorns their faces to-day. Their hilarity faded out on the chill night air of November 4. You have demonstrated beyond all peradventure your willingness and abiliy "to stick;" you have demonstrated the fitness of the American citizen for self government. In many places good men began to despair. They feared that the night and tempest of party bigotry had settled down forever upon us. They recalled how the liberties of ancient Rome were snuffed out at a time when men voted and continued to vote, and Cæsar walked the streets clad in garments made by the hand of his own wife; under the thin disguise of popular government. Cæsar ruled the land. What Cæsar did in ancient Rome, associated capitalists are attempting now with us. But your late conduct at the polls gives us every encouragement to hope that you are of very different material from the infatuated people who turned a deaf ear to the warning of the immortal Cato. This government is founded upon the belief that the American citizen is sufficiently intelligent to perceive the right, and sufficiently honest to pursue it; that he will never become so absolutely the slave of any party as to adhere to it when it becomes the oppressor of the country or the subverted of its liberties.

The industrial News (Jackson, Mich.) says:

While the new mode of voting is certainly an improvement over the old system, and a voter can vote independent, it is still leaving many loop-holes open and the old ward heelers got in their work quite successfully in some of the wards. The counting of votes in the prescribed way is cumbersome and takes too long. The only system which has been tried, and which is advocated in the industrial platform, is the Australian ballot system. It is as near perfect as possible and excludes the work of heelers, bribery and intimidation successfully. Give us the Australian ballot system.

The new Era (Wahoo, Neb.) says:

Never have the common people of Nebraska had such an awakening as during the campaign just closed. It is not transient but a year's growth, and was brought about by inquiry and thought. Never has the subject of political economy received so much attention and study from the voters of this State. The voters are awake and the inquiry continue right no.

Arkansas Alliance Economist (Texarkana, Ark.) says:

Had the public servants of the people done their duty in every particular there would be no danger existing today to any party organization, but failing in this a condition has been reached in the management of the affairs of the country which has brought into action a spirit of resistance among the people' which threatens to bring about a revolution in politics.

The Farmers Free Lance. (Ashland, Ill.) says:

It is the object of the Farmers Alliance to unite the farmers of Illinois and of the United States on all matters pertaining to their interests, and to devise ways and means whereby they may more effectively promote their general welfare; to improve the modes of agriculture, horticulture and stock raising; to adopt and encourage such a rotation of crops as will improve rather than impoverish the soil; to devise and encourage such systems of concentration as may diminish the cost of the production, and to generally educate the farmer, that he may be better qualified to perform his duties in a business manner.

No opportunity was ever before offered whereby a farmer can obtain the experiences of others so cheaply as by a subscription to Farm, Stock and Home.

Government Loans.

Missouri World:—The debtors of this nation could as easily afford to pay the government ten per cent, per annum interest for money as they could to pay individual five per cent. The government may be likened to a joint stock company and all the people stockholders. Let us take for example a joint stock banking company of one hundred shares of $100 each, with one hundred shareholders, each shareholder owning one share. Now let us suppose that fifty of the shareholders borrow from the company $200 each at ten per cent. In the year they each pay $20 interest to the company. The company receives from the borrowers $10,000 per year and declares a dividend of ten per cent or $10 per share. The borrowers each get a dividen of ten dollars, which deducted from their interest paymant, leaves ten dollars as the net cost of the use of $200 one year, or five per cent. In the case of the government, the constitutional right to issue money is the capital stock held by 63,000,000 of people. If 63,000,000 heads of families representing 31,500,000 of people) borrow from the government at ten per cent, they will receive back by way of reduction of taxation, one-half of the interest paid and would be virtually paying only five per cent interest. If they were to borrow of the government at four per cent., they would virtually be paying but two per cent. Herein, we believe, is one of the strong arguments in favor of government loans.

Mortgages.

The Western Rural.

The inquiry of the census office into mortgage indebtedness is nearly completed. The report will be very interesting and valuable. Out of nearly 2.800 counties only ten remain at the present time incompleate, the mortgages for ten years having been extracted from the records. A total of som thing over $850,000,000 in mortgages has been found, the largest number in the Western States. Relatively speaking the Southern States were found to be much freer from these incumbrances than the Northern. An exception, however, to this is noted in the newly developed manufacturing district in Alabama, Tennesse and Georgia. In districts like that of Birmingham the mortgage indebtedness is large, but ninety per cent of it has been contracted for purchase money, plants, lands, etc. In other districts of the South mortgages are given as security for "farm supplies," but this is unimportant object of indebtedness in the North.

As an illustration of the completeness of this work in what are termed inquiry counties it is necessary only to say that in Madison County, O., a total indebtedness of somethiing over $2,000,000 was found to incurred for the following purposes: Purchase money, improvements, business purposes, purchase and improvements, security, purchases of other land, business losses, family supplies, purchase money and stock, crop failure, bank failure, travel, farm supplies, improvements and beying of stock, small debts and accured interest, education, medical attendance, dissipation, borrowed money rental defalcation, accommodation, funeral expenses, alimony, family expenses and improvements interests, unknown, to pay taxes, attorney and court fees, private debts. In this case about seventy-five per cent was for purchase money and improvements, nearly ten per cent for business, purposes and the remainder for the varied puproses set forth above.

The dispatch from which we gather the above statisics says that "The result of the investigation may show a large amount of indebtedeness, but when the causes are throughly analyzed the burden will not seem such a heavy one as some imagine." Why not? Is a mortgage for a suit of clothes any lighter then a mortgage for a rum bill? A mortgage is a mortgage We may say that the man who cannot pay a mortgage for a suit of clothes may deserve pity, while the man who cannot pay one rum bill is not deserving of pity. But both mortgages, if for equal amounts, are equal burdensome. The thought which seems to possess the people who give expression to such sentiments as we have quoted is that if the man has mortgaged his farm for purchase money or farm implements or" supplies," and finds is difficult to pay the mortgage, he has nothing of which to complain. There is just one class of cases in which that may be measurably true, viz: Where speculative purposes. But the man who buys a farm and gives a mortgage for the purchase money, or a portion of it, ordinarily puts improvements upon the farm; if he mortgages the farm for implements, the implements are wearing out, and after awhile all that will be left of the transaction through which these implements were purchased, will be the morgage on the farm, that was given to secure payment for them. The mortgage will not wear out.

The question simply is: Is there any good, sufficient reason why the man should not be able to pay his mortgage? Are the conditions under which he is forced to live and cultivate his farm, equitable conditions and such conditions as the government should permit to exist? That is all the question there is. If agriculture is legitimaiely unprofitable, there is nothing more to say. But legitimately it is profitable.

Mr. Depew and Paternal Government.

The Western Rural.

Mr. Depew says he is not in favor of paternal government. Mr. Depew and the interests over which he presides and kindred interests have not seemed to be restless at all under paternalisam in times past. The government has been paternal in the extremen toward capital. The railroad has gone to government time and time again and asked for paternal favors and got them. Wall Street says to our government: "We have got ourselves into a hole and cannot get out. Please give us a lift, and the government has gone down into its pocket promptly and helped the spendthrifts. It is helping them now. Wall Street has gambled away all its own money and all of other people's money that it could get hold of, it has gambled away the confidence of the people and the prosperity of the people and our paternal government is giving out one hundred millions of dollars to help the crowd. Paternalism! The government is excessively and stupidly paternal when gamblers and Shylocks want a little or a great deal of help. And Chauncey M. Depew never has a word of objection to offer against such exhibitions of paternalism. It is when the poor man, the producer, the man who amounts to something, whose toil gives prosperity to the country, seeks the benefit of a little paternalism from the government that his money supports, that Mr. Depew begins to oject to paternalism. Well, the producer is in a temper to get himself on a level with other classes before the government. Depew and his railroad colleagues and wall Street and capitalists generally, have only to ask and the government listens. It not only listens but it acts. The farmer, however, has spoken respectfully over and over again, but no response has come from Washington; he has screamed his complaints and demands and pleadings in a mighty concert that almost shook the hills and plains, but nobody in Washington seems to have heard him. It is settled therefore, that if he gets anything he will have to go after it himself, and he is gettidg ready to go to government and with his own hands spread out the paternal wings of the concern until they stretched broad enough for him as well as the capitalist to get under them. It does make the slightest difference what Mr. Depew would like, the farmer proposes to have justice and he is going after it himself.

Sitting Bull's Death.

The Manner in Which It Was Accomplished Fully Set Forth by one who Was Present.

The Detroit Record.

Hans Hanson, a son of our ever genial Register of Deeds, is a member of Troop G, 8th Cavalry, now stationed at Ft. Yates, and the following letter to his sister will prove interesting to our readers, and we are under obligation to that young lady for the opportunity thus offered to give a correct account of that interesting event. He writes;

Ft. Yates, N. Dak.

Dear Sister Mary :— Dec. 20, 1890.

I received your letter last night and in haste I will write a few lines in regard to our experience with the Sitting Bull gang. I guess you have read about it in the papers but the papers do not tell the truth, exactly, in all respects in regard to it. About twenty-five Indian police left this post for Sitting Bull's camp on Grand river, forty miles from here, to arrest him, and the two troops, G. and F., in command of our Capt. Fechet, started for the same place that night about twelve o'clock. In the morning at seven o'clock we were within two miles of Sitting Bull's camp, when one of the Indian police brought us the news that they were having a fight. At once an advance guard, of which I was a member, was ordered out of our company to scout the country ahead of the command. When we were about a mile away we saw the police at Sitting Bull's camp, and about twenty hostiles. There were about forty hostiles in all, but they had heard that we were coming and therefore a good many of them had already made a retreat into the hills. We had two cannon along, one that shoots exploding shells and another that shoots sixty shots to the minute, and two shots from the former which were sent over their heads took all the braveness out of them and they flew. After skirmishing about for about an hour we went to Sitting Bull's camp where we found the dead bodies, among which were those of Sitting Bull and his son, also of seven other hostiles, four police and and three wounded police. We arrived just in time to save the lives of the remaining police force, about twenty men, as they only had ten rounds of ammunition left between them. After having our dinner there we made eighteen miles toward home, and camped for the night, having made over eighty miles in eighteen hours. That night at 11 o'clock, we were joined by two companies of infantry, who brought our bedding from the post, and you can just bet that we slept well that night. We reached Ft. Yates the next day at four o'clock, with the bodies of Sitting Bull and the dead scouts, and also with the wounded police, all but one of whom have since died. The Indian police are all full blooded Sioux, and the brave boy, Bull Head, was the one that killed old Bull. The four police who were killed were buried with military honors—old Bull was buried like any other bull. Bull Head was promoted from Lieut. to Captain of Police just before he left the post for the last time and he was as brave a man as there was on the reservation. We start in the morning for another ten days' trip, which will take in Christmas and probably half of the winter. But if this fine weather continues I would as soon be in the field as not. I will write soon and let you know at home what I see on this trip.

P. S.—The friendly Indians all came into the post to-day, as this is ration day. They number about two thirds of all the tribe, and they will not go on the war path. It looks now as if Gen. Miles were going to make a general round-up of the remaining hostiles, and I think that between the soldiers and the police, short work will be made of the hostiles and Messiah craze.

Our combination offer with Farm, Stock and Home elsewhere in this issue should not be overlooked. A year's subscription to this grand agricultural paper means a 384 page volume size 11¼x15 in that to any farmer is well worth $5.00, yet we give it and this paper one year only $1.50.

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law,
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank,

Valley-Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

from selected Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North-Star.
Fife.
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

1891—THE ST. PAUL DAILY NEWS.—1891

Furnishes all the News of the World.

Bright,
Fearless
and
Independent.

Champions the cause of the people independent of the political parties. Opposes monopolies and all public or private robbery by means of unjust tariff or other iniquitous legislation, State or National.

The full reports of legislative proceedings, which the Daily News will supply during the coming session of the Legislature, will alone be worth the cost of a year's subscription.

Sent by mail, postage paid, at the following remarkably low price:

Six months	$1.75
One year	3.00

For 75 cents additional to either a six months or a yearly subscription a complete set of the works of Charles Dickens, eleven volumes, (paper binding) will be sent postage paid.

Send for sample copies of the News Address: The Daily News, St. Paul, Minn.

SPRING SMILES!

Upon the Well Wintered Farm.

"How to Preserve the Season's Crop," "Butter Making in Winter," "When Shall We Sell," "How to Feed in Winter," "Keep the Animals Growing," "Sheep Farming," "Why I Raise Swine," "Does Poultry Pay," "Shall We Use Blooded Sires," "The Horse Market," "My First Experience with the Silo," "My First Fruit and Vegetable Garden," "Why I Don't Leave the Farm," "The Wasteful Wife," "Our Country Roads," "Are Bees Worth their Keep," "Minnesota an Apple State," "Notes Obtained by Fraud," "The Stranger's Promise," "Are Politicians Our Friends," "What Should the Teacher Be," "How I Preserve Meats," "When to Buy Seeds," "The Boy Mechanic," "A Quarrelsome Family," "Fighting Animals," "My Early Mistakes," "Shall We Heed the Experience of Others."

These are only a few of the subjects to be found in forthcoming numbers of

FARM, STOCK AND HOME,

OF MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The most popular and reliable semi monthly Agricultural journal published.

Edited by S. M. OWEN, assisted by scores of practical farmers, stockmen, dairymen, poultrymen, apiarists, gardeners, fruit growers, housewives, etc., etc.

Every number contains sixteen to twenty pages of 64 to 80 columns, printed from clear, new type, on fine, white book paper.

FARM, STOCK AND HOME is issued the 1st and 15th of every month—24 numbers a year—at an annual subscription of only 50 cents.

Appreciating the value of a good, practical agricultural DON'T PASS THIS OFFER. paper to all farmers, and desiring to get the one best adapted to this locality, we have arranged with the publishers of Farm, Stock and Home to accept subscriptions at regular rates; or we will send it and THE JOURNAL one year for only $1.50. Sample copies can be seen at this office.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST,

PUBLISHED 50 YEARS CONSECUTIVELY.

RECOGNIZED as the BEST RURAL and FAMILY PERIODICAL in the WORLD, giving Invaluable Help, the Best Information, Thousands of Plans, Practical and Useful hints and Suggestions, and THOUSANDS OF ORIGINAL ENGRAVINGS ANNUALLY. Try it this year, it will Pay You well. No one can read a number without getting thoroughly Reliable and Practical Information. Profitable to Everybody. Each number contains Sketches of Labor-helping Contrivances to aid In-door and Out-door Work. Fine Engravings of Animals, Plants Flowers, Out-buildings, with many Pleasing, Instructive Pictures for Young and Old. Subscription price $1.50 a year.

We are desirous to make this the BANNER YEAR in CIRCULATION, which is now over 100,000 copies monthly.

OUR PREMIUM OFFER.

THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD CYCLOPÆDIA. Price $1.00. Bound in Cloth and Gilt. A Complete Ready Reference Library for Farmers, Gardeners, Fruit Growers, Stockmen and Housekeepers, containing a large fund of Useful Information, Facts, Hints and Suggestions, in the various Departments of Agriculture. Horticulture, Live Stock Raising, Poultry Keeping, Bee Keeping, Dairy Farming, Fertilizers, Rural Architecture, Farm Implements, Household Management, Domestic Affairs, Cookery, Ladies' Fancy Work, Floriculture, Medical Matters, Etc

Containing 644 Pages, with 249 Illustrations.

This Valuable Book furnished with the AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST ONE YEAR, for $1.60, or for only 10 cents additional to the subscription price, paying postage on book.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,

CROOKSTON, MINN.,

Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plainand Fancy

DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, FLANNELS,

BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for	$1.00
Rhadames for	1.00
Faille Francais for	1.00
Gros Grain for	1.00
Satin Luxors for	1.00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS.—

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel	20 cents.
54 inch Tricot	35 "
54 inch Flannel	45 "
54 inch best all wool Flannel	75 "
36 inch Henriettas	25 "

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen businss in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for	30 cents.
" " "	35 "
" " medicated, for	40 "

A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket	$1.50
" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket	2.00
" 4½ lb. 10¼ white "	4 50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dry Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

The Queen's Latest Offer.

A Free Education or One Year's Travel in Europe.

In the Queen's "Word Contest," which the publishers of that magazine anuouce as the last one they will ever offer, a free education, consisting of a three years' course in any Canadian or American Seminary of College, including all expenses, tuition and board, to be paid by the publishers of The Queen, or one year abroad, consisting of one entire year's travel in Europe, all expenses to be paid, will be given to the person sending them the largest list of words made from the text which is announced in the last issue of The Queen. A special deposit of $750 has been made in The Dominion Bank of Canada, to carry out this offer. Many other useful and valuable prizes will be awarded in order of merit. The publishers of The Queen have made their popular family magazine famous throughout both Canada and the United States by the liberal prizes given in their previous competitions, and as this will positively be the last one offered, they intend to make it excel all others as regards the value of the prizes. Send six two cent U. S. stamps for copy of The Queen containing the text, complete rules and list of prizes. Address The Canadian Queen, Toronto, Canada. [33-40]

For a plain, practical and instructive paper, made largely by farmers and wholly for farmers, Farm, Stock and Home of Minneapolis, Minn. has no equal among agricultural journals. We can furnish it in connection with the JOURNAL one year for only $1,50.

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

Drs. STARKEY AND PALEN

NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientiticic adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

Toledo Weekly Blade.

1891.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR,

THE most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding, year after year, a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

NEW story to commence first of the year, written especially for the Blade by Oliver Optic. "Money Maker Series." A series of special articles on "Side Issues," written for The Blade. Blade China Tea Sets and Dinner Sets given to club-raisers. Send for specimen copy of The Weekly Blade and our interesting announcements for the coming year.

SPECIMENS.

A specimen copy will give you a better idea of The Weekly Blade than any description we can give in an advertisement. We therefore invite everybody to write us for a specimen, which we will cheerfully mail you free; and at the same time please mail us a list of names of your friends and neigbors, and we will also mail them specimens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AGENTS.

ANYBODY can earn Ten Dollars very quickly by raising clubs for The Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address

THE BLADE,
Toledo, Ohio.

THE PIONEER

HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, MINN

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Jan. 8, 1891.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 77.
1 Northern 74.
2 Northern 69.
3 Northern 61.

Subscribe for THE JOURNAL for 1891.

Bring your job work to THE JOURNAL office.

Wheat went up another peg on Tuesday, reaching 77 cents.

You want THE JOURNAL and we want some wood. Let's swap.

C. M. Lowe, the real estate man, went to Duluth to spend the holidays.

The Grand Forks Plaindealer got out a handsome New Years edition.

Don't forget the Lambeth choir this evening. It is a grand entertainment.

Lots of wood coming to the city in these days. It retails from $3 to $4 per cord.

Clergymens' half fare permits on the Great Northern are extended until Dec. 31st, 1891.

Mr. Sylvester and wife have returned from a visit to friends and relatives in Pope County.

The week of prayer is generally being observed in our churches in the city this week.

A. Halvorson went down to McIntosh on Saturday last returning on Tuesday evening.

Rev. Barteau thinks of moving his family to Stephen soon. Our loss will be Stephen's gain.

While this pleasant weather lasts we should like to see our wood pile increasing somewhat faster.

C. H. Saake is still in business at the old stand ready to supply the wants of all in the jewelry line.

Rev. Whitney has an earnest manner in his speech that carries conviction with it to the hearer.

The ball at McKinnon Hall on Thursday evening was well attended and was a very enjoyable affair.

Fred Teidt was down from Euclid on Tuesday taking in the sights and scenes of the busy city.

Att'y Gen'l Holston! Yum, yum. Mebbe not exactly that but County Attorney Holston, any way.

Fontaine & Anglim's remnant sale leads 'em all. Go and see while the range of choice is so wide.

Remember to-night the Scotch singers will be at the opera house. They come highly recommended.

Attend Fontaine & Anglim's remnant sale, where you can find anything you can think of at prices way off.

Rev. Battey returned from his holiday visit on Sunday morning, occupying his place in the pulpit on Sunday.

M. E. Bartlett shot a large white owl last Saturday. The bird measured about 5 feet from tip to tip of his wings.

Judge Benson, the Probate Judge elect, takes possession of his office this week. He looks as dignified as a Judge.

Wheat opened out this week one cent higher. Everything indicates a continued rise until the last of the week, at least.

E. J. Grefthen returned from Iowa last week and came to the city ready to take possession of the office of Superintendent of Schools.

Mike Leguee was called out to Fairfax last week to attend to a sick horse belonging to M. Bang. Mike has lots of work these days.

Mrs. E. E. Bangs and Miss Jennie Newland started this morning for Salt Lake City, where they intend to pass the balance of the winter.

The remnant sale at Fontaine & Anglim's offers an opportunity of securing a bargain that is rarely presented. Go early and avoid the rush.

A heavy fog settled down on Sabbath afternoon which remained during the night and Monday. This is very unusual in this Red River Valley.

The Daily Chronicle suspended on Jan. 1st. The publishers, Palmer & Palmer, announce that the weekly was discontinued three weeks since.

Remember that we will take wood on subscription until we get our winter's supply. While this good weather lasts would be a good time to haul it in.

Rev. Battey delivered an eloquent and practical sermon to young men on Sunday evening last. Every young man in the city should have heard it.

Sheriff Grundysen. That's the way they spell it now when writing to the Sheriff of Polk County. Arny wears his new honors with becoming dignity.

Remnants, say you? Oh, yes, Fontaine & Anglim have just this week commenced to dispose of a large and handsome assortment. Call and size 'em up.

The sad news of the death of Emma Abbott reached this city on Monday evening. She died at Salt Lake City on Monday morning at 7:40, of pneumonia.

The Ladies of the Presbyterian church will give a tea at the residence of Mrs. E. F. Pierce, Thursday Jan. 15th, from 5:30 to 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

Remember the Lambeth choir to-night, at the Opera House. Everywhere they go they are greefed by full houses. Do not miss them unless you wish to miss a rare treat.

We understand that Anton Erickson will be retained as jailor. This is as it should be. Mr. Erickson has been an efficient official and Sheriff Grundyson could do no better.

E. S. Tyler, one of Fargo's oldest citizen's was in the city this week. Mr. Tyler was one of the pioneers with the Northren Parcific in the early day, building up a comfortable fortune.

Gus. Thompson was the lucky man who won the pony and road cart at the raffle last Wednesday evening. Now he would like to sell the pony as he has no good place to keep him.

No matter whether you owe us on subscription or not, if you do not have THE JOURNAL in your family, bring along a load of wood and get it. We need 15 or 20 cords just now.

Mr. George represented the Ada Herald in the city last Saturday. He is a cousin of attorney George, of this city, with whom he passed a very pleasant day while awaiting the train for Fertile.

Auditor elect Webster seizes the reins of power this week, vice P. J. McGuire, who for so long time has filled that position. He must, indeed, be a good man who can fill Mac's shoes acceptably.

Ladies call and see those hats which Mrs. Bangs is offering at cost. Everything goes at greatly reduced prices.

Clerk of the Court, Muus, we greet thee! With his usual modesty, Nels Muus steps into the office of Clerk of the Court this week. Clerk Walsh has been a faithful official and retires with honor.

D. McMillan was up from Ada on Wednesday and did not forget to call in and set that subscription ahead a year. Mac is a constant reader of THE JOURNAL; one of the kind whom it is a pleasure to have.

G. H. Palmer rounds up his census reports this week. He takes a special interest in manufacturing industries just now—or rather has been doing so for a few weeks. He completes his labors this week.

Gus Felsing was down from Woodside on Monday, shaking hands with his friends and did not neglect to give THE JOURNAL man a friendly call. Mr. Felsing has strong faith in the future of the county.

John Locken takes possession of the office of Register of Deeds this week, relieving the genial Andrew Eiken, who has filled the position so ably for the past two terms. Mr. Locken is a worthy successor of a worthy official.

While Chris Houston was away in St. Paul last week attending the State meeting of the Farmers' Alliance, one of his colts got badly cut up in a wire fence, Mike LeGuee was sent for who soon patched the colt up in good shape and left him doing nicely.

Coroner Shepard held an inquest on the body of Dr. Christianson, at Fisher, last Thursday. The doctor is supposed to have been killed by falling out of his road cart while intoxicated while enroute for his home at Belmont, N. D.

The legislature gets down to business this week. We hope to see much good accomplished at this session. If some plan will be devised by which we shall obtain a free and open wheat market, we shall be perfectly satisfied with its labors, whatever else it does or does not do.

J. M. Palmer came down from Angus on Friday evening to do some trading. As the stores were closed upon his arrival at 7 o'clock, and no train north after Saturday morning until Monday morning, he was obliged to return on Saturday morning without accomplishing his object.

The Lutheran College.

CROOKSTON CAN HAVE IT.

IF SHE WILL PUT UP.

At the meeting of the directors and members of the association on Tuesday the proposition of Crookston to give $22,500 and a building site, was accepted, and the College will be located here if the wherewithal is forthcoming. The association is to expend a sum in building equal to double the amount of bonus. The proposition is to bond for $20,000 and raise $2,500 by subscription. Now let our citizens take hold of this matter and the result will be an institution that will be worth to the county many times its cost.

J. B. Merrill was up from Fisher on Tuesday and dropped in to our den to chat awhile and renew the subscription dial one year ahead. Mr. M. is one of those who wish to see simple justice done the farmers in the matter of our markets. Says wheat in this market should be worth 90 cents instead of 77 as it is and we think he is right.

If you are interested in increasing the profits of the farm, read our clubbing offer with Farm, Stock and Home in his issue.

Just now every old political hack in the State is jumping onto the neck of Ignatius Donnelly, and it seems to be quite the popular fad in St. Paul to kick Donnelly. Keep on with your funny business. The first thing you know you will hear something drop, and you better look out what that thing will be. It went be Donnelly.

W. W. Fagan, of Larimore, takes Maj. Mix' place at the Great Northern depot. We had hoped to see the Major succeeded by his son, Fred, but it seems that the powers that be ruled otherwise. Mr. F. is said to be one of the best in the business, however, anyhow the cigar which he handed THE JOURNAL man when we first met, was.

Cyprien DeMers returned from St. Paul on Monday morning, where he had been as a delegate to the annual meeting of the Farmers' Alliance. He is immensely pleased with the result in the election of Mr. Donnelly. Mr. DeMers remained to attend the meeting of the Board of County Commissioners of which he is a member. He will be a positive force upon the Board.

Miss Eva McDonald was elected State lecturer at the late meeting of the Alliance. Miss McDonald is an eloquent young lady, thoroughly in sympathy with the labor movement and the Alliance might have gone further and fared worse. She is an enthusiast in the cause of labor and has done some good hard work in its behalf. She should receive the earnest co-operation of the alliance in her new field of labor.

Of course, all who oppose the alliance and its objects will do all in their power to be-little Mr. Donnelly and render abortive his best efforts for good; but the same has been true of every president the alliance has yet had and would be true no matter who was elected. The farmers should not expect to please old line politicians, if they do they are left as sure as fate. What the farmers need the politicians do not want at all.

Charlie Johnson was down from Rockstad on Thursday last, shaking hands with his many friends in the city. Charlie is one of the leading farmers in his section and has labored faithfully in the cause of a free and open wheat market, and is one of those who have faith to believe that the day is at hand when we shall see this desired result accomplished. Charlie will keep hammering away until the result is accomplished.

It seems that Tom Kelly who was once a member of the Crookston police force has been appointed by Chief Zwickey a member of the Tacoma force. Tom is not lacking in the essential elements that go to make up a good policeman—pluck, muscle and good nature. His many friends here are congratulating him upon his promotion and the JOURNAL adds: Ho, Tom!

J. S. LaDue was up from Fertile on Wednesday of last week. Mr. L. is one of the merchant farmers of Polk County, who takes a great interest in the material prosperity of the county. In addition to carrying on a large store business he has a fine large farm on which may be found one of the finest herds of thoroughbred Holstein cattle in the county, as well as a number of fine horses. Such men, who invest what they make in Polk County realty, are of inestimable benefit to a new country and all too few here.

D. Jacobus started for a trip to the coast on Monday morning. "Jake" is one of the oldest of old settlers in Crookston, coming when there was not much else of Crookston except E. C. Davis, Billy Stuart, and a few others. He was for many years lightning slinger and depot agent for the old pioneer line—now the Great Northern. Up to within a few weeks he was manager of the Crookston Water Power and Electric Light Co. "Jake" has many friends in this city who will wish him a pleasant trip and a safe return to our midst.

Andrew Steenerson returned from St. Paul on Saturday morning. On the train home he fell in with some Norman County delegates, and when they got off at Ada one of them by mistake took along one of Andrew's shoes, leaving one of his own in place of it. When Andrew awoke and attempted to put on his shoes he discovered the mistake, also the fact that one shoe was too small for him. He was obliged to travel about the city in overshes all day. H wishes the owner of the odd shoe would correspond with him at Climax post office.

The Nationalist club met on Monday evening at the City Hall. A goodly number assembled to listen to the exercises. Mr. I. U. Jennings delivered an interesting address on Nationalism according to the Bellamy idea, making some very good points. "One good thing that would be accomplished," said the speaker, "it would remove money, and thus eradicate many or most of existing evils." Rev. Mr. Whitney delivered an eloquent address in the same line. Mr. McGregor made a few remarks and John Watts read a paper on the same topic. These meetings may be made of great interest and should be well attended.

No opportunity was ever before offered whereby a farmer can obtain the experiences of others so cheaply as by a subscription to Farm, Stock and Home.

The manner in which subscriptions came in during holiday week was very encouraging, to say the least, more coming in during the last week in December than for any week since we sent out the statements, but the aggregate amount does not make one-fifth that is due on our list. However, from the tenor of many letters we have received, we are encouraged to hope that the amount we need on Feb. 1st will be forthcoming, as the writers all assert that they will liquidate when they sell their wheat. In such a year as this, when the crop has been good and the prices fair, we should be able to collect at least three-fourths what is due us on subscription, and if we can do this we shall be enabled to carry out certain improvements that we have in contemplation that will be largely to the interest of all of our patrons. We do not wish our friends to distress themselves to aid us, but if all will cheerfully do all they can we shall highly appreciate it at this time, and it will be to their own benefit so to do. Some have sent us a portion of the amount due us, together with words of encouragement in our work, for both of which we feel thankful, and if all who have received our statements will put up all they can we are positive that we can accomplish our desires. Let the good work go on. With thanks to those who have so promptly responded, we shall still continue our efforts to obtain an absolutely free and open wheat market.

GARDEN, Jan. 5, 1891.

ED. JOURNAL: I am requested by the Garden Farmers' Alliance to forward to you for publication the following resolution, adopted by said alliance at a regular meeting, held Jan. 3d, 1891:

Resolved, That the members of the Garden Farmers' Alliance bind themselves not to contract any secured debts due before the first day of June.

This alliance has also appointed a committee of three to represent this alliance on formation of an Insurance Association. The committee consists of O. P. Renne, of Rindal, M. G. Peterson and A. M. Oswald, of Valley P. O. These gentlemen stand ready to cooperate with committees on the same object from the adjoining townships.

H. B. HOGENSON,
Sec. of Garden Alliance, No. 660.

The Lambeth Choir.

A Successful Concert at the Grand Last Night.

Duluth Daily Tribune.

Lambeth's Scotch choir appeared at the Grand last night and gave a most pleasing entertainment, which was highly appreciated by a fair-sized audience. This is the first visit of this company to America, but it has appeared with success all over the United Kingdom and Ireland. The Scotch in the city, of which so many are employed at the barge works and the steel plant, turned out en masse to welcome the concert from the old country.

Fertile Journal:—Fletcher Sankey was removed to the Brainerd hospital Sunday night, where he can have better care and continual and necessary medical attendance, which he could not have at home. Mrs. S. accompanied him, but returned this morning. She reports that he is somewhat better, but very weak from his severe illness.

Norman County Herald:—Mr. O. L. Rindal met with a severe accident on his way home from C. F. Pettersen's place Saturday night. The buggy pole got out of place, the horses got scared and while trying to jump from the buggy he fell and fractured the shinbone. Dr. Nelson of Fertile was summoned to attend to it.

FOR SALE.

A fine full blood Holstein-Friesian bull, about eight months old. For particulars apply to C. Snyder, Sec. 8, Crookston, or call at JOURNAL office.

Death of Doctor Christenson

Fisher Bulletin.

On Wednesday morning last Johnnes Goodvavger, while coming towards Fisher a distance of four miles therefrom discovered a horse and buggy standing in the road, and when aproaching the same was horrified to find the dead body of Dr. Christeason, entangled in one of the rear wheels. The body was brought to town and an inquest held by Coroner Shepard on Thursday, when the following facts were elicited: The doctor, who lived at Belmont N. D. came into Fisher on Tuesday and in a very short time was intoxicated. Early on Tuesday morning he proposed returning home, but again became intoxicated. At four o'clock that afternoon, he went to Fants livery stable, and although totally unable to manage a horse, insisted that his team be given him. Finding that persuasion was of no avail, Mr. Fant surrendered the team and Doctor drove to his death. From the appearance of the body when found the impression is general, that the Doctor became insensible from the cold and fell upon the side of the buggy, his right side and clothing presenting the appearance of having been torn by the tire of the wheel after riding in this manner for some time, he must have fallen out of the buggy and in so doing had his left leg caught between the spokes of the hind wheel, and thus dragged over the rough ground for fully half a mile. The horse finaly halted and remained in the road all night, no doubt aware that his master was in trouble. The decased was about fifty years of age, and leaves a family in sraightened circumstances. Ten years ago he was regarded as a wealthy man, but the love for drink quckly dissipated his money and wrecked his fine intellect.

Tenders Wanted.

Tenders will be received until January 31st, 1891, for the delivery of 10 cords of green wood on lots 11 and 12, block 6, original townsite of Crookston. The wood must be sawed not less than four feet long, sound and straight, and limbs trimmed close. It must be delivered by the last day of February, 1891, at which time I will pay in cash to the lowest bidder.

JOHN NICHOLSON.
Crookston P. O.

NOTICE.

I have purchased all notes and book accounts of the old firm of Stewart and Spottswood, dissolved, and request a settlement at once.

|38-41| WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

$12,000 Worth of Goods.

Until further notice I will offer for sale my entire stock of merchandise at cost. Dress flannels sold at 65 cents will be sold at 45 cents per yard; ginghams at 8, calico at 5 cents, and everything else in proportion. Vinegar 20 cents per gallon; catsup at 75 cts; coffee from 18 to 35 cts; sugar 13¼ lbs. for $1, and everything else in proportion.

A. STURE.

Dissolution of Copartnership

Notice is hereby given that the copartnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, partners under the firm name of Stewart & Spottswood has been this day dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by Wm. C. Spottswood, who is authorized to collect and discharge all debts due the firm, and who assumes the payment of all debts owing by the firm.

Dated Dec. 20th, 1890

A. M. STEWART,
[36 38] W. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

FOR SALE.

One Full Blood Jersey Bull.

Twenty-five to Thirty head of Grade Jersey cows and young stock. Will sell the same cheap for cash or negotiable notes or will trade for young steers.

Will also sell 2 span of good brood mares, one fine driving team, one three year old colt, and three sucking colts.

Also all of my household furniture and farming utensils will be sold at private sale before March 15th 1891.

E. J. Haseltine.

For Sale.

New milch cow. Call on M. E. Bartlett, Fairfax, or at JOURNAL office.

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Scandia-American Bank of Crookston, Minn., will be held at its banking rooms, on Tuesday, the 13th day of January, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., for the election of directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

[36-38] L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMETIER,
[36-tf) Lisbon, N. Dakota.

We know of a choice farm of 320 acres within three miles of the court house, every foot of it under cultivation, which can be had at a very reasonable figure with interest at only 6 per cent. If you are looking for a chance, here is a bargain. Call at THE JOURNAL office. [87-tf]

For Sale Cheap.

One hundred and sixty acres of first class land situated three and one-half miles north-east of Crookston. Will take wheat at one dollar per bushel. For further particulars address,

J. E. MITTON,
[12-tf] Wahpeton, N. D.

Ladies, in your shopping expeditions you have not neglected to call at Mrs. E. E. Bangs' fashionable millinery emporium, have you? Of course not, for Mrs. B. has given notice that all those lovely hats must go at startlingly low figures.

For Sale.

A fine new milch cow, five years old. Call on C. Snyder, Sec. 8, Crookston, or at JOURNAL office.

Married.

REISLING—CASE.—At Crookston, December 31st, 1890, by Rev. S. H. Barteau, Mr. W. B. Reisling, of Stephen, Minn., and Miss Dollie A. Case, of Arcadia, Wisconsin.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.
Office in McKinnon Block.

THE OLD RELIABLE
CROOKSTON
LOAN AGENCY
STILL ON DECK.

MONEY
On Real Estaee
MONEY
On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

New Millinery Store
ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY
OUR NEW
Fall Styles

LADIES,
Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

KOPS BRO'S
105 Third Street,
GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA.

PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

FOR SALE
CHEAP.

1 new 13-horse power Russell Engine. (A bargain.)
1 12-horse power Giant Plain Engine.
1 A 1 Driving Team, with Buggy and Harness.

Chas. m. Lowe,
The Loan Agent

Hardware Stock and Fixtures for Sale.

I Have Recently Purchased the Business
—OF—
STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD,
And now Wish to Retire from Business in Crookston.

For information regarding this stock call at the store and inquire for A. M. Stewart.

ALL accounts and notes must be SETTLED AT ONCE, and no more credit granted. Call in and see some of the Bargains offered.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

The legislature convened on Tuesday but did not succeed in electing officers for both branches. Prospects for music before that event occurs are good.

Among the appointments made by Governor Merriam, are W. M. Liggett, Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner in place of John L. Gibbs; R. J. Montague on the board of equalization; John Cromb, director of State Normal Schools; Hugh Thompson, surveyor general of logs and lumber.

The object of the sub-treasury bill is to afford relief to the agricultural interests from the leeches, the blood-suckers that are sapping its life-blood. THE JOURNAL is convinced that some means must be contrived to afford this relief, or else that the business interests of the country must suffer greatly therefrom. It begins to feel the effects already, but will feel it more and more until the relief comes, hence what benefits the farmer benefits the business interests of the country. The sub-treasury bill would afford immediate relief, but if the politicians object to that plan, let them give us a better—it is THE RELIEF we want, and we do not care much how it is obtained only so that it is effectual. It does not look well to see men in this country, whose business depends on the success of the farmer, opposing any measure that promises relief from the burdens they bear, and if they do not come to realize this fact because it is right that they should, they will be made to see it sooner or later in other ways. We believe that the interests of farmers and business men in this country are mutual and we have no use for politicians, who oppose the best interests of the country. The only hope we can see of relief is through legislation, and farmers, business men and politicians of this country should take hold unitedly to accomplish the one great end. This will undoubtedly be the outcome, meanwhile we are for the interests of the people.

One subscriber writes: "I do not like your extreme views on the pernicious sub-treasury bill." Well, we don't know as we wonder much at that, when we consider the fact that the gentleman referred to makes his money by looking after the interests of a great corporation, while the sub-treasury bill is designed to protect the interests of the poor and the weak—those who are least able to protect themselves. There is one very significant fact that is becoming more and more apparent every day, and that is that speculators are getting terribly worked up over that bill. This is not to be wondered at when the fact is becoming more clearly understood that the bill is intended to protect the victims of the avaricious speculators. Farmers toil hard from early morn till close of day, and have not the facilities for planning and plotting that some others have, and as a result they are easy victims to these schemers. Once let a plan like the sub-treasury plan obtain and absolute protection is guaranteed to the farmers—the sharpers are sharp enough to look out for themselves. Give protection to farmers and they in turn will be able to patronize our business men far more than they do now, and thus will our material business interests thrive and grow to an extent as yet unprecedented. We are not ashamed to advocate a measure so fraught with blessings to the poor man as is this plan, and we know it would also subserve our best interests, and we do not expect that those who are fattening off the toil and sweat of the masses will approve of any measure that will bring relief to the poor man and give him time and means to educate himself. In advocating the sub-treasury plan we are fighting the battles of the common people. Our critic considers himself a very good sample of morality, yet it seemeth good in his sight that the liquor interests should be protected by the very same plan that the sub-treasury bill seeks to provide for the farmers. Our breadstuffs—are they not as important to the life and welfare of the nation as is whiskey? Oh no! You fellows don't kick when the interests of those who are absolutely able to care for themselves are protected, but when it comes to the protection of the busy farmer, that is "class legislation," &c., &c., that is unworthy the consideration of statesmen. (?)

STATE ALLIANCE MEETING.

The farmers of the State have shown their entire independence of the wishes of the wheat rings and railroads by electing their champion to the presidency of the Alliance. Ignatius Donnelly has for the last 25 years ably championed the cause of labor, and, of course, has awakened the bitter antagonism of those who eat their bread in the sweat of the brow of the labor—labor of other men; and it would not be strange if some honest members of the alliance itself were impregnated with a sort of a prejudice against him. We have enjoyed a personal acquaintance with Mr. Donnelly for years and believe him to be sincere in his work, and his professions, and we are confident that the result will justify our faith. Moreover, Mr. Donnelly has now the opportunity of his lifetime to make a record, and no one knows this better than himself, and it is not reasonable to suppose that he will fritter it away. No one, not even his bitterest enemies, disputes his great ability, and his best friends well know that that ability is coupled with honesty of purpose, and if he is abetted by the united support of the alliance, he will be able to accomplish much. What we need here, and need at once, is a market wherein speculation has not absolute control—a market wherein the poorest farmer can sell his wheat to as good advantage as he could in Duluth or Minneapolis; when we have that we cannot complain at the prices received for our wheat. Competition and free buying will tend to destroy the monopoly now existing, and we demand a system that will give us these. We believe that Mr. Donnelly will do all that lies in his power to give us these—and he can do much; but we must not expect one man to do it all for us with no aid from us. Let us all put our shoulders to the wheel and work for the common good.

To Have Free Delivery.

WASHINGTON Special to the Minneapolis Journal, Jan. 6.—The house committee on post offices and post roads has agreed to report favorably the senate bill, authorizing the postmaster general to establish free delivery service in all towns where the gross receipts of the postoffices exceed $5,000 per annum. If this becomes a law, the following towns of Minnesota will be supplied with carriers: Albert Lea, Austin, Brainerd, Crookston, Fergus Falls, Northfield, Owatonna. In South Dakota, Aberdeen and Deadwood will have free delivery, and in North Dakota, Bismarck, Jamestown and Minot.

The Saint Paul Globe:—Rambeth's celebrated choir from Glasgow, Scotland, now making their first American tour, will appear in concert in this city at the people's church on Tuesday evening, Jan. 13. To hear the martial and love-laden melodies of old Scotland interpreted by a coterie of singers selected from the land where these songs have swayed the hearts of generations, will be a pleasure such has never before been afforded the people of this city.

A Combination to Down Donnelly.

New Ulm Review.

We heard it from pretty good authority the other day that John Day Smith, J. M. Tawney, H. F. Stevens and C. R. Davis, all Republican members of the next State Senate, had assigned to themselves the duty of laying out Ignatius Donnelly in the coming Legislature. The four whom we have mentioned are all good men good talkers and skillful parliamentarians, and we sincerely hope that they will succeed in their proposed effort to vanquish the brainy Sage, but in undertaking such a task they must not underestimate the powers of their opponent. Donnely, alone and unaided, is a giant of intellectual strength and, should he have any kind of support, the gentelemen who are desirous of domine him will have a fight on their hands from which they are only to apt to come out smaller then they went in,

COIN OF THE REALM.

Judge Morses Scheme to Test the Question As to Silver.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Judge Morse, of Denver, came here several weeks ago with a bar of silver of standard fineness, for the purposes of presenting it to the Treasurer of the United States, and demanding its value in coin be given to exchange, without any deduction for seignorage.

It is intended by Judge Morse to test the question whether silver is or is not "coin" of the realm, and in event of the demand being refused to bring suit which he will carry into the United States Supreme Court if necessary.

The Judge has not abandoned his purposes, but has altered his plans of operations. Instead of presenting the "brick" at the treasury he will go to Philadelphia and present it at the mint and demand silver coin in exchange equal to the weight of bullion.

The Prairie Farmer.

The old reliable agricultural journal. The Prairie Farmer, of Chicago, comes out with its initial number for 1891 in a handsome new dress, and is indeed an elegant paper, filled with the soundest and most practical information for all interested in agriculture in its many departments. The present editorial organization of The Prairie Farmer is most complete and thorough, and the journal enters its 51st year better equipped than ever. Writers who are well known authorities are accompanied by illustrations and engravings, to assist the reader to the fullest understanding of the subject treatedr.

The Prairie Farmer is a model home paper, alike useful to the farmer, the villager, and the city man, furnishing delightful reading for all who love and appreciate agriculture. The ladies and children are not forgotten, for its department of Household, Garden and Lawn, Young Folks' Poetry, Puzzles and Miscellany are unsurpassed.

The publishers will send a sample copy to every applicant, and it is worth while to drop them a postal for a specimen, or send them the subscription price, One Dollar, for a year, to The Prairie Farmer, 168 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

The Farmers and the Railroads.

The Minneapolis Times.

At the recent annual celebration in New York of Forefathers' day by the descendants of the New England Puritans, Choate and Depew were speakers and the company was largely made up by railroad proprietors, bankers and brokers. These round-bellied plutocrats must have been considerably startled by the speech of Mr. A. B. Cummins, of Iowa, who undertook to explain to them the origin of the war now being waged in his state by the farmers against the railroad corporations, and gave it as his opinion that the struggle would go on until the horny handed sons of toil had gained the points of justice and right which they were fairly claiming. He said:

The people of Iowa, have contributed more than $25,000,000 in money to aid in the construction of railways within the borders of the state, This was not designed as a donation. It was the intent of the law under which those aids were authorized—I had almost said extorted—from a community illy able to make the investment, that those whose money helped to create should share in ownership, and to that extent, at least, the property should not be alien. It was intended that the people should always feel the pressure of their legislation and observed in their own persons the prosperity or adversity of the interest they helped to build up. But the beneficent plan has wofully miscarried, for under the rapid, though accurate manipulations of prompters, projectors and wreckers, and the dispiriting influence of receivers, their stocks and bonds have disappeared like a morning mist; and they hold the East accountable for the transformation. The reckoning has just begun. Under their direction congress gave to railways, of their patrimony, millions of acres of the most uproductive land that ever invited plow and seed; but that, too, has gone and left no other trace behind it then the advantages of general development, and they look in vain to see any perceptible diminution in interest bearing obligations by reason of this magnificent endowment; and they hold the East accountable for that. They saw that the prime motive of those who originated and carried forward substantailly every road built through the State was not a fair return for the carriage of freight and passengers, but their own immediate enrichment, and they do not discern the difference between present and past proprietors. Year after year they were witnesses of a system of discrimination which paralyzed their industries, and for which it was hard to find even a shadow for justification; and they hold somebody accountable for that.

This complaint is not confined to Iowa. It comes from the farmers in almost every Western and Southwestern State. If the county, State and municipal subscriptions of hard cash and the donations of land were set aside and put in comparison with the subscriptions of the promoters of railroads, the figures of the latter would appear insignificant. And if an honest judicial investigation could follow, the methods by which the promoters or wreckers absorbed the public subscriptions of money and lands, there would shortly be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth in many palatial and turreted mansions, and propositions for the reception of distinguished convicts in many penitentiaries would be in order. Those who imagine that the present condition, which steadily grows worse, can continue indefinitely, are self-deluded. Some day there will be an investigation and a squaring of account and then "honest men will come by their own." The patient, toiling farmer will then realize where his hard earning have gone and why he is so poor, and that his labor can never be remunerative while the plutocrats and monopolists control legislation in their own interests, and that the tendency of the present system is to reduce him more and more to a state of servitude. Mr. Cummins spoke the right word in the right place when he warned the nabobs whose breade he had broken, that the farmers would continue their war on the railroads until their wrongs, growing out of the misappropriation and mismanagement of those highways, have been righted.

Jay Gould's Hand.

The Western Rural.

As soon as Jay Gould let himself loose and gobbled a railroad or two, he began to scheme to get his hand into the public pocket and his plan has been formulated. He suggested that the President of our Western roads get together in New York and agree upon a harmonious method of fleecing the people; and they have met and agreed. There is to be no more competition unless the roads became involved in a quarrel. Whether they quarrel or not, however, the intentions of Mr. Gould are plain enough and mean enough. The agreement made by these people under the direction of Jay Gould is that there shall be uniform rates maintained on our Western roads and, of course, that the rates shall be raised. Gould, in an indirect way has frequently gone into the farmer's fields and taken the grain that belonged to him and into the cattle yards and driven off the stock that the farmer owned, figuratively speaking. But he has never before perched himself so conspicuously on the fence about the farmer's dooryards and told him that he proposed to sit there until he had got all that the farmer produced. In the midst of the hard luck which the producer has so long been compelled to endure, this great financial sponge of the world incubus upon honest industry has devised a means by which he can apply the screws stil more tightly than ever upon the farmer.

Will the people permit this black haired and black hearted schemer to carry out his designs; or will they so far as they can, through the honest men whom they have elected to Congress and the Legislatures, put the the screws to the railroads that have gone into this scheme at the solicitation of Mr. Jay Gould? The men who are to represent the farming community in our halls of legislation have a clear duty to perform in the premises. It is their duty to break the power of this conspiracy and they can do it if they are true to their constituency. They thought of so doing should enter into everything they do. If a United States Senator is to be elected, and the farmer legislators have the balance of power, he should be a man whom Jay Gould and the railroad interests can neither buy nor influence otherwise. Elect men who will pay their fare: elect men who know a conspiracy against the the people when it is as big as a continent and elect men who have both the honesty and the backbone to sit down on railroad assumption.

NOT QUITE SO TONY AS
THE REEONG DRUG STORE
Of St. Paul, but as near it as any city north of St. Paul can boast, is

DURAND'S NEW DRUG STORE

One Door West of the Post-Office, in Mcinnon Block.

A Full Stock of Everything in my Line.

CALL AND SEE ME!

Durand, the Druggist

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
ROOKSTON, - MINNESOTA

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

The Great Transcontinental Line.
—THE—
NORTHERN PACIFIC
RAILROAD.
SHORTEST,—BEST.—QUICKEST,
This is the "Yellowstone Park and Dining Car Route"

Lowest Rates to Chicago and All Points East. Tickets sold to all prominent points throughout the East and Southeast.

Pullman Drawing Room Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars through to St. Paul.

TO EAST BOUND PASSENGERS.

Be careful not to make a mistake, but be sure to take the NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R. and see that your ticket reads via St. Paul, Minneapolis or Duluth. Only line traversing Minnesota, Dakota, Manitoba, Montana, Idaho, Washington, British Columbia, Oregon and California.

PULLMAN SLEEPERS, DINING CARS AND COLONIST SLEEPERS

On Pacific Coast Express Trains Daily. This line offers special attractions to California tourists.

☞ An elegant coach runs through between Crookston and St. Paul. Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St Paul. Dining Cars on all trains.

For full information concerning rates time, etc., call on or address your nearest ticket agent, or

CHAS. S. FEE, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.
E L. HARRISON, Agent, Crookston, Min

Crookston Meat Market
E STEENERSON, Proprietor.
E. ERIKSON, Manager,
Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN,
LAWYERS,
FOURNET BLOCK,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon.
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,
ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.
WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.
Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.
☞ Farmers custom specially invited.
Terms $1.00 per Day.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,
(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)
REAL ESTATE.
Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.
☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.
—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

NEW CIGAR STORE,
SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, - MINN
Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.
Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.
CALL IN.

E. STEENERSON,
Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of snide Co's. ☞ CALL ON ELI!

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U S. Com'sr.
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner
IVES & HATLESTAD,
Attorneys and Counselors at Law,
CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.
Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.
We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON
PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $12,700
Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.
GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.
DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, Geo. Q. Erskine, E. M. Walsh, K. D. Chase, B. B. Northrop, John Moore, Chas. E. Sawyer, R. D. Childs, A. A. Miller, W. H. Crosby

TRY
O. J. BARNES,
THE
CITY GROCER!

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, MINNESOTA,
—DEALER IN—
Lumber, Building Paper,
PAINTS, OILS,
Doors, Windows and Mouldings
ALSO
FARM MACHINERY.
—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—
MILWAUKEE HARVESTER
AND THE CELEBRATED
WINONA PLOWS,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,
OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.
Organized the State Laws.
Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $5,700
Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Interest on time deposits. Special attention to collections.
OFFICERS.
C. HENDRICKSON, President.
C. O. CHRISTIANSON, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
DIRECTORS.
C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch. H. Steenerson. L. Ellington. J. H. Locken, C. Hendrickson. Max Ericsson. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

J. V. E. WYATT,
UNDERTAKER.
Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for
NEW GOODS.
A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material.
Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

THE NEW
NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana	FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS	30 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.	LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.	Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth.	In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns. New Railways. New Mines. Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills. Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise.	Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines.	These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.
The valleys of Red, Mouse, Missouri, Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890. Write F. L. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn	Hunting, Fishing.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law,
SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

CROOKSTON
STEAM LAUNDRY.
I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing
Washing and Ironing
Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.
All Those Wanting
FAMILY WASHING
Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.
O. D. ROOD, Prop.
☞ Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Jan. 8, 1891.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
6:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
6:35 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
5:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:55 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:42 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
2:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. INE.

CROOKSTON TIME CARD.

South Line.

	Leave.	Arrive.
Passenger,	7:25 p. m.	6:55 a. m.
Freight.	10:15 a. m.	7:35 p. m.

North Line.

7:15 a. m. 6:25 p. m

West Line.

	Leave.	Arrive.
Passenger,	6:55 a. m.	7:25 p. m.
Freight.	7:35 p. m.	10:15 a. m.

Fosston Line.
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
7:30 a. m. 5:00 p. m.

St. Hilaire Line.
Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
10:45 a. m. 4:00 p. m

Incurable Deseases.

"Chaldea's seers are good.
But here they have no skill.'

Read the following testimonials. Further comment is unnecessary:

Drs. Starkey & Palen—in the spring of 1886 I had a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism, which in a few days was complicated with dropsy and asthma. But I am grateful to be able say that after using your Compound Oxygen these troubles have left me altogether. (Ex-Senator) C. S. Powers-Preston, Fillmore Co, Minn., May 6, 1889.

Drs. Starkey & Palen—Having observed the benefit of your Compound Oxygen Treatment, in asthma, I am disposed to recommend it to my patients who suffer from that distressing complaint. E. West, M. D. 111 Washington place, New York city, N. Y.

Drs Starkey & Palen—I can recommend your Compound Oxygen Treatment from experience especially in hay fever. T. R. Jones. Dalton, Ga.

Drs Starkey & Palen—Nothing has done me so much good for my nerves as your Compound Oxygen Treatment, and at one time I seemed beyond all medical help. I have prolonged my life I know. Mrs. Julia Paige. New Castle Ind.

Drs. Starkey & Palen—your Compound Oxygen Treatment cured me of catarrh. Mrs. C. A. Phillips. 1006 South College St., Nashvile, Tenn., Dec. 6, 1888.

Drs. Starkey & Palen—your Compound Oxygen has been a Godsend to me in a case of paralysis. Mrs. E. B. Hart. Darlington, Wis., Sept. 12, 1889.

Send for our treatise on Compound Oxygen, containing a history of its discovery and mode of action, as well as a record of many remarkable cures in Consumption, Catarrh, Neuralgia, Nervous, prostration, Bronchitis, asthma, and numerous other diseases. Book of 200 pages sent free. Address DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1529 Arch St. Philadelphia, Pa.

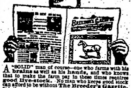
Scared to Death.

The Western Rural.

Just a few more meetings of the Alliance and other farmer's organizations will, we think, suffice to do what a portion of the people have been working to accomplish for many years; viz.: get rid of all the politicians. If the farmers keep meeting and showing their teeth—figuratively speaking—as they have been doing for the last few weeks, there is a good prospect of seeing every politician in the land scared absolutely to death. It is both amusing and inspiring to hear the comments of these fellows upon the proceedings of the farmers conventions. They say that the farmer, flushed with recent political success, is getting wild; that he will yet smash things all to pieces; that usually he is level headed, but he has gone crazy, and lot of such twaddle is constantly falling from the lips of the political ringsters, and in the meantime the farmer keeps right along strengthing his lines and marking out his future course. Again The Western Rural tells these moss-backed, treacherous political leaders that they have it wholly within their power to knock all the vigor out of the farmers' movements, if they choose to do it. Give the farmer what he wants and what he should have, and he will never lift a finger against you. But you will not do that. You are so wedded to your idols, the collar of the capitalist and the corruptionist is so firmly fastened to your necks that you cannot break away. Your whole training has been with leeches that fatten upon the industries of the country. In Congress and in the States Legislatures you have been sitting and laughing for years, while the few have absorbed all the splendid aggregate of wealth, that the farmer has produced from the fields. You have seen his prosperity declining year after year, and never lifted your hands or your voice to check the ruin, and you have been stupid enough to suppose that the producer would submit to poverty and see his children wronged without a remonstance. You thought the farmer utterly devoted of the feelings of a man and of the spirit of a free citizen, forgetting that even a worm will sometimes turn upon its persecutor. Now you have seen the farmer aroused; you have seen him throw himself into the midst of a peaceful revolution, and it would be well if you could realize that he means now to have his rights.

We wish every farmer in this county would become a reader of Farm, Stock and Home. Taken in connection with his paper its cost is nominal.

WHO IS IT?



A "SOLID" man of course—one who farms with his brains as well as his hands, and who knows that to make the farm pay in these times requires good live-stock. No man who keeps good stock can afford to be without The Breeder's Gazette. It is the acknowledged head of the American live-stock press, and we should like to see it in the hands of all our intelligent stock owners. It is a large, handsomely illustrated weekly, furnished at $2 per year, or in clubs of five or more at $1.50 each. Send for a free sample copy, or enclose twenty cents postage for the magnificent Christmas Number. Address
J. H. SANDERS PUB. CO.,
325 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

CROOKSTON
STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

THE NEW
NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana	FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS	100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.	LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills	Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth.	In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills. Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise.	Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines.	These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.
The valleys of Red, Mouse Missouri, Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890 Write F. L. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn	Hunting Fishing.

The Northwestern Farmer
ONE YEAR FREE

REDUCED SAMPLE ILLUSTRATION in the NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul.

(See November 15th number, how Boys and Girls can get Christmas Gifts FREE.)

The publisher of the NORTHWESTERN FARMER will send the paper free from November 15th for the balance of the year, to every one of our readers who send their address on a postal card. Address, FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul, Minn.

THE NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER published in St. Paul, Minn., is a sixteen page, 64 column Illustrated Semi-Monthly Agricultural Journal (24 numbers in the year). It is a well-known, enterprising, ably edited and popular farm paper.

WE OFFER IT FREE
for one year to all who will pay us one year's subscription to
The Polk County Journal.

[First publication Jan. 1st, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court. Special Term, Dec. 30th, 1890.

In the matter of the estate of Andrew Johnson, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Mathilda Johnson, administratrix of the estate of Andrew Johnson, deceased, representing among other things that she has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing her account of her administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to heirs.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard, by the Judge of this Court on Tuesday, the 27th day of January, A. D. 1891 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 30th day of December, A. D. 1890.

By the Court: C. O. CHRISTIANSON, Judge of Probate.
[37-39]

Notices of Expiration of Time of Redemption.

No. 567.

To Paul M. Duggan: You are hereby notified that on the 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 9, Block 41, in Original Townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and thirty-five cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and thirty-five cents and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGUIRE,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 569.

To Louis Berthiaume You are hereby notified that on the 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 4, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGUIRE,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota

No. 570

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes, pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 5, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal this 11th day day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGUIRE,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 571.

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 6, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGUIRE,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 572.

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 8, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGUIRE,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 572.

To Louis Berthiaume: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes Pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 3, Block 9, in Bottineau's addition to Red Lake Falls, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of fifty cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale, (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is fifty cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890

P. J. McGUIRE,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 574.

To Catherine Fox: You are hereby notified that on the 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 6, Block 19 in Clements' 2d ad. to the townsite of Crookston was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of ninety-seven cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale, exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is ninety-seven cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from the said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGUIRE,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 575.

To Francis Asmed: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 13, Block 18, in Clements' 2d ad. to the townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and fifteen cents; the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and fifteen cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGUIRE,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

100 PAGES WIDE AWAKE. 1891

BEGINNING WITH THE HOLIDAY NUMBER

Is permanently enlarged to one hundred pages, radiant with new and larger type, a new style of page, and fresh, strong literary and pictorial attractions.

Mrs. Burton Harrison, whose story of "The Anglomaniacs" has been the sensation of the season in The Century, has written for Wide Awake a story called "Diamonds and Toads."

Hon. John D. Long (ex-Governor of Massachusetts) furnishes six articles, under the general title of "Our Government," for the enlightenment of coming citizens—the boys and girls of to-day.

Margaret Sidney's new serial, "Five Little Peppers Grown Up," will tell more about Polly and Jasper and David and Joel and Phronsie, and others, as it runs through the year. Fifty charming illustrations by Chas. Mente.

Marietta's Good Times will chronicle in her own words, from her own manuscript, the childhood adventures of Marietta Ambrosi.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn, a little girl who had a great many ancestors, is an irresistible little folks' serial, by Elizabeth Cumings.

Unusually Interesting Articles, some elaborately pictorial: "Dining with Gladstone," by Mrs. John A. Logan; "Amy Robsart's Embroidery," by Frances A. Humphrey? "Mother Goose's Pets," by Agnes Repplier; "Gypsies and Gypsying," by Elizabeth Robbins Pennell; "Some Horses that I have known," by Maud Howe; "Seinte Marie College of Wynchestre," by Oscar Fay Adams; "Boston's Girl Sculptor," by Mrs. Newberry; "The Sugar Crank," by Theodora R. Jenness.

Some Problems in Horology, by E. H. Hawley, of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, will interest High School students. Three sets of cash prizes.

The Best of Short Stories from thousands offered and solicited the past year—some by new authors.

Figure Drawing for Children, in twelve illustrated lessons by Caroline H. Rimmer, with four prize offers each month.

The Ever Popular Ways to do Things, the School and Playground Stories, Tangles, Post Office and Men and Things.

Wide Awake is only $2.40 a Year.

D. LOTHROP CO., Publishers, Boston.

No. 576.

To J. R. Holton: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886 in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 9, Block 20, in Clements' second ad. to Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of ninety-seven cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is ninety-seven cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made; and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGUIRE,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 577.

To Ed. Dremery: You are hereby notified that on the 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 3, Block 33, in the original townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and fifteen cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and fifteen cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent per annum from said 3d day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGUIRE,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 578.

To H. B. Montgomery: You are hereby notified that on the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes, pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th judicial district of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 23, Bl'k 10, in the original townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and costs for the sum of one dollar and fourteen cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and fourteen cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 18 per cent per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGUIRE,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

No. 579.

To H. B. Montgomery: You are hereby notified the third day of May, A. D. 1886, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in District Court in and for the County of Polk, in the 14th Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1886, the following described piece and parcel of land, which is situated in Polk County, in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 6, Block 41, in the original townsite of Crookston, was sold to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interests and and costs for the sum of one dollar and thirty five cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is one dollar and thirty-five cents, and interest on said amount at the rate 18 per cent. per annum from said 3rd day of May, A. D. 1886, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice.

Witness my hand and official seal this 11th day of July, A. D. 1890.

P. J. McGUIRE,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Dec 25th, 1890.]

DEFAULT EXISTING IN A MORTGAGE executed by Urgel Wolfe (single) mortgagor, March 18th, 1889, to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, and filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minn., March 18th, 1889, at 10:10 o'clock a. m., and recorded in book 43 of mortgages, on page 477, and by said Penney assigned to Charlotte Winslow and by her assigned to Lyman W. Winslow, on the e½ of ne¼ of Sec. 10, and w½ of nw¼ of Sec. 11, Tp. 151, Range 42, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota; there being now due on said mortgage the sum of $251.68, besides $14.47 taxes paid by the assignee and an attorney fee of $100.00 Now, therefore, the Sheriff of said Polk County, will sell said premises at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, on the 7th day of February, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m., to satisfy said debt and costs of sale.

Dated, Dec. 8th, 1890.

J. H. WILLIAMSON,
Attorney for assignee.
[36-42]

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U S. Coms'r
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office in McKinnon Block.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-eight dollars, ($198.00) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Eugene W. Danells, unmarried of Polk County, Minnesota, to James M. Hawley of Albany, New York, bearing date the fourth day of October, A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of October, A. D. 1887, at 5 o'clock p. m., in book "T" of mortgages, on page 402; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: The west half of the south-west quarter Section eight, (8) and the north half of northwest quarter of Section seventeen (17) in Township one hundred and fifty-three, Range forty-three, containing one hundred and sixty acres more or less, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Dec. 15th, A. D. 1890.

JAMES M. HAWLEY, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee.
[35-41] Crookston, Minn.

[First publication Jan. 8th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, January 2d, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Alexander Finlayson, deceased.

Letters of administration on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Agnes Finlayson, of said county.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in the city of Crookston, Minnesota, on Monday, the 6th day of July, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the second day of January, A. D. 1891.

By the Court. C. O. CHRISTIANSON, Judge of Probate.
[38-40]

(First publication Dec. 4th, 1890.)

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. District Court, 14th Judicial District.

The The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston, a corporation, plaintiff, vs. John McLean, defendant.

The State of Minnesota to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber, at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of three thousand three hundred thirty-nine dollars and sixty cents, with interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum from the 17th day of July, A. D. 1890, on the sum of $917.10, and from the 14th day of May, A. D. 1890, on the sum of $2,392.50, together with costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated November 15th, 1890.

JOHN CROMB, Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston, Minn.
[37-39]

[First publication Dec. 25th. 1890.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, December 18th, 1890.

In the matter of the estate of Martin Nelson, deceased.

Letters of administration on the estate of said deceased having been granted unto Hans Hanson, of Becker County, Minnesota.

It is ordered, that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this Court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in Crookston, in this County, on Tuesday, the 23d day of June, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered, that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 18th day of December, A. D. 1890.

By the Court: C. O. CHRISTIANSON Judge of Probate.
[36-38]

W. A. ROBERTSON
D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the Univer sity of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

DR. M. WATTS.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank,
☞ Professional calls by day or nigh promptly attended to.

REMOVED
BACK
TO THE OLD STAND
In the Fifth Ward.
CALL
AND SEE
WHAT WE CAN DO FOR YOU
E. D. CHILDS & CO.

KEEPING STILL
AND
Sawing Wood.

While some of my competitors are making a great parade about what they are doing for the people, I am not boasting, but just quietly

Selling Lots of Goods!

AT FIGURES THAT CAN'T BE BEAT.

Close buyers will do well to call and see my new stock and get prices. Everybody call at

STURE'S STORE

Hack & Gallasch' Old Stand. - - - Crookston, Minn

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,
DEALERS IN

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, OLE OLSON GANG PLOWS,

SHELF —AND— HEAVY HARDWARE,

F. F. Thompson & Sons WALKING PLOWS. Sole Agents for the Domestic Sewing Machines

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF
STOVES AND RANGES
Corner Main and Fletcher Sts, - - - Crookston.

S. L. COLLINS,
PROPRIETOR OF
MAIN STREET
Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.
CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,
Crookston, - - - Minnesota.
Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.
FINE HEARSE
in connection which I will attend to in person.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law,
SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

MILER, FOOTE & SWEAT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, JANUARY 15, 1891. NO. 39.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

The Demands at Ocala.

National Economist.

On account of the continued and persistent misrepresentations by the press in regard to the action of the recent national meeting at Ocala, with reference to the sub-treasury plan, it is deemed best to give the plain facts in connection with that matter. During the evening of the sixth day the committee on demands made the following report, as shown by the official minutes:

SECTION 1. We demand the abolition of national banks, and that the government shall establish sub-treasuries, or depositories in the several states, which sub-treasuries shall loan money to the people on approved security at a low rate of interest, not to exceed two per cent per annum: Provided, That real estate, non-perishable farm products shall be considered approved security; and that the circulating medium be increased to at least $50 per capita, keeping the volume equal to the demand.

For this the following substitute was adopted, to which Wade, of Tennessee, had his name withdrawn from this portion of the report:

1a. We demand the abolition of national banks.

b. We demand that the government shall establish sub-treasuries or depositories in the several states, which shall loan money direct to the people at a low rate of interest, not to exceed two per cent per annum, on non-perishable farm products, and also upon real-estate, with proper limitations upon the quantity of land and amount of money.

c. We demand that the amount of the circulating medium be speedily increased to not less than $50 per capita.

The vote of states on the first proposition was as follows:

	Yes.	No.
Alabama	4
Arkansas Alliance	2
Arkansas Union	2
Indian Territory	2
Virginia	4
West Virginia	2
New York	1
Kansas	8
Florida	3
North Dakota	2
South Dakota	3
Kentucky	4
Pennsylvania not voting.
Michigan	3
Louisiana	4
Mississippi	2	1
Indiana	2
Illinois		2
Missouri	2	4
Georgia	7
North Carolina	4
South Carolina	4
Texas	4
Colorado, not voting.
Tennessee	1	3
Maryland	2
California	2
L. L. Polk, President	1
B. H. Clover, Vice-Pres	1
J. H. Turner, Sec	1
C. W. Macune, Ch. Ex	1
Jones, Judiciary Com	Absent.
A. Wardall	1

Tennessee, in voting 1 aye and 3 no, explained that they would have voted 4 aye on the section as it came from the committee before it was amended.

This would have made but seven votes against that portion of the report which contained the sub-treasury clause. The balance of the demands were adopted unanimously, as follows:

2. That we demand that Congress shall pass such laws as shall effectually prevent the dealing in futures of all agricultural and mechanical productions; preserving a stringent system of procedure in trials as shall secure the prompt conviction, and imposing such penalties as shall secure the most perfect compliance with the law.

3. We condemn the silver bill recently passed by Congress, and demand in lieu thereof the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

4. We demand the passage of laws prohibiting alien ownership of land, and that Congress take prompt action to devise some plan to obtain all lands now owned by aliens and foreign syndicates; and that all lands now held by railroads and other corporations in excess of such as is actually used and needed by them be reclaimed by the government, and held for actual settlers only.

5. Believing in the doctrine of equal rights to all and special privileges to none, we demand that our national legislation shall be so framed in the future as not to build up one industry at the expense of another; and we further demand a removal of the existing heavy tariff tax from the necessities of life that the poor of our land must have; We further demand a just and equitable system of graduated tax on incomes; we believe that the money of the country should be kept as much as possible in the hands of the people, and hence we demand that all national and state revenues shall be limited to the necessary expenses of the government economically and honestly administered.

6. We demand the most rigid, honest, and just state and national governmental control and supervision of the means of public communication and transportation, and if this control and supervision does not remove the abuse now existing, we demand the government ownership of such means of communication and transportation.

7. We demand that the Congress of the United States submit an amendment to the constitution providing for the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people of each state.

Immediately after the adoption of the above, Mr. Davie, of Kentucky, introduced the following resolution, which was adopted by a rising vote with only four voting against it.

Whereas, There is now a bill known as the sub-treasury bill in the hands of the ways and means committee of the House of Representatives which should have been reported and acted upon at the last session, and which if enacted into law would bring the financial relief so much needed by all classes and industries: therefore be it

Resolved, That this national convention of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union do most respectfully and earnestly ask that said bill be enacted into law as soon as possible, or some other measure that will carry out these principles and meet the necessities of the toiling masses.

After a whole year of ridicule, abuse, false argument and misrepresentation, in a convention representing twenty-nine states, but seven votes could be found against it and only one state, Illinois, voting solidly in opposition. Even one-third of the delegation from Missouri, the home of the most unfair, unjust and misleading opposition, voted for the proposition It was a complete victory for the supporters of the sub-treasury plan, and demonstrated that it or something better would be demanded and insisted upon by the intelligent farmers of this country.

Our combination offer with Farm, Stock and Home elsewhere in this issue should not be overlooked. A year's subscription to this grand agricultural paper means a 384 page volume size 11½x15 in that to any farmer is well worth $5.00, yet we give it and this paper one year only $1.50.

EDNA, Minn., Jan. 5, 1891.

To the members of the Minnesota Legislature of 1891:

GENTLEMEN: The best educators of our State believe that it will be to our educational interests for the coming legislature to pass an act to provide for State teachers' certificates. A bill, similar to the one presented to the last legislature, is publised in "School Education" for December.

Another subject of great interest to our district school teachers is that of free text books. Supt. Kiehle, who is one of the best State Superintendents in the United States, in his forthcoming report, makes these statements:

"I am still of the opinion, as presented in my report of 1886, that no method so entirely meets the demands of both financial and educational interests as that of free text books. From the financial side, purchases are made direct from the publishers and at lowest rates. The experience of other states and of many cities has been that the cost per pupil is reduced to about 40 cents, so that the average cost to a district of 50 pupils would average about $20 annually. From the educational side, there appear the following advantages:

1. There is absolute uniformity for the district, which is all the uniformity that is necessary, the books being a part of the apparatus of the school.

2. The books are ready for all the pupils at the opening of the school. This is a great gain. It is no uncommon thing for days, and even weeks, of the short term of a country school to be made almost useless because children have no books.

3. By this plan children can be put into classes best suited to them.

4. The attendance is much increased. It is not uncommon for parents of large but poor families to keep their children at home because they do not feel able to equip them with the necessary books."

Now, if our Superintendent's judgment is good for anything, (and we believe it is) would it not be well to furnish our schools with free text books?

Respectfully,

W. J. NICKLE.

A Stringent Money Market.

Farm, Stock and Home.

The Secretary of the Treasury asserts that there has been an increase in the volume of currency since July of $103,000,000, yet during the past 60 days there has been a veritable epidemic of commercial failures, among old, staid, well-reputed and extensive establishments, too, and every failure is attributed to the stringency of the money market. The situation confirms the correctness of the position of F. S. and H. some months ago, that "volume of currency" had come to mean one thing and "circulating medium" another. It matters not how much the "volume" may be increased if its wings are so clipped by centralizing forces that it cannot circulate.

The increased volume was chucked into Wall street, the people paying roundly—in anticipated interest, premiums on bonds, etc.—for the favor done the street, but secured no advantage to themselves, evidenced by the enourmous number of business failures caused by a stringent money market, and all because "volume of currency" did not become "circulating medium." The reasons why it did not become that healthful medium are numerous, but the chief one is the contracted purchasing power of the fundamental wealth producers of the country. No matter how plentiful money may be in first hands, the average man cannot get a dollar that he does not in some way labor for. If the farmer has nothing to sell "volume of currency" is a "barren ideality" to him; and if what he has to sell costs to produce as much as he gets his power to purchase is so weakened that ultimately it will weaken every industry and business in the land. The fact that in the aggregate the farmers of the country are making no money; that, relatively speaking, farm values have shown an alarming decrease during the three decades last past, has infinitely more to do with present financial conditions than a "stringent money market," for the last condition is really the result of the first.

Failures almost unparalleled in number and magnitude following close upon an expansion of $103,000,000 in volume of currency should admonish our Solons that influences other than scarcity of money are at work; and if they will follow the promptings of that admonition it will lead them to see that the road to true, permanent and equitably distributed prosperity lies through the ruins of systems that are now despoiling productive industry of too large a share of the fruits of its toil. When they have seen so much they will realize the necessity of making a needed increase of currency cotemporaneous with fearless and effective legislation that will destroy those capitalistic conspiracies which are now centralizing the nation's wealth with a rapidity without parallel in history. Then "volume of currency" will become "circulating medium," and greatly improved conditions will abide with us.

Cash vs. Credit.

A. F. Taylor: Country merchants are often very friendly to the credit system, for they know that the average man will buy more goods if he has an account than if he pays cash. There is something about paying out hard earned dollars that makes one pause and consider whether the purchase is a necessary one. There is another point, too, worth considering from the buyer's standpoint—a purchaser will not scrutinize the price so closely when buying on credit as when paying cash, and so often pays much more for an article. Farmers, above all people, should avoid store accounts, as a single crop failure is liable to make such a debt become very burdensome. If ready money is not obtainable the store account can often be avoided by growing something which can be exchanged through the season for such things as must be bought. A little space and time devoted to fruit or vegetables, to chickens, bees, etc., will often prove of much more value than the mere amount of money derived from the sale of the products by enabling one to avoid a debt.

We wish every farmer in this county would become a reader of Farm, Stock and Home. Taken in connection with his paper its cost is nominal.

The Prison Mirror:—The editor of the Swift County Monitor says: "We notice by the last Issue of The Prison Mirror that the management had hoped to don a new dress by christmas time but owing to the delinquency of its subscribers the old type will have to serve a while longer. It is a pity that those taking The Mirror should let their subscriptions get behind and thus oblige the paper to forego the pleasure and convenience of coming out in new type They should send in their dollar per year more promply." Yes, it would be good for their eyes.

TO BE DIVIDED.

Polk County Very Much Too Large.

Grand Forks Herald:—Minnesota, for sometime past, have conceived the idea that Polk county is just a trifle large, though certain East Grand Forkers betimes have persuaded themselves that their latitude beyond was decidedly limited. At all events, a commitee of citizens from the burg beyond was selected and left today for Red Lake Falls, where a conference will be held with other representatives of the county, with a view of bisecting it at the earliest moment. We are at a loss to guess exactly what benefits will accrue from the division of the county—but the people's will be done.

Free Coinage in Court.

The following is taken from press dispatches:

Arrangements have been made for an agent of Senator Tabor to have ready a bar of silver, containing 1,000 ounces accompanied by a certificate of its fineness from the mint. This will be presented and a demand made that it be exchanged for coin. The demand will, of course, be refused, when a writ of mandamus will be obtained from the court and the matter will become the ground for a legal battle. The theory of this action will be that the law and its interpretation are unconstitutional and that the government has no right to refuse coin for bullion. There will be the liveliest kind of a fight, and the local men believe they will force the hand of the gold-standard adherents.

The debates upon the silver bill during the last session clearly proved that silver was demonitized by fraud. It was plainly shown that the standard silver dollar was dropped out of the list of American coins, and the unit of money changed from silver to gold, by stealth and collusion, and that silver was demonetized in the revision of the statutes without warrant of law. The above is a move in the right direction, and will no doubt bring to light much more rascality in connection with this same subject. If similar action could be taken in regard to the payment of the bonds it would seem that justice, though tardy, had at last come to the people.

Grip of Twenty Millions.

St. Paul News.

The directors of the Harvester Trust are in session in Chicago. The object of the meeting is said to be the perfecting of arrangements for absorbing the binding twine manufactories of the country, the control of which would make the Trust absolute dictators as to the terms upon which producers should harvest their crops of cereals.

In the meantime there are reports of counter combinations against the Trust among the producers. Among the first edicts of Trust was one annulling the contract provision befor in force for supplying repairs free, and requiring cash payments for such work in the future.

This, it is claimed, violates all outstanding contracts now the property of the trust, upon which large amounts are outstanding in all the large grain producing States, estimated to aggregate $3,000,000 in North Dakota alone, the collection of which will be resisted for the alleged violation of contract as stated.

Another ground upon which the trust is to be antagonized is that such combinations are in violation of the laws of the United State, and that therefore, the trust has no legal standing and cannot enforce its contracts.

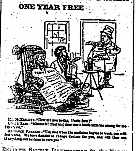
The trust, however, is backed by a capital of $20,000,000, and its affairs are directed by a small directory of shrewed and well informed business men, and it is hardly possible that it is not well assured of the strength of its position, or that it will be deterred from going forward with its plans by the disunited and widely scattered opposition of the producers. In combination there is strength, especially when backed by $20,000,000.

The Plow and Hammer (Tiffin, O.) says:

There are to-day over four hundred people in Tiffin out of employment made up of carpenters iron moulders, bricklayers stonemasons, glassworkers' agricultural implement workers, carriage wood workers and common laborers. Our merchants and farmers must feel the effects of this lack of employment. Don't hide behind the threadbare statement that is because of idleness and inefficiency. You know, if you look around you, that is not true. The cause is vicious legislation and the sooner you commence to study the cause of the present depression the better it will be for you financilly, better morally and better in every way.

The Northwestern Farmer

ONE YEAR FREE



MR. MCKINLEY:—"How are you to-day, Uncle Sam?"
UNCLE SAM:—"Miserable! That last dose was a [illegible] too strong for me I'm afraid."
ALLIANCE FARMER:—"Yes, and when the medicine begins to work, you will feel worse. We have decided to change doctors for you, and will then see if anything can be done to cure you."

REDUCED SAMPLE ILLUSTRATION in the NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul.

(See November 15th number, how Boys and Girls can get Christmas Gifts FREE.)

The publisher of the NORTHWESTERN FARMER will send the paper free from November 15th for the balance of the year, to every one of our readers who send their address on a postal card. Address, FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul, Minn.

THE NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER published in St. Paul, Minn., is a sixteen page, 64 column Illustrated Semi-Monthly Agricultural Journal (24 numbers in the year). It is a well-known, enterprising, ably edited and popular farm paper.

WE OFFER IT FREE

for one year to all who will pay us one year's subscription to

The Polk County Journal.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U S. Coms'r.

D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

WHO IS IT?

A "SOLID" man of course—one who farms with his brains as well as his hands, and who knows that to make the farm pay in these times requires good live-stock. No man who keeps good stock can afford to be without The Breeder's Gazette. It is the acknowledged head of the American live-stock press, and we should like to see it in the hands of all our intelligent stock owners. It is a large, handsomely illustrated weekly, furnished at $2 per year, or in clubs of five or more at $1.50 each. Send for a free sample copy, or enclose twenty cents postage for the magnificent Christmas Number. Address

J. H. SANDERS PUB. CO.,
320 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

P. J. RUSSELL,

Attorney-at-Law,

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Next to Merchants' Bank,

1891—THE ST. PAUL—DAILY NEWS.—1891

Furnishes all the News of the World.

Bright,
Fearless
and
Independent.

Champions the cause of the people independent of the political parties. Opposes monopolies and all public or private robbery by means of unjust tariff or other iniquitous legislation, State or National.

The full reports of legislative proceedings, which the Daily News will supply during the coming session of the Legislature, will alone be worth the cost of a year's subscription.

Sent by mail, postage paid, at the following remarkably low price:

Six months	$1.75
One year	3.00

For 75 cents additional to either a six months or a yearly subscription a complete set of the works of Charles Dickens, eleven volumes, (paper binding) will be sent postage paid.

Send for sample copies of the News Address: The Daily News, St. Paul, Minn.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST,

PUBLISHED 50 YEARS CONSECUTIVELY.

RECOGNIZED as the BEST RURAL and FAMILY PERIODICAL in the WORLD, giving Invaluable Help, the Best Information, Thousands of Plans, Practical and Useful hints and Suggestions, and THOUSANDS OF ORIGINAL ENGRAVINGS ANNUALLY. Try it this year, it will Pay You well. No one can read a number without getting thoroughly Reliable and Practical Information. Profitable to Everybody. Each number contains Sketches of Labor-helping Contrivances to aid In-door and Out-door Work. Fine Engravings of Animals, Plants Flowers, Out-buildings, with many Pleasing, Instructive Pictures for Young and Old. Subscription price $1.50 a year.

We are desirous to make this the BANNER YEAR in CIRCULATION, which is now over 100,000 copies monthly.

OUR PREMIUM OFFER.

THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD CYCLOPÆDIA. Price $1.00. Bound in Cloth and Gilt. A Complete Ready Reference Library for Farmers, Gardeners, Fruit Growers, Stockmen and Housekeepers, containing a large fund of Useful Information, Facts, Hints and Suggestions, in the various Departments of Agriculture, Horticulture, Live Stock Raising, Poultry Keeping, Bee Keeping, Dairy Farming, Fertilizers, Rural Architecture, Farm Implements, Household Management, Domestic Affairs, Cookery, Ladies' Fancy Work, Floriculture, Medical Matters, Etc.

Containing 644 Pages, with 249 Illustrations.

This Valuable Book furnished with the AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST ONE YEAR, for $1.60, or for only 10 cents additional to the subscription price, paying postage on book.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,

CROOKSTON, MINN.,

Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plain and Fancy

DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, FLANNELS,

BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for	$1.00
Rhadames for	1.00
Faille Francais for	1.00
Gros Grain for	1.00
Satin Luxors for	1.00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS.—

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel	20	cents.
54 inch Tricot	35	"
54 inch Flannel	45	"
54 inch best all wool Flannel	75	"
36 inch Henriettas	25	"

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for	30 cents.
" " "	35 "
" " medicated, for	40 "

A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket	$1.50
" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket	2.00
" 4½ lb. 10¼ while "	4.50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dry Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

Farmers Will Benefit.

The Great Harvester Trust Collapses—An Attempt to Fleece the Farmers Defeated.

Special to the Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9—The harvester trust has gone to pieces and before very long the American Harvester Company will be a thing of the past. It was only a couple of month ago since it was brought into existence with a capital of $55,000,000. Things went swimmingly for a while, and arrangements were in progress for dispensing thousands of traveling men and other employes and of centralizing the business. This week representatives of the firm in the combine came together at the Auditorum hotel, when it was developed that the majority of the directors had mapped out a line of policy by which prices to the farmers were to be materially raised, and the supply houses consolidated. There were vigorous remonstrances to this course on the part of the McCormicks, the Deerings, the Whitman-Barnes concern, and the Ohio house of Warder, Bushnell & Glessner, and after a stormy meeting of several hours duration they withdrew. This morning they served notice of their withdrawal from the company. It is given out that a war to the knife between the different concerns is now inevitable. There will be an increased production lower prices, and the farmer will get the benefit.

Waynesburgh (Pa.) Independent asks:

One of the causes assigned for the closeness in money matters throughout the United States. is, that a vast amount of money was taken from this place to England during the recent financial flurry there, when money became so stringent that the rate per cent almost doubled. Thus through the greed of the money holders to and to their wealth, they have made it possible for a panic in this country. Such a course would seem to be a legitimate transaction on the part of the money holder. But when the financial screws commence to bear down on this country, who will come to our relief and save us from a panic that is to fraught with so much disaster? One hundred millions of our circulating medium suddently withdraw from the channels of trade and taken to England is already being felt.

For a plain, practical and instructive paper, made largely by farmers and wholly for farmers, Farm, Stock and Home of Minneapolis, Minn. has no equal among agricultural journals. We can furnish it in connection with the JOURNAL one year for only $1.50.

Toledo Weekly Blade.

1891.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

THE most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding, year after year, a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

NEW story to commence first of the year, written especially for the Blade by Oliver Optic. "Money Maker Series." A series of special articles on "Side Issues," written for The Blade. Blade China Tea Sets and Dinner Sets given to club-raisers. Send for specimen copy of The Weekly Blade and our interesting announcements for the coming year.

SPECIMENS.

A specimen copy will give you a better idea of The Weekly Blade than any description we can give in an advertisement. We therefore invite everybody to write us for a specimen, which we will cheerfully mail you free; and at the same time please mail us a list of names of your friends and neigbors, and we will also mail them specimens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AGENTS.

ANYBODY can earn Ten Dollars very quickly by raising clubs for The Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address

THE BLADE,
Toledo, Ohio.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts.

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Jan. 15, 1891.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 77.
1 Northern 74.
2 Northern 69.
3 Northern 61.

P. C. Schmidt was in the city on Friday.

Quite a little snow fell on Tuesday morning.

Childs & Co. have sold their stock to Moe & Buhn, of Mentor.

Wheat took an upward turn on Monday, reaching 77 cents.

Gervais. "the hustler," is selling hosiery at tremendous low prices.

Mayor McKinnon and city comptroller, E. W. Wile, went to St. Paul this week.

The "Owl Club" meets with Mrs. I. U. Jennings on Thursday evening of this week.

Attorney Houpt, of Fergus Falls, was in the city on Tuesday.

Hon. H. Steenerson left for St. Paul on Monday evening. He has an insurance case before the U. S. District Court.

Ole Rude rejoices in the arrival of a 12 pound boy, which event occurred on the 6th inst. All concerned doing well.

The familiar countenance of G. M. Barber was seen upon our streets this week. Marsh. is looking exceedingly well.

A. G. Gallasch was in the city this week. Says Powers Bros. business (of which firm he is a member) is good this winter.

Sheriff Grundysen has appointed M. Losey, Jr., deputy sheriff. We hear this appointment spoken of with approval.

Senator Lommen is chairman of the grain and warehouse committee and a member of two other important committees.

W. J. Nickle, the genial pedagogue of Edna, was in the city on a business trip on Tuesday.

Great clearing sale of all fall and winter goods, at Gervais', "the hustler."

J. L. Bailey has purchased the pop corn factory and will continue the business at the old stand, corner of Main and Robert Sts.

Ladies call and see those hats which Mrs. Bangs is offering at cost. Everything goes at greatly reduced prices.

Richard Olson was one of the prominest east side farmers in the city last week. Of course he did not neglect to call in and chat with THE JOURNAL man.

H. D. Pinkerton and son came over from the Dakota home last week to visit their Crookston home. We imagine that times are not extremely lively in that part of Dakota.

Ole A. Jevning was up from the west side on Tuesday, bringing words (and acts) of encouragment for THE JOURNAL man. He also brought along some pork for the Crookston market.

If you are interested in increasing the profits of the farm, read our clubbing offer with Farm, Stock and Home in his issue.

Engineer Tom Adams returned from the coast last week. He left on the same evening for Ohio where his wife is at present attending her sick father. Tom will be back on the line soon.

Ladies and children's underwear at cost, at Gervais', "the hustler.

The dancing school at McKinnon Hall is progressing finely. Fifty-four couples on Tuesday evening. The school is conducted by an old experienced worker who secured his education abroad.

A movement is on foot to obtain an assistant for Judge Mills in this judicial district. Judge Ives, Judge Montague or Hon. H. Steenerson is good material to select from. The new Judge should be a Crookston man, and can be if harmony prevails.

Pete Cornelius went up to Fosston on Saturday last. Says he was surprised to see the amount of business done up there and the evidences of prosperity on every hand. By the way, we sent some statements there in December all of which we have not heard from, but hope to soon.

Gervais, "the hustler," is selling the balance of his winter cloaks, jackets and capes at about half price,

Ole Jevning's visit to our office on Tuesday brings Neby to the front among our banner post offices. We have only three more names to hear from to make our list in that office all paid up one year in advance. We live in hopes to see this accomplished on or before February 1st.

Mr. R. Casmey has completed his labors as collector for N. P. Stone and has gone to St. Paul to discharge his duties as U. S. Petit Juror. Mr. C. is one of the progressive farmers of Polk County. He is well known in this city as the builder and former owner of the Commercial Hotel.

Rev. R. H. Battey, at the Congregational church, will speak next Sunday morning on "Man in the Bible," and in the evening on "The Young Woman's Sphere." Don't be late!—11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Everybody welcome. The young folks are cordially invited to the Sunday evening lecture course.

Odd Fellows Hall has been fixed up in elegant style and the brethren now have the proud consciousness of having the finest hall in the Northwest. "Elegant" poorly expresses it and the boys feel justly proud over their nice quarters. Their enterprise should be, and doubtless will be, amply appreciated.

Geo. Campbell was over from the White Earth Reservation with a few Chips, having business before the U. S. Commissioner. George is a Becker County old timer who, when first the writer met him, was a clerk for S. A. Halgren, of Audubon. Later he was for a time a sojourner in this city. Time has transformed him into a dignified looking man of business.

Our genial little friend of The Times gets off a very—for him—witty editorial notice of our abscess. Thanks awfully, we always try to appreciate at its true value the best efforts of people in our behalf, and in this we are quite convinced that our neighbor has done his best. The Times man reminds us of Artemus Ward's remark about the monkey: "He is a amoosin' little cuss."

Jake Sletten was up from Twin Valley last week and was shown around the new opera block by its owner, T. H. Bjoin. Jake was very much surprised to see such an elegant opera house in the Northwest and says the whole building, with its steam heating apparatus is one of the most complete he has ever seen in this upper country. John was an original Becker County boy, but now makes his home in Norman County.

If any of our readers have failed to get satisfactory profits from horses, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, bees, fruits, grain or vegetables, they should commence at once and read every number of Farm, Stock and Home during the coming year. If ordered in connection with this paper its cost will not be felt.

Chris Houston received a telegram from Prince Edwards Island on Monday announcing the death of his mother. She was a lady upwards of 80 years of age. Chris. had been calculating to go home to see her about Christmas time, but wheat went way off about that time which rendered it impossible for him to go at that time and his mother was apparently in good health. She was sick but a short time before her death, which came suddenly.

Farmers' have you called at Sture's this week to examine the bargains he offers. If not, why not? Do you know that $12,000 worth of goods are going to be sold at from 10 to 50 per cent discount? This means a big saving on every purchase you have to make, and is certainly worth looking up. Everybody go to Sture's and see for your own selluf what Sture is prepared to do for a little money. If you want goods here is your opportunity. Now is the time to catch on.

We have received so many letters from our patrons asking a little further time, that to answer them by letter would require more time than we can spare, so we take this method of replying to one and all. We thank you for your kind expressions and will cheerfully grant the requests, most of which are for time until Feb. 1st, or before. On that date we must have $500, and we are depending upon our list to raise it, so that all who can do so will confer a great favor upon us by seeing that their remittance reaches us on or before Feb. 1st.

The Lambeth Scotch choir company was greeted with a full house on the evening of the 8th, and the audience seemed to be highly pleased, encoring almost every number to the letter. Some of the company seemed to be suffering from colds, but they good naturediy responded to the encores in every case. After the entertainment the company repaired to the residence of Hugh Robertson who, with his estimable wife, were former fellow-townsmen in old Scotland, where they met a few of our citizens. The company was well pleased with their reception here.

The Kansas Farmers' Alliance is setting an example worthy of emulation. They are forming a joint stock company to build elevators at the most important grain markets in each county with a view to handling their corn and wheat for themselves. This will enable them to control the output themselves. They will be prepared to take in grain, advancing enough money upon it to enable the farmer to pay his help, threshing and other expenses. The benefits to this country of such a system ever since the elevator system has been in vogue, are inconceivable. Such a plan would be immensurably better than some wild-cat schemes that have been advocated and would be perfectly practical This would furnish a good subject for debates at alliance meetings.

Ole A. Moen, one of the leading farmers of Fairfax, dropped in to chat with THE JOURNAL man on Tuesday. Mr. M., while he did not raise an extraordinary yield of wheat per acre this year, did raise a fine sample of No. 1 Hard and a good fair average yield. Speaking of stock, he says he has 10 fine young horses and colts, of his own raising, some of which he intends to sell, and he says he thinks this country can supply all that will be needed this spring. Says some of his neighbors are going into sheep, which he thinks will be a profitable business. Mr. M. is one of the farmers of Polk County who always calculate to make both ends meet (as the saying is) and thus far he has always succeeded admirably. Polk County has thousands of acres of land for just such wide-awake farmers.

FARMERS,

Try the Old Farmer

For Bargains!!

$12,000 worth of Coods.

Dress Flannels sold at 65 Cents,
I will sell at ....45 cents per yard.
" " Ginghams at ....8 " " "
" " Calico at ....5 " " "
" " Vinegar at ....20 cts. per gallon.
" " Catsup at ....75 " " "
" " Coffee from ....18 to 35 " " pound,
" " ....13½ pounds Sugar for $1.00.
And everything else in proportion. I will make it to your advantage to call upon me before you purchase.

A. STURE.

That Settles It.

The Duluth Tribune has sent a real live war correspondent to the front and now the hostiles will just more than tumble over themselves to get where they can surrender.

To all who have not been able to respond to the statements sent out by THE JOURNAL during December, and who have tried to do so, we will extend the offer made in those statements until Feb. 1st, the time when we need our money. We do not like to make trouble in this matter and have done everything a reasonable man could ask of us to avoid it, but every time an obligation of ours matures we are obliged to meet it in some way, and we have an idea that we have a few on our list of delinquents who are as fully able to provide for the little amount they owe us as we are to arrange for the larger amounts we owe. As we have repeatedly said, we do not ask impossibilities of any, and when any subscriber is unable to meet his obligation in full we are more than willing to do all we can for him, and have arranged the matter to the satisfaction of all who have asked. If you cannot pay at once, is it too much to ask of you to ask you to drop us a line and tell us when you can? Then we should know just what to DEPEND upon, and that is what we would like to know. Until Feb. 1st, we will accept payment of past due subscriptions on the same terms as though paid Jan. 15th on the terms of our previous offer. After that date we may adopt a different course in some cases. Not in all, for we have no desire to trouble any man who intends to pay us.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMETIER,
[36-tf] Lisbon, N. Dakota.

We know of a choice farm of 320 acres within three miles of the court house, every foot of it under cultivation, which can be had at a very reasonable figure with interest at only 6 per cent. If you are looking for a chance, here is a bargain. Call at THE JOURNAL office. [37-tf]

Mr. S. Snedecker was in from Maple Lake last week and went before the board for examination for pension. Comrade Snedecker was among the early settlers of Maple Lake. He tells us that when he arrived there with his family he had only $35 to get through the winter on. However, after he had built his house he found work enough to get along very comfortably. His first team was a yoke of steers. With these he managed to get along, but slowly, and he soon became convinced that it would be a matter of economy to get a quicker, stronger team. The more he thought of it the more it seemed necessary, and having seen in THE JOURNAL that M. R. Brown had just received a carload of good work mares, he came down to see about it. Says he: "At that time I did not know Brown from Adam's off ox, so, after I had selected a team of mares that seemed to me to be just about the thing, and which Mr. Brown had recommended right up, I told him I would take them on conditions that they proved to be all he said; that if I found anything wrong with them I should bring them back to him. Mr. Brown told me that was perfectly satisfactory, and I took the team home. I have them yet and several good horses besides, all descendants of my first purchase. I am considerably handicapped by my physical condition, the result of my army experience, but if I was in good health I am not afraid but that I could achieve wealth in this country. I consider the showing that I have been able to make, handicapped as I have been, speaks volumes for the capabilities of this country."

NOTICE.

I have purchased all notes and book accounts of the old firm of Stewart and Spottswood, dissolved, and request a settlement at once.

[38-41] WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

FOR SALE.

A fine full blood Holstein-Friesian bull, about eight months old. For particulars apply to C. Snyder, Sec. 8, Crookston, or call at JOURNAL office.

For Sale.

New milch cow. Call on M. E. Bartlett, Fairfax, or at JOURNAL office.

Our St. Paul Letter.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 8, 1891.

ED. POLK COUNTY JOURNAL:—After three days of legislative work, which to me (an old moss back) is something about as I had pictured in my mind, yet much, very much, to learn in this new work. Arriving in St. Paul Monday, we came in contact with many members of this (high) body, and all, or nearly all, having some dear friend whom they wished to see in some office, high or low, made but little difference. It did not take many days before my pockets were filled with cards, carrying, the name of some man who wished me to support him in candidacy. Why yes, I am so thankful my friends (if I have any) did load me down with applications or to ask for something in this session. Never before in the history of the great State of Minnesota was there ever three distinct parties represented in the House and Senate, each party seeking supremacy in the election of Speaker, each party holding hard the party lines, and for three days the contestants grew more confident of success.

Committees, after long sessions, could not agree, and the deadlock threatened to be long. After conferring with the democratic committee several times with little or no prospect of success, the alliance and republicans had one meeting only—the republican terms being the Speaker or nothing, which our alliance members could not give to them, which meant nothing for the alliance party, as our alliance party is strong and has come to stay, as I hope the record of this winter will show to the people; yet the party is young, and may be led by force or necessity to do some things that our constituents may think wrong. Believing as I do that the members elect of the alliance party feel and know that the state and nation are watching their action, they will strive with might and main to do for the people all in their power.

You will know long before these lines reach you, the result of the first seven ballots of the House for Speaker, each ballot standing nearly as follows: Searles, (Rep.) 41; Stivers, (Dem.) 41; Champlin, (Alliance) 32. Total 114. By a unanimous agreement between the alliance and democratic parties this afternoon, the alliance candidate, Hon. E. T. Champlin, of Blue Earth County, was elected Speaker. After the House was called to order, Hon. Mr. Stivers, democratic candidate for Speaker, arose and in a very manly manner, withdrew, and asked his democratic friends to vote for Mr. Champlin, as by so doing the House might be organized at once and proceed with the work before it. The roll being called, the result was as follows: Searles, (Rep.) 40; Champlin, 72. Total 112. Three members were appointed to wait on Mr. Champlin and notify him of his election as Speaker of the House. His entrance to the House, led by J. J. Furlong and followed by the other members of the committee, was the signal for loud cheers and shouts from all, after which Mr. Searles, republican candidate for speaker, made a short speech and asked his friends to make it a unanimous vote, and then another outburst of "good," "bully for you" &c., came from all. The House adjourned and the Speaker was besieged by boys, black and white, who were anxious to be appointed pages; they took him by the hand and his garments and blocked his way for a time.

Following are officers of the House: Chief Clerk, Smalley; 1st Ass't Clerk, O'Brien; 2d Ass't Clerk, Moody; Enrolling Clerk, Haynes; Engrossing Clerk, Warren: Sergeant at Arms, Plowman; Ass't Sergeant at Arms, Egan; Postmaster, Normandin; Chaplain, Wilkinson,

The Governor's message will be delivered to the two houses on Wednesday next. Adjourned till Tuesday next at 12 noon. Thus ends the 1st week.

BADGER BILL.

Our Dumb Animals.

We have read this excellent sheet for some time and are prepared to recommend it highly. The Tourist and Traveller, of Chicago, says:

There are papers and papers in this great and good country of ours, but no journal on earth has a grander, nobler object than has "Our Dumb Animals," an attractive monthly periodical, published at Boston. It seeks to protect dumb animals and to carry humane education throughout the continent. What better object could or does any paper serve? "Our Dumb Animals should be a regular monthly visitor to every household in the land. None, young or old, can read it without being the better for it. Mr. Geo. T. Angell's heart and soul are in his work. His object is not money. To all who will listen, he desires merely to "speak for those who cannot speak for themselves."

* * * *

Another mighty agent for good is the wonderful story of "Black Beauty," an autobiography of a noble, patient and willing horse. These two publications should be placed in the hands of every driver of delivery wagons, cabmen, cartmen, teamsters, and all others. In fact, this beautiful story will do good to everybody. The heart that is not touched by it belongs not in the human body.

Black Beauty has been translated into many different languages It reached an issue of 216,000 copies within the first eight months of its publication. It is now being translated into Italian, French, German, Spanish, and Volapuk. Address Geo. T. Angell, No. 19 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

Departed This Life.

Miss Elizabeth F. Hager Dies in Philadelphia.

Grand Forks Herald,

The following telegram was received by the Herald late last evening, and contains the announcement of the death of a lady well known and highly esteemed in St. Thomas—Miss Elizabeth F. Hager:

ST. THOMAS. N. D. Jan. 12.—Miss Elizabeth F. Hager, sister of Grant and Jacob P. Hager, died very suddenly on Sunday last, Jen. 11th, in Philadelphia, Pa. Mr. Grant Hager was with his sister at the time of her death and was deeply affected by her departure. Miss Hager has been for years the teacher in the primary department of St. Thomas schools and was most highly regarded by all; the funeral and interment will be at Rome, N. Y.

Fisher Items.

From The Bulletin,

Mr. Robert Coulter of Mallory. who had the misfortune to break his arm a few days ago, congratulates himself that the injury is rapidly adjusting itself to a comfortable basis, but fears, that owing to the haste in which the fractured member was handled by the physician, that an undersirable crook will be noticeable in the arm when it regains its normal condition. Robert says, however, that the extra crook will not interfere with any calico environment which he may be called upon to perform.

Miss Lizzie Zarracher, the accomplished daughter of ex-Sheriff Zarracher, has been appointed teacher in the intermediate department of the Fisher public school.

Marshall County Leader:—Mr. Nelzer, the Crookston architect, was down Monday to submit to Mr. Schafer plans for his hotel. With a few changes the plans met with approval. The building as proposed will be three stories high with a frontage on Pacific avenue of sixty feet and on Fifth street of forty-seven feet. The interior is a model of convenience and comfort. It will be the finest hotel north of Crookton to say the least.

No opportunity was ever before offered whereby a farmer can obtain the experiences of others so cheaply as by a subscription to Farm, Stock and Home.

For Sale Cheap.

One hundred and sixty acres of first-class land situated three and one-half miles north-east of Crookston. Will take wheat at one dollar per bushel. For further particulars address,

J. E. MITTON,
[12-tf] Wahpeton, N. D.

Ladies, in your shopping expeditions you have not neglected to call at Mrs. E. E. Bangs' fashionable millinery emporium, have you? Of course not, for Mrs. B. has given notice that all those lovely hats must go at startlingly low figures.

For Sale.

A fine new milch cow, five years old. Call on C. Snyder, Sec. 8, Crookston, or at JOURNAL office.

[First publication Jan. 15th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court. Special Term, Jan. 13th, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Peder Benson, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Ole C. Bergland, administrator of the estate of Peder Benson, deceased, representing among other things that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining an allowing his account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to heirs.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard, by the Judge of this Court on Tuesday, the 10th day of February, A. D. 1891 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 13th day of January, A. D. 1890.

By the Court: C. M. BENSON,
[39-41] Judge of Probate.

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

—o—

NOW READY
OUR NEW
Fall Styles

LADIES,

Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,

GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA.

PIANOS, ORGANS

NEWBY & EVANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON, PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

FOR SALE
CHEAP.

1 new 13-horse power Russell Engine. (A bargain.)

1 12-horse power Giant Plain Engine.

1 A 1 Driving Team, with Buggy and harness.

Chas. M. Lowe,
The Loan Agent

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

[illegible] Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North Star.
Fife.
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

Hardware Stock and Fixtures for Sale.

I Have Recently Purchased the Business

—OF—

STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD,

And now Wish to Retire from Business in Crookston.

For information regarding this stock call at the store and inquire for A. M. Stewart.

ALL accounts and notes must be SETTLED AT ONCE, and no more credit granted. Call in and see some of the Bargains offered.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

Minnesota's Pension Claim Law.

Minneapolis Journal.

Congress will probably see that the fees of pension claim attorneys are cut down this session. A bill for that purpose has started on its way through the houses and it ought to have no impediment. Such action ought to have been taken long ago. It would have saved the veterans millions of money.

If every state in the Union had a law like that of Minnesota touching pension claims, the ex-soldiers would have generally fared better, and the pension attorneys would have been put on short rations. In this state the adjutant general's department prosecutes pension claims against the general government free of charge. That department has been collecting from $40,000 to $50,000 a year in such claims, saving many thousands of dollars to the ex-soldiers.

That is good service and it is appreciated. It would be well if such provision was in full force in each state and utilized by the veterans. It would lop off a most flagrant abuse of our pension system.

St. Paul Midway News:—The New York Financeer is out with a strong article exposing the means employed by railroad magnates to control roads, without any investment of their own. The article is full of astonishing facts, indicating the awful looseness with which the public relations of such corporations are conducted. It seems that many roads are kept from paying dividends on stock, while paying interests on enormous blocks, and paying the most princely salaries—for the purpose of having a vast number of stocks change hands without "registering" the change. Then the magnates buy up proxy "right" to vote shares of stock for a small sum. In this way men have controlled railways who did not own a share of stock. This is only one exposure of the looseness in regard to these matters. Stockholders live in scattered sections of the country. Hundreds of them, representing millions of stocks, do not know anything about the meetings called for election of trustees—never hear of them and never go. In this way Jay Gould obtained possession of his vast system, and Jim Fiske his former partner, became a railway prince out of nothing. It shows more clearly than ever that the government should take railroad under control.

To Swindle Farmers.

Northwestern Agriculturist.

Agents are wanted in every county and township in the United States to swindle the farmers "by which from $5 to $50 per day can be made." It is easily done, and lots of money in it. Forty per cent beside traveling expenses to sell trees, books, patent right, lightning rods, territorial rights and many other contemptible things which a glib tongue can gloss over with the roseate hues of the rainbow. The agents must have eyes like a basilisk, tongue like serpents, consciences like gutta percha, and they must be experts in all of the qualities of their profession, as the field is crowded, and competition close and active. But the field is ripe for the harvest. The farmers are hungering and thirsting for all sorts of opportunities to be fleeced and swindled. If the agents who apply for employment are too numerous for the humbug agricultural implements, and the diseases and discarded fruite trees, they can be profitably sent out temporarily to get up innocent purchaser notes of the best farmers. And the agents must be able to discriminate so as to rope in none but the farmers of credit and means to pay the note. These agents must apply to note shavers, brokers and sharpers who are always ready and innocently waiting to buy up at 60 per cent discount, any notes given for bogus fruit trees, territorial patent rights lightning rod swindlers, organs, or other contemptible devices which stand between the farmer and prosperity. No one need apply for employment in this grand army of infernal sneaks and renegades, unless they are graduates of the school of deception, deceit and misrepresentation. They must be able to dissemble at a gnat and to swallow a whale in any of their business transactions. They must be so economical as to shun all public houses, but invariably spunge their traveling expenses from the farmers. The finer the clothes and the more expensive rig the better, as such things by their glare make such deep impressions on farmers, as none but gentlemen could make such a show. Farmers always get down on their knees to fine clothes and fine horses, and beg to be swindled in the most fashionable style. There is therefore a large demand for agents, for "the field is whitening to the harvest."

C. F. CLARKSON.

Lake Breeze:—The man who is good for his debts, and knows that he is and also know that you know he is, is the worst stick imaginable. Knowing he is good for his debts he never pays, and the money he owes you would pay your bill at the grocers': the grocer would thus be enabled to pay the butcher, and the butcher the baker, and so on. This is about the true secret of hard times. If you can't get money that is owing you, you can't pay your bills, and consequently the men you owe can't pay theirs. If men who are able would only condescend to pay their bills they can readily see that it would tend to make good times instead of the present stringency.

Vineland Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company.

NEBY, Minn., Jan. 10, 1891.

ED. JOURNAL: The Vineland Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company held its sixth annual meeting here on January 9th, there being a large attendance of members from throughout the townships. P. O. Satermo, presided at the meeting, and E. O. Stortroen acted as secretary. The following persons were elected directors for the ensuing year: Christopher Houston, of Andover; Chr. Urseth, of Fisher; Andrew Thompson, of Hubbard; John Knudson, of Lowell; Fred Worden, of Bygland; Ole F. Bruen, of Tynsid; P. O. Satermo, E. O. Stortroen and Ole E. Estenson, Vineland.

Besides the above mentioned townships there are five more in which the company are authorized to do business, namely: Roome, Fairfax, Nesbit, Crookston and Kertsonville. Although this company has been in existence for six years, its progress seems to be rather slow, owing, as I think, to its being so little known throughout the townships. I have therefore to-day gathered a few statements out of the Treasurer's annual report for each year, and arranged same so it can be easily understood, so that any farmer who will take the trouble to look at these figures and compare same with what they are paying for insurance elsewhere, will soon see the difference and the benefits of having his property insured in this company.

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	1890.
No. of policies in force Dec. 31st	65	70	80	101	115	122
Am't of insurance	$73,965	$78,907	$93,060	$122,914	$143,826	$162,680
Cash on hand Dec. 31st of previous year		106.38	53.92	30.75	147.14	230.41
Rec'd from membership during the year	130.00	10.00	24.00	58.00	52.00	96.00
Rec't from assessment during the year				89.00	109.22	145.07
Rec'd from all other sources	32.50	3 50	11.00		3.10	13.28
Losses incurred during the year		20.00	14 67		16.00	152.00
Losses paid during the year		20.00	14.67		16.00	152 00
All other expenditures	56.18	45 90	43.50	30.61	65.06	60.10
Balance on hand	106.32	53.92	30.75	147.18	230.41	172.66

Immediately after the adjournment of the meeting the directors gathered and organized by electing P. O. Satermo, President, Erik O. Stortroen, Secretary, and Ole O. Eetenson, Treasurer.

P. O. ESTENSON.

The Land monopoly

The Duluth Weekly News.

John W. Bookwalter, the millionaire of Springfield, O., predicts that the next boom is the United States is going to be in farm lands, as nearly all the good lands are now taken up and in a few years consumers of farm produce will be making heavier demands upon the producers. Although it is true that nearly all the good land of the country has been gobbled up, largely by railroads and other corporations, yet there is plenty that has never been tilled, to easily support a population ten times as great as the United States now contains, however, Mr. Bookwalter's prediction will undoubtedly prove true, for as soon as all the government land is taken then the farmers will begin seeking the immense areas held by capitalists, corporate and private. Then the capitalists speculators will take advantage of the demand, prices will increase and there will be a boom in farm lands, by which the capitalists, land owners and speculators will benefit.

Every year the land of this country passes into fewer hands and if the present systems of taxation and money lending are continued it will not be so very many years until the farms of the nation will be owned by a few people and the farmers will be renters. The rapidity with which vast fortunes have been piled up within the past decade shows the tendency of the times. These fortunes were not earned—but many of them were secured by means that the law would recognize as legitimate. They are principally the accumulations resulting from real estate speculation and the levying of tribute upon labor. Capitalists, by holding unused land, force up the price of all land and consequently benefit by the increase in value—something they have never earned. As a consequence, it is but natural to expect that as soon as all the valuable farming lands are taken out of the government's hands there will be a boom in farm lands.

The Henry George single-tax theorists claim that their plan is the only safe one to prevent these unjust accumulations from land holdings; by deriving all taxes from land they would compeal a man to use his holdings or let them go to someone who would use them. The single tax plan has many supporters in the United States to-day and the number is constantly and rapidly increasing. Whether this will prove a cure for the cures of landordism remains to be seen, but it is altogether probable that the time is soon coming when it will be given a trial. When the trial is made it should be a fair one.

There is one thing certain; Somethings must be done to check the aggressions of the capital in the United States or in less than fifty years the wealth of this nation—the richest under the sun—will be in a comparatively few hands, while the masses will be in a condition of dependence and poverty. This boasted nation of liberty is not free so long as one man must pay tribute to another.

The present tariff system, the present usury system and the present landlord system make many men pay tribute to a few, and the last will prove the worst of all when the time arrives that the government has no more land to give for the asking.

Duluth weekly News:—The Minnesota Alliance platform begins with a plank that will meet the favor of eight tenths of the people of the state. It is stated in language too plain to be misunderstood that such luxuries as tobacco and wiskey shall in no manner be relieved from internal taxation until the high protective tariff has been wholly deprived of its extortions. It is the extortions and not the "protection" of the tariff that makes it a burden to the farmers and wage earners. The great trouble is the McKinly bill fails to distinguish between extortion and protection and for that reason the Alliance terms it the "crowning infamy of protection."

The January Wide Awake has a delightfully festal and holiday character; all the stories, poems and pictures are of a high order. Susan Coolidge opens the number with an old-world story, "The Wolves of St. Gervas," telling how a particularly jolly winter feast was partaken of by other than the bidden guests. Mrs. Burton Harrison, the author of "The Anglomaniacs," begins a two-part girl's story with the old fairy-tale title, "Diamonds and Toads." Elbridge S. Brooks has a long Christmas story, "Twixt Ebb and Flood." Mrs. Frances A. Humphrey tells a true tale of old fighting times, entitled "How my Little Grandpa found his Grandmamma." Mrs. Adeline A. Knight has an amusing sketch, "The Story of a Year," showing how a little sister reformed her brother. The artistic feature of the number is the article about "Boston's Girl Sculptor," Miss Theo Alice Ruggles, whose work attracted so much attention in the Paris Salon of 1889; two striking portraits are given of Miss Ruggles, also photographs of her work. Other good articles, are "The Cooks of Basle," by Amanda B. Harris, "Cocoa-nut Mail," by Ernest Ingersoll, "Australian Tree Climbing," by H. W. Henshaw of the Smithsonian Institution, "Drawing of the Child Figure," by Caroline A. Kimmer (with prizes), and "Some Problems in Horology," for the Latin and High School students (with prizes), by E. H. Hawley of the Smithsonian Institution. The serials are a feast in themselves: Five Little Peppers Grown Up," by Margaret Sidney, "Cab and Caboose" by Kirk Munroe, and "Marietta's Good Times," by M. Ambrosi. The poems are by Clara Doty Bates and Emilie Poulsson.

Wide Awake is $2,40 a year. D. Lothrop Company Boston, Mass.

A "Specimen Brick."

The above expression was common enough a few years ago, but has now been relegated to a back seat by some of the newer slang. But few people know how much of a "chestnut" the phrase really is—supposing it to have been born in the days of their fathers. Its real age is not less than three thousand years, for an old Greek writer of fables and parables uses it in a short story. A man wished to sell a brick house. The purchaser not being able to go and look at the property the owner dug a single brick out of the wall and carried it to his customer, that he might judge what sort of a house he was trading for. "Speciman bricks" from "The Burlington" are speed, safety, sure connections attention, solid comfort living up to promises,—in short all those things that make a perfect railroad. Tickets, time-tables, and any information needed can be obtained from the local agent of this or connecting lines or by addressing W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R. St. Paul, Minn.

Minneapolis Journal—The Lambeth choir from Glasgow, Scotland, entertained a large audience at the Lyceum last night with Scotch, Irish and cosmopolitan songs. The choir consists of eight voices and its part songs were for the most part delightfully rendered. The solo work fell to Miss Kate Sherry, a pure soprano of excellent style, but somewhat limited range: James Moir, a tenor of much sweetness; Miss Bowie, a contralo, whose ballads seemed to please the numerous Scotchmen present, and V. Graham, a baritone, whose style, execution and voice were the best of the choir; Mr. Patrick, the second bass, sang a humorous Irish song with an inimitable brogue and scored the hit of the evening. He should be in comic opera for he is a natural buffo. After the concert the Caledonian club tendered the choir and its venerable leader a reception at its rooms.

Marshall County Leader:—Mr. C. C. Shapleigh and bride arrived Tuesday and proceeded at once to establish themselves in their cozy little home. Supt. Jenks sent his private car with them from Crookston. Our reporter peeped in by permission after the wedding presents had been unpacked and could not begin to tell their loveliness and elegance.

THE OLD RELIABLE
CROOKSTON
LOAN AGENCY
STILL ON DECK.

MONEY
On Real Estaee.

MONEY
On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.
A. D STEPHENS,
[illegible] Street, Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.
Office in McKinnon Block.

DR. M. WATTS.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office over Merchants' Bank,
Professional calls by day or nigh promptly attended to.

NEW CIGAR STORE,
SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, - MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all; from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.
Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTH WEST.

CALL IN.

E. STEENERSON,
Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of snide Co's. CALL ON ELI!

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.
GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,
(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)
REAL ESTATE,
Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.
Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.
—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

The Great Transcontinental Line.
—THE—
NORTHERN PACIFIC
RAILROAD.
SHORTEST, —BEST.— —QUICKEST.
This is the "Yellowstone Park and Dining Car Route."

Lowest Rates to Chicago and All Points East. Tickets sold to all prominent points throughout the East and Southeast.

Pullman Drawing Room Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars through to St. Paul.

TO EAST BOUND PASSENGERS.
Be careful not to make a mistake, but be sure to take the NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R. and see that your ticket reads via St. Paul, Minneapolis or Duluth. Only line traversing Minnesota, Dakota, Manitoba, Montana, Idaho, Washington, British Columbia, Oregon and California.

PULLMAN SLEEPERS, DINING CARS AND COLONIST SLEEPERS
On Pacific Coast Express Trains Daily. This line offers special attractions to California tourists.
An elegant coach runs through between Crookston and St. Paul. Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul. Dining Cars on all trains.
For full information concerning rates time, etc., call on or address your nearest ticket agent, or
CHAS. S. FEE, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.
E L. HARRISON, Agent Crookston, Min

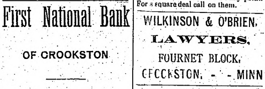
Crookston Meat Market
E. STEENERSON, Proprietor.
E. ERIKSON, Manager,
Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN,
LAWYERS,
FOURNET BLOCK,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

M. LeGUEE,
Veterinary Surgeon,
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,
ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.
WM. HEIDRICH, - - - Proprietor.
Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.
Farmers custom speciallyinvited.
Terms $1.00 per Day.

BEST WEEKLY AGRICULTURAL JOURNAL.
$1.00 PER YEAR. ESTABLISHED AT CHICAGO, IN 1841. $1.00 PER YEAR.



THE FARM, ORCHARD AND FIRESIDE.
DEVOTED TO PRACTICAL AND CORRECT INFORMATION ON AGRICULTURE, LIVE STOCK, VETERINARY, DAIRY,
HORTICULTURE, ENTOMOLOGY, POULTRY, BEES,
GARDEN AND LAWN, SCIENCE, MARKETS.
A Family Journal for two generations, the acknowledged favorite, at the fireside of western homes.
The Household Department, carefully prepared and illustrated delights the ladies.
Its Miscellany, Puzzles, and Young Folks endear it to the young members of the family.
Filled with Practical Illustrations and Concise, Timely Topics of General Interest.
ONLY ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.
Do not fail to read THE PRAIRIE FARMER during 1891—its 51st year. Send for free sample copy or subscribe at once, addressing
THE PRAIRIE FARMER PUB. CO., 166-168 Adams St., CHICAGO, ILL

TRY
O. J. BARNES,
THE
CITY GROCER!

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, MINNESOTA,
—DEALER IN—
Lumber, Building Paper,
PAINTS, OILS,
Doors, Windows and Mouldings
ALSO
FARM MACHINERY.
—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—
MILWAUKEE HARVESTER
AND THE CELEBRATED
WINONA PLOWS,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,
OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.
Organized the State Laws.
Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $5,700
Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections.
Interest on time deposits.
OFFICERS.
C. HENDRICKSON, President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice-Presiden
C. O. CHRISTIANSON, 2d Vice-President.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
DIRECTORS.
C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch.
H. Steenerson. L. Ellington. J. H. Locken, C. Hendrickson.
Max Ericsson. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

J. V. E. WYATT,
UNDERTAKER.
Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for
NEW GOODS.
A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material.
Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

THE NEW
NORTHWEST
Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana — FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS — 100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products. — LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills. — Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth. — In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills, Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise. — Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines. — These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.
The valleys of Red, Mouse, Missouri Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn. — Hunting Fishing.

H. STEENERSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA

CROOKSTON
STEAM LAUNDRY.
I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing
Washing and Ironing
Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting
FAMILY WASHING
Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.
O. D. ROOD, Prop.
Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Jan. 15, 1891.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
9:03 p. m.	St. Paul	[illegible] a. m.
[illegible]	Minneapolis	10:35
[illegible]	Duluth	7:00
[illegible]	Winnipeg Jc.	12:55 p. m.
[illegible]	CROOKSTON	7:10
9:42 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
2:00 p. m.	Pembina	1:25 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

CROOKSTON TIME CARD.

South Line.

	Leave.	Arrive.
Passenger,	7:25 p. m.	6:55 a. m.
Freight,	10:15 a. m.	7:25 p. m.

North Line.

7:15 a. m. 6:25 p. m.

West Line.

Passenger,	6:35 a. m.	7:25 p. m.
Freight.	7:35 p. m.	10:15 a. m.

Fosston Line.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

7:30 a. m. 5:00 p. m.

St. Hilaire Line.

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

10:45 a. m. 4:00 p. m.

Controlling Railrods

The Western Rural,

One of our daily papers says that the report by Attorney General Leese of Nebraska, setting forth what are apparently the two alternatives of railroad control for the future is a powerful document. It presents a strong array of facts, and if some of the statements may be objected to as trite they are none the less true. He concedes the claim that the owners of stock in railroad corporations are entitled to a fair return of the money they have invested, but insists they have no right to any more than that, He then states it as a notorious fact that in many instances the only money invested in the railroad is that deriven from the sale af bonds, the stock to an equal amount being issued gratuitously to the shareholders, who then want the people of the State to pay full dividende on it in the shape of extortionate charges for transportation. This is not only wrong as a matter of equity, but in direct violation of the law, which provides that the capital cannot exceed the actual cost of the property and that any fictitious increase of capital stock or other indebtedness of any such corporations shall be void. He says it is admitted that the railroads in Nebraska have outstanding stock to a large amount that has not been issued for money, labor, or property, and the several reports of these railroads show dividends on all such stock. Yet it is now proposed to bring those and other lines under an automatic control for the purpose of further increasing the burdens of the people, making them pay larger dividends on this fictitious capital.

Mr. Leese thinks the only remedy for all this is that the government should assume the control and ownership of all the railroads and being by taking persession of the Union Pacific by foreclosing its lien upon that property. There can be no question that the last named act would be one of strict justice. The government has a right to control the road in the interests of the people, and ought to do so, because the transportation company is ostensibly a servant of the public and has committed itself to the responsibilities of that position by receiving important aid in such capacity.

After noticing the report our contemporary comments as follows. The government has a moral as well as a legal right to see that all its citizens are dealt with on equal and just terms, but it could only obtain ownership of all the railroads by purchase or confiscation. To buy out all the lines in the country at the extravagant valuation now fixed on them by their manipulators and the further appreciation that would be insisted on if there were a prospect of such legislation being pushed through, could only be done by saddling on the people a far heavier load than the one they are now carrying. It would mean the buying out of the property at far more than its actual worth and taxing the present as well as future generation to pay the debt. It is not difficult to fancy Jay Gould laughing in his sleeve at the prospect of the nation legalizing a vast amount of problematical stuff now held by him and others, and undertaking to turn into solid substance untold millions of dirty water that has been injected into the railroad system of the country. Yet this is what would have to be done unless the buyers insisted on cutting the purchasing price in two, under protest from the unwilling seller, or paying the bill in fiat money. Either of these two couses would be an act so arbitrary and unfair as to deserve to rank only with the policies of an unenlightened age. The first would be bold robbery, and as such hooted at by the whole sivilized world; the second commercial suicide and national bankruptcy. The farmers do not want any such result as that, and therefore should not indorse the advocacy of such an unwise policy, though made by a well-meaning friend. Still it is only natural that the threat of a monopolistic combination should provoke an attitude of reprisal against the railroad magnate and even lead sensible men to propose measures that are indefensible. The Leese utterance is only one of many which may be expected to be provoked by the menace of a combine to place the farming classes at its mercy and once more institute and enforce the policy of making the traffic pay all it can bear,

The Western Rural often wonders if the [illegible] of the daily paper upon such questions as this are really honest or made simple to fill space. If this government concluded that it would buy the railroads, it would not go into the market to buy wind. It would not make an offer for Jay Gould's watered stock and there would not be the slightest necessity of its doing so. The government can wipe out of existence all this watered stock as easily as a hand can be turned over. It need only be provided that roads shall be permitted to earn only a reasonable profit on their actual value, and away goes the watered stock.

An Alliance Policy Outlined.

By Thomas Dow, National Economist.

The political disturbance that the Alliance has created in the old parties in the recent elections must have its effects on the intelligent, thinking masses of this great commonwealth. Opening their eyes to the fact that the farmers are a living, moving factor in the politics of our country; that there are grave political issues affecting interests which have driven them into combinations to protect themselyes against the combinations that are being protected and fostered by the national government at their expense. And the Alliance has been the means of bringing to light and exposing the class legislation that has been enacted and carried out by Congress in the interests of capital in combination to acquire control of the currency of this country, the effects of which is now felt by every producer from the soil and every citizen depending on their prosperity. The people now see that the various acts of Congress this last twenty years were nothing less or more than a grand tissue of legislation to control our currency and build up immense fortunes at the expense of the farmer or producers of this wonderful country. These facts, presented to the people in their true light by our capable and honest leaders, have demonstrated to the old parties and their leaders that they are losing their grip on the great mass of farmers whom they have betrayed. Justly have they turned away from their old party traitors who have brought about a condition of things most alarming, and now requring sudden reversal. in our monentary system to bring back to prosperity to the farmers, the first producers of all wealth; and that by a system of legislation at once radical and on a true national basis, money direct to the people upon soil products, with proper safeguards, and upon lands in sufficient quantities to insure safety to the government advances, and as properties and products increase in value so should our currency or medium increase in volume. Money, the medium for exchange, to be held in control by the rate of interest, and the rate of interest never to exceed the cost of manufacturing or coining said moneys issued direct to the people upon their properties, with an issue of money at cost rates to the people, would at once revolutionize and bring about an era of prosperity to the farmers, the producers of all wealth. In all reason, why should we pay more than the cost of manufacturing this necessity—a necessity of our own creation? Why should we hand it over to an incorporated body of our citizens to control and fix rates of interest for us, and thereby reap all benefits? Why, I repeat, should we give special benefits to any body of our citizen? Why give the control of the monetary or banking department of our government Post Office Department, railroad and telegraph department, or any other department that belongs to the people? Who would say incorporate a company to control the army and navy? Would not such power be dangerous to the people?

Yet the people have allowed their government to hand over to a privileged body of citizens one of the most important governmental departments, and the result, wealth accumulating in their hands by the unscrupulous use of power given them, able to dictate rates and tariffs, and enslave nation of soil producers. Many ask how did the bankers of this country get this power. The question is easy answered; by keeping the farmers blindly following party, while they get the offices and legislate millions of the people's money into their own pockets. But the Alliance has exposed chartered robbery, and by introducing the subtreasury bill has produced a political convulsion and spread consternation amongst the leaders of both parties. But the Alliance commends itself to the great mass of intelligent farmers whose eyes are now turned toward our brave patriotic and able leaders to work out to completion the great national reforms which the Alliance advocates, and in every victory gather strength at every stride. But we should advance yes advance to further successes, and to carry out the first principal in our platform. Our Alliance, thorough its leaders, should formulate a carfully prepared banking bill to present to Congress, establishing a system based on land, and abolish the presents gold basis or standard, which is fictitious uncertain and too easily manipulated by the cunning money leeches who always will be able to get legislation in their own interests so long as gold is kept as the sole or pivotal standard, by or on which all other moneys are valuable. But a banking and monetary system based on the people's land, honestly administered, would be a national blessing, a boon compared to the present monetary system. It does not need a great stretch of foresight to see that the land basis system would bring in an era of prosperity and the gradual diffusing of wealth from the few to the many, or, in other words, leaving greatest part of wealth in first hands, and farmers and miners are first,

100 PAGES WIDE AWAKE. 1891

BEGINNING WITH THE HOLIDAY NUMBER

Is permanently enlarged to one hundred pages, radiant with new and larger type, in new style of page, and fresh, strong literary and pictorial attractions.

Mrs. Burton Harrison, whose story of "The Anglomaniacs" has been the sensation of the season in The Century, has written for Wide Awake a story called "Diamonds and Toads."

Hon. John D. Long (ex-Governor of Massachusetts) furnishes six articles, under the general title of "Our Government," for the enlightenment of coming citizens—the boys and girls of to-day.

Margaret Sidney's new serial, "Five Little Peppers Grown Up," will tell more about Polly and Jasper and David and Joel and Phronsie, and others, as it runs through the year. Fifty charming illustrations by Chas. Mente.

Marietta's Good Times will chronicle in her own words, from her own manuscript, the childhood adventures of Marietta Ambrosi.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn, a little girl who had a great many ancestors, is an irresistible little folks' serial, by Elizabeth Cumings.

Unusually Interesting Articles, some elaborately pictorial: "Dining with Gladstone," by Mrs. John A. Logan; "Amy Robsart's Embroidery," by Frances A. Humphrey? "Mother Goose's Pets," by Agnes Peppiier; "Gypsies and Gypsying," by Elizabeth Robbins Pennell; "Some Horses that I have known," by Maud Howe; "Seinte Marie College of Wynchestre," by Oscar Fay Adams; "Boston's Girl Sculptor," by Mrs. Newberry; "The Sugar Crank," by Theodora R. Jenness.

Some Problems in Horology, by E. H. Hawley, of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, will interest High School students. Three sets of cash prizes.

The Best of Short Stories from thousands offered and solicited the past year—some by new authors.

Figure Drawing for Children, in twelve illustrated lessons by Caroline H. Rimmer, with four prize offers each month.

The Ever Popular Ways to do Things, the School and Playground Stories, Tangles, Post Office and Men and Things.

Wide Awake is only $2.40 a Year.

D. LOTHROP CO., Publishers, Boston.

SPRING SMILES!

Upon the Well-Wintered Farm.

"How to Preserve the Season's Crop," "Butter Making in Winter," "When Shall We Sell," "How to Feed in Winter," "Keep the Animals Growing," "Sheep Farming," "Why I Raise Swine," "Does Poultry Pay," "Shall We Use Blooded Sires," "The Horse Market," "My First Experience with the Silo," "My First Fruit and Vegetable Garden," "Why I Don't Leave the Farm," "The Wasteful Wife," "Our Country Roads," "Are Bees Worth their Keep," "Minnesota an Apple State," "Notes Obtained by Fraud," "The Stranger's Promise," "Are Politicians Our Friends," "What Should the Teacher Be," "How I Preserve Meats," "When to Buy Seeds," "The Boy Mechanic," "A Quarrelsome Family," "Fighting Animals," "My Early Mistakes," "Shall We Heed the Experience of Others." There are only a few of the subjects to be found in forthcoming numbers of

FARM, STOCK AND HOME,

OF MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The most popular and reliable semi monthly Agricultural journal published.

Edited by S. M. OWEN, assisted by scores of practical farmers, stockmen, dairymen, poultrymen, apiarists, gardeners, fruit growers, housewives, etc., etc.

Every number contains sixteen to twenty pages of 64 to 80 columns, printed from clear, new type, on fine, white book paper.

FARM, STOCK AND HOME Is issued the 1st and 15th of every month—24 numbers a year—at an annual subscription of only 50 cents.

DON'T PASS THIS OFFER. Appreciating the value of a good, practical agricultural paper to all farmers, and desiring to get the one best adapted to this locality, we have arranged with the publishers of Farm, Stock and Home to accept subscriptions at regular rates; or we will send it and THE JOURNAL one year for only $1.50. Sample copies can be seen at this office.

[First publication Jan. 1st, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court. Special Term, Dec. 30th, 1890.

In the matter of the estate of Andrew Johnson, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Mathilda Johnson, administratrix of the estate of Andrew Johnson, deceased, representing among other things that she has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining an allowing her account of her administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to heirs.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard, by the Judge of this Court on Tuesday, the 27th day of January, A. D. 1891 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 30th day of December, A. D. 1890.

By the Court: C. O. CHRISTIANSON, Judge of Probate.

[37-39]

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Dec. 25th, 1890.]

DEFAULT EXISTING IN A MORTGAGE executed by Urgel Wolfe (single) mortgagor, March 18th, 1889, to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, and filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minn., March 18th, 1889, at 10:10 o'clock a. m., and recorded in book 43 of mortgages, on page 477, and by said Penney assigned to Charlotte Winslow and by her assigned to Lyman W. Winslow, on the e½ of ne¼ of Sec. 10, and w½ of nw¼ of Sec. 11, Tp. 151, Range 42, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota; there being now due on said mortgage the sum of $353.68. besides $14.47 taxes paid by the assignee and an attorney fee of $100.00. Now, therefore, the Sheriff of said Polk County, will sell said premises at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, on the 7th day of February, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m., to satisfy said debt and costs of sale.

Dated, Dec. 8th, 1890.

J. H. WILLIAMSON, Attorney for assignee.

[36-42]

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK. REGISTERED.

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN

COMPOUND OXYGEN

NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

W A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-eight dollars, ($198.00) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Eugene W. Danells, unmarried, of Polk County, Minnesota, to James M. Hawley of Albany, New York, bearing date the fourth day of October, A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of October, A. D. 1887, at 5 o'clock p. m., in book "T" of mortgages, on page 403; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: The west half of the south-west quarter Section eight, (8) and the north half of northwest quarter of Section seventeen (17) in Township one hundred and fifty-three, Range forty-three, containing one hundred and sixty acres more or less, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Dec. 15th, A. D. 1890.

JAMES M. HAWLEY, Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee, Crookston, Minn.

[35-41]

[First publication Jan. 8th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, January 2d, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Alexander Finlayson, deceased.

Letters of administration on the estate of sa'd deceased being this day granted unto Agnes Finlayson, of said county.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in the city of Crookston, Minnesota, on Monday, the 6th day of July, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the second day of January, A. D. 1891.

By the Court. C. O. CHRISTIANSON, Judge of Probate.

[38-40]

(First publication Dec. 4th, 1890.)

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. District Court, 14th Judicial District.

The The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston, a corporation, plaintiff, vs. John McLean, defendant.

The State of Minnesota to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber, at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of three thousand three hundred thirty-nine dollars and sixty cents, with interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum from the 17th day of July, A. D. 1890, on the sum of $947.10, and from the 14th day of [illegible] together with the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated November 20th, 1890.

JOHN CROMB, Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston, Minn.

[36-40]

"Every Man Thinks his Own Burden The Heaviest."

But read the records of cases in our book on Compound Oxygen. You will find that burdens as heavy as yours have been removed by the Compound Oxygen Treatment. There you will find hundreds of testimonials from patients who have been cured of chronic and obstinate diseases:

Drs. Starkey & Palen—The general curative tendency of your Compound Oxygen Treatment cannot be questioned. Rev. W. J. McKenny. 1031 Monument street Baltimore, Md., March 28, 1889.

Drs. Starkey & Palen—My wife suffered for ten years from asthma, and each year was gradually getting worse. But she used your Compound Oxygen Treatment, and is now as far from Asthma as any person in the world. G. W. Booth, Guntown, Miss., February 25, 1889.

Send for our book on Compound Oxygen. It will be mailed free. It is full of good solid reading, as well as genuine testimonials of cures in Consumption, Catarrh, Neuralgia, Nervous Prostration, Bronchitis, Asthma, and other diseases. Address DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1529 Arch street, Philada.' Pa.

The Queen's Latest Offer.

A Free Education or One Year's Travel in Europe.

In the Queen's "Word Contest," which the publishers of that magazine anouce as the last one they will ever offer, a free education, consisting of a three years' course in any Canadian or American Seminary of College, including all expenses, tuition and board, to be paid by the publishers of The Queen, or one year abroad, consisting of one entire year's travel in Europe, all expenses to be paid, will be given to the person sending them the largest list of words made from the text which is announced in the last issue of The Queen. A special deposit of $750 has been made in The Dominion Bank of Canada, to carry out this offer. Many other useful and valuable prizes will be awarded in order of merit. The publishers of The Queen have made their popular family magazine famous throughout both Canada and the United States by the liberal prizes given in their previous competitions, and as this will positively be the last one offered, they intend to make it excel all others as regards the value of the prizes. Send six two cent U. S. stamps for copy of The Queen containing the text, complete rules and list of prizes. Address The Canadian Queen, Toronto, Canada. [33-40]

What is Money?

By Constantine Champion, Logansport, Ind.

It is evident to my mind, after reading John S. De Hart, that either he or myself is seriously lost in the mazes of finance. He says,"I define money as anything that is legal tender." He, then, would say that money is something that has dimensions; something that has body or parts; a portion of some material substance. In reply to which I would say to him, that his idea of "money" is an absolute impossibility. Money has no value, never can have. No person has ever seen money—no person ever will see money. Money has no weight, dimension, body or parts. Money is only known by some visible, tangible material substance, by or through which it is represented. Then what is money? Money is the name of that particular authority which attaches to a portion of some material substance by virtue of a certain impress put upon it and makes it a legal tender for debt. To illustrate; Any substance, let it be iron, brass, copper, nickel, silver, gold or paper—any substance for that matter, bearing the impress that represents money—authority—is a legal tender debt anywhere within the jurisdiction of our government, and we are all compelled to receive it as such. Because we are all compelled to receive it as such, it becomes current among our whole people, and therefore the currency of the nation. But Mr. De Hart, if you should take any part of our currency, and cross the boundary line of our national authority, such currency would cease at once to represent money. The money and curreuoy would separate at the line. The money—authority—being compelled to remain within the line, while the currency goes on beyond.

The currency may stay beyond the line one day or ten years, but nowhere does it represent money—not being a legal tender for debt. But, Mr. De Hart, the moment you recross the boundary line money—authority—attaches to the currency at once, by virtue of the impress it bears, and it becomes the representative of money and legal tender for debt. Such, Mr De Hart, is what money is. Neither should it be forgotton that money currency, or dollars, contain no value of any kind whatsoever, never did and never can.

Farm View (Porterville, Cal.) says:

Now, that the Farmers Alliance has gotten to be a power in the land, the old political party workers will endeavor to coax them off their trail by passing resolutions squinting in the various directions farmers think desirable, but doing nothing to relieve their necessities permanently. A little more silver will be coined, tariff reduced perhaps on some things, promises made and bills introduced to any great extent. They killed of the Greenback party in this way and then went on with their old cinch games again.

REMOVED

BACK

TO THE OLD STAND

In the Fifth Ward.

CALL

AND SEE

WHAT WE CAN DO FOR YOU

E. D. CHILDS & CO.

KEEPING STILL

AND

Sawing Wood.

While some of my competitors are making a great parade about what they are doing for the people, I am not boasting, but just quietly

Selling Lots of Goods!

AT FIGURES THAT CAN'T BE BEAT.

Close buyers will do well to call and see my new stock and get prices. Everybody call at

STURE'S STORE

Hack & Gallasch' Old Stand. - - - Crookston, Minn

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,

DEALERS IN

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils,	SHELF	F. F. Thompson & Sons
OLE OLSON	—AND—	WALKING PLOWS.
GANG PLOWS,	HEAVY HARDWARE,	Sole Agents for the Domestic Sewing Machines

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

STOVES AND RANGES

Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., - - - Crookston.

S. L. COLLINS,

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.

Everything neat and nobby.

Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

MILER, FOOTE & SWEAT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW.
McKinnon Block. Crookston, Minn

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, JANUARY 22, 1891. NO. 40.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One Dollar and Fifty Cents if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. Outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m.	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

EXTRACT

From Governor Merriam's Message.

What He Says Of Grain Inspection.

"One of the important interests intrusted to the Board of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners is the inspection and weighing of grain. I confess to approaching this subject with diffidence, as I am not entirely positive whether our present system is all that can be desired. The grading of wheat is not an exact science, but is largely a matter of individual judgment. Grain experts will not always agree, and as a result there is frequently a divergence of opinion between inspectors in the country and at terminal points of so marked a character as to produce much confusion and often dissatisfaction. I have addressed communications to many of the leading farmers of the State as well as to some of the prominent receivers of wheat, and with practical unanimity they concur in the opinion that the law, in its present form, with possibly some slight amendments, is as effective as any enactment that can be devised for the purpose intended. Some suggest that a board of appeal be provided at each terminal point to adjust any question of grades arising in connection with inspection. This I deem to be a wise suggestion. The problem of grading at local stations is more difficult to solve. It would be impracticable to maintain State inspection at the thousand and one points throughout the State where grain is bought, and therefore it would seem as if the small shipper must avail himself of the right to ship his wheat direct to the receiving points, and demand State inspection and weights in case he is dissatisfied with the inspection of the local elevator agent. I am well aware that many hardships arise from undergrading at country stations, but I see no way by which this difficulty can be overcome save in the manner indicated."

THE JOURNAL cannot conceive how it is possible for any man knowing anything about the condition of the wheat market in this Valley, to be in doubt as to the present system being all that can be desired, when it is a fact that a poor farmer cannot sell his grain to as good advantage as a rich one can; that in order to get anything like a fair show he must ship his wheat himself. How can the small farmer, who raises from 30 to 75 acres of wheat, who lives remote from a railroad, who farms with oxen, ship his own wheat? In a market of competitive buyers, where every man has a free right to erect a small flat-house, and proper facilities furnished him so to do, this would not be necessary, as in that case the farmer could realize all his wheat is worth in his own market. It is possible that a board of appeal might be of great advantage, but we think that a board of inspectors appointed for their merits alone, consisting of men who are not in the employ of elevator companies nor in any way connected with them, would be a far better thing. How can anything like efficiency be expected from a force appointed simply for political reasons without regard to their qualifications? When the leaders of the elevator system are given the appointment of the men who are to make the grades, is it not reasonable to suppose that they will select for the purpose men who will make the grades in the interest of the elevators? Let the farmers have the appointing of these officials once and see how that would work. Make the railroad companies receive wheat just as they are obliged to other kinds of freights and see how that would work. Elect the Board of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners, also the Chief Inspectors and the Chief Weighers by a vote of the people, and see how that would work. THE JOURNAL has seen thousands of dollars annually taken out of this county wrongfully, money that our hard working farmers have honestly earned, and we protest against the system that permits it. Certain politicians, who are making big money out of this system, and who are ambitious for political preferment, take exceptions to THE JOURNAL'S stand on this question and are trying to injure us all they can, because, in supporting the cause of the people we are obliged to step on their pet ambitions. It is for the interest of these politicians to have these appointments continue to be made in the manner in which they are at present, as it is a strong lever for them to use. It is for the interest of the people to have a change in the method of constructing the Board. Which is of most importance to the welfare of this country, the success of ambitious politicians or the success of the farmer? There is no question in our mind on this point; this is, in fact, the living issue of the day to the dweller of the Red River Valley, fraught with far more importance than mere party success. All who care more for mere political success than they do for the true welfare of the country, will oppose THE JOURNAL, but every man who cares to see right prevail in our market will aid us in the work. We supported S. M. Owen for governor because we were assured that he would not allow the will of railroad and elevator companies to prevail against the best interests of the people. He has clearly defined ideas on the subject of grain inspection, and had he been elected, reform would have followed immediately, and for the sake of those who suffer under the present grain system, as administered, we are truly sorry that, after two years experience, our Governor does not know whether he can recommend the present system or not. It does not augur well for the relief that is imperatively demanded.

Duluth & Winnipeg.

A Report of the Work Submitted to the Construction Company.

DULUTH, Special Telegram to Pioneer Press, Jan. 13.—At the late meeting of the board of directors of the Duluth & Winnipeg road, known as the North Star Construction company, the report submitted for the year's work stated:

It is possible for us, by building a line six miles long to the Northern Pacific road, to make satisfactory arrangements for entry to Duluth and West Superior over that road. We have also surveyed an independent line from Cloquet to Duluth—an excellent line eight miles shorter than any present road; but for a part of the distance the work will be heavy and the grade steep.

In the year of its operation the Duluth & Winnipeg has shown gross earnings of $56,173; net $23,000. The report shows total expenditures for construction of the Duluth & Winnepeg of $1,539,000, while $11,500 and $260,950 have been respectively spent on the Duluth & Winnipeg road and the North Star Iron company.

There are now on hand at the present terminals of the road steel rails for twenty miles of track, track bolts for thirty-five miles and bolts for fifty-two miles.

The Duluth & Winnipeg will build a spur track a distance of eight miles to the scene of the recent discoveries of iron ore in section 36, township 55, range 26. About fifty tons of 62 per cent Bessemer ore lies on the dump at the mine.

FOR ALL TASTES.

The February Peterson offers this rare combination. The Magazine is one of the best among periodicals for ladies and families. It has gone on steadily improving, always gaining in popularity, and now in its fiftieth year appears as fresh and modern as if in opening season. The excellence of its illustrations and its high literary merit would of themselves, give any magazine a standard repitation, but Peterson adds fashion and house-hold department which are invaluable to every woman. There is nothing that can contribute to the comfort of home which is not brought to the notice of its readers. The car of children, the aged and sick; table recipes the management of dinners and parties, housefurnishing and decoration, and learning the best and simplest way of doing everything, are fully described and taught in this admirable publication. It has been for many years a most welcome visitor in our household and we cannot too warmly commend it to persons in search of a monthly periodical which will afford interest, amusement and information for the entire family circle. Terms two dollars a year, and reduced rates to clubs: Address PETERSON MAGAZINE COMPANY, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

Mr. Andrew Kull's Ideas.

Prairie Farmer.

With your kind permission I desire to reply to several views recently set forth in The Prairie Farmer, and in particular to the article on page 703 by Prof. J. E. Elsom, which is thoughtful and should be heeded, though it heaps a bitter reflection upon injury. I do not wish to question but it emanates from the best of motives. It is only too true as regards education and general knowledge, which the writer well says lacks development among farmers, "the bone and sinew of the land." Yes, forty-six one-hundreths of the American people. Think of it! Represented in Congress the last ten years by about three of the kind. Surely farmers merit the lash. As a class they have shown very little use of their heads until quite recently. Statistics, however, show that they have been doing something for somebody if not for themselves. Still, close acquaintance with farming enables a man sometimes to see things plainer and more as they are in every day life on the farm, than can be seen from any professional observatory.

There are very grave reasons for the exact conditions so ably charged which in thirty years experience as a farmer, I have taken the time to see, and while not as proud of being called a farmer, with all the term now implies, as once, it is yet a noble employment in which the conditions are liable to be changed for the better without much ceremony, some fine morning, by the application to the government of a little horse sense. If we are not as polished educationally as we might or should be, it must also be conceded that steady continued physical effort ranging from 12 to 15 hours a day the year round, is not conducive to mind cultivation on out-of-the-way subjects, but rather repulsive. The preservation of that vitality necessary to the endurance demands rest for the time when the farmer is not at work. Go to the average farmer and ask him why he does not read more? Why he is not better informed? and the answer will be: "I have not got the time to read and post myself. When my day's work is done I am too tired!" Who knows better than he whereof he speaks? True there are exceptions, and it is more than probable that no other class receive such useful training or so good a common school education, or yield so many able men—clear headed, full of vigor and energy—to carry on the vast enterprises of our country and build up our cities, as come from the old home on the farm.

When agriculture, for whatever reason, pays a profit for such unremitting effort and toil of, say 3 per cent, while other pursuits pay 7 to 50 per cent, is it strange that as the farmer's son grows up, develops his intellect, gets an education, and learns the facts, is it strange, we ask, that he should leave the farm and farming for something else, no matter what? And like the maiden while praying in the dead of night under an apple tree for a husband, said in response to the Hoo, Hoo, of the owl, "anybody, good Lord, anybody!" it's anything in most cases of the educated farmer boy instead of the 15 hours of drudgery on a farm with so little pay. A boy must have great love for the farm who stops there with what goes for an education now-a-days, and no theorizing or philosophizing is going to hold them to the farm until farming pays better than it does now. Not that a good education would be a useless extravagance on the farm, but by what method can a person about to start out for himself in life with such an education, be induced to farm it with pork at $3 per cwt. and beef at $16 per ton? When farming pays somewhere near as much for the labor done as some other vocation, then we may look for the farmer boy with an education to stay on the farm oftener than now, and not until then.

There is no use setting forth the old argument for farm life; in comparison it is too thin, while by force of law every effort is crowned with slavery to monopolistic greed from which they seek to emancipate themselves. Whether they fathom the cause or not, they behold results and go away; older men do the same, and thus as a class we are sinking lower in the scale by always losing the best and acquiring the indifferent, scoured from the old countries by agencies whose principals seek to dispose of lands given them by an extravagant government upon one pretext or another, the result of which is now gathering to confuse and perplex able minds and more thoroughly dispel the farmers' home market vision. Questions of great interest press for admission at this point, among them transportation, railroads, alien land owners, and wealthy syndicates, home and foreign; irrigation schemes, government control, and other important matter not even to be mentioned here.

To get back to the farmer, who will say but that they have been treated like dogs? And who will dispute but that the farmer has more himself to blame for the ills that beset him than others? Now that they suffer and have come to want in the very midst of their plenty, some cry out against old parties, others are sullen, and prejudice still fetters the many. Their solicitude for party equals that of the old farmer for his unruly cow; he put a great board over her face so she could not see to jump, but by his great good will, cut holes in the board so she could see to drink. Next, political tricksters have hand-fed a few bell wethers, and taught them to throw up their tails and bleat at party's call, and thus run in those who do not take time to read or think for themselves. Again, to sever old political relations requires will power. Some headway has been made and much more must be done. What shall it be? Some say a new party.

I have given the question thought and have come to the conclusion that no new party is needed. Let farmers study the question and vote as their conscience dictates. Had they done so during the last twenty years there would be no cause for complaint now. There would not be one-tenth as many millionaires in the country and the farmer would be just so much better off as a more equal and just distribution and capability of saving his earnings for himself could make him so.

A few minutes ago I laid down my pencil to sell a lot of nice May pigs for $3 per 100 pounds, and was asked to throw in some corn to boot. It is becoming almost as fashionable for farmers to give their surplus away as it is for professional gentlemen to form trusts and take it by sleight of hand. What a giant monopoly we would make were it possible for us to combine! We would make liver as high in price as good meat now is, which is just our comparison with a shoddy suit which costs us as much as an all wool suit would cost us under fair play. And we would not need to be wondering who had filled our clothes before, and whether they were lousy, had the itch or some more loathsome disease. It would be a good thing for us to work ten hours a day instead of fifteen. If two-thirds as much were produced it would bring us much money to us in the end. We would have five hours time each day to get acquainted with our wives and family, to read, think, compare views and devise means to make professors love and respect us.

But so long as scarcity and dearness is the policy on the part of every industry except agriculture, and the same methods cannot be applied by us, we must seek some other way out from under the yoke of servitude to the beneficiaries of class legislation. What shall we do? Organize? Get together and exchange views how to raise bigger crops, more wheat and more of everything to further glut our markets, and carefully bar out every expression that might lead to political enlightment? Or expose a party quality of forging our shackles firmly about us? That is exactly what has been the rule. The agricultural society of Wisconsin listened for years to the beauties of high protection, but when men began to question that it was good for the farmer, when men rose to discuss, then it became all at once partisan politics and must be stopped, expunged from the proceedings, and suppressed by the bell wethers.

Any industry that has or forms an organization other than agriculturists, takes into consideration every question which affects directly or remotely the prosperity of their industry. Why, then, should farmers not do the same, instead of being as putty in the hands of designing men, and deserve the reflection of the Professor: "If you think you have as much mind as other people of other pursuits, see to it that you use it as well."

Thank you, Professor, I will strive to do my share, but never will I lend my mind to concoct any schemes whereby to plunder and enslave my neighbor. We farmers are humble, but we are neither thieves nor robbers, and have nearly come to the conclusion that we will submit to robbery by your nobler minds no longer than is necessary to reduce them to fair mindedness. I may perhaps provoke the expression that it is a law of nature for the fittest to survive, and when it comes to that farmers may show wonderful endurance. We will ask nothing more than is just, fair and reasonable; give us just a fair show; let the policy be "live and let live." None of us were beggars until great minds deprived us of our earnings under false pretexts. What we now demand is fair, just and equal laws for all, with special privileges to none, as near as we can have such.

Farmers are becoming alive to the wrongs they have endured. It naturally follows that upon a full understanding and realization of the enormity of the crime perpetrated upon them, there should be unseemly and selfish exhibitions on the part of some victim to get even with their tormentors, hence the legislation which some are suggesting is unwise, would be ruinous, and must not prevail. None of us should be seized with a frenzy to plunge the whole body politic into an absurd chasm of selfishness. If we love our country let us not rally round a standard upon which the insignia is inflation and add gulches to the gutters in our pathway.

In our demands let common sense and justice to all be the prevailing quantity. This will have the aid and command the respect of fair-minded people. Let us not follow the hue and cry of reason-befogged would-be leaders, lest we go farther into the cave of gloom.

As a class, we used to hold an equilibrium between extremists representing folly and extravagance. Are we ready to have it recorded that we have lost much of the good sense which characterized the farmer as a legislator? Then let us lay aside prejudice and join hands with men whose whole hearts have been in the work for years, who have without stint sacrificed their time and money and to-day are rejoicing with us that the day of deliverance is dawning. Let every voter who is in favor of honest, economic government—government that shall guard every person's rights and interests with equal care—join in one grand effort to overthrow monopoly and restore to us our liberty, and there will be no question as to the result.

While we cry out against the paternalism of government and its results, let us not seek to tear down one evil to set up another. We must stand firmly upon clean, honest ground, demanding our rights, while at the same time as sedulously respecting and guarding the rights of every other class. With these principles for our platform we stand solid and can work and win, like honest men, all we need, to make the educated boy stay on the farm.

WHY IT "BUSTED"

The Harvester Combined Split on the Rocks of Legal prohibition.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—President McCormick has the following to say about the harvester combine which went to pieces yesterday:

"This step (disbandment) has been decided only after we were assured that we could not carry out the object of the association. Able lawyers were consulted, and they were unanimously of the opinion that under the laws of the state, the company could not continue in the form which it had been started. Therefore, like sensible men, we concluded to abandon the whole affair."

The dissolution of the company will have no effect on the different companies or firms which were merged in it. No change had been made in the business arrangement of any of them, and hence the action of the new company would not affect them. President McCormick thinks there will be no effort to reorganize the defunct company. It was only after long deliberation that the gentlemen composing the harvester trust decided to abandon it. The hardest rocks against which the trust ran were decisions of the supreme courts of Illinois and New York, the former in the gas trusts and latter in the sguar trust case, that one corporation for the purpose of controlling it. The interests involved were so great that it was agreed that $50,000,000 capital would be necessary to put the combination upon its feet. Of this sum $35.000,000, representing the capital of the concern, was to be apportioned among these several constituent institutions and $15,000,000 in bonds was to be issued for working capital. When the company attempted to float these bonds the United States Trust Company, of New York; through which the negotiations were conducted, instituted a careful inquiry into the status of the American Harvester Company, and declined to make the loan upon the ground that the company had been organized in such a way as to violate the statues prohibiting trusts and similar combines of capital to limit production and to control trade. Other financial institutions were appealed to, but with the same result. Then it was proposed to raise the necessary funds within the company itself, but the various concerns in the deal, becoming frightened at the legal aspect of affairs, refused to tie up their individual establishments where they would be handicapped by the heaviest legal and financial liabilities. Practically, this has already been accomplished, but a good deal of red tape formality must be gone through in winding up the last earthly affairs of the concern. The board of directors today took the initial steps in this direction.

No opportunity was ever before offered whereby a farmer can obtain the experiences of others so cheaply as by a subscription to Farm, Stock and Home.

Radical and Conservative.

Western Rural.

Business men find it necessary to borrow money. Whenever a panic comes and money is difficult to obtain, down goes business house after business house, and usually a howl goes up about the banks holding money. During the last few weeks the banks have been locking up money to the great distress of commerce. It has been difficult to borrow money on what would usually be considered gilt edge collateral Business men feel the restriction severely, and have good reasons to complain. But do these people ever think that their present condition is precisely what the farmers' condition always is. The banks are practically shut against him all the time; and he needs money at times just as badly as the merchant and manufacturer need it. The average merchant and manufacturer, however hard pushed for money they may be, can pay their debts at any moment if they choose. How? Sacrifice their stock; sell it for what they can get for it. But they do not wish to do that. They do not wish to get bankrupt themselves when a little money would tide them over and enable them to sell their goods at an advantage.

The farmer however, is constantly compelled to sacrifice his crops because he cannot get money to tide him over, or if he can get it he must pay such a ruinous rate of interest that he cannot stand it. The farmer as well as the merchant has debts to pay; and under our present system of combination among middlemen, the buyers, knowing the farmers' necessities, pay him what they like for his products and store them for a future rise. When prices are highest our farm products are usually in the hands of the speculators. Now some system of finance should be devised by which the farmer could get money upon as favorable terms as the merchant and the manufacturer can get it. During all these years of national banks, they might have been authorized to loan money on mortgage, and that would have helped the farmer greatly. But the government, while always ready to help the gamblers of Wall street, has not taken the trouble to make even this easy provision for the relief of our producers. Indeed such a proposition even now will be considered radical, but why consider it radical? Real estate security is the best security in the world, is it not? A mortage on a good farm is quite as good as the promissory note of the merchant or manufacturer, is it not? We should say it was. And some of the most prominent men in the country are now advocating the establishment of some sort of a banking system which will never favor the farmers' interests. There is no doubt in our mind that the government will yet do the banking of the country, and as the Rural has said a hundred times, there is no reason why it should not. The present national banking system must necessarily give place to some other system, for as the national debt is paid, it has less foundation to stand upon. It must expire by natural limitation. It is useless longer to abuse the national banking system, for whatever has been bad in it has already been inflicted, and every day brings it nearer to its end. The thing now to do is to devise something to take its place, and the government it self should take its place. Every note issued for circulation should be issued directly by the government, and whatever plan is adopted the system should provide that the farmer can get money just as readily as any other class can get it.

1891—THE ST. PAUL—DAILY NEWS.—1891

Furnishes all the News of the World.

Bright,
Fearless
and
Independent.

Champions the cause of the people independent of the political parties. Opposes monopolies and all public or private robbery by means of unjust tariff or other iniquitous legislation, State or National.

The full reports of legislative proceedings, which the Daily News will supply during the coming session of the Legislature, will alone be worth the cost of a year's subscription.

Sent by mail, postage paid, at the following remarkably low price:

Six months..........$1.75
One year..........3.00

For 75 cents additional to either a six months or a yearly subscription a complete set of the works of Charles Dickens, eleven volumes, (paper binding) will be sent postage paid.

Send for sample copies of the News

Address: The Daily News, St. Paul, Minn.

WHO IS IT?

Breeder's Gazette

A "SOLID" man of course—one who farms with his brains as well as his hands, and who knows that to make the farm pay in these times requires good live-stock. No man who keeps good stock can afford to be without The Breeder's Gazette. It is the acknowledged head of the American live-stock press, and we should like to see it in the hands of all our intelligent stock owners. It is a large, handsomely illustrated weekly, furnished at $2 per year, or in clubs of five or more at $1.50 each. Send for a free sample copy, or enclose twenty cents postage for the magnificent Christmas Number. Address

J. H. SANDERS PUB. CO.,
226 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

Toledo Weekly Blade.

1891.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

THE most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding, year after year, a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

NEW story to commence first of the year, written especially for the Blade by Oliver Optic. "Money Maker Series." A series of special articles on "Side Issues," written for The Blade. Blade China Tea Sets and Dinner Sets given to club-raisers. Send for specimen copy of The Weekly Blade and our interesting announcements for the coming year.

SPECIMENS.

A specimen copy will give you a better idea of The Weekly Blade than any description we can give in an advertisement. We therefore invite everybody to write us for a specimen, which we will cheerfully mail you free; and at the same time please mail us a list of names of your friends and neigbors, and we will also mail them specimens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AGENTS.

ANYBODY can earn Ten Dollars very quickly by raising clubs for The Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address

THE BLADE,
Toledo, Ohio.

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.

Drs. Starkey and Palen
Compound Oxygen
NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law,
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Jan. 22, 1891.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 75.
1 Northern 72.
2 Northern 67.
3 Northern 59.

John Carter has returned from the far west and likes it so well that he will go there to live.

A. D. Stephens went to St. Paul last week.

P. J. McGuire made a trip to St. Paul last week.

Senator Lommen spent the Sabbath with his family.

Wheat took a tumble last week from 77 to 75 for No 1 Hard.

George Crocker was up from Minneapolis this week.

Mrs. Casper Sands visited friends at Devils Lake two days this week.

J. E. Morrisey went up to Argyle on a business trip a few days last week.

Doors and windows all open January 19th. How's that for this hyperborean region?"

Those little postal cards relating to personal property taxes are begin to show up.

Certainly, of course, four counties can be run cheaper than one. That stands to reason (?)

J. G. Dawes, traveling freight agent of the Great Northern R. R. was in the city on Monday.

Uncle John Ross still holds the fort as Janitor at the court house. This is as it should be.

F. M. Brown has opened a commission house in South St. Paul and is doing a good business.

Hon. S. G. Comstock was called home on private business last week and spent the Sabbath with his family.

M. R. Brown and Chas. H. Mix represented Crookston lodge A. F. and A. M. in the Grand Lodge meeting in St. Paul last week.

Miss Inez McGrew departed for Garrettson, S. D. on Monday evening where she has taken a school and a music class.

If the weather keeps on this way until April 1 st., we are liable to get an open winter. Every thing points that way at present writing.

R. L. Elder was up from Edna last week and ordered the JOURNAL sent to his address. That is what every man in Polk County should do.

Prof. Casey will preside over the destines of the fifth ward school this winter. The Professor is one of the best teachers in Polk County.

W. E. Walker is hustling the carpenter work on the new opera house block. Would have been through now if the masons had kept out of the way.

The Charity ball at the opera house on Monday evening of last week was a success in every particular nothing over $300 for charitable purposes.

Mrs. Hugh Robertson and Mrs. Dr. Robertson entertained their lady friends very pleasantly at five o'clock tea, at the home of the latter on Tuesday of this week,

Schemers are plotting what they can do to make a big lot of money and now they propose to divide Polk County—and the farmers are expected to pay the fiddler as usual.

Andrew Eiken will occupy his old room in the court house where he will be prepared to do an abstracting business for the winter. He will probably come down town next spring.

Yes, why not? Why not divide Polk County into four parts? It would help the ambitious town-site boomers and only rob the taxpayer. Oh, yes! lets divide the county by all means.

Sam Greenhalgh awoke one morning last week to a realizing sense that he was another father to a girl baby—or father to another bright, bouncing lass, who will call Sam papa when she gets old enough.

Charlie Rapp was down from St. Hilare to see Dr. Dunlop this week. Charlie was not feeling very well himself when he came but the doctor fixed him up in good shape and he went home feeling better.

E. D. Childs & Co. have sold their stock of merchandise to Moe & Buhn of Mentor, and the goods have been taken to the Mentor establishment. Moe & Buhn seem to be doing a rattling good business out there.

East Grand Forkers insist that Polk County is too large and should be divided. All right. Let Grand Forks go off and form a county by herself if she wants to, and let all the balance of the territory still remain—Polk County.

Mrs. E. E. Bangs and Miss Jennie Newland arrived safely at Ogden, Utah, and after a good rest continued their journey to Salt Lake City. Mrs. B. thinks the change will be beneficial to her health, in which hope her many friends here most heartily unite.

O. H. Saake, the genial Robert street jeweler, waltzed gaily into THE JOURNAL office on Wednesday morning, exclaiming: "Boy, ten and one half pounds, yesterday, all doing nicely!" The cigars he produced were of the finest quality and we proceeded to smoke to the health of the little jewel-er, in other words, the boy. Saake now remarks it is just what he wanted.

M. R. Brown received some fine Percheron stallions this week. None finer were ever brought to this city. Go down and look 'em over.

Gen. George J. McManus returned from a trip to Duluth and St. Paul looking as handsome as ever. George seems to be so full of business of importance that he don't seem to get time to stop long enough in one spot to marry.

The farmers will show those scheming politicians another trick when the proper time comes on the county division scheme. It strikes us that our farmers have quite enough to do now to pay their present taxes. But then these politicans—they toil not neither do they spin but they must live some how.

Services promptly at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. next Sabbath at the Congregational church. A cordial welcome is extended to all. Morning subject: "Man in the Bible, or Man Tested by Gold, Love and Fame." Evening subject: "The Young Man as Brother, Son and Lover." Please come early and get your seats.

In order to help (?) the poor tax-payer, who finds it hard work to support one organization, it is proposed to divide the present county into four parts—making our taxes four times as high as now. But then these scheming politicians MUST have offices and the town-site boomers must have a chance to get rich if they bankrupt the people to do it.

No wonder so many are inquiring about lands and homes in Polk County, when we raise such enormous crops as we can, and the climate is as mild as in California. Hundreds of acres have been bought since last fall and still the inquiries increase. Many more acres will be bought before seeding time next spring. By another fall the price of lands will no doubt be very much greater in Polk County.

An enthusiastic railroad meeting was held at City Hall on Saturday evening to consider the plan of building of a railroad southwest to the Red River. John H. Locken was called to preside, and C. O. Christianson elected secretary. After discussing the merits of the plan pro and con, a committee was appointed by the chair to formulate plans. The committee appointed is: Mayor A. McKinnon, Lewis Ellington, Frank Bivins, C. O. Christianson and Elias Steenerson. Three delegates were appointed to attend the railroad meeting at Halstad on Monday, viz: Eli Steenerson, Thos. Harris and H. E. Cooke. Moved by Lewis Ellington that J. H. Locken be added to the delegation. Carried. Moved that the delegates be empowered to appoint proxies. Carried. Adjourned till Thursday evening, Jan. 22d, at which time the committees are to report progress.

At a meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, held at the Reading Room last Thursday, Mrs. S. H. Barteau resigned her position as Superintendent of the Loyal Temperanc Legion, which she has held for the last seven months. Mrs. Barteau is about leaving Crookston to join her husband in his work at Stephen, as pastor of the Congregational church. By vote of the Union Mrs. D. N. Taylor was chosen Superintendent of the Legion, and Mrs. A. C. Wilkinson, leader of temperance instruction. Meetings of the Legion will be held as usual at the reading room every Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, and it is hoped that all the members will be regular in attendance, and invite all their young friends to join them in learning the beautiful songs and interesting and beautiful lessons in scientific temperance.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMETIER,
Lisbon, N. Dakota.

[86-tf]

FARMERS,

Try the Old Farmer

For Bargains!!

$12,000 worth of Goods.

Dress Flannels sold at 65 Cents,
will sell at ....45 cents per yard.
" " Ginghams at....................8 " " "
" " Calico at........................5 " " "
" " Vinegar at.......................20 cts. per gallon.
" " Catsup at........................75 " " "
" " Coffee from..................18 to 35 " " pound,
" " Tomatoes at......................10 cents per can.
" " ....13 quarts Cranberries for $1.00.
" " Felt Boots and Felt Shoes Below Cost.

And everything else in proportion. I will make it to your advantage to call upon me before you purchase.

A. STURE.

Quite a change has taken place at at the court house. The auditor now occupies the room formerly occupied by the clerk of the court; the treasurer has moved into the auditor's room and the Register of Deeds takes possession of the treasurer's room. Joe Mathews will assist the treasurer. Mat. Cornelius will help the auditor to hold things level while Thos. C. Shapleigh assists the new clerk of the court.

Express agent Silver's wife arrived on Saturday morning, to join her husband who has charge of the American express office in this city. Between Ada and Crookston, their little three weeks old babe breathed its last—a sad home-coming for the bereaved husband and wife, who will have the hearty sympathy of our people, in this sad trial.

J. L. Bailey says his business at the pop corn stand is very good. He has a kind of corn which he got in Iowa that pops up tender and nice and he says he is quite confident that it would mature nicely in this country. The sacks he deals out are very much larger than ever before sold in this city for a nickel and the snowy contents look quite tempting.

Thos. Hurst, a former resident of this city died at his home in Dunseith N. D., on Wednesday, Jan. 16th of inflamation of the bowels. Mr. Hurst was about 34 years old, and leaves a wife and six children to mourn his loss. The remains were brought to this city, for interment and laid to rest in Oakdale cemetery on Friday. He was formerly an employe on the Great Northern road in this city where he had a host of friends. Recently he had taken a farm near Dunseith and had quite a lot of stock. Thus they go. One by one the boys are dropping off,

MARRIED.

PRATT—DAVIS.—At the residence of the bride's parents, on Monday, January 14th, 1891, by the Rev. Mr. Weddell, Guy H. Pratt, of McIntosh, to Miss Carrie A. Davis.

A generous supply of wedding cake was sent THE JOURNAL to dream over as we wish the happy pair a long and prosperous journey through this vale of tears.

Crookston alliance met on Saturday last and elected the following officers for the ensuing term: President, James Greenhalgh, Jr.; Vice President, Chris. Houston, Secretary, Eli Steenerson; delegates to the county convention, Chris. Hanson, Chris. Houston and John Amundson.

The following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That the proposed county division into four parts is hereby condemned, and that we regard it as a scheme of town-site boomers to advance their own personal interests at the expense of the people.

Adjourned to the next regular meeting, two weeks from last Saturday.

A Reliable Sheet.

In quoting the bids for county printing last week, The Times (for some reason or other) so garbled the bid of THE JOURNAL as to make it appear simply preposterous. Our bid was: "Proceedings of the board, FREE," and the reliable Times quotes it: "Proceedings of the board delinquent tax list ten cents per description." Whatever he means, it is hard to say, but that he does mean to hide the fact that the proceedings of the board were to be free, is quite evident. Again, he makes us offer to print note heads at three hundred dollars for five hundred and five hundred dollars per thousand, and all stationery in like ratio. The tax-payers will see before the end of the year where they were swindled on the printing business. One member of the board, while the subject was under consideration, remarked that the combination bid was the cheapest, "because," said he, "their bid is for only two cents per description, while that of THE JOURNAL is for ten cents," which was a misrepresentation, as the combination bid is six cents per description, and the delinquent tax list cuts no figure with the average taxpayer, as only the delinquent himself has to pay the costs. This smart Aleck forgot to mention that THE JOURNAL offered to print the proceedings free and that our bid for financial statements, &c., was at least one-half smaller than the combination bid, but the tax-payers will find this all out before the year is out. Talk about your economy! Wait and see how it pans out.

CROOKSTON, Jan. 17, 1890.

Citizens of Polk County:

GENTLEMEN:—The undersigned, two of the members of a committee of three appointed by the president of the Polk County Farmers' Alliance to examine the work required of each county officer, and ascertain the amount of salary paid to each, and report what would be, in their judgment, a reasonable compensation for the services rendered, respectfully submit the following:

COUNTY AUDITOR.
Present salary,......$2,000 Clerk $1,500
Salary suggested... 1,500 Clerk 2,500

COUNTY TREASURER.
Present salary........$1,800 Clerk $1,000
Salary suggested.... 1,500 Clerk 1,300

REGISTER OF DEEDS.
Rec'd last year....$7,035 80
Salary suggested 1,500 Clerk $1,500

CLERK OF COURT.
Present salary........$1,800 Clerk $1,000
Salary suggested......1,300 Clerk 700

SUPT. OF SCHOOLS.
Present salary........$1,800
Salary suggested..... 14.00 Clerk $800

COUNTY ATTORNEY.
Present salary........$1,800
Salary suggested..... 1,250

JUDGE OF PROBATE.
Present salary......$1 750
Salary suggested..... 1,200

SHERIFF.
Estimate of last yr's receipts..............$7,500
Salary suggested.... 1,600

County to pay railroad fare for necessary travel in performance of duty, and also $2 per day for expenses. Deputy to receive $3 per day for actual labor. County Commissioners to receive bids for necessary team hire required by the Sheriff in performing his duties of office. All bills presented for expenses to be certified to and accompanied by vouchers.

All clerk hire of other officers to be certified to by clerks as the actual amount paid and received. We also suggest that the County Attorney examine the records and see that the Commissioners have not charged for more meetings of the board than the law allows.

W. A MARIN,
ANDREW STEENERSON, } Com.

A CARD.

Mrs. S. H. Barteau takes this opportunity to return thanks to her friends for their generous gift presented to her by the President of the Woman's Christian Union, at their meeting held last Thursday. It is VERY ACCEPTABLE, coming as it does, chiefly from the mothers of the children who belong to the Loyal Temperance Legion, with kind expressions of appreciation and good will, which she prizes more highly even than the gift of shining gold pieces. For the past seven months Mrs. Barteau has greatly enjoyed the weekly meetings with the children for instruction and drill, and the sunshine of their bright faces and the echo of their sweet voices will remain a permanent and beautiful picture in her memory. May God bless the dear children; may they grow strong in temperance principles, and when they grow up may the saloon with its evil influences be no more.

The McIntosh Times:—Another one of our rising young bachelors, Guy E. Pratt, has plucked up his courage and joined the noble army of Benedicks He was united in the holy bonds of matrimony, at Crookston, on Wednesday, Jan, 14th, to Miss. Carrie Davis. The happy couple arrived here on Thursday's train and have already commenced houskeeping. The Times takes pleasure in extending a hearty welcome to the bride.

The Grand Forks Plaindealer says: Conductor Graves, who has had charge of the Great Northern way fraight takes the place of Conductor Hawley in the passenger service of the Great Northern between Winnipeg and Breckenridge.

Hardware Stock and Fixtures for Sale.

I Have Recently Purchased the Business

—OF—

STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD,

And now Wish to Retire from Business in Crookston.

For information regarding this stock call at the store and inquire for A. M. Stewart.

ALL accounts and notes must be SETTLED AT ONCE, and no more credit granted. Call in and see some of the Bargains offered.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

Conductor Hawley, for some time past in charge of one of the passenger trains north of Breckenridge, has been promoted to the position of assistant superintendent of the Montana Central division of the Great Northern.

County Board Proceedings.

At the first meeting of the Board of County Commissioners, M. E. Kirsch was elected chairman. Petitions from School Dist. No. 61 to detach certain territory, was granted, and the said detached territory was authorized to form a new district under certain circumstances. John Ross was re-appointed janitor at $45 per month. The bonds of the different county officials were presented and approved. Petition relating to school dist. No. 139 was granted. Salary of county attorney fixed at $1,000; that of school superintendent at $1,200. A resolution requesting the Judge to suspend the deputy clerk of court excepting during terms of court, was passed. The legislature was memoralized to fix salaries of county officials as follows: Auditor, $1,500; clerk hire, $2,200; treasurer, $1,500; clerk, $1,200; clerk of court, $1,500; clerk $500; register of deeds, $1,500, clerk $1,500, the register and clerk to turn in the fees of said offices to the county. R. H. Nolan and Com'r Rhinehart instructed to visit the combination wood and iron bridges of the county to inspect and adjust them. The taxes of James B. White abated; also of Margaret Todd. Henry Shepard appointed deputy coroner.

Register of Deeds, Andrew Eiken, reported as follows:

Warranty deeds, quit claims, trustees and special warrantees	$1,217 50
Mortgages	1,739 25
Patents	176 75
Satisfaction of mortgages	738 50
Receiver's receipts	84 20
Certificates of sales	422 25
Assignments	150 25
Official bonds	44 25
Writ of Attachments	10 00
Letters testamentary	19 00
Tax certificates	40 00
Bonds	8 75
Plats	6 00
Notices Lis Pendens	7 25
Affidavits	9 80
Mechanics' liens	6 90
Miscellaneous	39 95
	$4,761 80

Abstracting $1,188.20, for clerk hire, stamps and stationery, $2,475.00.

REPORT OF AUDITING BOARD.

Amount in 1st Nat'l Bank, Crookston	$15,990 49
Amount in 1st Nat'l. Bank, Red Lake Falls	4,938 61
Amount in Merchants' Nat'l Bank, Crookston	15,603 82
Amount in Scandia-American Bank, Crookston	11,215 12
Amount in Bank of Fisher	5,786 86
Township orders on hand	18 00
School orders on hand	60 12
Wolf bounty warrants paid	60 00
Money orders	14 00
Currency	35 00
Gold	20 00
Silver	32 50
Nickels and pennies	439
	$58,278 89

Petition of Jas. Phalen and others for a new school district, granted.

Bills to the amount of $1,431.23 were allowed.

Committee on bridge for Sand Hill River reported favorably.

We know of a choice farm of 320 acres within three miles of the court house, every foot of it under cultivation, which can be had at a very reasonable figure with interest at only 6 per cent. If you are looking for a chance, here is a bargain. Call at THE JOURNAL office. [37-tf]

FOR SALE.

One Full Blood Jersey Bull.

Twenty-five to Thirty head of Grade Jersey cows and young stock. Will sell the same cheap for cash or negotiable notes or will trade for young steers.

Will also sell 2 span of good brood mares, one fine driving team, one three year old colt, and three sucking colts.

Also all of my household furniture and farming utensils will be sold at private sale before March 15th 1891.

E. J. Haseltine.

REPORT

OF THE CONDITION OF THE

Scandia-American Bank

At Crookston, Minn. at the Close of business on the 10th day of January, 1891.

RESOURCES.

Bills receivables	$128,411 24
Due from banks	25,988 58
Furniture and fixtures	1,400 00
Current expenses	8 85
Cash on hand	7,042 68
Total	$162,851 35

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$50,000 00
Undivided profits	15,168 44
Individual deposits subject to check	52,896 89
Demand certificates of deposit	44,786 02
Total	$162,851 35

I, Lewis Ellington, Cashier of the Scandia-American Bank, of Crookston, Minnesota, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

LEWIS ELLINGTON, Cashier.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Polk. }

Sworn and subscribed to before me this nineteenth day of January, 1891.

{Notary Seal.} ANDREW P. HANSON, Notary Public, Polk County, Minn.

Correct—Attest:
E. P. PIERCE, }
O. H. LUCKEN, } Directors.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN

Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton, Grand Forks, Crookston,

AND ALL POINTS

EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on

THE DINING CAR LINE

Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points

IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY

—AND—

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS

PASSING THROUGH

Minnesota, North Dakota, Montan Idaho, Oregon and Washington

CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars,
First and Second Class Coaches,
Pullman Tourist and
Free Colonist Sleeper
AND ELEGANT DINING CAR

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and west, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

East bound.
Passenger 7:10 p. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.
West bound.
Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p. m.

For rates, maps, time tables or special information, apply to C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston. Minn, or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

THE PIONEER

HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, . . MINN

[First publication Jan. 15th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court. Special Term, Jan. 13th, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Peder Benson, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Ole C. Bergland, administrator of the estate of Peder Benson, deceased, representing among other things that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining an allowing his account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to heirs.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard, by the Judge of this Court on Tuesday, the 10th day of February, A. D. 1891 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 13th day of January, A. D. 1890.

By the Court: C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.

139-41]

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,

GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA.

PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

1 new 13-horse power Russell Engine. (A bargain.)

1. 12-horse power Giant Plain Engine.

1 A 1 Driving Team, with Buggy and harness.

Chas. m. Lowe,
The Loan Agent.

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

From selected Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North Star.
Fife.
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

East Grand Forks Courier:—Editor Cooke, of THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, sends out a pathetic plea to his delinquent subscribers to help him raise $500 on or before Feb. 1 next, on which date he is supposed to meet obligations to that amount. We would rather try and raise the dead, and if successful, charge each one $1.50, than ask our delinquent subscribers to make up $50, much less $500. A delinquent subscriber—the average delinquent subscriber, is a tough customer, when it comes to raising money. Do not depend upon him, Bro. Cooke.

Yes, but we do, you know, and so far we have not been disappointed. According to the diagnosis of Bro. Duffy, a delinquent subscriber is no good, anyhow, but the majority of ours do not seem to be of that nature. They seem to be desirous of helping THE JOURNAL in its efforts to secure a free and open wheat market, and they are doing nobly. While it is true that a few have not responded to our statement we are pleased to be able to say that the large majority of such are not farmers. The newspapers of this country depend in a very large degree on the patronage of farmers, and the inference to be drawn from Bro. Duffy's article would seem to be that the farmer is of no earthly good, anyhow. Our experience is different, and proves to us that the more a newspaper does for a farmer the better it will be appreciated and supported, and we personally know of cases where farmers have been obliged to borrow the small amount due us—but they have done so cheerfully, and by so doing not only helped us very much, but have shown that they appreciated our work. If every man who has promised to settle comes to the front before the close of Volume 14, (May 1st, 1891) our list will be better collected up than ever before. Oh, no, Bro. Duffy, we are not losing any sleep over our delinquent list, as we have perfect confidence to believe that JOURNAL readers are all honest, and that, in time, we shall get it all. Our only anxiety is to have it in time to remove the mortgage now upon THE JOURNAL home so that we shall be able next spring to erect a good substantial brick building upon this cite and greatly enlarge our present facilities. All of which we shall be able to accomplish if our friends keep on responding in the future as they have in the past, and we have full confidence to believe that they will do it.

The Grand Forks Herald says:

Frank Gravel of Crookston was visible here yesterday. Frank would like more snow to make business go.

On dit:—That a telegram has been received here from Scott the skater announcing the race with young Eddy of this city—off.

Mr. James Sullivan, of East Grand Forks, will marry Miss Kate E. Hogan, of the same city on Wednesday next. The wedding ceremony will be consummated at St. Michael's church. Anticipated congratulations.

Ovens, the jolly Twin City traveling man, spent Sunday here and as usual had many comments to make. Among other words of wisdom that fell from his lips, was a significant remark about Kittle Halverson, the newly elected Minnesota congressman. Ovens declares Kittle to be a fine looking gentleman and not unlike our own Capt. McCormack.

On dit:—That Barney Dreelan, the jolly Great Northern engineer will eschew single blessedness shortly.

When the news spread around town last evening that Mike Reuth, the well known groceryman had made an assignment in favor of his creditors, it was scarce believed—a reporter followed up the cue and found it was really so. Mr. Rueth, when seen, said: "Yes, I've made an assignment, but I hope and believe that my creditors will all be paid a hundred cents on the dollar—all I need is a little time. The causes on my part for this action are two fold—first collections are bad—terribly bad and I could not possibly meet my payments—and secondly, that old affair of J. K. Johnson for whom I went on his attaching creditor's bond to the amount of thirty-two thousand dollars has at last been decided by the courts and a judgment is now in the hands of certain city parties—so you see the only possible thing for me to do was just as I have done. Mr. John E. Cooley here has been appointed assignee." The many friends of Mr. Rueth regret to hear of his misfortune and trust that his disabilities may only be temporary.

Warren Items.

From the Sheaf.

—Ed Slee. Albert Slee and Chas. Woolery started for the Lake of the Woods about ten days ago, and yesterday they returned with a big load of fish, 2500 lbs, which they will dispose of in Warren, Crookston and other towns along the line.

—Attorney Cooke made a business trip to Crookston the fore part of the week.

—A car load of ice was shipped to Warren from Crookston, by Manager Wees on the Tarbell farm.

—A. Grindeland went to Crookston yesterday to attend to a contest case before the U. S. Land office and to ransact other business.

Railroad Robbery.

Western Rural.

The railroad business has made a good many millionaires, and for every millionaire it has made, it has impoverished or at least retarded the prosperity of a million. It is not an entirely strange occurrence that a practical pauper, but a man rich in cheek and brilliant with audacity, worms himself, by hook or crook, into possession of a railroad, makes millions for himself in few years, and makes it difficult to determine whether or not the road he manages is a blessing or a curse. The management of railroads seems to attract the class of intellect and class conscience that distinguish in a smaller degree the men we shut up in the penitentiary because they are dangerous outside. It is always the case that when men pass a certain boundary in rascality they really attract considerable admiration and come to be regarded for what they are not. The Rural is bold to say that there has been a greater success in the education on railroad management in this country to a scientific villainy and a plausible, polished brutality than has ever attended the efforts of the bunco steerer and confidence operator in their peculiarly well managed callings. It is true there are exceptions to the rules we have laid down. It is true there are honest men and decent men in the railroad business, but there are so many of the reverse stripe that they blacken the whole crowd.

In no other line of business on the face of the earth can a man accumulate ten millions, fifteen millions or a hundred millions in a few years, whether the business is legitimate or crooked in character. But the history of railroading has been an unbroken history of plunder for the last quarter of a century and more. Men have come from the humblest walks of life, and by getting control of a railway, have become princes in wealth. And what have they returned from these fortunes to the people from whom they have filched them? Those men say in answer to such a question: "We have given the people the convenience of the railroads; we have brought them nearer to the market; we have increased the value of their farms; we have built up cities and towns." Practically the answer is false. It is false, because it does not state the whole truth. It is not true that some of those men, who have made millions of dollars in railroad management have furnished the people with the convenience of railroad. The roads, in several important instances were already built, and then came along the men who are supplied with financial absorbent powers—who are gifted as any successful crook is gifted—and gobbled the property of others. They furnished nothing. They simply converted to their own use what already existed and practiced the only practical communism that has ever been in this country. They reduced to practice the theories that finally led the anarchists to the scaffold. And what benefit is it to a farmer to bring him nearer the market if you take all his products for shipping them to market. The railroads have brought the farmer and market closer together, but after annihilating distance and encouraging him to go to the far west to develop farms, they have turned around and practically shut him out of the market by putting up rates to a robber standard; and while it is true that at one time the railroad did have the effect of raising the price of farms, to-day the value of farm lands is on the decline, and the rail road is more to blame for it than anything or all things else. It is also true that they have built up some towns that they favored and they have ruined other towns that they did not favor. Some of them have built their own towns, and contrary to law and against decency they have discriminated against all towns but their own. But what is the use of building towns, so far as the farmer is concerned, if the roads are to continue to rob him of all his profits?

The people must have relief from this soulless corporative conspiracy against their rights and their liberties. Congress must apply itself to furnishing that relief. Let the best statesmanship give the subject its profoundest attention. If it is thought best for the government to own the roads, let the government proceed to get possession. If it is believed that the Inter-State commerce law can be strengthened so as to furnish complete relief, let that be done. Do something, do anything to prevent this constant, conscienceless robbery.

Against Railroad Trusts.

National Economist

The following circular has been prepared for the purpose of exposing Jay Gould's gigantic scheme of forming a railroad trust and showing the necessity of having the government take decided steps toward the foreclosure of the Pacific railway bonds. All friendly papers are requested to copy, and all Farmers Alliances are requested to send letters to their Congressmen and petitions to Congress to the Attorney General as indicated:-

THE "RAILROAD TRUST" OF JAY GOULD CAN BE DEFEATED BY HAVING THE GOVERNMENT FORECLOSE ITS LIEN ON THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD.

In 1867 the government loaned the Union Pacific Railroad Company $33,-518,000 6 per cent bonds, and gave it an immense land grant, for the purpose of building up the West. The road has been run to enrich the managers, and its extortionate rates have been such as to oppress the settlers along its route. According to the report of the attorney general of Nebraska for 1888, the freight charges on subsidized railroads in Nebraska are 50 per cent higher than on Iowa railroads that have received no government aid. The road, although paying in ten years over $28,000,000 in dividends to its stockholders, has never paid the coupons on its subsidy bonds. These the government has been compelled to pay, and the principal of the subsidy, with the balances due on account of interest, and the unpaid coupons, now amount to nearly $66,000,000. The control of this road, reaching from Kansas City and Omaha to the Pacific Coast, was necessary to enable Mr. Gould to complete his scheme of a "railroad trust" organized for the purpose of extorting $22,400,000 annually out of Western producers to pay dividends to Eastern stockholders. It is fortunate for the people that he has obtained control at a time when the Union Pacific Railroad, alarmed at the approaching maturity of its subsidy, is a suppliant to the government to extend that subsidy for fifty years without adequate security. By defeating the proposed extension, and having the government foreclose its lien on the road, Farmers Alliance can defeat the railroad trusts scheme. Although the amount properly due the government by the road amounts to about $66,000,000, Senator Frye, of Maine, introduced a bill in the last session of this Congress that reduces this to $52,000,000, by deducing discount from payments made by the government for the account of the road, instead of adding interest to them; mortgage preceded by $15,000,000 bonds, when the government now has a second mortgage on the Union Pacific road, lands and assets preceded by only $33,500,000 bonds. He advised the government to accept these 3 per cent bonds at par, when better bonds of the Union Pacific road, paying 4½ and 5 per cent, are offered at 75 and 80 Such an extension will be the means of the government eventually losing the entire amount of the subsidy, and only a foreclosure of the government lien at once can save it, and, by removing the road from Mr. Gould's control, defeat his trust scheme. If the Frye bill passes, it will place many millions in the pockets of Mr. Gould and other stockholders of the Union Pacific railroad. The charter of the Union Pacific provides that its telegraph line shall be open to all telegraph companies on the same terms. This line, although built by money furnished by the government, is now monopolized by the Western Union Telegraph Company, and the control of Union Pacific is as necessary to Mr. Gould to defeat Mr. Wanamaker's plan of cheap telegraph facilities as it is to perfect his railroad trust. The Union Pacific has repeatedly violated the United States laws of 1873 and 1878, and has placed its charter in jeopardy. The attention of the United States Attorney General (whose duty to enforce these laws is made mandatory) was called to this matter last year by the attorney-general of Nebraska. The Farmers Alliance can call the attention of the country to, and can defeat, the scheme of Mr. Gould, by presenting to the United States Attorney-General some such resolution as this.

Whereas, the managers of the Union Pacific railroad have repeatedly violated the acts of 1873 and 1878, and are now conspiring with other railroads to form a railroad trust, in violation of the statute against trust, in violation of the charter of the Union Pacific railroad and to defeat the provisions of the Interstate Commerce act; therefore be it

Resolved. That the Attorney-General of the United States be requested to declare the charter of the Union Pacific void, to proceed to foreclose the lien of the United States against the road, and to enforce against its officers the prescribed penalties of the violated acts of 1873 and 1978.

If the Attorney-General does not heed your petition, have your representatives in congress press the matter. Then have your newspapers print this; let the people understand the character of the railroad scheme, in Congress and out.

Only Half Bought.

Western Rural.

It is announced that some of the representatives in some of our legislatures are kicking like "bay steers," because the railroads have issued them passes for only six months instead of for a year as has been the custom. They appear to think that this is only half buying a representative. But these railroad people are nothing if they are not sharp. They never buy a pig in a bag, and they do not often pay for a thing more than it is worth. Unquestionably they have concluded that a yearly pass is more than a legislator is worth. They are willing to pay a fair price, and occasionally perhaps rather an exorbitant price for something that they want. The railroads always want legislators. They keep them in stock. Hitherto they have been paying a yearly free pass for a legislator. That coast the railroads nothing of course. Still the roads have concluded that nothing was too high a price to pay for a law-maker, and so they cut it down fifty per cent. Hence they pay one half less than nothing now. Well that is enough. It will secure just as good service though full price had been paid.

For a plain, practical and instructive paper, made largely by farmers and wholly for farmers, Farm, Stock and Home of Minneapolis, Minn. has no equal among agricultural journals. We can furnish it in connection with the JOURNAL one year for only $1.50.

NOTICE.

I have purchased all notes and book accounts of the old firm of Stewart and Spottswood, dissolved, and request a settlement at once.

[38-41] WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

For Sale Cheap.

One hundred and sixty acres of first class land situated three and one-half miles north-east of Crookston. Will take wheat at one dollar per bushel. For further particulars address,

J. E. MITTON,
[12-tf] Wahpeton, N. D.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated December 29th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, December 31st, 1887, in book 34 of mortgages, page 461, whereby Albert Drager, an unmarried man, mortgageor, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the southeast quarter of section eleven (11), in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-five (45), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $370.12, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $22.20, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $392.32. Now, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22, 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 12th, 1883, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 12th, 1883, in book K of mortgages, page 91, whereby Andrew Steenerson and Bertha Steenerson, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the south half of the southeast quarter, and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty (30), in township one hundred and forty-eight (148), of range forty-eight (48), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $462.50, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $18.99, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $481.49. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at ten o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated July 21st, 1888, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, July 23d, 1888, in book 36 of mortgages, page 375, whereby Geo. Galland and Keziah Galland, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the east half of the southwest quarter of section thirty-three (33), in township one hundred and forty-nine (149), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $264.59. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 22nd, 1889, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 23rd, 1889, in book 42 of mortgages, page 41, whereby Albert Iten and Sophronia Iten, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the north half of the southwest quarter and the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section twenty-four (24), and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section twenty-three (23), all in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $467.51. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

New Millinery Store
ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY
OUR NEW
Fall Styles

LADIES,
Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

E. STEENERSON,

Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of snide Co's. ☞ CALL ON ELI!

TRY
O. J. BARNES,
THE
CITY GROCER!

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, MINNESOTA,
—DEALER IN—
Lumber, Building Paper,
PAINTS, OILS,
Doors, Windows and Mouldings

ALSO
FARM MACHINERY.
—AGENT FOR THE CELEJRATED—
MILWAUKEE HARVESTER
AND THE CELEBRATED
WINONA PLOWS,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,
OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.
Organized the State Laws.

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $5,700

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections.
Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.
C. HENDRICKSON, President.
C. O. CHRISTIANSON, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice Presiden
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.

DIRECTORS.
C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H. Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch.
H. Steenerson. L. Ellington. J. H. Looten, C. Hendrickson.
Max Ericsson. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

J. V. E. WYATT,
UNDERTAKER.
Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for
NEW GOODS.
A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material.
Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

THE NEW
NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana	FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS	100 or more, along the Great Forthern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. Whitney, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands alond the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.	LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.	Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth.	In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills, Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise.	Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines.	These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.
The valleys of Red, Mouse, Missouri, Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890. Write F. I. Whitney, St. Paul, Minn.	Hunting, Fishing.

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA

CROOKSTON
STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing
Washing and Ironing
Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting
FAMILY WASHING
Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,
(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)
REAL ESTATE,
Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.
— OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

Crookston Meat Market
E STEENERSON, Proprietor.
E. ERIKSON, Manager.
Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN,
LAWYERS,
FOURNET BLOCK,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon,
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,
ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.
WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.
Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.
☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,
Terms $1.00 per Day.

THE OLD RELIABLE
CROOKSTON
LOAN AGENCY
STILL ON DECK.

MONEY
On Real Estaee
MONEY
On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.
A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.
GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. R. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh. John Moore. W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

NEW CIGAR STORE,
SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.
Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

CALL IN

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Jan. 22, 1891.

Northern Pacific Railroad,

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
5:35 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
5:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:55 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:42 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
2:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

CROOKSTON TIME CARD.

South Line.

	Leave.	Arrive.
Passenger,	7:25 p. m.	6:55 a. m.
Freight,	10:15 a. m.	7:35 p. m.

North Line.

7:15 a. m. — 6:25 p. m.

West Line.

	Leave.	Arrive.
Passenger,	6:55 a. m.	7:25 p. m.
Freight.	7:35 p. m.	10:15 a. m.

Fosston Line.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

7:30 a. m. — 5:00 p. m.

St. Hilaire Line.

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

10:45 a. m. — 4:30 p. m

For an Enlard gelssue.

By J. H. Groff. California, Mo. National Economist.

The admitted fact by all parties of the necessity for a large circulating medium is my apology for this short letter. Though all agree that more money is essentially to the welfare of the nation, and that it is the duty of the government to supply this demand issuing legal tender notes, the omission of this money to the people is a subject on which the press is almost silent. The sub-treasury advocated by the Economist and direct loans from the government on land security are the only methods so far as we have read. The issue amounts to about ten dollars per capita, which seems to be insignificant for the business of the country. We therefore ask that the government issue legal tender notes, good for all debts, both public and private, in such quantities as will double the present per capita basis of circlation, and that said money be distributed pro rata to different States and Territories according to the population of said States, and that each State distribute to the counties and that said money be an irreducible school fund, to be kept in the county treasury and loaned to the people according to the laws and regulations of the State in which the county is situated. The interest to be used for the maintenance of the common schools. The arguments in favor of this proposition are many:

1. It will be equally distributed to all, and advantages can be almost immediately obtained.

2. It will be a perpetual school fund, and will always prevent extortionate rates of interest.

3. Trusts and syndicates cannot control it.

One can not be insensible of the great need of better facilities for educating the children of the laboring man and the farmer. One of the bright features of this proposition is that the education of the masses would be free from government dictation, a feature so disagreeable in the Blair educational bill.

He Knew the Crowd.

The Western Rural.

The presidents of the railroads running West from Chicago—with two exceptions—met last week in New York for the purpose of entering into an agreement to maintain uniform rates at competing points. At one point of the proceedings one gentlemen said: "You are all gentlemen here, in your private capacity I would trust your word and trust you with may pocket-book. But as presidents of railroads I would not believe one of you on your oath; and would not trust one of you with my pocket-book." He evidently knew the crowd that he was in, and any unprejudiced man will say that he had abundant reason to justify his opinion. He has seen these same men endeavor to act honorably among themselves before; the seen other agreements solemnly entered into and recklessly broken, and he has seen frequent instances of violation of honor, decency and contracts among these people. As this journal has repeatedly said the influence of the railroad system of this country upon the managers is of an utterly demoralizing character. The railroad has so long been used as an instrument of reckless plunder, that it has taught men to be careless of their agreements and regardless of honesty. Place men in a position in which conscience is smothered and doing wrong to the public is a steady and constant business, and very soon these men will have any moral character that they may have possessed at the beginning, undermined and utterly destroyed.

The railroad monopoly has been for many years a system of robbery. It has aided men to seize upon the property of other men and confiscate it to their own use; it has aided them to become millionaires from the sweat of other people's brows, and any business of that character will make the best man on earth contemptibly mean and flagrantly dishonest. It is a universal saying that you cannot trust the word of a railroad manager. If it is to his interest to keep his word he will keep it if it is money in his pocket to fulfill the terms of a contract he will do so; but he will do neither if it is more profitable not to do it. An honest man however, will tell the truth and keep his word if to do so even ruines him. The charge made by the railroad man in New York against railroad presidents is undeniable.

Farmer' Cheap Insurance

Iowa State Register.

The Iowa farmers it would seem have practically settled the question of cheap insurance. They have in successful operation at the present time 116 mutual ineurance companies. Each company is limited to a small district, and none but farm property is insured. The officers are not paid high salaries, and the operating expenses in every way are reduced to the minimum. In this way the farmers have been enabled to carry adequate insurance to protect themselves against losses by fire and still not be burdened with assessments. The reports made to the state auditor show that in many instances the cost of insurance has been as low as one-tenth of one per cent, while in the history of no company has it exceeded nine-tenths of one per cent. The saving in consequence has been very large. A carefully made estimate for a single county showed that fully $5,000 has been saved to farmers during one year. Many companies reported that they had operated for years without a dollar's loss.

The state convention of these farmer's mutual insurance companies has just closed in Des Moines. It was the tenth annual meeting of the kind. The convention was a large one. The reports showed that nearly all the companies were in good codition. A few it seems has sustained heavy losses during the past year and the men were accordingly discouraged. For the benefit of these companies a resolution was passed looking to the co-operation of the companies to relieve societies which have sustained losses that would requiae assessments beyond a fixed limit. This is a new feature, that if properly managed would prove of great assistance. It would equalize the burdens unduly oppressing any companils. Whatever policy may be pursued we hope that the farmers' companies may be maintained in all their integrity and continue to relieve all farmers who suffer losses.

The Farm Life.

Northwestern Agriculturist.

Brought up to agricultural pursuits a man, now a resident of Wisconsin, concluded at twenty to try "an easy life." Learned the carpenter's trade, and at forty was broken down in health. Then he returned to his always good but formerly unappreciated and rejected mother, the soil, and has lived upon the land ever since, albeit in weakness. Writing in frank confession to "The Western Farmer," in his eightieth year, he says suggestively.

"I have neighbors older than myself who can do more work in an hour than I can in a day. Young men will lightly pass this sentence, but when their health fails they will give anything to get it back. One must keep his mind constantly on his work if a carpenter, or he will make mistakes. A farmer has more time to read. Some boys call farm work monotonous I can't see that it is more so than the drudgery required for success in any vocation. I find plenty of company while wandering in the fields. The ducks and geese and pigeons are beautiful. The bobolink starting up and the quail with his shrill note of "more wet," as well as the sparrow and other birds, make music in the air."

The Queen's Latest Offer.

A Free Education or One Year's Travel in Europe.

In the Queen's "Word Contest," which the publishers of that magazine anouce as the last one they will ever offer, a free education, consisting of a three years' course in any Canadian or American Seminary of College, including all expenses, tuition and board, to be paid by the publishers of The Queen, or one year abroad, consisting of one entire year's travel in Europe, all expenses to be paid, will be given to the person sending them the largest list of words made from the text which is announced in the last issue of The Queen. A special deposit of $750 has been made in The Dominion Bank of Canada, to carry out this offer. Many other useful and valuable prizes will be awarded in order of merit. The publishers of The Queen have made their popular family magazine famous throughout both Canada and the United States by the liberal prizes given in their previous competitions, and as this will positively be the last one offered, they intend to make it excel all others as regards the value of the prizes. Send six two cent U. S. stamps for copy of The Queen containing the text, complete rules and list of prizes. Address The Canadian Queen, Toronto, Canada. [38-40]

The Rural New Yorker:

The meeting of the Farmers Alliance is disappointing to those who hoped and expected that it would commit itself to some act of folly or some demand so evidently unjust that the good sense of the people would turn against it. Not so. The leaders of Alliance seem to be wise and conservative men, who are strong enough and wise enough to fully comprehend just what the recent election really meant. So long as their minds are clear on that point they are safe. The moment they get the mistaken idea that the people gave them unlimited authority to exercise their own will and judgment they are lost. History ought to teach them that. The public man who acts as servant of the people benefits his country and helps himself. He who attempts to "boss" the people is doomed to certain failure. A good test of this conservatism will be found in the action of the Alliance concerning the formation of new political party. Many of the delegates favor such a step, but it seems evident that the majority are not yet ready for it. The leaders well known the difference in political excitement between a State and a national election. An "off" year canvas is different. Alliance hold its voters together through the fierce bitterness of a national election? It is a risk, and we do not believe the Alliance leaders will take it; we do not believe it will be wisdom. It is now absolutely certain that the party which refuses to consider the claims of the farmers and the debter classes generally will receive the worst defeat that American politics has ever known. The Alliance means union—that gives it strength the Farmers want measures, not men, the men they will send to Congress will simply carry out the measures of their constituents. Be just and conservative. Make the old parties bid for your support. In the meantime grow in thought, in unity and in true brotherhood.

For a plain, practical and instructive paper, made largely by farmers and wholly for farmers, Farm, Stock and Home of Minneapolis, Minn. has no equal among agricultural journals. We can furnish it in connection with the JOURNAL one year for only $1,50.

L. E. GOSSMAN,

Attorney-at-Law,

No. 3 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

{100 PAGES} WIDE AWAKE. {1891}

BEGINNING WITH THE HOLIDAY NUMBER

Is permanently enlarged to one hundred pages, radiant with new and larger type, a new style of page, and fresh, strong literary and pictorial attractions.

Mrs. Burton Harrison, whose story of "The Anglomaniacs" has been the sensation of the season in The Century, has written for Wide Awake a story called "Diamonds and Toads.'

Hon. John D. Long (ex-Governor of Massachusetts) furnishes six articles, under the general title of "Our Government," for the enlightenment of coming citizens—the boys and girls of to-day.

Margaret Sidney's new serial, "Five Little Peppers Grown Up," will tell more about Polly and Jasper and David and Joel and Phronsie, and others, as it runs through the year. Fifty charming illustrations by Chas. Mente.

Marietta's Good Times will chronicle in her own words, from her own manuscript, the childhood adventures of Marietta Ambrosi.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn, a little girl who had a great many ancestors, is an irresistible little folks' serial, by Elizabeth Cumings.

Unusually Interesting Articles, some elaborately pictorial: "Dining with Gladstone," by Mrs. John A. Logan; "Amy Robsart's Embroidery," by Frances A. Humphrey? "Mother Goose's Pets," by Agnes Pepplier; "Gypsies and Gypsying," by Elizabeth Robbins Pennell; "Some Horses that I have known," by Maud Howe; "Seinte Marie College of Wynchestre," by Oscar Fay Adams; "Boston's Girl Sculptor," by Mrs. Newberry; "The Sugar Crank," by Theodora R. Jenness.

Some Problems in Horology, by E. H. Hawley, of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, will interest High School students. Three sets of cash prizes.

The Best of Short Stories from thousands offered and solicited the past year – some by new authors.

Figure Drawing for Children, in twelve illustrated lessons by Caroline H. Rimmer, with four prize offers each month.

The Ever Popular Ways to do Things, the School and Playground Stories, Tangles, Post Office and Men and Things.

Wide Awake is only $2.40 a Year.

D. LOTHROP CO., Publishers, Boston.

SPRING SMILES!

Upon the Well Wintered [illegible]

"How to Preserve the Se[illegible]" "When Shall We [illegible]," [illegible] the Animals Growing," [illegible] Swine," "Does Poultry Pay," [illegible] "The Horse Market," [illegible] "My First Fruit and Vegetable Garden," [illegible] the Farm," "The Wasteful Wife," "Our Country Roads," "Are Bees Worth their Keep," [illegible] "Notes Obtained by Fraud," "The Stranger's Promise," "Are Politicians Our Friends," "What Should the Teacher Be," "How I Preserve Meats," "When to Buy Seeds," "The Boy Mechanic," "A Quarrelsome Family," "Fighting Animals," "My Early Mistakes," "Shall We Heed the Experience of Others."

These are only a few of the subjects to be found in forthcoming numbers of

FARM, STOCK AND HOME,

OF MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The most popular and reliable semi-monthly Agricultural journal published.

Edited by S. M. OWEN, assisted by scores of practical farmers, stockmen, dairymen, poultrymen, apiarists, gardeners, fruit growers, housewives, etc., etc.

Every number contains sixteen to twenty pages of 64 to 80 columns, printed from clear, new type, on fine, white book paper.

FARM, STOCK AND HOME Is issued the 1st and 15th of every month—24 numbers a year—at an annual subscription of only 50 cents.

Appreciating the value of a good, practical agricultural DON'T PASS THIS OFFER. paper to all farmers, and desiring to get the one best adapted to this locality, we have arranged with the publishers of Farm, Stock and Home to accept subscriptions at regular rates; or we will send it and THE JOURNAL one year for only $1.50. Sample copies can be seen at ths office.

BEST WEEKLY AGRICULTURAL JOURNAL.

$1.00 PER YEAR. ESTABLISHED AT CHICAGO, IN 1841. $1.00 PER YEAR.

THE
PRAIRIE FARMER
A Weekly
Journal for

THE FARM, ORCHARD AND FIRESIDE.

DEVOTED TO PRACTICAL AND CORRECT INFORMATION ON

AGRICULTURE, LIVE STOCK, VETERINARY, DAIRY, HORTICULTURE, ENTOMOLOGY, POULTRY, BEES, GARDEN AND LAWN, SCIENCE, MARKETS.

A Family Journal for two generations, the acknowledged favorite, at the fireside of western homes.

The Household Department, carefully prepared and illustrated delights the ladies.

Its Miscellany, Puzzles, and Young Folks endear it to the young members of the family.

Filled with Practical Illustrations and Concise, Timely Topics of General Interest.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

Do not fail to read THE PRAIRIE FARMER during 1891—its 51st year. Send for free sample copy or subscribe at once, addressing

THE PRAIRIE FARMER PUB. CO., 166-168 Adams St., CHICAGO, ILL.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Dec. 13th, 1890.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-eight dollars, ($198.00) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Eugene W. Danells, unmarried of Polk County, Minnesota to James M. Hawley of Albany, New York,, bearing date the fourth day of October, A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of October, A. D. 1887, at 5 o'clock p. m., in book "T" of mortgages, on page 402; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: The west half of the south-west quarter Section eight, (8) and the north half of northwest quarter of Section seventeen (17) in Township one hundred and fifty-three, Range forty-three, containing one hundred and sixty acres more or less, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Conrt House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Dec. 13th, A. D. 1890.

JAMES M. HAWLEY. Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee. [35-41] Crookston. Minn.

[First publication Jan. 8th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, January 2d, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Alexander Finlayson, deceased.

Letters of administration on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Agnes Finlayson, of said county.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in the city of Crookston, Minnesota, on Monday, the 6th day of July 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said state, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the second day of January, A. D. 1891.

By the Court. O. O. CHRISTIANSON, Judge of Probate.

[38-40]

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law,

SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

"A Formidable Body of Men."

"If we look into the profession of physic, we shall find a formidable body of men. The sight of them is enough to make men serious."

To those who are serious by the sight of this formidable body of men, we say, try Compound Oxygen. But, before you try it, find out all about it.

In order to do so, send for our work on Compound Oxygen.

Here are a few of the testimonials, but there are hundreds of others:

Drs. Starkey & Palen—Since I used your Compound Oxygen Treatment I have had no return of asthma. I used it in 1885. Mrs C. Roby, Chelmsford, Mass., Jan. 2, 1889

I am satisfied that the Compound Oxygen is an excellent remedy. Dr. O. A. Darby, President of Columbia Female College, Columbia S. C. March 13, 1888.

Under God, I believe I owe my life to your Treatment. I pray God to bless you, and give you health and strength to spread the life-saving agent among the people. C. L. Witherspoon. Sumter, S. C. March 24, 1888.

A treatise on Compound Oxygen, cotaining a history of its discovery and mode of action as well as a record of many remarkable cures, in Consumption, Catarrh, Neuralgia, Nervous, prostration, Bronchitis, Asthma, and numerous other diseases. Book sent free. Address DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1529 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.

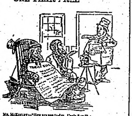
A Winter Paradise.

Our word "paradise" comes from the Greek PARADEISOS, the primary signification of which is a pleasure park, such as was attached to the residences of monarchs, in which rare animals were gathered from strange lands, and in which also beasts were preserved for the chase. In this meaning of the word, the southern portion of the United States particularly the states bordering on the Gulf of Mexico, may fairly be called a winter paradise. While the residents of the upper Mississippi Valley are in the midst of snow and ice and buffeted by winter storms, the pleasent cities and towns of Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and Florida are embosomed in green trees and blooming flowers, while breezes from the salt sea and the pine woods alternate in giving health and enjoyment to the dweller there. The favorite line giving choice of routes via either Chicago or St. Louis, for visitors from the Northwest to Southern resorts, is "The Burlington." For particulars call on your local ticket agent or address W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. agent, C. C. & N. R. R. St. Paul, Minn.

Northwestern Agriculturist:—The crowd are still sending their cattle to market, some are obliged to sell to get money, some on the account of short feed, and some because they have made up their minds to get rid of cattle as there is no money in the business. The bell-wether jumps over the fence and the biggest part of the flock follows. Reflection is not worth while, common sense, business sense, and horse sense weigh nothing, the crowd is going out of cattle, but the wise and shrewd ones are not crowding sales. It is as certain as anything in the future can be that those who have good cattle one, two and three years from now will get good prices for them.

The Northwestern Farmer

ONE YEAR FREE



MR. MCKINLEY:—"How are you to-day, Uncle Sam?"
UNCLE SAM:—"Miserable! That last dose was a leetle mite too strong for me I'm afraid."
ALLIANCE FARMER:—"Yes, and when the medicine begins to work, you will feel worse. We have decided to change doctors for you, and will then see if anything can be done to cure you."

REDUCED SAMPLE ILLUSTRATION in the NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul.

(See November 15th number, how Boys and Girls can get Christmas Gifts FREE.)

The publisher of the NORTHWESTERN FARMER will send the paper free from November 15th for the balance of the year, to every one of our readers who send their address on a postal card. Address, FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul, Minn.

THE NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER published in St. Paul, Minn., is a sixteen page, 64 column Illustrated Semi-Monthly Agricultural Journal (24 numbers in the year). It is a well-known, enterprising, ably edited and popular farm paper.

WE OFFER IT FREE

for one year to all who will pay us one year's subscription to

The Polk County Journal.

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Dec. 25th, 1890.]

DEFAULT EXISTING IN A MORTGAGE executed by Urgel Wolfe (single) mortgagor, March 18th, 1889, to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, and filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minn., March 18th, 1889, at 10:10 o'clock a. m., and recorded in book 43 of mortgages, on page 477, and by said Penney assigned to Charlotte Winslow and by her assigned to Lyman W. Winslow, on the e¼ of ne¼ of Sec. 10, and w½ of nw¼ of Sec. 11, Tp. 151, Range 42, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota; there being now due on said mortgage the sum of $353.68, besides $14 47 taxes paid by the assignee and an attorney fee of $100 00 Now, therefore, the Sheriff of said Polk County, will sell said premises at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, on the 7th day of February, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m., to satisfy said debt and costs of sale

Dated, Dec. 8th, 1890.

J. H. WILLIAMSON, Attorney for assignee.

[36-42]

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,

CROOKSTON, MINN.,

Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plain and Fancy

DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, FLANNELS,

BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for	$1.00
Rhadames for	1.00
Faille Francais for	1.00
Gros Grain for	1.00
Satin Luxors for	1.00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS.—

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel	20	cents.
54 inch Tricot	35	"
54 inch Flannel	45	"
54 inch best all wool Flannel	75	"
36 inch Henriettas	25	"

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for	30	cents.
" " "	35	"
" " medicated, for	40	"

A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket	$1.50
" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket	2.00
" 4½ lb. 10¼ white "	4.50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dr Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST.

PUBLISHED 50 YEARS CONSECUTIVELY.

RECOGNIZED as the BEST RURAL and FAMILY PERIODICAL in the WORLD, giving Invaluable Help, the Best Information, Thousands of Plans, Practical and Useful hints and Suggestions, and THOUSANDS OF ORIGINAL ENGRAVINGS ANNUALLY. Try it this year, it will Pay You well. No one can read a number without getting thoroughly Reliable and Practical Information. Profitable to Everybody. Each number contains Sketches of Labor-helping Contrivances to aid In-door and Out-door Work. Fine Engravings of Animals, Plants Flowers, Out-buildings, with many Pleasing, Instructive Pictures for Young and Old. Subscription price $1.50 a year.

We are desirous to make this the BANNER YEAR in CIRCULATION, which is now over 100,000 copies monthly.

OUR PREMIUM OFFER.

THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD CYCLOPÆDIA. Price $1.00. Bound in Cloth and Gilt. A Complete Ready Reference Library for Farmers, Gardeners, Fruit Growers, Stockmen and Housekeepers, containing a large fund of Useful Information, Facts, Hints and Suggestions, in the various Departments of Agriculture Horticulture, Live Stock Raising, Poultry Keeping, Bee Keeping, Dairy Farming, Fertilizers, Rural Architecture, Farm Implements, Household Management, Domestic Affairs, Cookery, Ladies' Fancy Work, Floriculture, Medical Matters, Etc

Containing 644 Pages, with 249 Illustrations.

This Valuable Book furnished with the AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST ONE YEAR, for $1 60, or for only 10 cents additional to the subscription price, paying postage on book.

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,

—DEALERS IN—

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, OLE OLSON GANG PLOWS,

SHELF —AND— HEAVY HARDWARE,

F. F. Thompson & Sons WALKING PLOWS. Sole Agents for the Domestic Sewing Machines

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

STOVES AND RANGES

Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., - - - Crookston.

S. L. COLLINS,

—PROPRIETOR OF—

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

W. A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office in McKinnon Block.

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank.

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, JANUARY 29, 1891. NO. 41

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES;

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

RE-ORGANIZED.

The Anti-Monopoly Association Becomes the Northwestern Farmers' Protection Association.

And Will become an Incorporated Institution--A Membership of Five Hundred Expected.

New Officers Elected.

A meeting of the Scandinavian Farmers' anti-monoply association was held last evening. Col. A. Knudson presided and Rev. F. Jorgensen officiated as Secretary. The attendance was large and enthusiastic. Messrs. E, Tharaldsen, Ole. T. Grouli and Steen A. Hofto, who were sent to Duluth to investigate into the matter of inspection and grading of grain storage, re-shibment, etc., made a report at some length of the manner in which the wheat is handled there Some interesting discoveries were noted. The committee recommended the appointment of an agent to look after the interests of an association at Duluth during the shipping season, and expressed regret that the matter has not been investigated by the farmers before. It was decided to reorganize the association and to become an incorporated institution. The new name adopted was "The Northwestern Farmers' Protective association." Officers were elected as follows:

President—E. Tharaldsen, Grand Forks.

Vice President—O. A. Sanders, Fargo.

Secretary and Manager—Thos. Ulven, McIntosh.

Treasurer—A. Knudson, Grand Forks.

The association starts out with a membership of one hundred, but it is expected that the number will be augmented to at least five hundred before this year's crop is ready for shipment. An agent will be sent to Duluth, and the project includes the erection of an elevator at Duluth as soon as practicable and the shipment of grain to the Liverpool market, without the possibility of mixing grades.

Washington Cor. PrincetonUnion.

Representative Comstock is rounding out a successful two years' term in congress by clearing up the small bills and matters of minor importance which he began. Mr. Comstock was one of those congressmen who did not introduce any bills for buncome. He did not introduce bills that did not have merit, and which he could not conscientiously use his best endeavors to secure the passage of. He went to work first on the most important measures, and with diligence and hard work he pushed them to a successful issue, and during the three months at the lot close of the session he is putting through the bills that are of less importance, and which do not cause so much trouble. Mr. Comstock has been a very successful legislator, and his successor will be very fortunate indeed if he accomplishes one-eighth of the good work which the present representative has done during the fifty first congress.

Nellie Lewis Carnation.

The latest and one of the best novelties for 1891 is an elegant Carnation, growing on long stems, a free bloomer with large flowers, of an exquisite shade of pink, something entirely different from anything in Carnations. This flower is destined to become a great favorite among the florists, as the ladies prize it very highly for corsage bouquets and decorative purposes generally. The endorsement of the old firm of James Vick, Rochester, N. Y., who introduces this plant, is enough to assure the public that it is all they claim for it. The price is only 50 cents each, three for $1.25, six for $2 25, doz. $4.00 ; but a better way would be to send 10 cents for Vick's Floral Guide and the 10 cents can be deducted from the first order forwarded for seeds.

Is Life Worth Living.

Western Rural.

This question is asked so frequently by the dyspeptic and by those who like an odd subject upon which to scribble, that it becomes monotonous; and yet, in a sense, the vast majority of people unquestionably come pretty nearly giving the negative answer. Most people do not prize life nearly as much as they think they do. The love of life is exceedingly superficial. A writer in one of the magazines for January, discusses the question as to whether we would live our lives over again if we had the chance, probably, as he suggests, that the average individual might answer the question affirmatively upon the impulse of the moment, but not upon mature reflection. Would we live over again just the same life that we have been living, say fifty or sixty years? Well we would consent to do it only if we could have the privilege of leaving out certain portions of the lives we have lived; we would if we could avoid our mistakes; if we could escape the bleak places through which we have traveled; if we could avoid the clouds that we have met on the way; and be relieved of the sorrows and tears; which is equivalent, of course, to saying, as the writer referred to suggests, that we do not wish to live our lives over again.

We might consent to do so if we could have the benefit of our experience in the life that we have already lived But careful thought upon that matter might lead us to charge our opinion Experience, we all know only too well, is not able to save us from trouble, It helps us to avoid the danger through which we have passed, but does not help us to avoid other dangers. The little child burns its fingers in the flame, and it will not put its fingers in such danger any more; but it will fall down stairs in consequence of not knowing the danger of playing at the top of them. And if by that experience it should learn to keep away from the stairs, it will play with the savage dog until it feels the animal's teeth; or eat green apples until it has the colic. So it is with life. Experience teaches us to guard against the dangers that we have already met, but we are all the time meeting new ones: and if we could begin at the cradle with all our present experience, we should find enough trouble in living another half century, to make the heart bleed and to keep alive the same old question: Is life worth living? The best thing for each of us to do is to meet the moments and the duties which they bring heroically and manfully Then life will be worth living.

Mr. Davis Land Lean Plan.

The National Economist.

Congressman-elect John Davis has for years advocated direct loans upon land to the people. As a Knight of Labor his work has long been in that line. His views are expressed fully in the following bill formulated by him for action by Congress. and which he has doutless made public for the purpose of eliciting discussion and disclosing any latent ground for objection:

That on and after the approval of this act any morgage debtor failing to meet his mortgage debt or debts according to contract shall be considered a bankrupt, and it shall not be lawful to collect such debt or debts by the usual methods of foreclosure under the laws of the several States; but the method of procedure and collection shall be as follows:

1. The creditor holding the mortgage shall proceed in person or by attorney or law representative, to the register of deeds, where the mortgage is recorded, and there procure a correct abstract of title of the estate held by his mortgage including the incumbrance created by his claim or debt. The register of deeds shall certify to the correctness of the said abstract, and attach his signature. The county clerk of said county shall also examine and certify to the correctness of the said abstract, and attach his seal and signature. Provided, after examination, the property is found to be worth the full amount of the mortgage.

2. It shall then be the duty of the creditor to proceed to the county treasurer's office, where the said abstract shall be placed permanently on file for future reference.

3. On presentation of the said certified abstract in the county treasurer's office, it shall be the duty of the said county treasurer to issue in due form, on banks prepared for the purpose, a draft for the amount of the mortgage debt, including interest and official fees to date, on the treasurer of the United States. Said draft shall be examined by the county clerk, and certified as correct by his official seal and signature. Said draft will then be due and payable by the treasurer of the Untied States on demand of any lawful holder of the same. Said draft must contain an accurate description and location of the estate mention in the abstract; and the amount of the draft shall be charged up against the said estate, creating a lawful lien on the same. The debtor shall now be allowed twenty years on the debt, by paying interests promptly on the same semi-annually, at the rate of 1 per cen- per annum; hat being the terms allowed to national bankers during the past twenty-five years. The record of the mortgage shall be marked "Settled by the United States government.

4. This procedure, herein set forth, shall be the only lawful way for collecing mortgage debts until the aggregate circulation of lawful money in the United States shall amount $50 per capita of the population, not counting the lawful reserves in banks and other fixed non-circulating deposits required by law.

5. After said aggregate of $50 per capita of population shall have been reached, the usual modes of legal procedure in the several states will again become lawful, except at such times as the increase of population shall require further floating of new money to preserve the unfluctuating aggregate of $50 per capita.

6. This said means of floating money and relieving debtors shall not prevent other legitimate means of coming and issuing money in order to facilitate or aid in reaching and maintaining the aggregate and unfluctuating circulation herein mentioned. Nor shall it be considered a bar or hindrance to private parties who desire to settle their own way by mutual consent.

7. To enable the treasury of the United States to meet the demands under this law, the treasurer shall be authorized to create and pay out on demand a sufficient amount from time to time of United States Treasury notes, receivable by the United States government for all dues. and legal tender for all debts and taxes. And, in order to show the amount of money afloat and its relation to the number of population, it shall become the duty of the United States Treasurer to embody in his monthly reports to careful calculation of the whole population at the end of each month, computed on the basis of known percentages of increase, and a statement of the money per capita afloat at the end of each month. These reports sent out monthly to the registers of deeds in the several counties in the United States shall be authority indicating the mode of procedure in the collection of mortgage debts for the ensuing month.

8. When mortgage debts become due and payable, it shall be the duty of holder of the mortgage to proceed to collection within thirty days. If procedure is not commenced within said thirty days, interest shall cease on the said mortgage on the day on which, by its terms, the debt became due and payable.

6. This law shall be applicable to real estate occupied as individual or family homes; and to lands and lots occupied for industrial and business purposes for family support. It shall not be applicable to unoccupied or unused lands.

More Money.

The Western Rural.

Everybody who knows anything about business and its requirements knows that this country needs more money. We have panics because there is a contraction of the small circulation that we have; that is to say we have what we call panics. But we never call depression a panic until everything comes to a stand still. As a matter of fact we have been in the midst of panic in this country for several years. When millions of the people—and those millions engaged in the most important industry—are struggling hard to make both ends meet, the country is in a panic. And millions have been thus struggling for years, and hence have been experiencing a panic; and why? Largely because there has been too little money in this country to do business with.

Our Common Enemies.

The Progressive Age.

It is estimated that, on an average, one and onehalf million people are out of employment in these United States. Some statisticians claim as many as two million men forced into idleness. This is a startling statement, and one which is not appreciated as should be. These men on an average represent three individvals each, or in all from four and one-half to six millions all told. These people have no purchasing power, and to just this extent the markets of our country are deprived of legitimate business. These six million people would require from seven to eight hundred million dollars to carry them through each year if they live at all comfortably. The fact that they are out of work is a demonstration of another fact, that there is over-production in the land, which, in view of the needy six millions, means that there is under-consumption. This eight hundred millions expended would give demand for labor until every idle man could obtain work. The waste of this country in tobacco almost amount to this some sum, and the wast in intoxicants exceeds this amount tremendously. If we could save the money wasted in these two worse than wastful habits the present problem of idle men and starving women and children would be solved. This fearful wast works seriously to the employers of labor as to those whom they employ. No man who has money invested in machinery, buldings, and land for the purpose of manufacture, but would be glad if he could run every working day of the year. In fact they would be pleased to have enough work to keep their machinery in motion day and night. It would pay. With the frightful waste of the drink traffic, tobacco and opium, which gives employment to a comparatively few men, the under-consumption in the comforts and necessities of life is so great, that righteous ennobling industry lags, and men and women ask for a privilege of earning their bread, and are denied it, To make war upon these wasteful habits is our patriotic duty. We must not stop there. The saloon and tobacco shop, and opium joint, while the result or the effect of an unjust social system, have become causes of intemperance, and must receive the sternest opposition from all social reformers. While we admit that the primary causes of intemperance are behind the existence of these evil institutions, we would not tarry a moment in our effort to remove them. We would not consider it wise treatment to make outward application only in the treatment of a great boil or carbuncle. We would treat the subject constitutionally, but while the larger, more radical, constitutional treatment is in process, we would allay the fever, alieviate the pain, and remove the hardening incrustations by heroic treatment. Thus would we treat these great evils that rob us of what we should have. We would and should fight front and rear. We should rake them with an enfilading fire when we can. We should, on the ground of self protection, for patriotic reasons, aid every effort that wisely looks towards the crippling and destroying of these enemies of human interest.

Insanity of Millionaires

The increased strain put on a money-making man at the present time, especially if he be engaged in speculation, is something tremendous. Time was, that the very rich people were either those who had inherited a goodly fortune, or those who had accumulated wealth by long years of steady devotion to business. Then, too, a millionaire was a wonder; now, anything short of five to twenty million puts a man out of the category of "the rich." Under the present conditions, every faculty must be constantly under whip and spur, and dangerous nervines are often resorted to. No wonder there are so many cases of death from "heart failure" among the millionaires. The way to avoid this, is to cease so much making haste to be rich; to know when one is comfortably well off, and to always select the luxurious trains of "The Burlington" when about to make a journey either for business or pleasure. Information about rates and routes to all points, can be obtained from agents of this or connecting lines, or by writing to W. J. C. Kenyon. Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul. Minn.

The Journal of the Knights of Labor (Philadelphia) discussed the financial situation:

Some of our wise men are cudgeling their brains to find the bottom cause of the recent panic. Unwise financial management in the Argentine Federation, they say, caused great losses by the Barings and other English investors, and this, creating a financial stringency in England, attracted gold from America, in turn tightening the money market here. The theory is plausible, the facts are in favor of it, and in all probability this is at least a good part of the reason. But the wise men stop here; having found or thought they had found the cause. nothing seems to them to remain to be done. Panics are like atmospheric disturbances; it is possible for man to discover their origin, or control them; and so the wise men fold their arms, and, having, as they think, located the financial storm center, consider that nothing remains to be done but to await the next commercial cyclone, and then attempt the discovery of its source. Truly all the fools are not to be found among the unlearned. One would think that it would require no great wisdom to see that if because unwise financiering in South America caused a panic in England the circulating medium of America took flight to London, it was only because that circulating medium is a commercial commodity as well as money. Gold, like all other commodities, flows with unerring certainty to the place where it is in greatest demand and commands the highest price. This much even wise men can see. Surely they ought also to be able to see the folly of having a money that is thus liable to take flight from the country. Twenty money famines in England could not take out of circulation in America one dollar of greenbacks, and with a paper money based on the credit of the people the financial blunders of five hundred Barings could not disturb industry in the United States. This is something for hardmoney men to ponder over.

DO NOT WAIT.

When slow disease, with all her host of pains,

Chills the warm tide which flow along the veins."

If the disease be slow, don't wait for it to "chill the warm tide" in the veins, but lose no time in weighing the claims of Compound Oxygen, and, if convinced, as we feel confident you will be, try it.

To aid you in arriving at a speedy conclusion, send for our treatise on compound Oxygen, its history, discovery, nature, and results. Here you will find records of numerous chronic cases hundred of testimonials, and much interesting reading.

Compound Oxygen is only made and dispensed by Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 Arch street, Philadelphia. Any substance made elsewhere, or by others, and called Compound Oxygen. is spurious. Address DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1529 Arch street, Philadelphia Pa.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized Under the State Laws.

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $5,700

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections. Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.

C. HENDRICKSON, President. A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President.
O. H. LUCKEN, 2d Vice-President. L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H. Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch.
H. Steenerson. L. Ellington. J. H. Lecken. C. Hendrickson.
Max Ericsson. L. K. Aaker. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,

—DEALERS IN—

Shelf and Heavy

HARDWARE,

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, Ole Olson Gang Plows, F. F. Thompson & Sons Walking Plows. Sole agents for the Domestic Sewing Machine.

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

STOVES AND RANGES

SOLE AGENTS FOR

Havanna Press Drills

FOR POLK COUNTY.

Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., - - - Crookston.

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN

Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton
Grand Forks, Crookston,

AND ALL POINTS

EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on

THE DINING CAR LINE

Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points

IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY

—AND—

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS

PASSING THROUGH

Minnesota, North Dakota, Montan Idaho, Oregon and Washington

CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars,
First and Second Class Coaches,
Pullman Tourist and
Free Colonist Sleeper

AND ELEGANT DINING CAR

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and west, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

East bound.

Passenger 7:10 p. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.

West bound.

Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p. m.

For rates, maps, time tables or special information, apply to C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston, Minn , or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE.

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN

L. E. GOSSMAN,

Attorney-at-Law,

No. 2 Fournet Block. | CROOKSTON, MINN.

Toledo Weekly Blade.

1891.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

THE most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding, year after year, a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

NEW story to commence first of the year, written especially for the Blade by Oliver Optic. "Money Maker Series." A series of special articles on "Side Issues," written for The Blade. Blade China Tea Sets and Dinner Sets given to club-raisers. Send for specimen copy of The Weekly Blade and our interesting announcements for the coming year.

SPECIMENS.

A specimen copy will give you a better idea of The Weekly Blade than any description we can give in an advertisement. We therefore invite everybody to write us for a specimen, which we will cheerfully mail you free; and at the same time please mail us a list of names of your friends and neigbors, and we will also mail them specimens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AGENTS.

ANYBODY can earn Ten Dollars very quickly by raising clubs for The Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address

THE BLADE,
Toledo, Ohio.

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
Drs. STARKEY & PALEN.
COMPOUND OXYGEN
NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street. Philad'a, Pa.

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids

"Compound Oxygen—its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

1891—THE ST. PAUL—DAILY NEWS.—1891

Furnishes all the News of the World.

Bright,
Fearless
and
Independent.

Champions the cause of the people independent of the political parties. Opposes monopolies and all public or private robbery by means of unjust tariff or other iniquitous legislation, State or National.

The full reports of legislative proceedings, which the Daily News will supply during the coming session of the Legislature, will alone be worth the cost of a year's subscription.

Sent by mail, postage paid, at the following remarkably low price:

Six months..........$1.75
One year..........3.00

For 75 cents additional to either a six months or a yearly subscription a complete set of the works of Charles Dickens, eleven volumes, (paper binding) will be sent postage paid.

Send for sample copies of the News Address: The Daily News, St. Paul, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Jan. 29, 1891.

'Round Home.

Wheat—	1 Hard	77.
	1 Northern	74.
	2 Northern	70.
	3 Northern	62.

Pete Misgen was in the city a few days last week.

Wheat went up one cent last week, reaching 76 for 1 Hard.

A little snow this week brightens things up wonderfully.

The "Owl Club" met with Mrs. Ed. Wile last Thursday evening.

Wheat is improving. Opened out on Tuesday morning at 78 for 1 Hard.

Hon. H. Steenerson was in St Paul on business before the Supreme Court.

Miss Kate Bell, of Fergus Falls, is visiting in the family of Engineer Bunnell.

Rev. R. H. Battey left on Monday evening for Minneapolis to visit with his family for a few days.

The daily papers of St. Paul don't seem to have a faculty of reporting the doings of the legislature correctly.

Miss Dolly Bunnell and her friend, Miss Kate Bell, went over to Grand Forks last Friday to visit friends for a few days.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational church meets with Mrs. Frank Bivins this week, on Thursday afternoon.

H. L. Melgaard, of Argyle, passed through the city on Tuesday morning en route home from a business trip to the twin cities.

"The man with the big pinchers," is what a little four-year-old Argyle boy called the conductor on a Great Northern train last week.

Hugh Sang, a former resident of Fisher, came up on the train Saturday morning. He is father of Mrs. Frankie Dickenson, of Stephen.

Bob Dunn gets left in his contest with Price for a seat in the legislature. From what we saw of the evidence we had an idea that Bob would get there.

John Cromb has formally assumed his new duties under the appointment of the Governor. The interests of the Normal schools will be safe in such hands.

John McKinnon has moved into his new office, which is located in the front part of the south half of his former machine storage room. John is getting on deck again after his attack of fever.

Anderson & Co. have taken possession of their new store on Main street and are getting things in ship shape for business. We understand that they propose to do a wholesaling business entirely.

At a meeting of Poplar River Alliance, No. 729, held on January 13th, C. P. DeMers was elected President, P. LeMay, Secretary, and John Hubert, Treasurer. The post office address of this Alliance is Lambert.

There will be regular services, conducted by the pastor, at the Congregational church, next Sunday, to which all are cordially invited. 11:00 a. m.—"Religion and Patriotism." 7:30 p. m.—"The Young Woman as Daughter." Do not fail to hear both of these discourses. All seats are free and everybody welcome.

On the N. P. train on Tuesday morning was a family consisting of father, mother and six small children, returning to their home at Grafton, N. D. from a two months visit to friends at the old home. Every one of the children had the whooping cough, and if we should say that they came back home "just a whooping," it would be literally true. That's just what they did.

Senator Lommen is catching on to his legislative work in great shape. He is very watchful over the interests of his constituents, careful and conservative, and is fast becoming a prominent and influential member. Our Polk County representative in the lower house, Will Carleton, will also make a good clean record. He is prompt and attentive to his duites, anxious to subserve our interests well and faithfully.

Senator Lommen informs THE JOURNAL that in response to the letters he sent out to ascertain the sentiment in relation to division of the county, nine out of every ten are utterly opposed to division of any kind and only one-half of the one-tenth favor division into four parts—the balance favoring a division into two counties. He has also received several remonstrances, numerously signed, against division or any sort at this time.

THE JOURNAL this week received several communications from the east side in relation to the seed wheat business. Many of the farmers found themselves unable to comply with the law in relation to payment and are anxious to have a bill introduced into the legislature giving them the needed relief. We have interviewed our members on this question and they are willing to do all in their power to obtain the required relief. It strikes us that this would be a proper subject for action by the county board, whose province it would seem to be to inquire into the matter and draft a bill for the purpose. This matter should be brought before the board at its next meeting for their consideration.

THAT INDIAN SCARE.

Some of our exchanges have recently been wasting a great deal of sympathy upon this section of the country, and trying to make it appear that the Chippewa Indians were in open rebellion, ready at any moment to declare open war against the United States of America. The basis for these reports seems to be that in some way the Indians have recently been supplied with plenty of liquor, and, as a result, have been extra hilarious, dancing and carrying on at a great rate, and some of them have been inclined to be ugly, threatening a few settlers, who, the Indians allege, have been taking wood from the reservation. These reports coming to the Governor it was deemed wise to investigate, so Adjutant Gen. Mullen, and Col. A. E. Chautler, of the Governor's staff, and a St. Paul Dispatch reporter, left St. Paul on Friday evening of last week for the front. Arriving at Crookston on Saturday morning they engaged a team at Ole Bjoin's livery stable, and with Ole as driver, departed for the scene of the alleged disturbance. Arrived at Thief River Falls they found the citizens enjoying their usual good health and regular meals, and they at once opened up headquarters at the Oh-gi'-m-ah,(a rest,) the best hotel in that thriving young city, when mine host Robbecke proceeded to show them the best hash this side of the Reeong in St. Paul. After doing ample justice to the same, they proceeded to investigate the situation fully. In the evening they accepted an invitation to attend the Indian dance about two miles from the city and found that the chief animating source of the dances is liquor. The Indians disclaimed any hostile intentions, nevertheless the General ordered arms and ammunition to be sent to the council at Thief River Falls in case they might be needed, as well as to inspire confidence among the settlers. The General "disarmed" the Indians by taking home with him a big black dog—the most belligerant looking object in their possession. The only other "arms" they had he could not remove as they were attached to the Indians by the ties of nature, dangerous to sever. The General and staff returned to this city on Sunday and took the evening N. P. train for home.

M. P. Losey, Esq., returned from St. Paul on Saturday where he has been serving as United States Grand Juror.

Chris Hanson returned from a visit to the twin cities on Saturday morning, the first time he has been there since 1874. He was very much surprised at the changes that have taken place; although he expected great changes, he says the half had not been told him. As he gazed about and saw the magnificent buildings of Minneapolis, he began to realize the importance of our wheat industry—he could see that there is big money in our wheat crops, for the simple grinding of our wheat has built many of these palatial residences and mammoth business houses. Reasoning from cause to effect, he wondered why he is not to-day rolling in wealth, for he has raised many thousands of bushels of No. 1 Hard and the man who raises the wheat ought to make far more money out of it than the man who simply converts it into flour. He is more fully impressed than ever of the capacity of a country that can raise such magnificent wheat that the mere grinding of it makes millionaires, and he now wishes a solution that will make the raiser an equal partner in the deal, at least, even though it should not give him his just proportion of it.

NOTICE.

I have purchased all notes and book accounts of the old firm of Stewart and Spottswood, dissolved, and request a settlement at once.

[38-41] WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

FARMERS,

Try the Old Farmer For Bargains!!

$12,000 worth of Goods.

Dress Flannels sold at 65 Cents,

I will sell at ....45 cents per yard

" " Ginghams at..........8 " "

" " Calico at..........5 " "

" " Vinegar at..........20 cts. per gallon.

" " Catsup at..........75 " "

" " Coffee from..........18 to 35 " pound,

" " Tomatoes at..........10 cents per can.

" " ....13 quarts Cranberries for $1.00.

" " Felt Boots and Felt Shoes Below Cost.

And everything else in proportion. I will make it to your advantage to call upon me before you purchase.

A. STURE.

ABSCESSES AND THINGS.

An abscess is a very painful and extremely dangerous thing to have on the body politic, unless it happens to be on the body of the other fellow. We never fully appreciated how dangerous they really were until our recent experience, for while we were painfully aware of their troublesome nature we did not know that they were contagious until ours broke and McKenzie got it—internally. For nearly one year we watched the little fellow grow and wax fat and McKenzie was safe, for as he knew nothing about it he had no chance to stick his nose in, but when it broke—in charity to our little neighbor we will draw the veil here, for he has had it bad ever since, and, evidently, internally, which is said to be the worst form. Our experience with abscesses leads us to infer that they are not contagious—if you keep your nose where it belongs—as McKenzie is the only one who seems to have taken it from us, and we are glad of this assurance, for while it is said that "misery loves company," we are glad to feel that McKenzie alone, of all our many friends is suffering from a too close contact with our private trouble, and it requires but little sympathy, comparatively, to square accounts. We commenced to tell what we knew about abscesses and things and have said so much about abscesses that time and space obliges us to allow our readers to imagine the thing implied.

AUCTION SALE.

About the middle of March, definite date to be fixed and announced later, I will sell at Public Auction at the Red barn, Schraeder's Livery and Sale Stables, the entire outfit, consisting of horses, buggies, carriages, harnesses, whips, robes, cutters, sleighs, and a thousand and one articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale announced later.

MRS. E. D. SCHRAEDER.

We know of a choice farm of 320 acres within three miles of the court house, every foot of it under cultivation, which can be had at a very reasonable figure with interest at only 6 per cent. If you are looking for a chance, here is a bargain. Call at THE JOURNAL office. [37-tf]

THAT "GOBBLER."

Confound it, Mac, what ails you, anyhow? Are you so constituted that you CAN'T get anything right, anyhow, or are you so utterly down on us that you will not quote us correctly under any circumstances? In our issue of the 22d, we said that the Times so "garbled" our bid as to make it appear preposterous, and in his issue of the 24th McKenzie says of us: "He accuses the Times of GOBBLING the report of the commissioners," &c. We protest, Mac, that whatever we THINK about it we did not SAY that you are a gobbler—we have too much respect for that fussy, proud old Thanksgiving bird, and your efforts to make us say so but proves the correctness of our first statement that you did "GARBLE" our bid, either intentionally or through ignorance of the plain English language. The auditor informs us that you had a verbatim copy of our bid which is now on file in his office, which bid shows that your construction of it was incorrect in every essential particular; but we suppose you will charge the county just as much as though you had got it correct. If that is the kind of service the taxpayers will get all through they will find that they have paid too dear for the whistle—and they will, anyway.

FOR SALE.

One Full Blood Jersey Bull.

Twenty-five to Thirty head of Grade Jersey cows and young stock. Will sell the same cheap for cash or negotiable notes or will trade for young steers.

Will also sell 2 span of good brood mares, one fine driving team, one three year old colt, and three sucking colts.

Also all of my household furniture and farming utensils will be sold at private sale before March 15th 1891.

E. J. Haseltine.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMETIER,
[36-tf] Lisbon, N. Dakota.

For Sale.

New milch cow. Call on M. E. Bartlett, Fairfax, or at JOURNAL office.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McCollom, of Hallock, passed through the city on Thursday evening of last week, via N. P. R. R., en route to Superior, Wis., where Mr. McCollom expects to make his future home. He has sold his drug stock and intends to close out his entire business interests at Hallock as soon as possible. The loss of Mr. McCollom will be a severe one to, not only Hallock and Kittson County, but incidentally to this upper country, a loss that will be felt more and more as time rolls on and reveals by their loss the effects of his enterprise and good works. Mr. McCollom has been a prominent merchant in Hallock for several years, but he is not built on the skin-flint pattern that is so grasping for the almighty dollar as to exact the pound of flesh to obtain it, but his plan of business has been to benefit his patrons as well as himself, and he has spent many a dollar to accomplish this purpose that many a man would have invested in bank stock or some other wealth-producing source. He established a cheese factory at Hallock for the sole purpose of encouraging the stock interests of the county and provide a good market for the products of the dairy. In order to benefit his patrons he tried to obtain permission to build a flat-house to handle grain for them, but was refused this privilege, but this did not prevent him carrying out his plans, for he at once commenced the work of putting up an elevator of regulation size and almost before the people of Kittson County realized what he was at, his elevator was ready to handle wheat. All who desired his help in making shipments, got it freely and fully, and all who wanted to ship their own wheat through his house could do so for only three-quarters of a cent per bushel elevator charges. That this enterprise of Mr. McCollom's saved the farmers of that vicinity thousands of dollars can be readily seen, as well as the fact that Mac did not realize an overgrown fortune out of it. A man like that in every village in this country could revolutionize the business of the country without much fuss and feathers, and the country can illy afford to lose even one of that sort. THE JOURNAL earnestly wishes Mr. McCullom the success in life he amply deserves.

One of our enterprising legal firms received a letter from a dweller in far off Kansas the other day and kindly permits THE JOURNAL to make extracts. By its tenor we should say that Kansas is a fine country—to leave. He says: "I received your kind letter and was glad to hear from you in relation to your country, and now I have a few more questions which I should like you to answer. 1st. Have you a good school system? The reason I want to know is that I have six children and I will not take them to a place where they cannot have the benefits of a good school, nor enjoy church privileges. 2d. What kind of wheat do they raise, fall or spring? 3d. Is it a timber or prairie country, and what is lumber worth per 1,000 feet? 4th. Is there any stones in the ground like those in Kansas or Missouri? 5th, Have they got good timber, or is it all elm, sycamore and red-bud like it is here in Kansas, that will warm a fellow three times—1st, in cutting, 2d, in hauling and having to load it about 11 or 9 times, and 3d, in getting it ready for the stove? Not to mention the comfort (?) of sitting by a sizzling elm fire and having your eyes smoked out, and see how mad the women get trying in vain to get the oven hot enough to bake a corn-dodger. 6th. What time do they have to commence to feed stock in the fall and what time do they commence work in the spring? 7th. Is there anything to do in the winter like hauling, or does a man have to sit around from September till June? 8th. About what is the average fall of snow, and how about water? Is it scarce and hard as a grindstone, and that will coat a person's true inwardness with lime like unto the inside of a tea kettle until he has to resort to senna by the pound? 9th. Are there any pure bred fowls there, or would it pay me to bring mine? I have seven different breeds, among which are some prize birds. 11th. Have you a Grand Army Post?

Answers to the above will greatly oblige, yours truly,

WAVERLY, Kansas.

Hardware Stock and Fixtures for Sale.

I Have Recently Purchased the Business

—OF—

STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD,

And now Wish to Retire from Business in Crookston.

For information regarding this stock call at the store and inquire for A. M. Stewart.

ALL accounts and notes must be SETTLED AT ONCE, and no more credit granted. Call in and see some of the Bargains offered.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

The Board of Immigration.

The Board of Immigration met at Hallock on Saturday last. Polk County was represented by M. R. Brown, Lewis Ellington and E. D. Childs. It was resolved to have one member of the Board in each county, list any and all of the farms that may be offered for sale in each county. When this is done the list so made will be printed in convenient form to send to all who write inquiring for farm lands. The list will also contain statistical and other information such as intending settlers are interested in knowing. Mr. M. R. Brown was appointed to do this work in Polk County, and if any of our readers desires to sell his farm it will be decidedly to his advantage to list his property with Mr. B. at once, as already the committee have many letters of inquiry from intending purchasers, to answer. If you wish to sell your farm go and talk with Mr. Brown who will explain more fully.

Beltrami Telaugraphs.

BELTRAMI, Jan. 16, 1891.

The republicans here are pleased to be represented on the state central committee by a man of such ability and character as E. M. Walsh.

A. Noble, who met with an accident about a week ago, is able to be out again.

C. Schweb, formerly proprietor of the Atlantic Hotel, will soon return to the town of Reis.

The case of Elder vs. Webb is on Squire Hallock's docket for next Saturday, Jan. 31st. Come to the circus, boys.

Those who are caught cutting trees on section 8 will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. The fine is $250 per tree.

Our noted trappers, Lewis Seeger and B. Murphy, have been very busy lately. They have already caught a few rats and if larger game was abundant they soon would be millionaires.

Joe Gilsoul, who has made so many trips to Belgium, is now on his way to British Columbia. "Farvel Yo."

The one-horse elevator was closed last week. The agent, W. T. Beattie, has many friends here who wish him success wherever his lot may be cast.

The young folks are having lots of fine skating on the river.

Our community was pained to learn of the death of the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Haight, and of the two youngest children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Thurston, all of Roslyn, Washington. We extend to them our heartfelt sympathy and may they be comforted and sustained while here, and when the journey of life is o'er may they meet the loved ones in the better land where all is love, joy and peace.

EDNA.

For a plain, practical and instructive paper, made largely by farmers and wholly for farmers, Farm, Stock and Home of Minneapolis, Minn. has no equal among agricultural journals. We can furnish it in connection with the JOURNAL one year for only $1,50.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

1 PAIR OF BROOD MARES

Six years old with foal to thoroughbred Percheron Norman horse.

2 Geldings, 4 years old.

2 Mares, 4 years old.

1 good Driving Horse, 6 years old.

1 pair 2 year old Mares, 7-8 Norman Percheron.

1 pair good Norman Fillies.

Address THEO. GREENHALGH, city post office, or call at the farm in Fairfax. [40-45]

[First publication Jan. 29th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, January 23d. 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Sam Johnson, deceased.

Letters testamentary on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto James Hanson, of Washington County, Minn.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county of Polk, on Monday, the 3d day of August, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks, prior to the day appointed for such examination, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, the 23d day of January, A. D. 1891.

By the Court. C. M. BENSON,
[41-43] Judge of Probate.

E. STEENERSON,

Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of snide Co's. ☞ CALL ON ELI!

Dr. M. Leguee is quite ill with erysipelas.

Joel P. Heatwole has returned from his wedding trip through England, France and Italy. Says America is good enough for him. One remark that he made seems quite peculiar for a young benedict when he said of his trip. "Its a pretty tough trip, my boy, no money or other consideration would tempt me to try it over again." Oh, Joel!

A CALL

To the Farmers of Polk Co. is hereby given to attend a meeting. to be held at Fertile, Friday Feb. 20th. at 10 o'clock a. m, to take steps towards the construction of a flowring mill. The attendance of Representatives from very town-ship is urgently requested, by the woodside Alliance and others. [41-tf]

Marshall County Leader:—Mrs. S. H. Barteau was the recipient of a very handsome money present from the Womens' Christian Union of Crookston recently. She is always active in good work and will be warmly receved at Stephen when she comes to make this her home.

McIntosh Times:—Alphouse Paradis, of Poplar River, was in the city Thursday. Mr. Paradis has been operating a cheese factory at Lambert the past season and has met with such good success that he will start another factory on his farm in Poplar River the coming season. He says a cheese factory is one of the best paying investmnt any farming community can make and places the average profit from the milk of one average cow at from 40 to 50 dollars per year. We understand that Mr. Paradis would be willing to build a cheese factory in this city if a sufficient inducement was offered him. The matter should be looked into.

Norman County Herald:—Senator E. E. Lommen, of this district has already become a prominent member of the Senate. His constituents will have no cause to regret their choice

McIntosh Times:—Ole Stovern and W. G. Hunt were at Crookston last Friday sizing up the elephants. They pronounce the county division elephant as harmless.

Ada Index:—Hon. B. M. Chesley was up from St. Paul last Saturday and Sunday visiting his family. Mr. Chesley is deeply engrossed in legislative matters and is taking a leading part in shaping things in the House. In the contest over legislative employes Chesley managed to secure a place for A. J. Wright as keeper of committee rooms at $3 per day.

Fargo Republican:—There is room in the Red River valley for five times its present population. Less than one-third of its area is in cultivation. In its agricultural history of twelve years it has never had a failure.

Duluth News:—If Mr. Donnelly is anxious to serve the farmers he should begin by economizing on his wind. Every minute he consumes in useless palaver with the talkative John Day Smith costs the state a good many hard, round 80-cent silver dollars.

The Perham Bulletin says: "A leading printing office in St. Paul is putting in type 173 mortgage foreclosure notices, for a single Dakota paper furnished by the Middlesex Banking company of Connecticut." Yet we are sometimes told that the American farmers are universally prosperous.

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF,

FINE FLOUR

[illegible] Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best,
North Star,
Fife,
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

W. A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

C. B. Buckman has returned from Washington with assurances that he will be appointed Surveyor General of Logs and Lumber. This is as it should be.

Red Lake Falls News: Senator Lommen is sending out letters to alliance officials in this section, perhaps in the interest of Crookston, asking opinions regarding a division of the county, stating, at the same time, his opposition. It would be well for the senator to remain neutral and await developments or two years hence await political death at the hands of the alliance.

It seems singular that the News can see no earthly good in the alliance nor any member of it. It seems to have the idea that the farmers of Polk County are not of sufficient importance to be worthy to take a hand in shaping events that affect their own interests—sharp politicians and town-site boomers alone are intelligent enough to do that. Senator Lommen is personally opposed to the proposed division of Polk County, but he is too broad-gauged, too liberal minded, to set up his own will in opposition to the known wishes of the people, and so he has presented a circular letter which he is sending to FARMERS—men who have the taxes to pay, to learn THEIR wishes in the matter, and this is perfectly right. Perhaps the News man was not consulted, hence his wrath, or perhaps it is fearful its little scheme should be defeated. Senator Lommen will carry out the will of a majority of the people of Polk County, so far as he can ascertain that will, regardless of consequences to himself, never fear. Senator Lommen will pay all due heed to the legitimate wants of his constituents, but jobbers and schemers need expect no sympathy from him. He aint built that way.

Walter W. Partridge died at his residence in Moorhead on Wednesday, January 21st, 1891, of typhoid pneumonia, aged 35 years. The writer became acquainted with Mr. Partridge soon after his arrival at Glyndon, from England, in 1873, and the friendship thus formed has continued without a break up to the present time, and it was but a few days ago that we had a business correspondence with Walt which might have resulted, had he lived, in his becoming a resident of Crookston. Mr. Partridge was born in England, where he received a liberal education, learned the printer's trade in Moorhead, was at one time manager of the Moorhead News Printing Co., and was at the time of his death doing a good business in job printing; he was also manager of the Moorhead Opera House. He was a prominent member of the Knights of Pythias and Ancient Order of United Workmen, in which order he carried a $2,000 life insurance policy. Mr. Partridge was one of those men whose friendship ennobles and whose influence in this world tends to make the world better for his having lived, and his memory will live long in the hearts of all whose pleasure it was to call him friend. It is indeed a hard task to write these words, and our heartfelt sympathy goes out to those mourning relatives, and yet we can but feel that it is all well with Walt; we believe that he was prepared for the change and that he is now in a happier sphere, where sorrow never enters, nor sickness distresses.

A Heavy Mercantile Business.

Superior Evening Telegram.

H. A. Johnson and O. M. Omlie, of Grafton, N. D., arrived in the city on Wednesday morning. Both are wealthy and have large interests in the Red River Valley. Mr. Johnson has been here frequently and comes this time with the full intent of going into business. He is the possessor of a scheme which will at once result in the establishment of a business that will bring heavy capital into the mercantile field here. It involves the handling at this point of a product of one of the most famous of the big flour mills of the Red River country. The mill is famed for the quality of its flour, and the greater portion of it has been exported for some years, but the eminence of this point and its shipping facilities have convinced Mr. Johnson of its pre-eminent qualities as a mart, and unless the unexpected happens, a business worth several hundred thousand dollars yearly will be located here in a few weeks. It is now a mere question of location.

Financial Legislation.

Western Rural.

It need never be hoped that there will ever be any financial legislation or proposed financial legislation, that does not recognize gold as the only proper money, that will not provoke intense opposition and the prophecy of disaster. Among the objectors to other money than gold are first the Shylock robbers who desire to practice their practical communism and despoil the people. It is the study of his class how best to pinch the debtor and how best to rob the public. The most acceptable plan is to make money scarce and dear, and all the power of the Wall streets and money loaning sharks of the country have for years been bent upon the perfection of that plan. Even silver is denounced by this class, and for years not only has the free coinage of silver been denied, but the banks, and the brokers and the Shylocks have done their utmost to degrade our silver circulation. Then the ranks of the objectors to a more liberal financial policy, are swelled by the people who prize things that are old because they are old. These are the people who have kicked at every innovation that has ever been made during their lives. It is a class that never dies and never learns anything till all the balance of the world has learned it. It is the class that ridiculed Fulton, laughed at Morse, sneered at Edison, prophesied that the reaper and mowing machine, sewing machine and every other useful invention was nonsense and worthless. They must have something that jingles or they do not consider it money, and while most of this class will consent that silver shall be used for money, they draw the line at paper.

Perhaps it would be well enough for even those who believe that legal tender paper is good enough money for practical purposes, to recognize the fact that a metal basis of currency is and will continue to be demanded by a very large proportion of our people, and to seek to make a compromise in order that our circulating medium may be increased, and our financial system bettered. Suppose we start out with the proposition that the government issue all the money, and that the notes which the government issues shall be redeemed in gold or silver, the latter, of course to enjoy free coinage. Then follow this with the proposition that the government issue say fifty per cent more notes than it has coin for redemption of, or for that matter it might make the proportion still larger and then be much better prepared to redeem the notes than the banks are, for it is a notorious fact there is not a bank in existence that could stand a run without outside help. Add to this a feature by which the farmer could borrow money with as much facility as other classes can borrow it, and why would not this plan practically embody all the principles advocated by all classes, except the gamblers of Wall street and ten-per-cent a month gang? The trouble with so many reforms is that we all have so many different ideas, and are so persistent in demanding that they shall be adopted, that nothing is accomplished. It is our duty to see if we cannot make a compromise and get something when we started out to effect a reform.

Railroad Pooling.

Western Rural.

It is announced that there is a disposition in Congress to so amend the Inter-State Commerce Law as to legalize pooling. The railroad people are such a cat and dog crowd and are so liable to inter upon a parrot and monkey enterprise, on the slightest provocation, or without provocation, that Congress appears to think that it will have to do something to save these people from destroying themselves. Every other business in the country appears to be able to get along without special attention from the government, except the rum business. But the fifty thousand dollar a year presidents cannot manage the enterprises entrusted to their care without fighting each other and destroying the value of their properties. It is a lamentable confession of overpaid stupidity when it asks Congress to let them get together, kiss each other, and all sleep in one bed, so, to speak.

Well, pooling is all right under certain limitations. If Congress will proceed to squeeze the watered stock of the railroads out of existence, and make a maximum rate of charges so that the roads cannot possibly rob the public, let them pool. All the interest that the public has in the matter is that it should not be overcharged, and when that is assured it does not care a cent whether the Podunk and Squantum railroad and the Poketown and Arizona railway keep their money in separate pouches or dump into one bag. But before pooling is legitimized the protection of the Congress will hear some thunder and see some lightning. Congress ought to be convinced that this is not a good time to hug railroads and boost monopolies. It is a pretty stupid body we are ready to admit, but a fool knows when he has been hit with a club, and knows that he may be hit again, if the club is raised over his head.

The Alliance Times (Anderson, Ind.) says:

The Alliance is a political organization and teaches politics; its principles are purely political, its intentions are political, and the man or woman who is thinking of becoming a member with any other understanding had better not send in his application for membership. While it is political it is non-partisan. Some people do not know the difference between politics and partisanship politics is the science of government; partisanship—well it is anything to beat the other party, regardless of principles or anything else.

Custer County Beacon (Broken Bow, Neb.) says;

By striking down silver and thus enhancing the value of gold, the bondholders have realized immense profit if not a dollar in interest had ever been paid them. And by this demonetizing act alone, they had been enabled to add thousands and millions of dollars to the burden of the original debt.

Labette County Statesman (Oswego, Kas.) says:

There is another trade dollar swindle in the financial incubator. It is a plan to coin a "pan-American dollar" for use in the central American nations, just as the trade dollar were made for use in Japan. It is not to be a legal tender anywhere—oh, no! that would spoil the little game—but merely a convenience of trade. They might be paid out in Central and South America for sugar, coffee, etc., but they would soon come back in the purchase of implements, flour, etc. Once in the hands of the public a discount of 25 or 50 per cent, would be established, and the "honest financier" harvest a few millions more.

Sleepy Eye Herald—: The Alliance members of the two houses of the legislature have been accused of being extremists in everything and it was predicted that they would introduce measures which would cripple railroads, monopolies, corporations, &c., but up to this writing it is the members of the other parties that they have been active as regards such legislation. Senator S. D. Peterson introduced a measure requiring the railroads and warehouse commissioners to report the actual cost of the construction per mile of each railroad with the State of Minnesota, the amount actually paid by the person or corporation constructing such railroads, for the right of way, depot, or terminal grounds, the amount of municipal or county aid, the lands granted by Congress or State, the amount realized from the sale of such lands, and the present value of the lands. The matter required by the bill shall be reported to the governor on or before the 1st of December each year. The commissioners are given the power to employ suitable engineers to obtain the information required. The bill was referred to the committee on railroads. Senator Davis, of Nicollet, introduced a bill in the Senate that reduces the legal rate of interest to six per cent. and contract rate to eighty. It provides for penalties in cases of usury. Both men are Republicans.

Among Our Exchanges.

Sleepy Eye Herald.

When a farmer happens to have a spare dollar that he has earned by hard knocks, and invests it in the Louisana Lottery the Government calls him a gambler, and if its officers see him with lottery ticket in his possession it prosecutes him as a criminal and sends him to jail. This is the law. When a Wall street gambler who has tens of thousands to speculate with in watery railroad stock, and other ficticious paper, gets caught and is likely to go to the wall, our government steps in and eases the money market, by taken the millions which it has taxed out of the farmers and pours into the "gambling" den of Wall Street, to help the fair haired gambler out. This is the difference between a poor hayseed, one-doller gambler, and a sleek, stall-fed gambler with his millions. A little judicious hanging of a few scoundrels who make our laws might put the gambling fraternity on a better equality,—Independent American.

Outside Symbathy.

Western Rural.

The deception which has been practiced upon the farmer by politicians and some other classes, is well understood and has been a distressing feature of our society. It has so far been such an uninterrupted outrage not only upon the farmer but upon common decency that it has finally resulted in a powerful combination among farmers for their own protection. It is a dull student who does not recognize in present happenings the fact that the farmers' movement has come to stay until such time at least as the producer shall be recognized as a vitally important factor in the nation's prosperity and is accorded his full rights, politically and otherwise. It was formerly thought that if farmers succeeded in getting into office they would oust themselves by radical and impractical action; and there were good grounds for that belief. For some years the farmers were not very fortunate in some of the men their votes elected to office. But farmers have made great progress in acquiring a practical knowledge of public affairs since the work of organization has been going on among them, and they are to-day as well fitted to fill the public offices as any other class. Naturally even when they act conservatively in some respects they will be charged with radicalism, for it has been so long the custom to impose upon the farming class, that large numbers of people have really come to consider it legitimate to do so and whenever farmers in office seek to put a stop to that sort of thing, they will likely be denounced as "revolutionists!" But as sure as there is a sun in the heavens these wrongs will be righted and the farmer will go straight ahead until they are righted.

The farmer, however, must be practical in politics. Usually when people talk of practical politics they mean something disreputable and mean. The Rural does not believe that practical politics is disreputable. Whenever any man or party descends to disreputable ways, they are not practical to be decent and honest. The man who commits a crime does a very impractical thing, if he is aiming at ultimate success: and so does a political party. But none of us can always have just what we would like in politics or in anything else. We must sometimes compromise, if we would be practical. The farmer will not always be able to elect to office a farmer, and the next best thing for him to do under the circumstances, is to find a man who is in sympathy with the demands and yet one who may be generally acceptable to those who can prevent the election of the farmer. There are plenty of such men. They are much more numerous than many farmers suppose. They are men who believe that the salvation of the Republic depends upon the farmers of the land, and who, recognizing that agriculture is the foundation industry of the nation and that when it is prosperious the country is prosperious, are earnest advocates of every measure that is inaugurated for the relief and encouragement of our agriculturists. There is a good deal more outside sympathy for farmers than they suspect.

Progressive Age:—The beautiful star of hope that leads us toward the realm of sobriety, love and justice, is the common school. Its ethical standard, its intellect building, and its temperance instruction, all give promise of a better day for our nation. Surely the boys and girls of the schools will prove to be less subject to the temptations of whisky and tobacco, than our generation has. It must be that they will be better equipped, morally, intellectually and physically, for life's stern, noble work, than we were. When we contemplate the schools we feel like uncovering our head in thankfulness that they are so much better than twenty years ago.

The Rice (Kan.) Eagle, says:

"Closed its doors." "Another big failure." "Another big firm goes under." Such announcements as the above fill the daily papers, and yet Congress spends its time in hatching schemes to benefit the very men who are responsible for it. The rascals should be turned out and kept out.

Living Issues (Boston, Mass.) says;

Union is coming. The Farmers' Alliance has led the way. Over the chasm of North and South, over the soldier's grave, Kansas and Florida, the farmer of Dakota and the planter of Louisiana, have shaken hands. What an achievement—forty Congressmen at its first election. The farmers taught us how. Even black and white are brothers in the Farmers Alliance. If that difference in the South can be forgotten, can reform of the East and North come together?

Mankato Free Press—: The Farmers' Alliance meeting did a commendable thing when it decided to look into the express business and see if there were not some plan which could be devised whereby a feasible and practical proposition might be submitted to the legislature to bring these corporations to a realizing sense of their duty to the public. The movement is assuming huge proportions, and unless all signs fail the express companies will be regulated. Further forbearance will not be tolerated. Our law markets will be demanded to afford relief to a long suffering public.

It Was Awful.

Anoka Union.

It is said Gov. Merriam never had so much genuine, unadulterated abuse heaped upon his head, by either newspapers, disappointed office-seekers, or victims of unfilled promises, as he did at the meeting held in St. Paul recently, where some of the leading Republicans of the State were present, by Hon. L. Fletcher, T. E. Byrnes et al. After Uncle Loren got through with the Governor he opened his vials of wrath an Fred Driscoll, Sr., and gave him an awful tongue lashing.

Douglas County News:—We congratulate Ex Gov. A. Barto upon his election to the honorable position of Grand Master of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Minnesota, a position which he is well qualified to fill.

AN INTERVIEW.

With Thos. H. Canfield, to Whom the Northwest is Largely Indebted for the Building of the Northern Pacific Railroad.

Grand Forks Plaindealer.

Few of our citizens were aware of the presence in the city last Monday of the original promoter of the Northern Pacific railroad, Thos. H. Canfield, of Burlington Vermont—the man who examined the Red River Valley and the territory west to the Rocky Mountains with reference to locating the line of railroad, while it was yet Indian territory, before there was any white settlement at Grand Forks, or elsewhere on the west of the Red River.

Few men have had so extensive acquaintance with the country between the Great Lakes and the Pacific coast as Mr. Canfield, and the faith which he entertained twenty years ago and repeatedly expressed to capitalists in the eastern cities of the great future of the Red River Vally—its wonderful resources and illimitable production—and the prediction he then made with respect to its great capacity and ultimate riches, have been far more than realised already, although they may be said to be yet in their infancy.

Mr. Canfield thinks the people who now occupy the vast tract of fertile country do not realize what a valuable heritage they have. He thinks they do not value it as they ought, nor cultivate it with that intelligent consideration and industrious care which will bring out its more full development. As he says, there is not on the face of the globe such a large tract of contiguous and rich territory as the Valley of the Red River, even excelling that of the Nile, in Egypt. Endowed by the Creator with a soil unexcelling in richness and fertility, and placed before man to learn what it will produce and so develope it.

The same industry—the same judgment, in cultivation, diversity, and rotation of crops which characterize the farms of New England and New York will make it one of the richest and most desirable countries on the continent.

Lands like this, are intriniscally worth, today, he says $50 per acre, and will pay good interest on it if properly cultivated, and instead of disparaging them the owners should strive to improve them and make them produce what they are capable of, and then contribute to the comfort, wealth and happiness of the inhabitants, and at the same time to a more enlightened, educated and refined class of society.

They should value and improve the advantages which they have and by doing it themselves, induce others to appreciate them also.

A Significant Departue.

The Voice Is the Voice of Benedict, but The Hand Thought the Hand of Gilman.

Special to The Journal.

St. Cloud, Jan. 24.—The Sauk Rapids Sentinel, edited by Geo. W. Benedict, and published by Benedict & Co. furnished a complete surprise to its readers by making the following unexpected announcement at the head of its editorial column in the last issue:

The Sentinel proposes to act wholly independent of the old political parties, and to advocate the proper principles and interests of the farmers' Alliance, the Knights of Labor, and of all legitimate labor organizations and of industrial pursuits and of taxpayers generally.

In another editorial article on the sudden change, the edtor of the Sentinel assigns as reasons that "from the very inception of Republicanism, and so long as fair issues existed and decency in leadership prevailed, the Sentinel has been Republican. In Minnesota, at least, those conditions have long since ceased to exist. A moneyed aristocray and a lot of piratical adventurers have been running the party for personal profit until they have run it into the ground. These leaders can establish standards of loyalty and codes of procedure and can prescribe punishments, but they cannot count us among their loyal or servile followers." And there is more to the effect "as for me and my house, we will serve" no party any longer that does not conduct itself according to our ideas. The Sentinel seems to want it distinctly understood that it is no longer a party organ—at least not a Republican party organ.

The Sentinel has been published and was founded by its present editor, who is a brother-in-law of ex-Lieut.-Gov. Chas. A. Gilman, since 1879. During the last five years it has been the personal organ of Chas. A. Gilman, who, it is claimed, is the "Co." of Benedict & Co., as publishers.

It is further surmised here that the writer of the above articles is none other than our ex-lieutenant-governor, who thus makes a decided flop from the Republican party and will hereafter, for a time at least, class himself with the Farmers' Alliance party.

During the November elections Mr. Gilman bobbed up as a sympathizer with the new party at various occasions, and, though it was rumored at the time that he would accept a favor of some kind from that organization, his inspiration went by unrecognized. The change of sentiment of his own organ, which he edited during the last campaign, however, will no doubt soon see "Charley" at the head of the Farmer's Alliance movement in this section, and the one time Republican leader, who was considered politically dead, will again "bob up serenely."

No opportunity was ever before offered whereby a farmer can obtain the experiences of others so cheaply as by a subscription to Farm, Stock and Home.

TRY

O. J. BARNES,

THE

CITY GROCER!

J. V. E. WYATT,

UNDERTAKER.

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for

NEW GOODS.

A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material. | Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS. - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine. B. B. Northrop. A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh. John Moore. W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

M. LeGUEE.

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

Crookston. - - - Minn.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

One-half Block from Depot.

WM. HEIDRICH, Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

Farmers custom specially invited.

Terms $1.00 per Day.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

THE NEW

NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana — FARM LANDS

NEW TOWNS — 100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. Whitney, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.

Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products. — LOW RATES

Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills. — Horses, Cattle.

Health, Wealth. — In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns. New Railways, New Mines. Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.

Sweetest Grass Hills. Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise. — Sheep, Hogs.

Herds, Mines. — These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.

The valleys of Red, Mouse, Missouri, Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890. Write F. I. Whitney, St. Paul, Minn. — Hunting, Fishing.

H. STEENERSON

ATTORNEY AT LAW

CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

P. J. RUSSELL,

Attorney-at-Law,

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Next to Merchants' Bank.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon

OFFICE IN

McKinnon Block, Crookston

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY

OUR NEW

Fall Styles

LADIES,

Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. None Finer in the Northwest.

CALL IN.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,

ATTY'S-AT-LAW,

McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Jan. 29, 1891.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
8:35 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
5:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:55 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:42 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
2:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

CROOKSTON TIME CARD.

South Line.

	Leave.	Arrive.
Passenger,	7:25 p. m.	6:55 a. m.
Freight,	10:15 a. m.	7:35 p. m.

North Line.

7:15 a. m. — 6:25 p. m.

West Line.

Passenger,	6:55 a. m.	7:25 p. m.
Freight.	7:35 p. m.	10:15 a. m.

Fosston Line.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

7:30 a. m. — 5:00 p. m.

St. Hilaire Line.

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

10:45 a. m. — 4:00 p. m

The Sub-Treasury.

By Jim M. Kan., Otawatamie., Kan National Economist.

The sub-treasury plan of the Alliance seems to be an obstacle that many of our local Democrats papers cannot, and will not, approve of, as well as R. Q Mills, of Texas. They appear to be as ignorant as stumps of the laws now in force that are comparatively the same as is asked for by the Alliance for the farmers. At the bonded whiskey warehouse at Kansas City, Mo., the government furnishes a dray that goes to the stillhouse and carts the whisky to the bond house, i. e, the basement of the government post-office building. We have not asked for the government to take our wheat, corn, oats, and cotton from our farms. Eighteen to twenty million a year is appropriated for the improvement our rivers, so that the private citizen may build and run his steamboat with more security; yet the farmer must have no warehouse. Millions have been appropriated for the signal service ostensibly to aid the steamships. Millions of acres of land have been appropriated to aid railroads: and as land became a drug in the farmer market the "paternal" government issued bonds in aid of building them; and, worse still, has sat quietly by and watched these railroads "charged all the traffic will bear" on corn, hogs cattle, etc, and gave the farmer no protection whatever from these extortionists. Hundreds of thousands are appropriated for hog cholera, fever in cattle, sugar in Kansas, silk experiments, and special favorites to hunt for bugs, flies, and worms. And the "paternal" old government just handed the whip and reins of the whole dominion over to the national banks with an understanding that Congress and the President should "play" government, provided the people kicked; but under this arrangement and our Vice-President holding appointment as financial agent of Great Britain, and Secretary Windom emptying the vaults of the Treasury into Wall street, they seems to be in about the same fix that the farmers are—without enough money to do business. Mr. Mills, too, seems to speak with authority when he says: "The Democratic party believes that the citizen is able to take care of himself and run his own finances."

Vick's Floral Guide for 1891.

No lover of a fine plant or garden can afford to be without a copy. It is an elegant book of over 100 pages 8¼ by 10½ inches, beautiful colored illustrations of Sunrise Amaranthus, Hydrangea and Potatoes. Instructions for planting, cultivating, etc. Full list of everything that can be desired in the way of vegetable and flower seeds, plants, bulbs, etc. Also the full particulars regarding the cash prizes of $1,000 and $200. The novelties have been tested and found worthy of cultivation. We hope it will be our good luck to see the Nellie Lewis Carnation and taste the Grand Rapids Lettuce. It costs nothing because the 10 cents you send for it can be deducted from the first order forwarded. We advise our friends to secure a copy of James Vick, Seedsman, Rochester, N. Y.

The Free Lance (Ashland, Ill.) says: Mr. Gould says he will make those railways that carry your produce to market pay double to the lucky stockholders; rates are going to be put up and kept up. Verily, this is enough to give the backache to even the confiding Peruvian farmers, who proudly voted the Plutocratic Demo-Republican ticket at the last election. How those farmers must love those strong hands that are robbing their children unto nakedness

The Industrial Age (St. Paul, Minn.) says:

In the past the people have created money, gold, silver and paper, and by giving a small class the control of the distribution, they have placed themselves in the power of this class to impoverish them. In the future the people (the government) should control the distribution of money for the benefit of the whole people. All real wealth is created by labor, and is exchanged by means of money, which is created by law, and law is only the will of the people legally expressed at the ballot box.

The Alliance Leader (Bolivar, N. Y.) says:

The honest people of the country irrespective of party, are expecting to see some action taken by the House of Representatives on the resolution recently offered by Representative Dockery, and now in the hands of the committee on rules, authorizing an investigation of the charge that twenty-seven Senators and Representatives joined pools formed to speculate in silver, while the silver bill, which afterward became a law, was pending at the last session. This is too serious a charge to be pigeonholed. Let the investigation proceed. If there be guilty men in Congress, show them up, regardless of their political, social, religious or financial status.

Potato, Vick's Perfection.

This variety has been grown and thoroughly tested, and the report comes from every quarter that it is one of the finest potatoes for general purposes. Its wonderful productiveness, fine appearance and good cooking qualities have made it a great favorite where known. The tubers grow compact in the hill, and are large and uniform in size, oblong inclining to oval, but generally flattened. Color white, with tinge of pink around the eyes, similar to the Hebron. The vine is of strong, vigorous growth, yet stocky and short jointed, maturing almost the same time as White Star. The introducer of this potato, James Vick, Seedsman, Rochester, N. Y., says it will prove of great value for field culture and become very popular.

[First publication Jan. 8th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, January 2d. 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Alexander Finlayson, deceased.

Letters of administration on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Agnes Finlayson, of said county.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in the city of Crookston Minnesota, on Monday, the 6th day of July 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the second day of January, A. D. 1891.

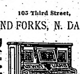
By the Court. C. O. CHRISTIANSON, Judge of Probate.

[35-40]

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,

GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA



PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.

Grand Forks, N. D.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS. - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM', Vice President.
CHAS. B. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim,	K. D. Chase,	R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine,	B. B. Northrop.	A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh.	John Moore.	W. H. Crosby
	Chas. B. Sawyer.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estate

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand, at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

100 PAGES — WIDE AWAKE. — 1891

BEGINNING WITH THE HOLIDAY NUMBER

Is permanently enlarged to one hundred pages, radiant with new and larger type, a new style of page, and fresh, strong literary and pictorial attractions.

Mrs. Burton Harrison, whose story of "The Anglomaniacs" has been the sensation of the season in The Century, has written for Wide Awake a story called "Diamonds and Toads.'

Hon. John D. Long (ex-Governor of Massachusetts) furnishes six articles, under the general title of "Our Government," for the enlightenment of coming citizens—the boys and girls of to-day.

Margaret Sidney's new serial, "Five Little Peppers Grown Up," will tell more about Polly and Jasper and David and Joel and Phronsie, and others, as it runs through the year. Fifty charming illustrations by Chas. Mente.

Marietta's Good Times will chronicle in her own words, from her own manuscript, the childhood adventures of Marietta Ambrosi.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn, a little girl who had a great many ancestors, is an irresistible little folks' serial, by Elizabeth Cumings.

Unusually Interesting Articles, some elaborately pictorial: "Dining with Gladstone," by Mrs. John A. Logan; "Amy Robsart's Embroidery," by Frances A. Humphrey? "Mother Goose's Pets," by Agnes Pepplier; "Gypsies and Gypsying," by Elizabeth Robbins Pennell; "Some Horses that I have known," by Maud Howe; "Seinte Marie College of Wynchestre," by Oscar Fay Adams; "Boston's Girl Sculptor," by Mrs. Newberry; "The Sugar Crank," by Theodora R. Jenness.

Some Problems in Horology, by E. H. Hawley, of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, will interest High School students. Three sets of cash prizes.

The Best of Short Stories from thousands offered and solicited the past year—some by new authors.

Figure Drawing for Children, in twelve illustrated lessons by Caroline H. Rimmer, with four prize offers each month.

The Ever Popular Ways to do Things, the School and Playground Stories, Tangles, Post Office and Men and Things.

Wide Awake is only $2.40 a Year.

D. LOTHROP CO., Publishers, Boston.

SPRING [illegible]

Upon Us [illegible]

"How to Preserve the [illegible]" [illegible] "Swine," "Does Poultry Pay," "Saved the Uncleaned Seed," "The Horse Market," "My First Experience with the Silo," "My First Fruit and Vegetable Garden," "Why I Don't Leave the Farm," "The Wasteful Wife," "Our Country Roads," "Are Bees Worth their Keep," "Minnesota an Apple State," "Notes Obtained by Fraud," "The Stranger's Promise," "Are Politicians Our Friends," "What Should the Teacher Do," "How I Preserve Meats," "When to Buy Seeds," "The Boy Mechanic," "A Quarrelsome Family," "Fighting Animals," "My Early Mistakes," "Shall We Heed the Experience of Others."

These are only a few of the subjects to be found in forthcoming numbers of

FARM, STOCK AND HOME,
OF MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The most popular and reliable semi monthly Agricultural journal published.

Edited by S. M. OWEN, assisted by scores of practical farmers, stockmen, dairymen, poultrymen, apiarists, gardeners, fruit growers, housewives, etc., etc.

Every number contains sixteen to twenty pages of 64 to 80 columns, printed from clear, new type, on fine, white book paper.

FARM, STOCK AND HOME Is issued the 1st and 15th of every month—24 numbers a year—at an annual subscription of only 50 cents.

DON'T PASS THIS OFFER.

[illegible] the value of a [illegible] agricultural paper to all farmers, and desiring to get the [illegible] in this locality, we have arranged with the publishers of Farm, Stock and Home to accept subscriptions at regular rates; or we will send it and THE JOURNAL one year for only $1.50. Sample copies can be seen at this office.

BEST WEEKLY AGRICULTURAL JOURNAL.

$1.00 PER YEAR. ESTABLISHED AT CHICAGO, IN 1841. $1.00 PER YEAR.

THE PRAIRIE FARMER
A Weekly Journal for

THE FARM, ORCHARD AND FIRESIDE.

DEVOTED TO PRACTICAL AND CORRECT INFORMATION ON

AGRICULTURE, LIVE STOCK, VETERINARY, DAIRY, HORTICULTURE, ENTOMOLOGY, POULTRY, BEES, GARDEN AND LAWN, SCIENCE, MARKETS.

A Family Journal for two generations, the acknowledged favorite, at the fireside of western homes.

The Household Department, carefully prepared and illustrated delights the ladies.

Its Miscellany, Puzzles, and Young Folks endear it to the young members of the family.

Filled with Practical Illustrations and Concise, Timely Topics of General Interest.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

Do not fail to read THE PRAIRIE FARMER during 1891—its 51st year. Send for free sample copy or subscribe at once, addressing

THE PRAIRIE FARMER PUB. CO., 166-168 Adams St., CHICAGO, ILL.

WHO IS IT?

BREEDER'S GAZETTE

A "SOLID" man of course—one who farms with his brains as well as his hands, and who knows that to make the farm pay in these times requires good live-stock. No man who keeps good stock can afford to be without The Breeder's Gazette. It is the acknowledged head of the American live-stock press, and we should like to see it in the hands of all our intelligent stock owners. It is a large, handsomely illustrated weekly, furnished at $2 per year, or in clubs of five or more at $1.50 each. Send for a free sample copy, or enclose twenty cents postage for the magnificent Christmas Number. Address

J. H. SANDERS PUB. CO.,
220 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

[First publication Jan. 15th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court. Special Term, Jan. 13th 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Peder Benson, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Ole O. Bergland, administrator of the estate of Peder Benson. deceased, representing among other things that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining an allowing his account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to heirs.

It is ordered. that said account be examined and petition heard, by the Judge of this Court on Tuesday, the 10th day of February, A. D. 1891 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 13th day of January, A. D. 1890.

By the Court: C. M. BENSON, Judge of Probate.

[39-41]

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office in McKinnon Block,

DR. M. WATTS,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Office over Merchants' Bank,

Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

The Northwestern Farmer

ONE YEAR FREE

MR. MCKINLEY:—"How are you to-day, Uncle Sam?"
UNCLE SAM:—"Miserable! That last dose was a little mite too strong for me [illegible]"
ALLIANCE FARMER:—"Yes, and when the medicine begins to work, you will feel worse. We have decided to change doctors for you, and will [illegible]"

REDUCED SAMPLE ILLUSTRATION in the NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul.

(See November 15th number, how Boys and Girls can get Christmas Gifts FREE.)

The publisher of the NORTHWESTERN FARMER will send the paper free from November 15th for the balance of the year, to every one of our readers who send their address on a postal card. Address, FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul, Minn.

THE NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER published in St. Paul, Minn., is a sixteen page, 64 column Illustrated Semi-Monthly Agricultural Journal (24 numbers in the year). It is a well-known, enterprising, ably edited and popular farm paper.

WE OFFER IT FREE

for one year to all who will pay us one year's subscription to

The Polk County Journal.

Crookston Meat Market

E. STEENERSON, Proprietor. E. ERIKSON, Manager.

Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN,

LAWYERS,

FOURNET BLOCK,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated December 29th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, December 31st, 1887, in book 84 of mortgages, page 461, whereby Albert Drager, an unmarried man, mortgageor, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the southeast quarter of section eleven (11), in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-five (45), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $370.12, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $22.20, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $392.32. Now, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.

Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22. 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 12th, 1883, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 12th, 1883, in book K of mortgages, page 91, whereby Andrew Steenerson and Bertha Steenerson, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the south half of the southeast quarter, and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty (30), in township one hundred and forty-eight (148), of range forty-eight (48), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $462.50, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $18.99, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $481.49. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at ten o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.

Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated July 21st, 1888, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, July 23d, 1888, in book 36 of mortgages, page 375, whereby Geo. Galland and Keziah Galland, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the east half of the southwest quarter of section thirty-three (33), in township one hundred and forty-nine (149), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $264.59. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.

Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 22nd, 1889, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 23rd, 1889, in book 42 of mortgages, page 41, whereby [illegible] Iten and Sophronia Iten, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the north half of the southwest quarter and the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section twenty-four (24), and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section twenty-three (23), all in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $437.51. Now, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee

Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

[40-46]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-eight dollars, ($198.00) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Eugene W. Danells, unmarried of Polk County, Minnesota, to James M. Hawley of Albany, New York, bearing date the fourth day of October, A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of October, A. D. 1887, at 5 o'clock p. m, in book "T" of mortgages, on page 402; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: The west half of the south-west quarter Section eight, (8) and the north half of northwest quarter of Section seventeen (17) in Township one hundred and fifty-three, Range forty-three, containing one hundred and sixty acres more or less, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Dec. 15th, A. D. 1890,

JAMES M. HAWLEY, Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
Crookston, Minn.

[35-41]

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Dec. 25th, 1890.]

DEFAULT EXISTING IN A MORTGAGE executed by Urgel Wolfe (single) mortgagor, March 18th, 1889, to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, and filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minn., March 18th, 1889, at 10:10 o'clock a m., and recorded in book 43 of mortgages, on page 477, and by said Penney assigned to Charlotte Winslow and by her assigned to Lyman W. Winslow, on the e½ of ne¼ of Sec. 10, and w½ of nw¼ of Sec. 11, Tp. 151, Range 42, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota; there being now due on said mortgage the sum of $353.08, besides $14.47 taxes paid by the assignee and an attorney fee of $100.00 Now, therefore, the Sheriff of said Polk County, will sell said premises at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, on the 7th day of February, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m., to satisfy said debt and costs of sale

Dated, Dec. 8th, 1890.

J. H. WILLIAMSON, Attorney for assignee.

[36-42]

THE PIONEER

HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade,

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, MINN

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,

CROOKSTON, MINN.,

Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plain and Fancy

DRY GOODS, C OAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, LANNELS,

BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for	$1.00
Rhadames for	1.00
Faille Francais for	1.00
Gros Grain for	1.00
Satin Luxors for	1 00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS.—

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel	20	cents.
54 inch Tricot	35	"
54 inch Flannel	45	"
54 inch best all wool Flannel	75	"
36 inch Henriettas	25	"

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for	30	cents.
" " "	35	"
" " medicated, for	40	"

A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket	$1.50
" 6. lb. 11¼ pink Blanket	2.00
" 4½ lb. 10¼ white "	4.50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dr Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST.

PUBLISHED 50 YEARS CONSECUTIVELY.

RECOGNIZED as the BEST RURAL and FAMILY PERIODICAL in the WORLD, giving Invaluable Help, the Best Information, Thousands of Plans, Practical and Useful hints and Suggestions, and THOUSANDS OF ORIGINAL ENGRAVINGS ANNUALLY. Try it this year, it will Pay You well. No one can read a number without getting thoroughly Reliable and Practical Information. Profitable to Everybody. Each number contains Sketches of Labor-helping Contrivances to aid In-door and Out-door Work. Fine Engravings of Animals, Plants Flowers, Out-buildings, with many Pleasing, Instructive Pictures for Young and Old. Subscription price $1.50 a year.

We are desirous to make this the BANNER YEAR in CIRCULATION, which is now over 100,000 copies monthly.

OUR PREMIUM OFFER.

THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD CYCLOPÆDIA. Price $1.00. Bound in Cloth and Gilt. A Complete Ready Reference Library for Farmers, Gardeners, Fruit Growers, Stockmen and Housekeepers, containing a large fund of Useful Information, Facts, Hints and Suggestions, in the various Departments of Agriculture Horticulture, Live Stock Raising, Poultry Keeping, Bee Keeping, Dairy Farming, Fertilizers, Rural Architecture, Farm Implements, Household Management, Domestic Affairs, Cookery, Ladies' Fancy Work, Floriculture, Medical Matters, Etc

Containing 644 Pages, with 249 Illustrations.

This Valuable Book furnished with the AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST ONE YEAR, for $1.60, or for only 10 cents additional to the subscription price, paying postage on book.

S. L. COLLINS,

—PROPRIETOR OF—

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

n connection which I will attend to in person.

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN, MINNESOTA,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

Doors, Windows and Mouldings

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY.

—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Jan. 29, 1891.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
5:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
[illegible]	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
6:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:55 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:48 "	Grand Forks	5:50
2:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

CROOKSTON TIME CARD.

South Line.

Leave.	Arrive.
Passenger, 7:25 p. m.	6:55 a. m.
Freight, 10:15 a. m.	7:25 p. m.

North Line.

7:15 a. m.	6:25 p. m.

West Line.

Passenger, 6:55 a. m.	7:25 p. m.
Freight, 7:35 p. m.	10:15 a. m.

Fosston Line
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

7:30 a. m.	5:00 p. m.

St. Hilaire Line.
Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

10:45 a. m.	4:00 p. m.

The Sub-Treasury.

By Jim M. Kan., Osawatamie., Kan National Economist.

The sub-treasury plan of the Alliance seems to be an obstacle that many of our local Democrats papers cannot and will not, approve of, as well as R. Q. Mills, of Texas. They appear to be as ignorant as stumps of the laws now in force that are comparatively the same as is asked for by the Alliance for the farmers. At the bonded whiskey warehouse at Kansas City, Mo., the government furnishes a dray that goes to the stillhouse and carts the whisky to the bond house, i. e., the basement of the government post-office building. We have not asked for the government to take our wheat, corn, oats, and cotton from our farms. Eighteen to twenty million a year is appropriated for the improvement our rivers, so that the private citizen may build and run his steamboat with more security; yet the farmer must have no warehouse. Millions have been appropriated for the signal service ostensibly to aid the steamships. Millions of acres of land have been appropriated to aid railroads: and as land became a drug in the farmer market the "paternal" government issued bonds in aid of building them; and, worse still, has sat quietly by and watched these railroads "charged all the traffic will bear" on corn, hogs cattle, etc., and gave the farmer no protection whatever from these extortionists. Hundreds of thousands are appropriated for hog cholera, fever in cattle, sugar in Kansas, silk experiments, and special favorites to hunt for bugs, flies, and worms. And the "paternal" old government just handed the whip and reins of the whole dominion over to the national banks with an understanding that Congress and the President should "play" government, provided the people kicked; but under this arrangement and our Vice President holding appointment as financial agent of Great Britain, and Secretary Windom emptying the vaults of the Treasury into Wall street, they seems to be in about the same fix that the farmers are—without enough money to do business. Mr. Mills, too, seems to speak with authority when he says: "The Democratic party believes that the citizen is able to take care of himself and run his own finances."

Vick's Floral Guide for 1891.

No lover of a fine plant or garden can afford to be without a copy. It is an elegant book of over 100 pages 8¼ by 10½ inches, beautiful colored illustrations of Sunrise Amaranthus, Hydrangea and Potatoes. Instructions for planting, cultivating, etc. Full list of everything that can be desired in the way of vegetable and flower seeds, plants, bulbs, etc. Also the full particulars regarding the cash prizes of $1,000 and $200. The novelties have been tested and found worthy of cultivation. We hope it will be our good luck to see the Nellie Lewis Carnation and taste the Grand Rapids Lettuce. It costs nothing because the 10 cents you send for it can be deducted from the first order forwarded. We advise our friends to secure a copy of James Vick, Seedsman, Rochester, N. Y.

The Free Lance (Ashland, Ill.) says:

Mr. Gould says he will make those railways that carry your produce to market pay double to the lucky stockholders rates are going to be put up and kept up. Verily, this is enough to give the backache to even the confiding Peruvian farmers, who proudly voted the Plutocratic Demo-Republican ticket at the last election. How those farmers must love those strong hands that are robbing their children unto nakedness

The Industrial Age (St. Paul, Minn.) says:

In the past the people have created money, gold, silver and paper, and by [illegible] the control of the [illegible] they have placed them [illegible] law, and law is only the will of the people legally expressed at the ballot box.

The Alliance Leader (Bolivar, N. Y.) says:

The honest people of the country irrespective of party, are expecting to see some action taken by the House of Representatives on the resolution recently offered by Representative Dockery, and now in the hands of the committee on rules, authorizing an investigation of the charge that twenty-seven Senators and Representatives joined pools formed to speculate in silver, while the silver bill, which afterward became a law, was pending at the last session. This is too serious a charge to be pigeon-holed. Let the investigation proceed. If there be guilty men in Congress, show them up, regardless of their political, social, religious or financial status.

Potato, Vick's Perfection.

This variety has been grown and thoroughly tested, and the report comes from every quarter that it is one of the finest potatoes for general purposes. Its wonderful productiveness, fine appearance and good cooking qualities have made it a great favorite where known. The tubers grow compact in the hill, and are large and uniform in size, oblong inclining to oval, but generally flattened. Color white, with tinge of pink around the eyes, similar to the Hebron. The vine is of strong, vigorous growth, yet stocky and short jointed, maturing almost the same time as White Star. The introducer of this potato, James Vick, Seedsman, Rochester, N. Y., says it will prove of great value for field culture and become very popular.

[First publication Jan. 8th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, January 2d, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Alexander Finlayson, deceased.

Letters of administration on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Agnes Finlayson, of said county.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in the city of Crookston Minnesota, on Monday, the 6th day of July 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the second day of January, A. D. 1891.

By the Court. C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.
[38-40]

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,

GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA

PIANOS ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, $100,000

SURPLUS, $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. O. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cash'r.

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, R. D. Childs
Geo. O. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby,
Chas. E. Sawyer.

THE OLD RELIABLE
CROOKSTON
LOAN AGENCY
STILL ON DECK

MONEY
On Real Estate

MONEY
On Approved Chattels

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you want Money.
A. D. STEPHENS,
[illegible] Crookston, Minn.

100 PAGES WIDE AWAKE. 1891

BEGINNING WITH THE HOLIDAY NUMBER

Is permanently enlarged to one hundred pages, radiant with new and larger type, a new style of page, and fresh, strong literary and pictorial attractions.

Mrs. Burton Harrison, whose story of "The Anglomaniacs" has been the sensation of the season in The Century, has written for Wide Awake a story called "Diamonds and Toads."

Hon. John D. Long (ex-Governor of Massachusetts) furnishes six articles, under the general title of "Our Government," for the enlightenment of coming citizens—the boys and girls of to-day.

Margaret Sidney's new serial, "Five Little Peppers Grown Up," will tell more about Polly and Jasper and David and Joel and Phronsie, and others, as it runs through the year. Fifty charming illustrations by Chas. Mente.

Marietta's Good Times will chronicle in her own words, from her own manuscript, the childhood adventures of Marietta Ambrosi.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn, a little girl who had a great many ancestors, is an irresistible little folks' serial, by Elizabeth Cumings.

Unusually Interesting Articles, some elaborately pictorial: "Dining with Gladstone," by Mrs. John A. Logan; "Amy Robsart's Embroidery," by Frances A. Humphrey; "Mother Goose's Pets," by Agnes Repplier; "Gypsies and Gypsying," by Elizabeth Robbins Pennell; "Some Horses that I have known," by Maud Howe; "Seinte Marie College of Wynchestre," by Oscar Fay Adams; "Boston's Girl Sculptor," by Mrs. Newberry; "The Sugar Crank," by Theodora R. Jenness.

Some Problems in Horology, by E. H. Hawley, of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, will interest High School students. Three sets of cash prizes.

The Best of Short Stories from thousands offered and solicited the past year—some by new authors.

Figure Drawing for Children, in twelve illustrated lessons by Caroline H. Rimmer, with four prize offers each month.

The Ever Popular Ways to do Things, the School and Playground Stories, Tangles, Post Office and Men and Things.

Wide Awake is only $2.40 a Year.

D. LOTHROP CO., Publishers, Boston.

SPRING [illegible]

Upon the Wall [illegible]

"How to Preserve the [illegible]" "When [illegible]" "[illegible] the Animals Growing," "[illegible]" "Does Poultry Pay," "Shall We Use Blooded Sires," "The Horse Market," "My First Experience with the Silo," "My First Fruit and Vegetable Garden," "Why I Don't Leave the Farm," "The Wasteful Wife," "Our Country Roads," "Are Bees Worth their Keep," "Minnesota an Apple State," "Notes Obtained by Fraud," "The Stranger's Promise," "Are Politicians Our Friends," "What Should the Teacher Do," "How I Preserve Meats," "When to Buy Seeds," "The Boy Mechanic," "A Quarrelsome Family," "Fighting Animals," "My Early Mistakes," "Shall We Heed the Experience of Others."

These are only a few of the subjects to be found in forthcoming numbers of

FARM, STOCK AND HOME,
OF MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The most popular and reliable semi monthly Agricultural journal published.

Edited by S. M. OWEN, assisted by scores of practical farmers, stockmen, dairymen, poultrymen, apiarists, gardeners, fruit growers, housewives, etc., etc.

Every number contains sixteen to twenty pages of 64 to 80 columns, printed from clear, new type, on fine, white book paper.

FARM, STOCK AND HOME is issued the 1st and 15th of every month—24 numbers a year—at an annual subscription of only 50 cents.

DON'T PASS THIS OFFER. [illegible] paper to all farmers, and desiring to get the [illegible] we have arranged with the publishers of Farm, Stock and Home to accept subscriptions at regular rates; or we will send it and THE JOURNAL one year for only $1.50. Sample copies can be seen at this office.

BEST WEEKLY AGRICULTURAL JOURNAL.

$1.00 PER YEAR. ESTABLISHED AT CHICAGO, IN 1841. $1.00 PER YEAR.

The PRAIRIE FARMER
A Weekly Journal for

THE FARM, ORCHARD AND FIRESIDE.

DEVOTED TO PRACTICAL AND CORRECT INFORMATION ON

AGRICULTURE, LIVE STOCK, VETERINARY, DAIRY, HORTICULTURE, ENTOMOLOGY, POULTRY, BEES, GARDEN AND LAWN, SCIENCE, MARKETS.

A Family Journal for two generations, the acknowledged favorite, at the fireside of western homes.

The Household Department, carefully prepared and illustrated delights the ladies.

Its Miscellany, Puzzles, and Young Folks endear it to the young members of the family.

Filled with Practical Illustrations and Concise, Timely Topics of General Interest.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

Do not fail to read THE PRAIRIE FARMER during 1891—its 51st year. Send for free sample copy or subscribe at once, addressing

THE PRAIRIE FARMER PUB. CO., 166-168 Adams St., CHICAGO, ILL.

WHO IS IT?

BREEDER'S GAZETTE

A "SOLID" man of course—one who farms with his brains as well as his hands, and who knows that to make the farm pay in these times requires good live-stock. No man who keeps good stock can afford to be without The Breeder's Gazette. It is the acknowledged head of the American live-stock press, and we should like to see it in the hands of all our intelligent stock owners. It is a large, handsomely illustrated weekly, furnished at $2 per year, or in clubs of five or more at $1.50 each. Send for a free sample copy, or enclose twenty cents postage for the magnificent Christmas Number. Address

J. H. SANDERS PUB. CO.,
358 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

[First publication Jan. 15th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court. Special Term, Jan. 13th 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Peder Benson, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Ole O. Bergland, administrator of the estate of Peder Benson, deceased, representing, among other things that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing his account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to heirs.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard, by the Judge of this Court on Tuesday, the 10th day of February, A. D. 1891 at 10 o'clock a. m. at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 13th day of January, A. D. 1890.

By the Court, O. M. BENSON
[39-41] Judge of Probate.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.

Graduate McGill University, Montreal. Licensed College Physicians and Surgeons, Quebec.

Office in McKinnon Block

DR. M. WATTS

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants Bank. Professional calls by day or night promptly attended.

The Northwestern Farmer

ONE YEAR FREE

REDUCED SAMPLE ILLUSTRATION in the NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul.

(See November 15th number, how Boys and Girls can get Christmas Gifts FREE.)

The publisher of the NORTHWESTERN FARMER will send the paper free from November 15th for the balance of the year, to every one of our readers who send their address on a postal card. Address FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul, Minn.

THE NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER published in St. Paul, Minn., is a sixteen page, 64 column Illustrated Semi-Monthly Agricultural Journal (24 numbers in the year). It is a well-known, enterprising, ably edited and popular farm paper.

WE OFFER IT FREE

for one year to all who will pay us one year's subscription to

The Polk County Journal.

Crookston Meat Market

E. STEENERSON, Proprietor. E. ERIKSON, Manager.

Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN

LAWYERS.

FOURNET BLOCK,

CROOKSTON, MINN.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated December 20th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, December 31st, 1887, in book 34 of mortgages, page 461, whereby Albert Drager, an unmarried man, mortgageor, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the southeast quarter of section eleven (11), in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-five (45), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $370.12, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $22.20, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $392.32. Now, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22, 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 12th, 1883, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 12th, 1883, in book K of mortgages, page 91, whereby Andrew Steenerson and Bertha Steenerson, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the south half of the southeast quarter, and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty (30), in township one hundred and forty-eight (148), of range forty-eight (48), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $462.50, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $18.99, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $481.49. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at ten o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated July 21st, 1888, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, July 23d, 1888, in book 36 of mortgages, page 375, whereby Geo. Galland and Keziah Galland, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the east half of the southwest quarter of section thirty-three (33), in township one hundred and forty-nine (149), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $264.59. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 22nd, 1889, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 23rd, 1889, in book 42 of mortgages, page 41, whereby Andre Iten and Sophronia Iten, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the north half of the southwest quarter and the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section twenty-four (24), and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section twenty-three (23), all in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $437.51. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.
[40-46]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Dec. 18th, 1890.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-eight dollars, ($198.00) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Eugene W. Danells, unmarried of Polk County, Minnesota, to James M. Hawley, of Albany, New York, bearing date the fourth day of October, A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of October, A. D. 1887, at 5 o'clock p. m., in book "T" of mortgages, on page 403; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: The west half of the south-west quarter Section eight, (8) and the north half of northwest quarter of Section seventeen (17) in Township one hundred and fifty-three, Range forty-three, containing one hundred and sixty acres more or less, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Dec. 15th, A. D. 1890.

JAMES M. HAWLEY, Mortgagee,
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[35-41] Crookston, Minn.

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Dec. 25th, 1890.]

DEFAULT EXISTING IN A MORTGAGE executed by Urgel Wolfe (single) mortgagor, March 18th, 1889, to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, and filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minn., March 18th, 1889, at 10:10 o'clock a. m., and recorded in book 43 of mortgages, on page 477, and by said Penney assigned to Charlotte Winslow and by her assigned to Lyman W. Winslow, on the e½ of ne¼ of Sec. 10, and w½ of nw¼ of Sec. 11, Tp. 151, Range 42, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota; there being now due on said mortgage the sum of $853.68, besides $14.47 taxes paid by the assignee and an attorney fee of $100.00. Now, therefore, the Sheriff of said Polk County, will sell said premises at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, on the 7th day of February, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m., to satisfy said debt and costs of sale.

Dated, Dec. 8th, 1890.

J. H. WILLIAMSON,
[36-42] Attorney for assignee.

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor. of Broadway and Third Sts.

CROOKSTON, MINN

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,

CROOKSTON, MINN.,

Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plain and Fancy

DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, FLANNELS,

BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for	$1.00
Rhadames for	1.00
Faille Francais for	1.00
Gros Grain for	1.00
Satin Luxors for	1.00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS.—

Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel	20 cents.
54 inch Tricot	35 "
54 inch Flannel	45 "
54 inch best all wool Flannel	75 "
36 inch Henriettas	25 "

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for	30 cents.
" " "	35 "
" " medicated, for	40 "

A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket	$1.50
" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket	2.00
" 4½ lb. 10¼ white "	4.50

Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each.

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dry Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST.

PUBLISHED 50 YEARS CONSECUTIVELY.

RECOGNIZED as the BEST RURAL and FAMILY PERIODICAL in the WORLD, giving Invaluable Help, the Best Information, Thousands of Plans, Practical and Useful hints and Suggestions, and THOUSANDS OF ORIGINAL ENGRAVINGS ANNUALLY. Try it this year, it will Pay You well. No one can read a number without getting thoroughly Reliable and Practical Information. Profitable to Everybody. Each number contains Sketches of Labor-helping Contrivances to aid In-door and Out-door Work. Fine Engravings of Animals, Plants Flowers, Out-buildings, with many Pleasing, Instructive Pictures for Young and Old. Subscription price $1.50 a year.

We are desirous to make this the BANNER YEAR in CIRCULATION, which is now over 100,000 copies monthly.

OUR PREMIUM OFFER.

THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD CYCLOPÆDIA. Price $1.00. Bound in Cloth and Gilt. A Complete Ready Reference Library for Farmers, Gardeners, Fruit Growers, Stockmen and Housekeepers, containing a large fund of Useful Information, Facts, Hints and Suggestions, in the various Departments of Agriculture Horticulture, Live Stock Raising, Poultry Keeping, Bee Keeping, Dairy Farming, Fertilizers, Rural Architecture, Farm Implements, Household Management, Domestic Affairs, Cookery, Ladies' Fancy Work, Floriculture, Medical Matters, Etc

Containing 644 Pages, with 249 Illustrations.

This Valuable Book furnished with the AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST ONE YEAR, for $1.60, or for only 10 cents additional to the subscription price, paying postage on book.

S. L. COLLINS,

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN, MINNESOTA,

DEALER IN

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

Doors, Windows and Mouldings

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY.

—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, FEBRUARY 5, 1891. NO. 42

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ Inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

President Swift

Addresses Polk County Alliance.

Should Send a Delegate to Cincinnati.

MENTOR, Polk Co., Minn.,
January 25, 1891.

ED. JOURNAL: You will notice an article in your issue of Jan. 22d, from The Rural New Yorker, which starts out very well but winds up by setting forth the same scare-crow ideas that were used in and before the last republican campaign, and even before the conventions were called, claiming that the alliance could not carry a single point if they put a ticket in the field; that our only hope of success lay in combining with one of the old political parties, and that the republican party was willing to give us two of the legislative offices, and that if we did not combine with them we would lose all, and as a half loaf was better than nothing, a few of the alliance members were anxious to accept their offer. You recollect well that I held that our only hope of success lay in an independent ticket, and the result of the election shows that nearly the whole of the alliance members thought and felt the same as I did, and as there is now a move in the direction of forming a national independent union party, it would seem by the reading of the article I mention that the writer would have us believe that he is friendly to the alliance, while at heart he is a political schemer and addicted to bulldozing. He seems to be very much alarmed lest there should be a national union party formed, and still more alarmed lest, if such party is formed, it will be successful. We have been bulldosed and swindled out of nearly, if not quite all of the profits of our labor for some years past, and now, brother farmers, that we have taken the bull by the horns, is there any reason why, simply because the bull is getting scared, we should let go our hold, that he may turn on us and gore the very life out of us, and then laugh at us for being a lot of chicken-hearted idiots for deserting our principles instead of doing our full duty to ourselves and the rising generation? It is all very well to say that both of the old parties, who have refused to listen to our appeals for justice in the past, and who may refuse to grant our requests in the future notwithstanding the severe lesson they were taught at the polls last November, will surely receive the worst punishment ever inflicted upon a party by the hands of the people. Is it wisdom to trust either of the old parties again, as they have in the past ignored every appeal to them from the people for justice at their hands? Is it wise to be scared because they will say that the leaders of the alliance movement will not know the difference, in the political excitement, between a state and a national election? An "off" year canvas is different; can the alliance hold its voters together through the fierce bitterness of a national election? It is, they say, a risk that they do not believe the alliance leaders will take, as it would not be wise at this time. If the editor of the Rural New Yorker was himself a farmer or some downtrodden laborer who was afraid of such a risk, it would seem different. From the tenor of the article, we should judge the writer's most effective and idolized aim is how to get the largest rate of interest on his money, no matter how many honest men's children go to bed without their supper. A new national party, if it don't succeed, will lose nothing, but if successful they have everything to gain, and, by the way, I see there is a call for one delegate from each county alliance to attend a national conference, to be held at Cincinnati, Ohio, February 23d, 1891, and I have made a call for a county meeting, to be held Feb. 13th, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Court House in the city of Crookston, and have spoken to the depot agent to try and get reduced rates for the delegates, and if every member pays his 10 cents dues it will be sufficient to pay the present indebtedness and to defray the expenses of said delegate. I think that Polk County is as able to send a delegate as any other county; and I also feel that most of the alliance men would feel agrieved if they did not have the opportunity of having a vote in that conference, and I hope each and every sub-alliance will be represented at the county meeting, and if I have not acted wisely in calling the meeting I hope you will pardon me. I remain very truly, your servant,

GEO. M. SWIFT,
President Polk Co. Alliance.

COMING.

May Louise Aigen, supported by an excellent company, will appear at the Opera House, on Friday and Saturday of this week in two comedy's, entitled "The Serious Family" and "Confusion." Reserved seats now on sale at Tom Morris' jewelry store. The Fargo Argus has the following to say of the above Company: "A much larger audience than that on Monday night witnessed the presentation of 'A Serious Family' last evening by the May Louise Aigen company. The play was of a very humorous nature, and kept the audience in one continual laugh. The acting was very good, especially that of Miss Aigen and Mr. Huebner." The May Louise Aigen company will give a grand matinee for ladies and children on Saturday afternoon.

EAST GRAND FORKS LOCALS.

From the Courier.

Wm. D. Kelly is in Hudson, Wisconsin, visiting the old home.

Denis and Dick Enright are investing in land in California. Both are pleased with the Pacific coast and will eventually reside there.

Richard Barrett is still at the Hot Springs, Ark., and reports that he is not getting well very rapidly.

On Monday evening P. J. Kelly and Adam Mundigel went to St. Paul to lobby measures through the legislature effecting the city and county.

John S. Dwyer has been appointed deputy sheriff at this end of Polk County. As Polk County will soon be divided, John will have to work late and early to get anything out of his office. —[If only that will knock him out, Yhon will hold his yob a long time yet.—ED. JOURNAL.]

Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan have quietly gone to housekeeping at the Windsor house, Mr. Sullivan being one of the proprietors of this famous hostlery.

MELVIN, Jan. 26, 1891.

ED. JOURNAL: Enclosed find two resolutions which please publish, and oblige, yours very truly,

H. B. HAPTORSON,
Sec. Sub-Alliance No. 677.

Resolved, That we denounce the scheme to divide this County of Polk into irregular and misshapen plats to benefit a few scheming politicians, and increase the taxes of the people.

Resolved, That we select a committee of three on insurance to confer with a similar committee selected by Garden and Liberty Farmers' Alliances, to form a fire and live stock insurance company.

Negro Melodies.

Never having anything classical about them, not suited to the fastidious ear of the professional musician, there is yet something undefinable in the so-called "plantation" melodies which charms the heart of the great mass of common humanity the world over. The immense success of the two or three troupes of genuine "Jubilee Singers" that have made triumphal progresses through this country and Europe, attest the hold their songs have on humanity. The old plantation merrymaking have passed away with slavery, but now and then one on a journey in the South will have an opportunity to hear something of the real sort. Besides, the Southern states are delightful for a winter tour. The magnificent service of "The Burlington," reaching both Chicago and St. Louis over its own tracks, without change of cars, makes it the favorite of travelers bound South. Information as to rates, routes, etc., will be cheerfully furnished by agents, or can be had by writing to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

The Farmers Soon to be the Ruling Class in the Nation.

It is surprising that while America is pre-eminently an agricultural country that husbandry has been looked upon as having little significance in its bearing upon the economic and social questions of our time. Great fortunes have been amassed during the past quarter of a century more colossal than any previously recorded in the history of the world. The new improvements in the facilities for communication, commerce and travel have opened up the gateways through which must come the necessaries of life, which the producer must receive in exchange for what he has to sell. Neither has the husbandman any voice in what he shall receive or what he shall pay for what he sells or buys. He is even at the mercy of the public carriers, the transportation companies, which exact all the traffic will bear. The farmers have patiently submitted to being heavily assessed by the army of middlemen along these avenues of trade and commerce to the extent that untold millions have gone into the hands of the few, which by right belong to the producer. He also bends his back to the burdens of direct taxation because of the tangible nature of his property which produce the revenues necessary to support the great army of office-holders, who legislate in the interest of the capitalistic classes and corporations, instead of the people who produce the wealth of the Nation. There is a great multitude of non-producers who look upon the farmers as common property to be fleeced at will and all sorts of schemes are concocted in the name of business to relieve them of their legitimate earnings.

Is it to be expected that they will continue to submit to being thus ruled and financially ruined? The notice has already gone forth that they will not, and that if they, in coming to the front on the economic, social and political questions of the day, give the "other fellows" a dose of their own kind of treatment, they cannot well be blamed for imposing measures of retaliation as the only way by which the farmers will ever be able to recover lost ground financially.

The publisher of The Western Rural founded the Farmers Alliance April 15, 1880, and the National Alliance Oct. 14 of the same year, as a non-secret and non-partisan organization, with the belief that the only way which the farmers could "hold the fort" against the encroachments of the aggressors was by standing together in an organized body. That by social contact the walls of prejudice might be broken down and the farmers lifted out of the old environment of inherited opinions and prejudices with views broadened and fraternal relations strengthened for the better performance of the duties of citizenship. The independent vote in the late election was the result of the social contact and interchange of opinions in the farmers organization and inclined to intelligent action at the polls. Free American citizens finally refused to fall into line at the dictation of the "Party Bosses."

Ours is a progressive age and the farmers movement has come to stay. No party has the right to claim the victory. The action of the farmers in the last election was conservative and in its results meant the success of neither party, and proved conclusively that a new party movement based on a conservative platform embracing the leading reform so much needed, would gain a sweeping victory in electing all officers in the State and national governments in 1892. A free people in its independent citizenship must finally rule this country instead of the money power. The Farmers Alliance, North and South, with its educational facilities, might finally solve the race problem by fitting the colored people for a self reliant citizenship. The prejudices between the two sections of our country, North and South, might be allayed and freternal relations between all classes intensified. The bitter enmities between the two parties engendered by strifes of the late civil war, would disappear, the rum Demon in the open saloon might be suppressed and finally blotted out, and the other reform work advocated by the farmers and labor elements of the nation might be promoted. All these objects are worth striving for.

One of the serious dangers which besets all reform work lies in the fact that fanaticism and demagogry carry to an extreme the demands of the reformers. These extremists want everything and usually get nothing. Conservatism should govern the action of the leaders in all reform movements in the sense that the first step must be taken before the second can be accomplished. The Farmers Alliance and other organization should be cautioned along these lines by all who have an interest in the final triumph of the many needed measures of reform now agitating the public mind. Complete organization is one of the first requisites for successfully reaching any great results for the betterment of the conditions of our people whether they be farmers or wage workers.

If the actions of the farmers are presistent and progressive as outlined above, they must soon be the ruling class in all the affairs of Government.

Northwestern Agriculturist: It is worth thinking about that breeds of live stock, in their native homes, have by generations of feeding and breeding acquired an adaptation to their surroundings and conditions. Large breeds of live stock are found in fertile districts where rich pastures and liberal feeding is the rule. The great Clydesdales are foaled and grow on rich farms, kept in a high state of cultivation for generations, while the little Shetlands climb their barren hills and feed on scanty herbage. In choosing a breed of stock for a farm the first thing is to consider to what it is best adapted. In rich pastures, for instance, the large mutton breeds in sheep are best. In hilly districts the Merino thrives and makes money for his owner. The large breeds of all live stock will thrive on our best prairie lands, but unless we mean to be liberal feeders, summer and winter, we may expect to see each generation smaller than the last, as scant food will reduce the weight of carcass each generation by several pounds. In the United States there is such a variety of soil and climate, and there has been such a mixing up of people and of the breeds of domestic animals, that it is not easy to conjecture what peculiarities breeds will take on after being reared for generations in one locality, but the fact that the native cattle which have been raised in Minnesota by the farmers who have lived here many years, and whose stock might, therefore, be expected to show more of the legitimate effects of soil, food and climate than later comers, grow to a very large size, and make oxen of great value for work in the pineries, leads to the conclusion that the large breeds of live stock will grow here and reach a perfection that they do not find elsewhere.

Warning to Plump Men.

Frank Gravel of Crookston Has A Narrow Escape.

Grand Forks Herald.

Men, whose avoirdupois exceeds the statutes of limitations; as laid down in Cook's manual of boarding house etiquette, cannot be too cautious while transferring their frames from swift moving bodies to stand terrafirma. Crookston's popular drummer, Frank Gravel, who tips the scales at somewhat less than five hundred pounds, when in trim, narrowly escaped decapitation yesterday afternoon while approaching the Great Northern yards, here. Frank was in Thompson yesterday, transacted his business there and returned to this city by freight, riding on the tender part of the train, the locomotive. As the latter was approaching the yards, the south bound passenger train pulled out. Frank saw it and wanted to go to Crookston come what might. He jumped, but his spurt was not quite enough and his body swung around dangerously close to the driving wheels of the locomotive. Finally with one effort he swung himself clear and dropped like the collapse of a Chicago wheat deal. It took him a few minutes to remember his name and abode, but he speedily came around all right. In all probability Frank will declare this story fictitious, but two eye witnesses who saw his escape can be found at any time to vouchsafe the remarkable railroad adventures of Gravel in the switch-yard.

More Money.

Secretary Windom will get himself denounced as a first class demagogue, and anything but financially orthodox, by the people who have straight-lace financial notions, if he is not careful. He advocates a larger circulating medium and an interconvertible bond scheme—two things, above all others, that have always set the bankers and money lenders to squirming. The Western Rural has advocated a larger volume of money for many years and while this country has a smaller per capita circulating medium than any other first class commercial nation on earth, it would seem as if there was nothing to be said against the country having more money. But the less the volume of money is, the better the banks and money lenders fare, the more readily products can be cornered and the few can generally oppress the masses with a greater degree of success. Hence the few have always opposed an increase of the volume of money. Conspiring Shylocks have aimed to confine our money to gold. They have fought the greenback, fought silver and opposed every move that has ever been made to give the people the financial means for doing business: and unfortunately for the people, they have succeeded in their schemes to an alarming extent.

But the millions are more powerful than the few if they will act and they are acting. Politicans begin to see that the people must be made prosperous, if the government can make them so, or an avalanche of votes will cover the politician and his party. Under a government like ours, a party or partisan that does not realize that it or he must work in the interest of the majority is as blind as a bat. Under a government in which the people have little or no voice, they may be abused and neglected with considerable impunity. But not so under a popular government, for a hungry man can vote as well as if he were well fed; and the millions get hungry or think that the prospect of becoming so is excellent, they vote against those whom they think are responsible with harmony and force. The Western Rural is not an advocate of a reckless issue of money, but it does believe that the country should have a respectable per capita circulation, that business may be carried on without unnescessary embarrassment and that the people may have the means with which to purchase the product of our farms and factories.

Hired Help.

Northwestern Agriculturist.

Overwork in rural districts sends many housewives to insane asylums or untimely graves. As one means of making easier the lives of those who are left, a "Western Farmer" correspondent suggests relief from care of the husband's helpers, by provision of neat cottages, in which married men may find comfortable homes:

"Soon an industrious foreigner will want to work for you by the year, and if you will give him $200, an acre of land, keep his cow, furnish him wood, he will board himself, do 25 per cent more work than the average single man, and, in a few years, will want to buy your farm and let you move to town to enjoy the money he has earned for you. The acre of land will raise his potatoes, and corn to fatten his pig, his wife will help milk and help in the house when needed.

"Hire in the spring, and from the time his garden is planted he has an interest in the place, and nothing short of a cyclone can get him off before fall, and then with the long, cold winter ahead what else can he do but stay. If he does leave some one will be glad to take his place. A large number of houses have been built in Southern Wisconsin for the hired men during the last few years, and I have yet to hear of one who is not pleased with the plan."

Will Advocate the Proper Principles, &c.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel.

While the Sentinel is an original Republican it has long counseled independent action and rebellion against presumptuous Republican bosses. It has sought to be instrumental in converting the labor element of the country into an organized force, no matter what name it might assume, which should eventually control the country on a more worthy basis than that of mere wealth or of party plunder. So far as the political uprising in Minnesota is concerned, the Sentinel is not a convert, "eleventh hour" or otherwise, and belongs to no new organization, and has not of late, "announced any new departure" as we expressly stated last week. The leadership of the Republican party of late in Minnesota has been infamous, and the rebellion has been directed more against its leaders than against the party, but the latter has suffered in adhering to the former, which condition may or may not continue. If the rank and file of that party will cease to tolerate the sale of the highest offices to the highest bidders and refrain from rewarding its chief bribers and corruptionists by honorable appointments, and will legislate in the interest of the great industrial masses as against centralized wealth and power, then there will be little occasion for new party organizations. Otherwise the disintegration of the Republican party will continue as it has begun and good Republicans will become good kickers. The Sentinel would be pleased if the Republican party, by considerate action, would entitle itself to the support of the labor element, but such action is not probable. Only the preliminary steps have as yet been taken toward the organization of the great industrial party of the future, a feature of whose mission will be the placing of the burdens of the country which cause taxation, both local and general, upon the excessive wealth of the country, which question we will discuss hereafter. Meantime we will continue to "advocate the proper principles and interests" of labor organizations as heretofore announced, reserving the right to judge for ourself what is proper and what is not, and continuing independent of all parties.

For Sale.

New milch cow. Call on M. E. Bartlett, Fairfax, or at JOURNAL office.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized Under the State Laws.

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $5,700

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Interest on time deposits. Special attention to collections.

OFFICERS.

C. HENDRICKSON, President
O. H. LUCKEN, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch. H. Steenerson. L. Ellington. J. H. Locken, C. Hendrickson. Max Ericsson. aker. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,

—DEALERS IN—

Shelf and Heavy

HARDWARE,

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, Ole Olson Gang Plows, F. F. Thompson & Sons Walking Plows. Sole agents for the Domestic Sewing Machine.

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

STOVES AND RANGES

SOLE AGENTS FOR

Havanna Press Drills

FOR POLK COUNTY.

Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., Crookston.

Toledo Weekly Blade.

1891.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

THE most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding, year after year, a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

NEW story to commence first of the year, written especially for the Blade by Oliver Optic. "Money Maker Series." A series of special articles on "Side Issues," written for The Blade. Blade China Tea Sets and Dinner Sets given to club-raisers. Send for specimen copy of The Weekly Blade and our interesting announcements for the coming year.

SPECIMENS.

A specimen copy will give you a better idea of The Weekly Blade than any description we can give in an advertisement. We therefore invite everybody to write us for a specimen, which we will cheerfully mail you free; and at the same time please mail us a list of names of your friends and neigbors, and we will also mail them specimens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AGENTS.

ANYBODY can earn Ten Dollars very quickly by raising clubs for The Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address

THE BLADE,
Toledo, Ohio.

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.

Drs. STARKEY & PALEN
COMPOUND OXYGEN
NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 53 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U S. Com's'r.
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

1891—THE ST. PAUL—DAILY NEWS.—1891

Furnishes all the News of the World.

Bright,
Fearless
and
Independent.

Champions the cause of the people independent of the political parties. Opposes monopolies and all public or private robbery by means of unjust tariff or other iniquitous legislation, State or National.

The full reports of legislative proceedings, which the Daily News will supply during the coming session of the Legislature, will alone be worth the cost of a year's subscription.

Sent by mail, postage paid, at the following remarkably low price:

Six months.......$1.75
One year.......3.00

For 75 cents additional to either a six months or a yearly subscription a complete set of the works of Charles Dickens, eleven volumes, (paper binding) will be sent, postage paid.

Send for sample copies of the News. Address: The Daily News, St. Paul, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Feb. 5, 1891.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard	81.
1 Northern	79.
2 Northern	75.
3 Northern	67.

Maj. Mix has gone on a visit to the coast.

The county board was in session last week.

Attorney A. A. Miller was in St. Paul last week.

J. P. Lundin, of Stephen, was in the city last week.

Sheriff Grundysen went to St. Paul on Sunday evening.

Mrs. A. A. Miller has gone for a visit to friends in Wisconsin.

Mrs. J. V. E. Wyatt has gone to Canada on a visit to old-time friends.

Attorney Ed. George was registered at the Clifton, in St. Paul, this week.

M. G. Peterson, of Garden, made us a pleasant call on Friday of last week.

The "Owl Club" meets with Mrs. I. U. Jennings on Saturday evening of this week.

Still crawling upward. No. 1 Hard wheat reached 81 cents on Tuesday morning.

A. Grindeland, of Warren, was looking over the Opera House on Thursday of last week.

Wheat took a lively spurt this week reaching 80 cents for 1 hard on Monday morning.

C. T. Lanman was down from McIntosh last week to take in the county board proceedings.

Don't forget the entertainment at the Opera House, on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week.

Mr. Peterson, an applicant for the Fertile post office, was up last Saturday interviewing the boys.

The ladies of the Congregational society give a supper to-night at the residence of Hon. H. Steenerson.

Dr. Knickerbocker was up from Fertile on Friday last. He is one of the applicants for postmaster of Fertile.

The post offic closed on Monday from 11 a. m' till 2 p. m. on account of the funeral of Hon. Wm Windom.

Ex-sheriff, John Paterson, is interviewing old Crookstonites out west. John may conclude to locate out there.

Mrs. Freeborn, who was sent to the asylum awhile ago, died last week. The remains were brought to Crookston for interment.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bivins have been entertaining friends from Ohio, for the past week. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Norton, of Chillicothe.

The next meeting of the Nationalist club will be held at the reading room on Monday evening of next week. Everybody invited.

A light fall of snow on Monday morning helped the sleighing out some. About a foot of it during February, would help things out some.

Dr. A. A. Just went to St. Paul last week. He told us—on the side, that he should extend his trip to Mankato—if not to see his best girl we know not for what.

The last day of January was more like itself. Went out with below zero weather. The first day of February was a companion piece—16 below or thereabouts.

At the Congregational Church Sunday Feb. 8th, regular services, every one invited. 11. a. m. "Gods Blessing." 730 p. m. "Sister and Lover." Please be on time.

T. O. Bergland went out to Erskine on Tuesday to purchase some seed wheat for his farm. Expects to use about 200 bushels of seed next spring and thinks a change of seed desirable at this time.

The death of Secretary Windom was very sudden, sending a shock from one end of the nation to the other. But few knew he was ailing until his death was announced.

N. C. Hendricks was up from Fertile last Saturday. He has decided to sell out and go to Duluth to live, and there are less than 1,700 applicants for his old office slippers—post office.

A Holmboe says he is not selling out at cost to leave but that he is selling piles of goods at surprisingly low figures. Next week he will tell JOURNAL readers about it in the space set aside for him elsewhere in this issue.

Joe. Laurence, in a letter to Arthur Stewart, says: "Stopped writing just now to shake hands with D. Jacobus, who is around visiting his old Crookston friends. 'Jake' seems well pleased with what he has seen of this place."

Agent Fegan, of the Great Northern road, informs THE JOURNAL that refrigerator cars are now running in which can be shipped all kinds of perishable goods liable to freeze in ordinary cars. For full particulars inquire of agent Fegan, at the depot.

Crookston Alliance meet at the usual hour on Saturday last and after a profitable hour spent in discussion adjourned until Saturday next at 2 p. m. A full attendance is desired as business of importance is to be transacted. Let everybody turn out.

A few to whom statement of subscription account was sent have neglected to respond in any way. We do not require an impossibility of any man, but we are very much in need of money this winter and we desire our friends to do all they can for us as soon as possible.

On dit that Engineer and Mrs. Tom Adams are on their way back to Crookston. Mrs. Adams' father died and was buried while she was there. Tom arrived in time to attend the funeral, and they are now visiting his folks a few days before their return to their home in this city.

Judge Mills, to whom was referred the matter of the salary of the County Attorney, decides that $1,500 is not too much, but under the statute he is not able to fix it above $1,200. As to the salary of the County Superintendent, Mr. Grefthen, he will get $1,800, the same as that of his predecessors.

February starts in very friendly to the coal dealers. John McKinnon has had a smile on him a yard wide and all—coal—for a weak back. While John is a good citizen and deserving of success, we do hope this kind of weather will let up directly, if not sooner. We have become so used to nice weather we rather prefer it.

The new opera house block approaches completion. The offices up stairs are ready for occupancy and several of our leading attorneys have been looking 'em over. The block could be made a sort of a Temple Court. This block is the only one in the city that is heated by steam and every available room in it should be taken too quick and no doubt will when all is ready.

The St. Hilaire Spectator says that Annie, the wife of W. A. Sorsoliel, died at Stillwater on January 22d. The remains were taken to St. Hilaire for interment. She leaves three small children and a husband to mourn the loss of a fond mother and a loving wife. Mr. and Mrs. S. were former residents of St. Hilaire, where he has many friends who deeply sympathize with him in his bereavement.

Clerk of the Court, L. K. Hassel, Col. Knudson and P. J. Bye came over from Grand Forks last week intending to take the train for McIntosh on Saturday morning. When the boys got ready to take the train they missed the Col. and straightway sought for him dilligently. Before they ascertained that the Col. had taken the train for home the Fosston train had pulled out and they were left. So they did not go that trip.

Farmers, have you seen those fine Percheron stallions at M. R. Brown's stables? No finer horses were ever brought to Polk County, and it is worth an effort to see them. One, a fine coal black animal, four years old, will crowd 2,000 pretty close, while the other, an iron grey. three years old, will kick the beam at 1,750. They are both blocky, powerfully built animals, with good action, and are just the kind of horses for profit. Mr. B. takes a just pride in showing these fine animals.

August Himmelsback has gone out to Bagley's camp with one of John O'Brecht's teams. While in the city with the team last week somebody tackled John for a bet on the team, claiming that neither would kick the beam over 1,500. John put up the dust at once and promptly put the team upon Collins' scales, one at a time. One of them went 1,665 and the other 1,670, pretty evenly matched for weight and a good solid, chunky team. John says that is the kind he keeps and that it pays to keep no other.

It is not with pleasure that we are called upon to announce that E. W. Wile has decided to remove to LaPorte, Ind., where he will engage in the banking business. His father, who is a banker there, is in failing health, and needs some one to manage the concern, and Ed. has decided to go. Ed. is one of those public-spirited men whom Crookston can illy afford to lose. As city comptroller and chief of the fire department, Ed. has so discharged his duties as to merit the commendation of all, and in matters that tend to the upbuilding of our city he has ever been in the front ranks. His many friends will wish him abundant success in his new venture.

Chief Gonyea went down to Fargo after a young speculator who has been engaged in the mercantile business near the Broadway bridge, and who had gathered in all the shekels he could secure from the business and fled with a fair young damsel of the city. It seems that the young man was conducting the business for his maternal ancestor, and when she learned of his absence she straightway put the police onto his trail and he was overhauled at Fargo, as aforesaid, and brought back to this city. When arrested he had two tickets for Duluth in his possession, besides a little change, all of which Chief Gonyea gathered in. The couple remarked that the chief arrived just in time to prevent an interesting marriage ceremony that was to have transpired in 30 minutes. This romance will undoubtedly be ended by a Crookston magistrate.

Cheap Prices on Hardware to 1st of March.

Best mixed paints, per gal	$1.25
Common mixed paints	.75
Best tubular lanterns	.40
Hay knives	.65

Guarantee everything else in the same proportion.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

SCORES KIRSCH.

An Alliance Man Goes For the "Reform" Board.

ED. JOURNAL: Permit me space to reply to a communication published in the Crookston Times, written by Mr. Kirsch, in regard to a resolution passed by our alliance. We, as members of the alliance, do not wish to accuse any one who is innocent, but as the coat seems to fit the great economizer of Polk County so closely, we are of the opinion that he is guilty. He says he took into consideration the qualifications and ability of the present incumbent. (He, Mr. Kirsch, the great law maker of Polk County, who knows better what the people want than they do themselves,) went to Mr. Grefthen and requested him to appoint Thos. Casey as his assistant and when he gets caught at his nice little scheme he turns around and says that he had been requested by a large number of his constituents to urge the appointment of Thomas Casey as assistant superintendent. Where was this large number of constituents last November who now want Mr. Casey so bad? They should have elected him, and not been around trying to get him into the position that the people elected another man to occupy. Such nonsense is an insult to the 4,284 men who supported the alliance ticket last fall, and when we give him a just rebuke he turns around and goes to abusing the alliance. We would like to have Mr. Kirsch to understand that we do not like his kind of economy, that pays democratic and republican papers for publishing the proceedings of the board of county commissioners when an alliance paper as good (and we farmers think better than either of them) offered to do the same work free of charge. That is Mr. Kirsch' economy—the great law-maker and financier of Polk County, the man that it took six years to find out that the county Superintendent of Schools was getting too high a salary, and wanted to have two at $1,200 a year each, or, in other words, wanted to get a soft snap for one of his pets. Good day, Mr. Kirsch, the alliance will retire you from active service in 1892.

W. G. H.

Coming--Aigen.

That's what the handbills say of May Louise Aigen, who is to be here Friday and Saturday evenings of this week How can she be "coming again" when she has never been here before?

For a plain, practical and instructive paper, made largely by farmers and wholly for farmers, Farm, Stock and Home of Minneapolis, Minn. has no equal among agricultural journals. We can furnish it in connection with the JOURNAL one year for only $1,50.

THE NEW OPERA HOUSE.

A number of the citizens of Crookston met at the City Hall on Monday evening to consider the opening of the new Opera House. The meeting was opened by A. D. Stephens in a humorous speech and then the business of taking subscriptions commenced, realizing something over $1,500, which is pretty well for a beginning. Arrangements will be made to secure one of the best companies that travels to open the house, which will require $2,000 at least. Six or seven thousand dollars should be raised for the occasion and doubtless will be if our citizens continue to do as well as they did on Monday evening. The Opera House, when completed, will be second to none in the Northwest, will cost a mint of money, and Mr. Bjoin deserves the generous patronage of an appreciative public for the public spirit he has manifested in giving the city so fine an institution. No more can it be said of Crookston that she lacks a good Opera House, for no city in the Northwest will have a finer. On the opening night nothing less than $5 a chair should go; many will be sold very much higher than that.

Although we have not accomplished all we hoped to do in that time, by February 1st, we are encouraged to hope that we shall raise the required amount of money we need to carry out our plans by spring, as many to whom our statement of subscription account was sent, who could not meet it just now, have promised to remit before March 1st. Our experience in that matter convinces us that the statement that some papers have made that all delinquent subscribers are dead beats is wholly erroneous, as we have received responses from nearly all to whom our statements were sent, and satisfactory arrangements have been made. We have always acted upon the principle that men are naturally honest and will pay such little amounts as newspaper subscriptions, and so far we have never been forced to sue a single account of that nature. We do not wish to proceed to extremities in this case and shall not if men will do by us as they would wish to be done by—when they cannot pay the amount, or a portion of it, let us know it like men and arrange for payment as soon as possible. If we should be convinced that a man could pay as well as not if he chose, and he did not do it, it might make us feel ugly—and we can't say what we might do under such circumstances. While we need every cent that is due us we only ask our patrons to do all they can, without distressing themselves or family.

HARDWARE AT COST.

These are facts—no fooling the public.

No. 9 boilers, copper bottom	$1 00
Novelty wringers	2.00
No. 9 heavy tin tea kettles	.65
Best Mandole's carpenter hammers	.50
1 doz. 6 qt. pressed pans	.75
Nails, steel cut, per keg	2.50
" wire steel	3.00
Tar paper. per hundred	2.00
Tar felt, per hundred	2 50

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

CALICO BALL.

The dancing school will wind up with a grand calico ball on the evening of Tuesday, February 10th.

WANTED.

A few large young fresh cows. Enquire at Fontaine & Anglim's.

May Louise Aigen.

Pleased a Large Audience.

Grand Fork, Herald.

The May Louise Aigen Co. opened a four night's engagement at the Metropolitan last night, presenting "The Serious Family" to one of the largest houses of the season. This piece had been heralded as a comedy replete with funny situations and its presentation last night proved that such was the case, as it kept the audience in a continued roar of laughter from the rise to the fall of the curtain.

The company as a whole proved to be much above the average, and the star proved to be a talented young artist who was ably assisted by Mr. P. F. Huebner, her leading man. On Mr Huebner devolved the main portion of the work and he acquitted himself in a most admirable manner. The second act was particularly effective.

At the opera house in Crookston on Friday and Saturday evenings.

For Sale.

New milch cow. Call on M. E. Bartlett, Fairfax, or at JOURNAL office.

FOR SALE.

One Full Blood Jersey Bull.

Twenty-five to Thirty head of Grade Jersey cows and young stock. Will sell the same cheap for cash or negotiable notes or will trade for young steers.

Will also sell 2 span of good brood mares, one fine driving team, one three year old colt, and three sucking colts. Also all of my household furniture and farming utensils will be sold at private sale before March 15th 1891.

E. J. Haseltine.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Argus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMETIER,
Lisbon, N. Dakota.

[36-tf]

AUCTION SALE.

About the middle of March, definite date to be fixed and announced later, I will sell at Public Auction at the Red barn, Schraeder's Livery and Sale Stables, the entire outfit, consisting of horses, buggies, carriages, harnesses, whips, robes, cutters, sleighs, and a thousand and one articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale announced later.

MRS. E. D. SCHRAEDER.

We know of a choice farm of 320 acres within three miles of the court house, every foot of it under cultivation, which can be had at a very reasonable figure with interest at only 6 per cent. If you are looking for a chance, here is a bargain. Call at THE JOURNAL office. [37-tf]

GREAT CLOSING OUT OF HARDWARE STOCK.

I positively intend pulling out by the 1st of March. I will this month cut prices way down. I will guarantee to save you from 50 to 100 per cent. This sounds large, but I can prove it. Come in and look over the stock.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

A CALL

To he Farmers of Polk Co. is hereby given to attend a meeting, to be held at Fertile, Friday Feb. 20th. at 10 o'clock a. m, to take steps towards the construction of a flowring mill. The attendance of Representatives from very town-ship is urgently requested, by the woodside Alliance and others. [41-tf]

Hardware at Cost. Stoves Below Cost.

I must close out this month and will make special prices during the balance of the month. I mean business. Call in and see. Will save you from 50 to 100 per cent.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.
Successor to Stewart & Spottswood.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., Dec. 16th, 1890.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Lars Abelson against Taylor H. Wolford for failure to comply with law as to timber-culture entry No. 1,99), dated May 7th 1881, upon the southeast one-quarter Section 24 Township 124 n, Range 47, in Polk County, Minnesota; with a view to the cancellation of said entry; contestant alleging that the said Taylor H. Wolford has not during the four years last past, planted trees, tree cuttings or tree seeds on said tract, and has not cultivated or in any way improved same during said period; that there is now not to exceed one acre of growing trees on said land and that the whole of said land is in a wild state, the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 25th day of March, 1891, at 10 o clock a. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged failure.

[32-37] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

FARMERS,

Try the Old Farmer For Bargains!!

$12,000 worth of Goods.

Dress Flannels sold at 65 Cents,
I will sell at ....45 cents per yard.
" " Ginghams at........................8 " " "
" " Calico at........................5 " " "
" " Vinegar at........................20 cts. per gallon.
" " Catsup at........................75 " " "
" " Coffee from..............18 to 35 " " pound,
" " Tomatoes at........................10 cents per can.
" " ....13 quarts Cranberries for $1.00.
" " Felt Boots and Felt Shoes Below Cost.

And everything else in proportion. I will make it to your advantage to call upon me before you purchase.

A. STURE.

THE PRESS

(NEW YORK)

For 1891.

Daily.	Sunday.	Weekly.
6 pages, 1 cent.	20 pages, 4 cents.	8 or 10 pages, 2 cents.

An Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis.

A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.

Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.

Circulation Over 100,000
COPIES DAILY.

The Press is the organ of no faction; pulls no wires; has no animosities to avenge.

THE MOST REMARKABLE NEWSPAPER SUCCESS IN NEW YORK.

The Press is a National Newspaper.

☞ Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of The Press.

☞ The Press has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It sparkles with points.

☞ The Press Sunday Edition is a splendid twenty page paper, covering every current topic of interest.

☞ The Press Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions.

☞ For those who cannot afford the Daily or are prevented by distance from early receiving it, The Weekly is an excellent substitute,

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM
The Press has no superior in New York.

THE PRESS

Within the reach of all. The best and cheapest Newspaper published in America.

Daily and Sunday one year	$5.00
" " " six months	2.50
" " " one "	.45
Daily only, one year	3 00
" " four months	1.00
Sunday, one year	2.00
Weekly Press, one year	1.00

Send for The Press circular. Samples free. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal commissions. Address

THE PRESS,
Potter Building, 38 Park Row,
New York.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

1 PAIR OF BROOD MARES

Six years old with foal to thoroughbred Percheron Norman horse.

2 Geldings, 4 years old.

2 Mares, 4 years old.

1 good Driving Horse, 6 years old.

1 pair 2 year old Mares, 7-8 Norman Percheron.

1 pair good Norman Fillies.

Address THEO. GREENHALGH, city post office, or call at the farm in Fairfax. [40-45]

E. STEENERSON,

Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of snide Co's. ☞ CALL ON ELI!

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN

Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton
Grand Forks, Crookston,

AND ALL POINTS

EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on

THE DINING CAR LINE

Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points

IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY

—AND—

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS
PASSING THROUGH

Minnesota, North Dakota, Montan Idaho, Oregon and Washington

CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars,
First and Second Class Coaches,
Pullman Tourist and
Free Colonist Sleeper

AND ELEGANT DINING CAR

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and west, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

East bound.
Passenger 7:10 p. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.
West bound.
Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p' m.

For rates, maps, time tables or special information, apply to C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston, Minn, or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS. - - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM', Vice President.
CHAS. R. SAWYER, Cashi e

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim,	K. D. Chase,	R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine,	B. B. Northrop.	A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh.	John Moore.	W. H. Crosby
	Chas. R. Sawyer.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

[First publication Feb. 5th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court. Special Term, Feb. 4th, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Nils O. Paulsrud, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Johannes J. Bjornstad, executor of the estate of Nils O. Paulsrud, deceased, representing among other things that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard, by the Judge of this Court on Tuesday, the 3d day of March, A. D. 1891 at 2 o'clock p. m., at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 4th day of February, A. D. 1890.

By the Court: C. M. BENSON,
[42-44] Judge of Probate.

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,

GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA

PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY
On Real Estaee

MONEY
On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

from selected Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North Star.
Fife.
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

W A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

Crookston Meat Market

E. STEENERSON, Proprietor. E. ERIKSON, Manager.

Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN.

LAWYERS,

FOURNET BLOCK,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office in McKinnon Block.

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or nigh promptly attended to.

L. E. GOSSMAN,

Attorney-at-Law,

No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

M. LeGUEE.

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

Immigration Board Meeting.

Kittson County Entpreise.

On Saturday last the members of the Board of Immigration of the Red River Valley of Minnesota, met in this city, and after taking quarters at the Hotel Hallock, where the parlors were thrown open for the use of the gentlemen present, by mine host Berg, President Brown called the meeting to order and the secretary read the report of the convention at Stephen and what and who the committees were and the duties devolving upon same. The report was accepted and business commenced. The report of committees, was next in order, and by that time dinner was announced and the Board, who were the guests of the Hallock delegation, were ushered into the spacious dining room where the tables were well filled with all that a hungry traveler could ask for. Dinner over the Board returned to their work as time was precious. Mr. Folsom, representing the Great Northern Railway was present and stated what the company was willing to do toward aiding the great work now undertaken, and on motion the proposition of the Great Northern was accepted and work will commence this week on the publication of a journal to be for the exclusive benefit of the Red River Valley of Minnesota. Articles on different topics will be written by different writers and each takes up the different items of interest to the farmers seeking new homes in the great northwest. The topics assigned thus far are as follows: "Water supply of the R. R. V." "General resources of the R. R .V." "Diversified farming in the R. R. V. "Possibilities of the country from personal experience." "Soil and Climate." "Growth and prosperity of the valley." "Stock raising in the R. R. V." All of these different topics will be published in the large work that the Great Northern people are getting out for the benefit of this the famous Park Region of the far famed Red River Valley. At present time letters are being received by different members of the Board making inquiry regarding this part of the state which is known the world over as the land of number one hard wheat, its fine horses, cattle, sheep and garden produce. Verily this country is rapidly coming into prominence owing to its great crops and unsurpassed climate and we say it without fear of contradiction that there is not a more healthy climate on the face of this earth than can be found in this valley. The railway company fully realize the importance of advertising this country now, owing to the great success that the farmers of the valley have attained since locating here. The progressive, energetic farmers who came here with scarcely enough to feed the little folks are to-day independent, and they became so by farming in the Red River Valley. Hence the desire of at once placing before the world the advantages of this part of the state, and the Board that was organized last November will leave no stone unturned in the work thus commenced. Next spring the farmers of the valley will be asked as we have stated in a previous issue of the Enterprise, to make a specialty of farm products, to be furnished for the use of the exhibit can that will be sent out for the purpose of advertising the valley, and we feel confident that every farmer will take a great interest in that work knowing as he does that it is wholly for the benefit of the county he lives in.

The Legislative committee go to St. Paul the fore part of next month for the purpose of securing the passage of several bills that will be of benefit in aiding the Immigration Board prosecute their work. While there is a grea responsibility resting upon this Board yet they can be very materially aided by the farmers and citizens generally in the different towns along this line of road. Every one should put shoulder to the wheel and help the cause along in every way possible. Tell your friends and relatives in the east about this country, show them by facts and figures what you have done and show them the chances are just as good for them as they were for you.

The Board was represented here on Saturday by President M. R. Brown of Crookston and L. Ellington of same city; H. L. Melgaard of Argyle and J. P. Lundin of Stephen; H. W. Donaldson and Ed. H. Love of Hallock.

Agricultural Appropriations.

The American Farmer.

Few people interested in farming realize how small a proportion government appropriation is used for agricultural purposes, says the National Stockman and Farmer of October 30th. The appropriations for the current year for all purposes aggregate almost $463,000,000. Of this the leading item is pensions, $98,457,461. Next comes the postoffice department with about $72,250,000. Following this come the army and navy, river and harbor, each close to $25,000,000. On down the list we find agriculture, fourth from the last $1,799,100, barely more than the diplomatic and consular appropriations, and only one-half million more than is appropriated for the District of Columbia for park purposes. In fact the last appropriation mentioned together with the military academy appropriation aggregate almost the same as the sum devoted to agriculture. In view of these facts farmers can hardly be called greedy when they ask for money to be used for the promotion to their industry whenever it may be needed. There has never been a time when agricultural appropriations have shown up more largely in proportion to the total than at this time, and yet the figure which they cut is so small as to be quite insignificant. The fact of an increase of one or two millions in agricultural appropriation would have no appreciable effect on the taxation of the country. Farmers need not to hesitate to ask for the fullest equipment of the department devoted to their interests, inasmuch as any increase which may be made in such appropriations will not in the least effect the amount of taxes they have to pay.

The February Wide Awake is both timely and seasonable, in Lieut. Fremont's account of "Life at Frontier Forts," with illustrations from photographs, and in William Zachary Gladwin's opening "Valentine":

> 'Twas an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth
> In the old-time Scripture day?
> But I tell my love that a heart for a heart
> Is by far the better way!

A curious little article by William Churchill, about "A Fish Army," is a happy sort of military pendent to Lieut. Fremont's article; and besides these are short illustrated articles about "A Giant Preacher," a Jack-in-the-Pulpit four feet high, and about "Three Notable Desks," those of Gray, Bowditch, and Hawthorne at old Salem. "Sir Grimbald's Ransom" is a ballad, by Mary Bradley, of the brave Crusader ancestor of the present British Minister of Washington, Sir Julian Pauncefote, whose brave lady gave her right hand to ransom her lord from the Saracens. The unusually clever short stories of the number include the strange true account of "Aunt Dolly's Two Robbers," by Sydney Quarles, "Diamonds and Toads," by Mrs. Burton Harrison, author of "The Anglomaniacs," the serio-comic "Story of a Hungry Boy," by L. A. B. Curtis, and "The Squeaking Fern," by Katharine S. MacQuoid. "A Little Nobody Who Became a Great Sombody," is Mary Wager-Fisher's account of a poor French boy who with a busines audacity that rivaled the military audacity of Napoleon, established cotton weaving in France and thereby became the friend of Napoleon. Miss Rimmer's drawing lessons are developing most ingeniously. Dorothy Holcomb tells of "Home-Made Games." There is an "oatmeal" poem by Jane L. Patterson, and others by Arthur D. F. Randolph, Mrs. Whiton-Stone, Elizabeth W. Bellamy, Mrs. Bates and Mary E Wilkins. Kirk Munroe's railroading serial becomes exciting, Margaret Sidney's "Peppers" is full of delightful doings. and "Marietta's Good Time" is unique as the naive autobiography of a little Italian girl—nothing like it has ever appeared in young folks' literature. Men and Things sparkles with wit and anecdote. Bridgman's amusing pictorial skit, "through the Dark Continent," drops the curtain to the laughter of the audience.

Wide Awake is $2.40 a year. D. Lothrop Company, Boston.

Laura Jean Libby's Best.

A delightful love-story; full of passion and intrigue, and written in Laura Jean Libbey's best vein, entitled." Ulmont Ulvesford," begins in this week's New York Family Story Paper. It is a splended story, and will be eagerly read by the thousands of admirers of the charming and versatile young authoress of "Miss Middleton's Lover." Our readers should not fail to buy a copy of this week's Family Story Paper, so that they can read the opening chapters of "Ulmont Ulvesford," by Laura Jean Libbey.

Has the Cow Paid You?

Kittson County Enterprice.

Some farmers are never contented unless they can make a cow bring them a fortune per week on the average and as a result get left out in the cold, and tell you that the cow does not pay in this country. Well we have taken the pains to ask the firm of McCollom & Suffel how much they have paid out to the farmers in this county since they began to buy milk for their cheese factory, and the figures may cause some to stop and consider the fact that the cow has proven a pretty good helper in the past four four years in providing the needed groceries for the table, and many little necessities that would otherwise have taken a good deal of the hard cash. For instance in the year.

1887	the firm paid out the sum of	$1,991.24
1888	" " " " " " "	3.397,57
1889	" " " " " " "	3,698,95
1890	" " " " " " "	3,823.24

Atotal paid to the farmer of $12,911.00 Now has the cheese factory been any help to the farmers, and have their cows paid them? It seems as through the figures given should be evidence that the cow has been a very good paying investment in this country the past four years, according to the statistics furnished. How many of the farmers have felt the expense of keeping the cows they have, yet realized a fine income therefrom. With the advantages we have here for stock raising there is no one that can truthfully say that the keeping of cows for dairy purposes does not pay. The keeping of the calves is also of very little expense, and they are two and three year old before you realize it, and are bringing you in returns for their keeping, either as fine young beeves or as milkers, say nothing of the calf which will furnish your farm table with veal, or should you wish to keep it, providing it is of good stock, the expense of keeping would be but little before it was either fit for market or the dairy. The farmers of this county should endeavor to perpetuate the dairy interests, for there is good recompense in it, providing you keep no scrub stock around you.

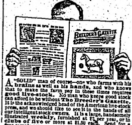
"Confiscating" Railroads.

Farm Stock and Home.

The objectors to the government ownership of railroads contend that the purchase must either be made at the values put upon them by their present owners, which every body concedes is at least twice their value, or else they must be "confiscated." In the first place it would be an outrage, so the objectors contend, to make the people pay for so fictitious value, which is true; and, in the second place, it would be an outrage to "confiscate" the railroads from their present owners; which is also true. But why does it not occur to the objectors that railroads have a real value, and that the people have a right to take private property for public use at such valuation. For years railroads have been teaching the people how to acquire property from men who did not want to sell it, can they now object to take the medicine they have been so freely and for so long administering to others? When a railroad wanted to go through a man's farm, it went, at a price about which the owner of the farm had no voice whatever. Was that "confiscation?" If so it was never called by that name, and no man or paper ever lifted up its voice against it. The owner of the farm may have deemed the land taken, and the damage to the rest of his farm, worth $2,000; but the jury in a condemnation suit said $1,000 was proper compensation, and that amount the land owner was forced to take. But to apply such a rule to railroads is "confiscation," forsoth! Well call it what you please, gentlemen objectors, the world moves, civilization advances, the man is, inherently, a mightier force than the corporation; at certain periods in the world's history the rights of man have risen supreme to every other consideration, and they will continue to do so while the world lasts. Government ownership of railroad is the next direction in which the domination of the man propose to assert itself in the United States, and all gentlemen objectors will do well to govern themselves accordingly.

Northwestern Agriculturist:—Mr. M. M. Dunham, mentions the craze for black draft Percherons, and states that inferior black stallions are being purchased, imported and sold at high prices, while far better horses of other color particularly gray, are passed by. Black is not by any means the best color for a horse, though fancied by many, and though Brilliant was a wonderful sire and a wonderful horse it does not follow that all black Percherons are Brilliants. A color craze in any breed is certain to result in overlooking other points far more important and essential. Individual merit and perfect soundness is the first requisite in a stallion, the color comparatively unimportant.

WHO IS IT?



A "SOLID" man of course—one who farms with his brains as well as his hands, and who knows that to make the farm pay in these times requires good live-stock. No man who keeps good stock can afford to be without The Breeder's Gazette. It is the acknowledged head of the American live-stock press, and we should like to see it in the hands of all our intelligent stock owners. It is a large, handsomely illustrated weekly, furnished at $2 per year, or in clubs of five or more at $1.50 each. Send for a free sample copy, or enclose twenty cents postage for the magnificent Christmas Number. Address

J. H. SANDERS PUB. CO.,
326 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON. MINN

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law,
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank,

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

WATCH

☞ THIS ☜

SPACE.

A. Holmboe.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,
Crookston, Minnesota

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

In connection which I will attend to in person

TRY

O. J. BARNES,

THE

CITY GROCER!

J. V. E. WYATT,

UNDERTAKER.

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for

N E W G O O D S.

A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material.

Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

BEST WEEKLY AGRICULTURAL JOURNAL.

$1.00 PER YEAR. ESTABLISHED AT CHICAGO, IN 1841. $1.00 PER YEAR.

THE FARM, ORCHARD AND FIRESIDE.

DEVOTED TO PRACTICAL AND CORRECT INFORMATION ON

AGRICULTURE, LIVE STOCK, VETERINARY, DAIRY, HORTICULTURE, ENTOMOLOGY, POULTRY, BEES, GARDEN AND LAWN, SCIENCE, MARKETS.

A Family Journal for two generations, the acknowledged favorite, at the fireside of western homes.

The Household Department, carefully prepared and illustrated delights the ladies.

Its Miscellany, Puzzles, and Young Folks endear it to the young members of the family.

Filled with Practical Illustrations and Concise, Timely Topics of General Interest,

ONLY ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

Do not fail to read The Prairie Farmer during 1891—its 51st year. Send for free sample copy or subscribe at once, addressing

THE PRAIRIE FARMER PUB. CO., 166-168 Adams St., CHICAGO, ILL.

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN, MINNESOTA,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

Doors, Windows and Mouldings

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY.

—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized Under the State Laws

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $5,700

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. | Special attention to collections.
Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.

O. HENDRICKSON, President.
O. H. LUCKEN, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

O. O. Christianson, E. P. Pierce, H. Steenerson, Max Ericsson, O. H. Lucken, J. H. Lock[illegible], L. K. Aaker, A. D. Stephens, A. G. Gallasch, O. Hendrickson, A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

---

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

THE NEW
NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana	FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS	100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. Whitney, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.	LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.	Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth.	In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns. New Railways. New Mines. Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills. Milk and Sun River Valleys. Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise.	Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines.	These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.
The valleys of Red, Mouse, Missouri Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890 Write F. I. Whitney, St. Paul, Minn	Hunting Fishing.

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, - MINNESOTA

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY

OUR NEW

Fall Styles

LADIES,

Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, - MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. None Finer in the Northwest.

CALL IN.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - MIN

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Feb. 5, 1891.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
6:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
8:25 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
5:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:55 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:42 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
2:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

MONTANA EXPRESS DAILY.

7:40 p. m. de.......St. Paul.......ar. 6:55 a. m.
7:00 a. m. de.......CROOKSTON.......de. 7:25 p. m.
8:15 a. m. de.......Grand Forks.......de. 6:20 p. m.
2:30 p. m. ar.......Helena.......de. 11:00 a. m.

ST. VINCENT BRANCH.
Daily, except Sunday.
Depart 7:15 a. m.......Arrive 7:00 p. m.

FOSSTON BRANCH.
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Depart 7:30 a. m.......Arrive 5:00 p. m.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH.
Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
Depart 10:45 a. m.......Arrive 4:00 p. m.

W. W. FEGAN,
Agent, Crookston.

A Paper For The Million.

The Western Rural and American Stockman is one of the oldest and ablest farm journals published in this country, and none is more fully identified with the best interests of the agricultural classes. It deals not only with the farm but more especially with the farmer. Its columns are devoted to subjects involving literature and science and its aims are economic condition of the farmer and his family. The Rural advocates physical culture and manual training as well as intellectual endowment. It believes that the State owes to the citizen the right to such an education as shall fit him for a self-reliant citizenship and that our Public School system should be enlarged along the more practical lines. In short, The Rural is a Fireside Companion as well as a helper in the affairs of farm life. Subscription price $1,50 per year. For free sample copies Address MILTON GEORGE, 158 Clark St., Chicago.

Sneezing.

Xenophon relates that after the death of Cyrus a council of war was held by the Greeks, and that, during their deliberations, some one sneezing, it was regarded as a favorable omen; and the famous retreat of the "Ten Thousand" was decided upon and carried to a successful conclusion.

The custom of saluting after sneezing is said to have prevailed among the aborigines of America, and we still find it in many countries of Europe.

But just now, sneezing is considered far from auspicious, as it is one of first symptoms of the epidemic influenza which has just reached us from across the Atlantic. So much has already been written about the disease that it is needless to describe it.

We shall content ourselves with recommending a remedy, to be used not only during the actual illeness, but also as a preventive, and more especially, to ward off and remove the after effects. which are often very serious.

Our Office Treatement has already proved very effective in curing the disease, and we unhesitatingly recommend the Home Treatemnt in all cases.

Send for our book on Compound Oxygen, its history, nature, and results; a book of 200 pages, sent free. It contains numerous testimonials from chronic patients and those given over by physicians. You will also find it an interesting book. Any other substance made elsewhere, or by any others than Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 arch street, whether called Compound Oxygen or not, is spurious. Address DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1529 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Northwestern Agriculturist: It is a matter of a good deal of importance whether the colts a farmer raises bring $200 or $75 at maturity; whether his cows make 300 pounds of butter a year or 100; whether his pigs weigh 250 pounds at six months or 75; whether his sheep shear ten pounds or three, and yet every man who has observed knows that there is this wide range in the product of farms in the same neighborhood, where the difference is due solely to the good management of one owner and the bad management of the other. Now, if the use of good pure-bred males, and good care and feed will bring about such remarkable changes, is it not worth while to begin on the right road to such results? So plain a proposition would seem to require no argument to sustain it, and yet men live on in the same old scrub way, when right before their eyes are results which should convince them where the wise course lies. But in no direction is progress slower, than in ridding a country of scrub stock of all kinds. Men educate slowly, and wear out their hands in work that might be avoided if they used their eyes in seeing what is going on in the world about them, and their heads in planning how to prove all things and hold fast to that which is good. There never has been a time when a farmer could begin to breed out his scrubs by the use of pure-bred sires so cheaply as now, and no one who tries the experiment will ever use scrub sires again.

A Growing Movement.

Little more then ten years ago by invitation of the editor of The Rural a few men who were interested in agricultural pursuits assembled in The Rural office and organized Cook County Farmers Alliance No. 1. That was the beginning of this great movement. It has had its ups and downs, and for a time it had more down then ups. For years this journal bore the entire expense of the National Alliance, and at one time the cause was at such a low ebb that we presented each State Alliance with twenty-five dollars, which was gladly received and put to an excellent use. But the people awakened gradually to a realization of the necessity of organization and the work has gone on until to-day there are between two millions and three millions of farmers in the Alliance.

At the inception of the movement there was no fixed determination to make it political though the purpose included everything that would serve the interests of the producer. Circumstances, however, forced the Alliance into politics at the last election. The men who were holding office—most of them by the votes of the farmers themselves—manifested an utter lack of interest in the welfare of agriculture, and as the prosperity on our farms was steadily declining, the farmer struck out for himself politically. As a result he points to-day to fully five hundred thousand farmers' votes that were cast as the producer thought would do him the most good. He secured the balance of power in the Illinois legislature; he made his influence felt in Michigan; he was an important factor in Iowa; he secured for his cause over fifty-thousand straight votes in Minnesota and elected a number of the members of the legislature and in Kansas he elected the entire congressional delegation with one exception. In Nebraska and in South Dakota his voting power was felt to the dismay of the old political leaders What the future will develop, as we have already said in these columns, depends largely upon the action of Congress and our legislatures. The farmer who voted against his old party at the last election may act with his party at the next election. It will largely depend upon the course the party pursues. The hand writing is on the wall, however, and whosever will may read. The farmers of this country will have justice.

Trusts The People.

The Plandealer.

It is just as one of our foremost citizens said yesterday; "I believe this Farmers movement is the salvation of the country." The fact that the people are set to thinking is where the good comes in. Some of the ideas advanced are unreasonable and if put into practice would work injury, but the sober judgment of the country will finally hit upon the proper course to pursue. Some bad laws will be passed but they will be repealed, and ultimately the republic will be stronger for the present agitation and uncertainty. Take the question of free coinage of silver! A majority of the people seem to be for the measure, but many wise financiers honestly think that the enactment of the senate bill would work very serious damage to the country, that gold would bring a premium and silver dollars would depreciate. There are two sides to the tariff question. Like finance, this is not a matter that can be solved by an hour's study, and then in considering it from only one point of view. It is not a question that should be settled, either, by accepting the ideas advanced by a glib-tongued orator who may never have given a serious thought to economies. The encouraging facts are: The people are thinking; if mistakes are made they can be rectified. Congress is quick to act in line with the popular with. The man who is so partisan that he fears the country is going to destruction if his party is defeated, should live in a monarchy where there is but one party—the emperor. The Republic is safe with her free schools free press and free thought.

Grain Growing and Consumption.

The Minneapolis Journal.

C. Wood Davis, a farmer, of Godard, Kan., has published a statisical table, demonstrating, to his one satisfaction, at least, that the breadstuffs productivity of the world is waning with the contracting area of grain growing land on the earth and that, consequently the farmer who sticks sedulously to his business is sure to become the most prosperous member of the community, through higher prices for his products.

He sets forth that by 1895 we shall have no exportable surplus of grain and will be importing breadstuffs to make up for a deficiency of 1,200,000 acres in the cultivable area. This conclusion is based upon the increase of population and exhaustion of the land area. He predicts a decrease in the area from 1895 on, so that 10 years from now, with an estimated population of 77,000,000, an average of 243,300,000 acres in all stables and 36,960,000 in wheat will be necessary to meet home needs and export the same proportion of cotton now sent abroad. The estimated cultivable area, however, in that year, according to Mr. Davis will only be 226,000,000 acres for all products, a deficit of 17,800,000 acres.

This is sufficient to show the basis of Mr. Davis' prediction. He assumes, however, entirely too much as to this country. Last year, for instance, the wheat acreage was a little under 37,000,000 acres, which is his estimate for the requirements of 77,000,000 people in 1900. In 1884 our wheat acreage was nearly 40,000,000 acres, about what he states will be neccessary to supply flour to an estimated population of 84,000,000 in the year 1905. It does not appear probable, therefore, that we shall have to import breadstuffs or live on black bread, as Mr. Davis predicts, in 1885. Some English writers took that view in 1887, affirming that within a decade, we could not expect a peck of surplus wheat. That depends.

Our population grouth will not be rapid hereafter. The per-centage of increase has been retarded during the past decade. In the matter of wheat alone we shall not probably be deficient. Intensive farming like that in England where the yield is 30 to 35 bushels to the acre, or nearly three times our present average, will be adopted. Besides this, we are justified in expecting something from irrigation in the semi-arid area, although the source of water supply for the ditches in some states is a problem yet unsolved. There is in this state a large body of wild land, at least 10,000,000 acres, suitable for wheat growing. Thus, as the acreage sown to wheat has not faellen below 35,000,000 except in one year during the last decade, and was last year up to the average for the period, we cannot look for any such heavy deficit in four years as predicted by Mr. Davis.

So far as the world is concerned Mr. Davis foresees a great exhaustion of its resources in the next two decades; but he overlooks Russia, with a tremendous area of black soil yet untouched, Australasia, with a yet undefined wheat land area; India and the South American wheat area, just opening. And Canada cannot be overlooked with her 850,000 square miles of Northwestern wheat land, hardly touched.

It is probable that the wheat crop in this country may, in a few years, be curtailed by the attention given to beets and flax, which will so diversify farming that the farmer will get a better price for his wheat and that without this nation becoming a rye eating people as Mr. Davis suggests. The defect of his calculations is that he assumes a shrinkage of the wheat and other grains land of the world, which does not exist,

{100 PAGES} WIDE AWAKE. {1891}

BEGINNING WITH THE HOLIDAY NUMBER

Is permanently enlarged to one hundred pages, radiant with new and larger type, a new style of page, and fresh, strong literary and pictorial attractions.

Mrs. Burton Harrison, whose story of "The Anglomaniacs" has been the sensation of the season in The Century, has written for Wide Awake a story called "Diamonds and Toads."

Hon. John D. Long (ex-Governor of Massachusetts) furnishes six articles, under the general title of "Our Government," for the enlightenment of coming citizens—the boys and girls of to-day.

Margaret Sidney's new serial, "Five Little Peppers Grown Up," will tell more about Polly and Jasper and David and Joel and Phronsie, and others, as it runs through the year. Fifty charming illustrations by Chas. Mente.

Marietta's Good Times will chronicle in her own words, from her own manuscript, the childhood adventures of Marietta Ambrosi.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn, a little girl who had a great many ancestors, is an irresistible little folks' serial, by Elizabeth Cumings.

Unusually Interesting Articles, some elaborately pictorial: "Dining with Gladstone," by Mrs. John A. Logan; "Amy Robsart's Embroidery," by Frances A. Humphrey; "Mother Goose's Pets," by Agnes Pepplier; "Gypsies and Gypsying," by Elizabeth Robbins Pennell; "Some Horses that I have known," by Maud Howe; "Sainte Marie College of Wynchestre," by Oscar Fay Adams; "Boston's Girl Sculptor," by Mrs. Newberry; "The Sugar Crank," by Theodora R. Jenness.

Some Problems in Horology, by E. H. Hawley, of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, will interest High School students. Three sets of cash prizes.

The Best of Short Stories from thousands offered and solicited the past year—some by new authors.

Figure Drawing for Children, in twelve illustrated lessons by Caroline H. Rimmer, with four prize offers each month.

The Ever Popular Ways to do Things, the School and Playground Stories, Tangles, Post Office and Men and Things.

Wide Awake is only $2.40 a Year.

D. LOTHROP CO., Publishers, Boston.

SPRING SMILES!
Upon the Well W[illegible] Farm.

"How to Preserve the Season's Crop," "[illegible] in Winter," "When Shall We [illegible]," "How to Feed in Winter," "Keep the Animals Growing," "Sheep [illegible]," "Why I Raise Swine," "Does Poultry Pay," "Shall We Use Blooded Sires," "The Horse Market," "My First Experience with the Silo," "My First Fruit and Vegetable Garden," "Why I Don't Leave the Farm," "The Wasteful Wife," "Our Country Roads," "Are Bees Worth their Keep," "Minnesota an Apple State," "Notes Obtained by Fraud," "The Stranger's Promise," "Are Politicians Our Friends," "What Should the Teacher Be," "How I Preserve Meats," "When to Buy Seeds," "The Boy Mechanic," "A Quarrelsome Family," "Fighting Animals," "My Early Mistakes," "Shall We Heed the Experience of Others."

These are only a few of the subjects to be found in forthcoming numbers of

FARM, STOCK AND HOME,
OF MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The most popular and reliable semi monthly Agricultural journal published.

Edited by S. M. OWEN, assisted by scores of practical farmers, stockmen, dairymen, poultrymen, apiarists, gardeners, fruit growers, housewives, etc., etc.

Every number contains sixteen to twenty pages of 64 to 80 columns, printed from clear, new type, on fine, white book paper.

FARM, STOCK AND HOME Is issued the 1st and 15th of every month—24 numbers a year—at an annual subscription of only 50 cents.

[illegible] the value of a [illegible], practical agricultural DON'T PASS THIS OFFER. paper to all farmers, and desiring to get the one best adapted to this locality, we have arranged with the publishers of Farm, Stock and Home to accept subscriptions at regular rates; or we will send it and THE JOURNAL one year for only $1.50. Sample copies can be seen at the office.

Peffer And The Senate.

Minneapolis Journal.

A Simon-pure Alliance man has obtained Ingalls' seat in the senate This is the commencement of a change in the quality of that body which may be beneficial to the country.

It cannot be disguised that the senate is not as sensitive to the public interests or as sagacious in its determinations or methods of thought as it was a few years ago. There has pervaded that body the atmosphere of the aristocracy of wealth. The tendency has been to make the senate an aggregation of very wealthy men. It is, in fact, gradually becoming such a body and, as gradually removing itself from the sympathies of the people. The old Romans used to boast of their senators, that stranger entering the senate chamber mistook them for kings. They might not make such a mistake as to our senate, but they would detect a strong bouquet of money there.

Mr. Peffer of Kansas, will infuse a new atmosphere in the senate chamber. It would be impossible to imagine a wider contrast than exists between Ingalls and his successor. Ingalls was a dude in appearance—fastidious in his dress as a woman; a brilliant debater—excelling in keen satire and incisive sarcasm; a sort of privileged character who whiled away his time without doing anything for his constituents, but basking in the sunshine of their admiration for his ability and accepting their homage as something due a man cast in a finer mold than ordinary men. Peffer, on the other hand, has the appearance of a back number. He is a tall, awkward, clumsy looking specimen, and was a familar object on the streets of Topeka dressed in a long, gray alpaca ulster, slouch hat and green goggles. He his slow of speech, not keen witted nothing that his predecessor is in particular and everything that he is not. But he is after all a man of fair ability, and he is much nearer the people who elected him; he might make a good senator if it were not for some of his crank notions. He cannot well be more useless than Ingalls has been. He will undoubtedly be more diligent.

No opportunity was ever before offered whereby a farmer can obtain the experiences of others so cheaply as by a subscription to Farm, Stock and Home.

The Northwestern Farmer
ONE YEAR FREE

REDUCED SAMPLE ILLUSTRATION in the NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul.
(See November 15th number, how Boys and Girls can get Christmas Gifts FREE.)

The publisher of the NORTHWESTERN FARMER will send the paper free from November 15th for the balance of the year, to every one of our readers who send their address on a postal card. Address, FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul, Minn.

THE NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER published in St. Paul, Minn., is a sixteen page, 64 column Illustrated Semi-Monthly Agricultural Journal (24 numbers in the year). It is a well-known, enterprising, ably edited and popular farm paper,

WE OFFER IT FREE
for one year to all who will pay one year's subscription to
The Polk County Journal.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated December 29th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, December 31st, 1887, in book 34 of mortgages, page 461, whereby Albert Drager, an unmarried man, mortgageor, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the southeast quarter of section eleven (11), in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-five (45), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $370.12, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $22.20, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $392.32. Now, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.
THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22. 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 12th, 1883, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 12th, 1883, in book K of mortgages, page 91, whereby Andrew Steenerson and Bertha Steenerson, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the south half of the southeast quarter, and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty (30), in township one hundred and forty-eight (148), of range forty-eight (48), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $462.50, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $18.99, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $481.49. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at ten o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.
THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated July 21st, 1888, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, July 23d, 1888, in book 36 of mortgages, page 375, whereby Geo. Galland and Keziah Galland, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the east half of the southwest quarter of section thirty-three (33), in township one hundred and forty-nine (149), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $264.59. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.
THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 22nd, 1889, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 23rd, 1889, in book 42 of mortgages, page 41, whereby [illegible] Iten and Sophronia Iten, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the north half of the southwest quarter and the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section twenty-four (24), and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section twenty-three (23), all in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $467.51. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.
THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.
[40-46]

[First publication Jan. 29th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, January 23d, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Sam Johnson, deceased.

Letters testamentary on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto James Hanson, of Washington County, Minn.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county of Polk, on Monday, the 3d day of August, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, the 23d day of January, A. D. 1891.

By the Court, C. M. BENSON,
[41-43] Judge of Probate.

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Dec. 25th, 1890.]

DEFAULT EXISTING IN A MORTGAGE executed by Urgel Wolfe (single) mortgagor, March 18th, 1889, to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, and filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minn., March 18th, 1889, at 10:10 o'clock a. m., and recorded in book 43 of mortgages, on page 477, and by said Penney assigned to Charlotte Winslow and by her assigned to Lyman W. Winslow, on the e½ of ne¼ of Sec. 10, and w½ of nw¼ of Sec. 11, Tp. 151, Range 42, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota; there being now due on said mortgage the sum of $353.68, besides $14.47 taxes paid by the assignee and an attorney fee of $100.00 Now, therefore, the Sheriff of said Polk County, will sell said premises at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, on the 7th day of February, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m., to satisfy said debt and costs of sale.

Dated, Dec. 6th, 1890.
J. H. WILLIAMSON,
[36-43] Attorney for assignee.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor,

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

M. LeGUEE.

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition,

CROOKSTON, MINN.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,

CROOKSTON, MINN.,

Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plain and Fancy

DRY GOODS, C OAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, LANNELS,

BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for	$1.00
Rhadames for	1.00
Faille Francais for	1.00
Gros Grain for	1.00
Satin Luxors for	1 00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS.—

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel	20 cents.
54 inch Tricot	35 "
54 inch Flannel	45 "
54 inch best all wool Flannel	75 "
36 inch Henriettas	25 "

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for	30 cents.	A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket	$1.50
" " "	35 "	" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket	2.00
" " medicated, for	40 "	" 4½ lb. 10¼ white "	4.50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dry Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST,

PUBLISHED 50 YEARS CONSECUTIVELY.

RECOGNIZED as the BEST RURAL and FAMILY PERIODICAL in the WORLD, giving Invaluable Help, the Best Information, Thousands of Plans, Practical and Useful hints and Suggestions, and THOUSANDS OF ORIGINAL ENGRAVINGS ANNUALLY. Try it this year, it will Pay You well. No one can read a number without getting thoroughly Reliable and Practical Information, Profitable to Everybody. Each number contains Sketches of Labor-helping Contrivances to aid In-door and Out-door Work. Fine Engravings of Animals, Plants Flowers, Out-buildings, with many Pleasing, Instructive Pictures for Young and Old. Subscription price $1.50 a year.

We are desirous to make this the BANNER YEAR in CIRCULATION, which is now over 100,000 copies monthly.

OUR PREMIUM OFFER.

THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD CYCLOPÆDIA. Price $1.00. Bound in Cloth and Gilt. A Complete Ready Reference Library for Farmers, Gardeners, Fruit Growers, Stockmen and Housekeepers, containing a large fund of Useful Information, Facts, Hints and Suggestions, in the various Departments of Agriculture Horticulture, Live Stock Raising, Poultry Keeping, Bee Keeping, Dairy Farming, Fertilizers, Rural Architecture, Farm Implements, Household Management, Domestic Affairs, Cookery, Ladies' Fancy Work, Floriculture, Medical-Matters, Etc

Containing 644 Pages, with 249 Illustrations.

This Valuable Book furnished with the AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST ONE YEAR, for $1 60, or for only 10 cents additional to the subscription price, paying postage on book.

S. L. COLLINS

—PROPRIETOR OF—

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - Minnesota

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

n connection which I will attend to in person

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN, MINNESOTA,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

Doors, Windows and Mouldings

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY.

—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, FEBRUARY 12, 1891. NO. 43

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. Outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m.	6 m.	1 year
¼ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

The Chicago Tribune

ON

THE ALLIANCE.

The Chicago Tribune of February 2d, contains a long article headed: "Cheap Money, No Tariff—Socialistic Principles of the Farmers—Working Hand in Hand with Anarchists," &c., &c., ad finitom, ad nauseam. After putting on such a magnificent scare head, the Tribune goes on to show that the sole object of the alliance is anarchy, led by Southern brigadiers. The Tribune devotes over a column of its valuable space in its efforts to prove that all farmers are cranks and anarchists, and not wholly satisfied with the success of the attempt, fills another column with quotations from other sheets that are evidently afraid that farming will be placed upon a paying basis, of which the following are a few sample bricks:

Cincinnati Commercial Gazette: The farmers, in submitting to the leadership of cranks, in endorsing the Government pawnshops and wildcat money schemes, and in lending themselves to the base uses of the democratic party, are committing a great error and doing themselves and the country a serious injury.

Milwaukee Sentinel: If the alliance people get into the saddle they will very likely undertake to accomplish all the objects they have set forth in their statement of principles, and they will fail utterly, as has always been the case with such experiments in politics. But they are not likely to get into the saddle. The greenbackers and grangers of the seventies had a much more favorable opportunity to crowd in between the old parties than exist now, and they had fewer lunatics to take care of than the alliance has now adopted.

Topeka Capital: This sickening slobber of the alliance over its love for the South makes an old soldier feel like apologizing for having been a defender of the Union. The alliance members of the House have uttered more sneers about "the old soldier racket" than we have heard from the democracy of the state in twenty-five years, and the defeat of Ingalls by the alliance will cause as many unrepentant Rebels to rejoice to-day as ever yelled over a Confederate victory, and this is reform in Kansas.

The Tribune has long held the position of a leading paper in Chicago, a position that a paper not in the interests of the masses is not entitled to hold, nor can it long retain that position after developing such monopolistic tendencies as the Tribune now expresses. We confess to a feeling of surprise that the old Tribune, which has ardently supported the principles that built up the great republican party, the party that was composed of the masses of the people, that derived its strength from its advocacy of the rights of the common people—the party that struck the fetters from the poor, down-trodden slave and bade him live a free man—we repeat that we are suprised that the Tribune should so malign the toiling farmer of America, whose only object in this alliance business is to protect himself against the wily speculator, and procure for himself equal rights in the market. The Tribune makes a grave mistake in its attitude against the toiling masses, who only seek relief from oppression as great as that which caused the revolutionary war. Instead of arraying itself against the just demands of the farmers, the Tribune should urge upon its party the necessity of providing the relief that agricultural interests demand. The farmers are right in their demand for justice, and they are beginning to take hold of the matter in a way that will be effective. Their organization is not "anarchistic" nor for the purpose of destroying free government. They form the basis of the wealth and prosperity of the country, and they are fast being made simple "hewers of wood and drawers of water" to the favored few who so manipulate matters as to absorb the profits of farming to their own use and benefit. Farmers, as a rule, are too self-respecting to long submit to such a condition of affairs, and it will require more than the cry of "demagogue," "anarchist," and the like, against them to divert them from their purpose. The Tribune ridicules the idea that farmers should expect any relief from government in the way of loans on land. Very well, Mr. Tribune, if that method is so impracticable, why don't you help the farmers out by suggesting a measure that is practicable, for you must admit that farmers are as much entitled to help from government as Wall street speculators and gamblers are, and it is the RELIEF that farmers are after, and if you have a better way for them to obtain it they will gladly listen to any suggestion you may have to make, but we wish to kindly suggest, Mr. Tribune, that your efforts to POUND the farmers into submission will utterly fail—they have had enough of that already—too much. That's what ails 'em. They have been hammered into line time and again in the hopes that in some way or other relief would come. It don't come and now they have resolved to see what they can do for themselves. They are now preparing to think and act for themselves. If they were serfs they might be pounded into submission, but they are farmers, descendants of farmers who once had to battle for their rights and they can no more be defeated in their object than could our forefathers of the revolutionary period. It is the duty of such papers as the Tribune to recognize the situation and lend a helping hand, because the course of the farmers is right.

The Alliance Non-Partisan.

C. C. L. Dill, in National Economist.

Knowing Brother Whitehead to be a true blue alliance man, I regret to be obliged to state that we, in this section, are not in accord with his views, and do not think that "the alliance is distinctly political," and most certainly not partisan. When we joined the alliance we were promised that the obligation, which we were about to take, would not interfere with our political or religious views. That promise ought to be kept in good faith. We have been taught by our organs and our lecturers that the alliance was non-partisan. Our tenth declaration says: "We labor for the educating of our class in the science of economic government in a strictly non-partisan spirit."

Now, some of our leaders propose to face about, break promises solemnly made, abrogate former rules and regulations and make an alliance party. Would it, not only as a matter of justice but as one of policy, be best to consult the sub alliances before any such radical changes are made? Should a large majority of the sub alliances ask for an alliance party, there will be one, and it will have some chances of success, but until they do this, success is impossible and we had better let things remain as they are.

We cannot get all we want at once. Rome was not built in a day. But by supporting that party that is nearest in accord with our views, and insisting that some as least of the measures we want shall be adopted by the party we support, we will come nearer getting what we want than by forming a new party and having that party defeated, as it most assuredly would be. Those who are anxious for an alliance party and are so sanguine of success should remember that, we must have the necessary experience; we are not sufficiently drilled and have neither the money nor political machinery necessary to success.

There are already three parties in the field; two of them are old, experienced and understand fully all the tricks of politics, and while the third is comparatively young, it can bring into the campaign more experience and money than we could possibly bring, and however slim the prospects of the prohibition party may be they are probably better than a fourth party would have. The prohibition party has right on its side, which is better than an army with banners.

Fertile Journal: Knute Nelson was called to St. Paul Wednesday night where he is to appear before the U. S. court. It appears that several years ago Mr. Nelson had taken a pine claim and had disposed of some of the timber on it and afterwards the claim was cancelled by the government, and now he has been sued for $2,000 by the U. S. authorities, who claim that amount of timber was taken from the land. We do not understand how the government can get a cent from Mr. Nelson as the timber was taken off before the claim was cancelled. We understand that there are quite a number of such cases in this county.

Duluth Elevators.

The Northwestern Farmers' Protective Association Investigates the Elevators.

Interesting Report of the Committee After a Trip to the Zenith City.

The Association will Have Some Agents in Duluth to Look After its Interests.

A Unique Translation of the Proceedings from the Scandinavian.

THE ANTI-MONOPOLY ASSOCIATION.

Grand Forks Plaindealer.

Mr. Ole E. Hagen, of Crookston, by request of the Secretary of the anti-Monopoly Association, Thos. Ulven, of McIntosh, Minn., has translated for the Plaindealer the proceedings of the anti-Monopoly meeting recently held in this city. The meeting was presided over by Mr. A. Knudson, Rev. Jorgenson acting as secretary.

The meeting was well attended, and the association has about one hundred members, which is an encouraging sign that the cause is embraced with profound interest. The object of this movement is to open up a better wheat market for the farmers of the northwest and thereby improve their economical and financial condition, and, therefore, ought to be supported by all honest "sons of toil." There cannot be any doubt that a better treatment on the wheat market can be obtained when hard and earnest work in this direction is commenced and carried on, but before any results be reached the farmers themselves must step to the front and help the association in a financial way. When the wheat monopolists are seeking to press down the price as low as possible, nothing can be more natural than for the farmer to step in as a competitor and seller on the market of the world. During the former meeting a committee was elected to go to Duluth and make a closer investigation into conditions of that market. The committee consisted of Messrs. Ed. Tharaldson, Steen A. Hofto and Ole T. Groulie. During the meeting on Wednesday said committee submitted the following report:

We find 1st. That the manner in which the wheat grading is done is partly superficial and insufficient to find the real quality of the wheat. Over this we became entirely surprised. The wheat is graded on the looks of it; it is not weighed, so in this respect the mode of proceeding is a violation of the law. To a question, how the state inspectors could know the weight of the wheat, we were answered that if a car of wheat is graded No. 1 Northern, its weight per bushel would be put at 57 pounds on the state inspector's certificate, or at a weight under No. 1 hard, even if it weight up to 60 pounds per bushel. In short, we found the whole to be a guesswork pure and simple.

2. That the farmers can rent elevators of the elevator company, provided they guarantee that a certain number of bushels come in the year, and also bind themselves not to work in opposition to the wheat dealers.

4. A part of an elevator could also be rented, if the whole of it was not necessary, on condition that the elevator crew performed all the work, and the farmers only kept an overseer to keep track of the wheat. In this case the same obligation must be entered into, as above stated, viz., "not to work in opposition to the wheat dealers."

5. The elevator expenses would be, provided one million of bushels came in in a year, about 1¼ cent per bushel. If more wheat comes in then less. Concerning this last term there shall later on be given particulars, as no definite answer could be obtained at present.

6. A lot whereupon to build an elevator from which the wheat could be shipped, was offered us free of charge by a land firm.

7. We have reason to suppose that, provided that an elevator really be built, that we, besides a lot, also will get some help by way of money.

8. We find, that the owners of the elevators in Minnesota and Dakota are working against the interest of the farmers, in that they try to prevent wheat from being sent in carload lots and thereby diminish their income, are seeking to influence both the inspectors and buyers here on the market to hinder wheat from being shipped in this manner. This is of great disadvantage.

We can but regret that nothing has been done on the side of the farmers in this all important work before now, but better late than never."

After the report was read and approved the committee made the following motion, which was accepted:—

"We take the liberty to recommend to the Red River Valley Anti-Monopoly association as the best thing that can and ought to be done under the present circumstances in regard to the buying and selling of wheat in Duluth viz:

1. That a competent man be elected by the farmers' association and employed at Duluth.

2. That the same man join as a member either the board of trade or the chamber of commerce.

3. That he rent an office and also employs and pays necessary clerks.

4. That he is paid $120 per month, free board and traveling expenses for the four months of the year, September, October, November and December.

5. That one man be employed to look after and take care of the wheat during the grading of same out in the freight yards.

6. That the same man be paid $125 per month for the four months before mentioned, also free board and traveling expenses.

7. That one cent per bushel be taken off all the wheat that in this manner may come in to defray all of the expenses.

8. Should there of this one cent be collected more than necessary to defray the expenses, a fund should be established therefrom and made a common property of the association.

9. Same fund shall only be made use of to build elevator in Duluth Minn.

10. That all the farmers who are members of this association do bind themselves to stand by and send their wheat to their employed men in Duluth.

11. Only those who belong to the association or become members of the same, and bind themselves to the above mentioned points, can enjoy the benefit of our men in Duluth.

12. To rent elevator would, so is seems to us, under the present circumstances be all too hazardous as long as we don't know the relations necessary to be familiar with in the buying and selling of wheat on a large scale. Better to go slow but sure forward.

E. THARALDSON.
OLE T. GROULIE.
STEN A. HOFTO.

The fee for membership was determined to be as before—$3.00. The following officers were elected: President, E. Tharaldson; vice-President O. A. Sanders, Fargo; secretary and managar, Thos. Ulven; treasurer, A. Knudson. It was resolved to change the name to The Northwestern Farmers Protective Association.

Further particulars concerning the association will be given by the secretary, Thos. Ulven, whose present address is McIntosh, Minn.

Should it be desired, the secretary is willing to call meetings where farmers can discuss the questions pertaining to this cause.

A Reckless Statement.

The Minneapolis Times.

Hon. Loren Fletcher, who is sojourning at the National capital for the purpose of consulting with Senator Davis and Washburn and other Republican leaders as to the best means of averting the disaster which threatens the party in this State in 1892, when asked the other day if Minnesota favors the free coinage of silver, is reported as replying: "Not much; Minnesota believes that the passage of a free coinage bill this season would simply be disastrous. Minnesota people feel like letting the present laws stand." Mr. Fletcher is too shrewd a politician, and knows too accurately the real sentiment of the people of Minnesota, to believe what he says. He knows that there is not a State in the Union where the great body of the people are more thoroughly dissatisfied with the present financial system, or more earnest and outspoken in their demands for an increased currency, which can only be secured by the free coinage of silver. Mr. Fletcher knows that the 60,000 Alliance votes in Minnesota are practically a unit in favor of free coinage. He knows, too, that at the very least three-fourths of the Democratic votes, to say nothing of a large number of Republicans, are earnestly demanding the remonetization and free coinage of silver. In the face of these undeniable facts, showing beyond a possibility of doubt that a large majority of the voters of this state are for free coinage, Mr. Fletcher has the hardihood to declare in Washington that the people of Minnesota are satisfied with the present laws, and believe that "the passage of a free coinage bill would simply be disastrous." He knows better. He knows that the majority of the people are profoundly dissatisfied with the present laws, and that they insist upon such currency legislation as will make it impossible for a few Wall street speculators and eastern capitalists to absolutely control the money of the country, and bull or bear the money market at their own sweet wills. "Your Uncle Loren" has blundered. As a capitalist and money loaner himself, it is natural that he should be opposed to free coinage, or to any other scheme for enlarging the volume of the currency. But that he has totally misrepresented the majority sentiment of Minnesota on this question, there is not a shadow of a doubt. If the Republican party desires to tempt disaster and make defeat absolutely sure in 1892, it has only to follow the path pointed out by Mr. Fletcher.

The Appointing Power.

Farm Stock and Home.

One of the conspicuous evils of our political system is the use made of the appointing power possessed by our executive officers—national, state and municipal. Fully nine hundred and ninety-nine executives out of a thousand use patronage to further their own political ambition, or make more secure the continued supremacy of their particular political party. Commissions, bureaus and offices are created ostensibly in the interest of the people, to aid in the development of some industrial or legitimate and necessary business interest, and are paid out of the public treasury, to which people of all political faiths contribute. Through a mistaken public policy the filling of those places of trust, responsibility and possible usefulness is delegated to a partisan executive officer who straightway proceeds to appoint men because of their partisan service, paying no regard whatever to their fitness for the positions they are to fill. Thus we see in superintendents of prisons and asylums men who have neither the tact, integrity or business ability such positions demand; we see railroad commissioners made of men who never studied railroad problems or conditions; dairy commissioners who either know nothing about dairying or lack the executive ability to properly manage a state department; boiler inspectors who would not know a dangerous boiler until after it had exploded and so on to the end of the chapter. These men however, are accomplished political workers, possess large stores of "influence," make themselves necessary to the appointing power, and are therefore privileged to fatten at the public crib, regardless of their uselessness to to the general public or the common good.

In political campaigns these paid servants of the people are seen traveling up and down the state or nation, neglecting their public duties—except on pay day—and working infinitely harder to render their party good service than they ever thought of working to serve the public; and so the money of all citizens is devoted to the work of continuing in power a party that possibly more than half of them are uncompromisingly opposed to. In law, of course, this regarded as legitimate, and custom has put upon it the seal of its approval. But in ethics it is criminal in the highest degree; it is an absolute appropriation of public money to private use, a betrayal of public trusts. Like many other abuses and exerescences that have grown upon our political system, this one, which we now regard so complacently, so like a necessary evil, we would most emphatically refuse to adopt if asked to do so. As a habit or custom we tolerate it, while as an inovation we should reject it, spurn it, spit upon it with pronounced unanimity.

Would it not be better for the legislatures of states, the councils of cities, and even the national congress to elect such officers as are herewith referred to? So far as states and cities are concerned it would quite surely be fruitful of much good. To simplify the matter, let the lower house of legislatures elect the state officers. The lower house is slightly nearer the people than the upper, and the trouble of joint sessions would be avoided. It would, of course, be urged that legislatures are partisan as are excutives, and so partisans would be elected as they are now appointed. That may be true, but bargaining public offices for the support of political schemers and tricksters would be eliminated from our politics, and the devotion of public officers to the political ambition of a single individual would be known no more. Officers of ability would much more likely be selected because a legislature had the selection of them. At all events, no concievable system can be worse than the existing one; while in a change there are possibilities of a most healthful reformation.

Traveling Churches.

The millionaire magnates, the opera singers, the great showmen, all have their "private cars," and now comes the church, building chapels on wheels which run to and fro in the earth diffusing religious intelligence. Bishop Walker, of the Episcopal church of North Dakota, was the first to build a car fitted with a pulpit, organ and pews, and the Minnesota Baptists are now building one for their Sunday School missionary, "Uncle Boston" Smith. Does it seem strange that the first church cars should be built in the wild Northwest? Well, it is just a way the Northwest has of getting to the front. Just so with her railroads, always enterprising, seeking the comfort of their patrons, guaranteeing speed and safety at the same time. Among these "The Burlington" stands easily at the front in immense mileage, number of important places reached, and elegance of equipment. For tickets, time-tables, etc., call on any agent of this or connecting lines, or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

The East Grand Forks Courier says: Some of the county papers are kicking because the county commissioners gave the county printing to a Dakota paper. They fail to understand that one of the county commissioners is interested in the Dakota publication, judging from its own columns, and as he is a practical business man it is only natural that he should feather his own nest while the teat is full he has a chance to suck. His tenure of office will soon expire, and his usefulness on the board will come to an end.

An alliance man writing over the initials W. G. H. in the last issue of the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, roasts county commissioner Kirsch for his alleged connection with a scheme to provide a place for one of his friends in the office of county superintendent of schools. The writer intimates that Mr. Kirsch will be retired from active services in 1892. He might have added that the usefulness of some of the other county commissioners will cease with their term of office. The people will demand a change.

THE PRESS

(NEW YORK)

For 1891.

Daily.	Sunday.	Weekly.
6 pages, 1 cent.	20 pages, 4 cents.	8 or 10 pages, 2 cents.

An Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis.

A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.

Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.

Circulation Over 100,000 COPIES DAILY.

The Press is the organ of no faction; pulls no wires; has no animosities to avenge.

THE MOST REMARKABLE NEWSPAPER SUCCESS IN NEW YORK.

The Press is a National Newspaper.

☞ Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of The Press.

☞ The Press has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It sparkles with points.

☞ The Press Sunday Edition is a splendid twenty page paper, covering every current topic of interest.

☞ The Press Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions.

☞ For those who cannot afford the Daily or are prevented by distance from early receiving it, The Weekly is an excellent substitute.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM The Press has no superior in New York.

THE PRESS

Within the reach of all. The best and cheapest Newspaper published in America.

Daily and Sunday one year	$5.00
" " " six months	2.50
" " " one "	.45
Daily only, one year	3.00
" " four months	1.00
Sunday, one year	2.00
Weekly Press, one year	1.00

Send for The Press circular. Samples free. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal commissions. Address

THE PRESS,
Potter Building, 38 Park Row,
New York.

E. STEENERSON,

Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of outside Co's. ☞ CALL ON ELI!

Toledo Weekly Blade.

1891.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

THE most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding, year after year, a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

NEW story to commence first of the year, written especially for the Blade by Oliver Optic. "Money Maker Series." A series of special articles on "Side Issues," written for The Blade. Blade China Tea Sets and Dinner Sets given to club-raisers. Send for specimen copy of The Weekly Blade and our interesting announcements for the coming year.

SPECIMENS.

A specimen copy will give you a better idea of The Weekly Blade than any description we can give in an advertisement. We therefore invite everybody to write us for a specimen, which we will cheerfully mail you free; and at the same time please mail us a list of names of your friends and neigbors, and we will also mail them specimens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AGENTS.

ANYBODY can earn Ten Dollars very quickly by raising clubs for The Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address

THE BLADE,
Toledo, Ohio.

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN

COMPOUND OXYGEN

NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r.

D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

1891—THE ST. PAUL—DAILY NEWS.—1891

Furnishes all the News of the World.

Bright,
Fearless
and
Independent.

Champions the cause of the people independent of the political parties. Opposes monopolies and all public or private robbery by means of unjust tariff or other iniquitous legislation, State or National.

The full reports of legislative proceedings, which the Daily News will supply during the coming session of the Legislature, will alone be worth the cost of a year's subscription.

Sent by mail, postage paid, at the following remarkably low price:

Six months	$1.75
One year	3.00

For 75 cents additional to either a six months or a yearly subscription a complete set of the works of Charles Dickens, eleven volumes, (paper binding) will be sent postage paid.

Send for sample copies of the News. Address: The Daily News, St. Paul, Minn.

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property, and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our [illegible]

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Feb. 12, 1891.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 79.
1 Northern 77.
2 Northern 72.
3 Northern 67.

J. E. Mitton was up from Wahpeton is week.

E. E. Lommen was up from St. Paul on Saturday and Sunday.

Ask for the Record Breaker, and take no other. Herb keeps 'em.

K. K. Austin, who has been very sick, is reported convalescing slowly.

Wheat opened out on Saturday morning at 80 cents. A drop of one cent.

Conductor J. B. Copeland was registered at a prominent St. Paul hotel last week.

The "Owl Club" meets with Mrs. W. D. Scott on Thursday evening of this week.

Wheat opened out on Monday morning at 79 cents. A two cent drop since our last issue.

Everybody agrees that it is cold enough but not so awfully—from zero to 8 or 10 below.

On Monday, Feb. 2d, a little girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hebert, and died on Friday.

Jos. Brewster was in from Lambert on Monday. Says they have not snow enough for business out there.

W. W. Attix was down from Mentor last Friday. Says a little more snow would help matters out up that way.

Charlie Kops was over from Grand Forks this week. Says Kops Bros. are selling a great many pianos this season.

Tom Morris returned on Saturday morning with his wife, who has been on a visit to her old home at Waupon, Wis.

Hon. B. Sampson has been confined to the house by sickness somewhat this winter, but thinks he is getting along all O. K.

The "Ladies' Aid Society" of the Congregational church met with Mrs. Henry Lewis on Wednesday afternoon of this week.

The Record Breaker, the best five cent cigar in the city, is to be found at Herb's. It is as good as many a ten cent cigar.

The Norwegian Lutheran Conference church has received a new bell. That was what you heard ringing on Monday afternoon.

E. O. Flanders treated THE JOURNAL man to a ride behind that Star Bashaw trotter of his on Saturday. The colt can knock it off in good shape.

Just as you prefer; 10, 20 or 30 cents takes you to the theatre this week where you can enjoy listening to a first-class troupe. Everybody says it is good.

Mart Bang, a Crookston old-timer, was up to shake hands with old friends this week. Mart is coining much shekels in his business there and well deserves the success he is having.

Herb Mason has secured the right of way for the Record Breaker, the best selling as well as the best five cent cigar on the market. When you want to enjoy a good smoke at a slight cost call on Herb.

Next Sunday, Feb. 15th, the discourses at the Congregational church will be: At 11 a. m.—"Wrecked on the Mediterranean." At 7:30 p. m.—"The Young Man as Husband." Attend both services if you can.

A new railroad company, "The Rainy Lake, Crookston & Pacific," was formed last week with Hon. H. Steenerson as president. This company proposes to build a road northeast and southwest through this city.

The Wilson Theatre Company will play every evening this week. On Saturday, at 2 p. m., they will give a matinee, presenting "Little Lord Fauntleroy." This play has never been presented in this city.

Mrs. Sam Rosenthal gave a very pleasant cinch party to her numerous lady friends, on Tuesday afternoon of this week, in honor of her sister, Mrs. Ed. Wile, who is soon to leave for her new home in Indiana.

E. D. Childs departed for Duluth on Monday evening to meet with the directors of the Duluth & Winnipeg railroad to let the contract for building the line from Cloquet into Duluth.

The "Spider Web Social," given by the ladies' of the Episcopal church last Friday evening, at the residence of Mrs. E. M. Walsh, was largely attended and an enjoyable affair, as well as a success, financially, the ladies having netted the sum of $27.85.

P. J. McGuire departed for Superior last week to engage in business. Mr. McGuire has been a faithful and efficient auditor for Polk County term after term for many years and in that time has made hosts of friends who will unite with THE JOURNAL in wishing for him abundant success.

The Wilson Theatre Company is drawing crowded houses. It is not so much that the prices are within the reach of all, 10, 20 and 30 cents, but that the company is an excellent one—better than many of the 75 cent troupes that travel. At this rate standing room will be at a premium before the end of the week.

The Record Breaker is a daisy. Herb has it. Trm 'em.

A horse belonging to Iver Serum was taken sick in the street on Thursday, and after lying in the street for an hour or so, a stretcher was rigged up and he was taken to Alderman & Sylvester's barn where everything possible was done to alleviate its sufferings, but without avail, and the animal was finally shot. Kidney complaint was the alleged cause of its illness.

On Tuesday evening of last week, at the invitation of the Crookston Fire Department, about fifty of Crookston's leading citizens assembled at the St. Louis Hotel at a banquet given in honor of Chief E. W. Wile, who departs on Sunday evening for La Porte, Indiana. THE JOURNAL has arranged for a verbatim report of the speeches made, which will appear in our next issue.

Mine host Jerome, of the St. Louis Hotel, showed THE JOURNAL man the plans for the new hotel that he will build as soon as the weather will permit. The present building will be moved to the east 50 feet, the front extending along Ash street 100 feet; the building will be three stories high, thoroughly equipped with all the modern improvements. The plan is similar to that of the hotel Dakotah at Grand Forks, and while not quite as extensive, will be every way as good. So at last Crookston is to have as good a hotel as any town in the Northwest.

We do not like to make a mistake in an item, because everybody seems to read THE JOURNAL, and to rely implicitly upon what they see therein, and that is what broke Herb Mason up so completely last week when THE JOURNAL said the dances "would wind up with a big calico ball on the 10th." Everybody jumped onto Herb and made life a burden to him until he made each individual to understand that the dancing school would continue until the 24th. The original program was to wind up the season with a calico ball, but owing to the Lenten season it was decided to give the ball sooner, but "on with the dance" just the same until the close of the term, Feb. 24th.

Thos. H. Canfield was up from Lake Park on Friday to see Geo. J. McManus, who talks of buying a herd of Shorthorns and grades, also some Percheron horses with which to stock up his place near McIntosh. Mr. Canfield called to see THE JOURNAL man, and we were surprised to see so young looking a man—he does not seem a day older than when we knew him in '76 and '77. He has been engaged in stock-raising in Becker County for years, owns one of the best stock farms in the State, and says that Nothern Minnesota is one of the best stock countries he ever saw. He makes a specialty of Shorthorn cattle and Percheron horses, and always has a bargain ready for a customer. The opinions of such a man as Mr. C., who has raised stock here as long as he has, should be and are of great value.

The May Louise Aigen Company played two nights in this city last week. On Friday evening they presented the "Two Orphans," a piece that has been played in this city as often as Uncle Tom's Cabin, and to say that our people were disappointed would be drawing it very mild. The effect was seen on Saturday evening when the company played "Confusion" to empty seats, almost. This play was well rendered and highly enjoyed by the few who were present. Had the company selected a new play for their opening night they no doubt would have had a full house the second evening, for they are excellent in comedy. Their costumes in the "Two Orphans" are elegant, but our people had been led to expect a new play and could not get over their disappointment.

The Wilson Theatre Company is playing a week's engagement in our city. On Monday evening they played "The Tramp's Daughter," with Miss Alice Clark in the title role. This piece is strong in comic situations and is well sustained, while there is enough of sentiment and emotional parts to strengthen and relieve. Each one sustained his or her part creditably and the universal verdict on Monday night was one of satisfaction with the company and the play. The prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents, are a popular feature, rendering it possible for all to hear a really first-class company. As you enter the hall a ticket is handed you which entitles the holder to a chance on a fine bedroom set, which will be drawn on Saturday evening next. Two persons will be selected from the audience, duplicate numbers will be placed in a hat and the first number drawn, if the holder of the number is present, will receive the set. Should the holder not be present another number will be drawn, and so on, until some number is drawn held by some one in the audience. No doubt the hall will be filled every evening.

GOOD ENOUGH.

H. E. Mussey, formerly of the Warren Sheaf, has purchased the Thief River Falls Press and assumed command last week. H. E. is a good boy and we gladly extend our ☞ in welcome to the ranks of Polk County's loving band of newspaper brethren. We wish him abundant success in his new venture.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMETIER,
Lisbon, N. Dakota.

[38-tf]

Crookston Alliance, No. 648, met at the usual hour on Saturday and several questions of importance came up for discussion. The communication from the executive committee in relation to the purchase of the Great West was read, and after thorough discussion it was decided to report adversely to the contemplated purchase. The proposition to petition the legisture to authorize the Board of County Commissioners to place $1,000 at the disposal of the Board of Immigration was fully discussed by all present, and the question postponed for further consideration at the next meeting, on Saturday next, to give every member an opportunity to be present and express his views. The proposition of the Board of County Commissioners to appropriate the sum of $500 to send men to St. Paul to lobby in favor of taxing railroad land was also treated in the same manner. A communication from an experienced starch manufacturer in relation to starting a factory, was laid over until next Saturday for lack of time to consider. In view of the importance of the several subjects under consideration it is hoped that a full attendance will be had next Saturday. Let everybody come prepared to express an opinion, and come early. The meeting will be called to order at 2 o'clock, sharp, and if everybody is prompt there will be sufficient time to transact all the business on hand before a late hour. Everybody turn out.

AUCTION SALE.

About the middle of March, definite date to be fixed and announced later, I will sell at Public Auction at the Red barn, Schraeder's Livery and Sale Stables, the entire outfit, consisting of horses, buggies, carriages, harnesses, whips, robes, cutters, sleighs, and a thousand and one articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale announced later.

MRS. E. D. SCHRAEDER.

Apples in the Red River Valley.

Jack McLaren tells our reporter of a visit that he made to Bachelor's Grove, N. D., on January 25th, to meet all of his brothers and sisters, the occasion being the 41st anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McLaren, Jack's father and mother. Jack says they had a grand, all around good time; "one thing father did," said Jack, "that very few settlers can do in this country; he gave us some apples to eat from trees of his own raising. He procured the trees of F. J. Haseltine, the Crookston nurseryman, some years ago, and last fall gathered his first crop from them—as fine apples as I ever would wish to eat. The trees were planted is a sheltered place, received no more than ordinary care necessary to raise any trees, and prove conclusively that apples can be successfully raised in the Red River Valley."

Geo. J. McManus left for Duluth on Saturday evening, intending to stop off at Lake Park and look over the stock farm of Thos. H. Canfield, where he expects to select a fine lot of Shorthorns and Norman Percherons for his farm near McIntosh. Mr. McManus says he intends to stock up his farm, and by thus selecting from the very best of improved breeds he is going at it in an intelligent manner—the only way to make it successful. For working teams he will use grade Percherons; will have also one thoroughbred horse and one thoroughbred mare from Mr. Canfield's stables if he decides, after inspection, to purchase there. He expects to purchase two carloads, at least, and have them here as soon as spring opens. It is the establishment of such institutions as this that will go farther toward bringing that true era of prosperity than hundreds of wild-cat schemes that are sprung upon our people semi-occasionally—generally during the long hours of winter.

Farmers! = Farmers!

IT WILL PAY YOU

TO READ THIS.

My Prices on Hardware to the 1st of March will be as follows:

Common mixed paints, Per gallon	75c to $ 1 00
Best " " "	1 25
Ten quart tin pail,	15
Cream cans,	50
No. 9 copper bottom boilers,	1 00
No. 9 " " tea kettles, heavy tin,	65
No. 9 " " coffee boilers,	60
Nails, cut steel, per keg,	2 50
Nails, steel wire, per keg,	3 00
Clevises, per lb.,	6½
One doz. 6 quart pressed pans,	75
A scythe and snath	1 00
New novelty wringer,	2 00
Five gallon pump cans,	1 35
Warranted axes,	65
Best steel shovels,	50c and 60
Tar paper, per hundred,	2 00
Tar felt paper, per hundred,	2 00
Shot, per sack,	1 50
Loaded shells, per hundred,	2 00
Winchester rifles, octagon band,	14 75
Stove pipe, per joint,	15
Ox bows, per pair,	50
One set Mrs. Potts' sadirons,	1 25
Grind stones, per pound,	1½
Maydole's best carpenter hammers,	50
Best tubular lanterns,	40
Qt. can carriage paint,
8x10, 8 light windows, per pair	70
8x10, 12 light windows,	90
Glass at cost.

Every other article in the store at proportionately the same prices. Hurry up and catch on. Positively a great snap which you cannot afford to miss. A saving of from 50 to 100 per cent.

Wm. C. Spottswood,

Successor to Stewart & Spottswood.

Hardware Going at Wholesale Prices.

Read My Low Prices in Another place!

A large stock of mixed paints, white lead, Venetian red, yellow and ochre, paint brushes, &c., Builders' hardware, tinware, woodenware, guns, rifles, cutlery. (Stoves below cost.) Belting, hose, carpenter's tools, cross-cut saws, building paper, blacksmith supplies, bolts, clevises, &c., all at actual and less than cost. This is a genuine closing out sale.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

New Meat Market.

South Bend Journal.

Mr. Nels Peterson, of Fosston, Minn. arrived in South Bend a few days ago and was so well pleased with the place that he at once concluded to go into business here. He has leased the building just receiving the finishing touches on the site of the old Central house, on the corner of First St, and Pacific avenue and will soon open a meat market on the ground floor. Mr. Peterson is an experienced man in the business and there is no doubt but that he will do well here.

For Sale.

New milch cow. Call on M. E. Bartlett, Fairfax, or at JOURNAL office.

FARMERS,

Try the Old Farmer

For Bargains!!

$12,000 worth of Goods.

Dress Flannels sold at 65 Cents.
I will sell at ....45 cents per yard.
" " Ginghams at........................8 " " "
" " Calico at........................5 " " "
" " Vinegar at........................20 cts. per gallon.
" " Catsup at........................75 " " "
" " Coffee from........................18 to 35 " " pound,
" " Tomatoes at........................10 cents per can.
" " ....13 quarts Cranberries for $1.00.
" " Felt Boots and Felt Shoes Below Cost.

And everything else in proportion. I will make it to your advantage to call upon me before you purchase.

A. STURE.

The Calico ball at McKinnon's hall Tuesday evening was the event of the season, and was highly enjoyed by a large number. At nine o'clock the grand march, composed of 89 couple formed, led by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Walker, and Will Bugg and Miss Hattie Bivins. The music was furnished by home talent and is said to have been excellent and they do say that Herb Mason deserves great credit for the success of the affair.

At the matinee on Saturday some little girl will get a nice doll and some little boy a handsome pair of skates. Both presents now on exibition at Tom Morris.

MARRIED.

PALEN—HEIDRICH.—At the residence of the bride's parents, in this city, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 10th, by the Rev. O. H. Elmer, Mr. Michael Palen to Miss Maggie Heidrich.

A large number of presents attested the popularity of the young couple who will go to housekeeping in our midst. THE JOURNAL adds its blessing.

The White Slave.

Dont fail to see the White Slave to night as presented by the Wilson Theatre trope. Get your seats early as every body intends to see "The White Slave" and standing room will be at a premium.

A CALL

To the Farmers of Polk Co. is hereby given to attend a meeting, to be held at Fertile, Friday Feb. 20th, at 10 o'clock a. m, to take steps towards the construction of a flouring mill. The attendance of Representatives from very town-ship is urgently requested, by the Woodside Alliance and others. [41-tf]

WANTED.

A few large young fresh cows. Enquire at Fontaine & Anglim's.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Feb. 12th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of twenty hundred seventy-six and 67-100 ($2076 67-100) dollars, which is claimed to be due, and is actually due, at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by James B. Holmes, as mortgagor, to Frederick W. Miller, as mortgagee, bearing date the 24th day of May, A. D. 1889, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of May, A. D. 1889, at 9:10 o'clock a. m., in book 22 of mortgages, on page 507; which said mortgage was duly sold and transferred by a deed of assignment duly executed and delivered by said Frederick W. Miller to the Hauser & Sons Malting Company (a corporation) bearing date the 7th day of April, 1890, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, 1890, at 11:30 o'clock a. m., in book 5 of mortgages, on pages 88 and 89, and no action or proceeding at law, or otherwise, having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, situate, lying and being in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and more particularly described as follows: Lots five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), nine, (9), ten (10), thirteen, (13), fourteen, (14), seventeen, (17), eighteen, (18) nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty four, (24), in block seventy-eight, (78); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block eighty, (80); lots nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), and twenty-two, (22), in block eighty-one, (81); lots three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12), in block eighty two, (82); all of block ninety two, (92); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), twelve, (12), twenty-one, (21), twenty two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block ninety-three, (93); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12), in block ninety five, (95), all in the Railroad addition to Red Lake Falls according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes (if any) on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on Tuesday, the thirty-first day of March A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 17th, A. D. 1891.

The Hauser & Sons Malting Company,
Assignee of said Mortgagee.
Moritz Heim, Attorney for said Assignee,
[43-49] St. Paul, Minn.

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN

Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton
Grand Forks, Crookston,

AND ALL POINTS

EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on

THE DINING CAR LINE

Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points

IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY

—AND—

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS PASSING THROUGH

Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana Idaho, Oregon and Washington

CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars,
First and Second Class Coaches,
Pullman Tourist and
Free Colonist Sleepers
AND GAST DINING CAR

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and west, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.
East bound.
Passenger 7:10 p. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.
West bound.
Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p. m.

For rates, maps, time tables or special information, apply to C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston, Minn, or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS, - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. O. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, E. D. Childs
Geo. O. Erskine, D. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.
☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited.

Terms $1.00 per Day.

W. A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,
GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA

PIANOS,
ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY
On Real Estaee
MONEY
On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

[illegible] Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North Star.
Fife.
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law,
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

1 PAIR OF BROOD MARES.
Six years old with foal to thoroughbred Percheron Norman horse.
2 Geldings, 4 years old.
2 Mares, 4 years old.
1 good Driving Horse, 6 years old.
1 pair 2 year old Mares, 7-8 Norman Percheron.
1 pair good Norman Fillies.

Address THEO. GREENHALGH, city post office, or call at the farm in Fairfax. [40-45]

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.
—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—
CROOKSTON, - MINN

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW.
McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn

Our amiable, enlightened and intelligent contemporary, of the Red Lake Falls News, exhausts his vocabulary in the effort to find complimentary epithets to apply to THE JOURNAL man, because we oppose his little plan to make money at the expense of taxpayers, by county division. We never had the pleasure of meeting Meehan that we know of, all we know of him is what we read in that celebrated slander case wherein the News was convicted, by a jury of 12 good men and true, to be guilty of a base slander against a good and upright citizen, but judging from the billingsgate he heaps upon us we should say that he would do credit to some uncivilized frontier town wherein the laws and morals were of that lax order as to seem to require the services of a blackguard to run the paper. If the advocates of division have no better arguments (?) to advance than he uses their cause must indeed be desperate.

Commissioner Kirsch seems very restive under the criticisms to which he has been subjected by several of the taxpayers of the county, but we can see no reason for him to go into a passion and call any taxpayer hard names, because, as a public servant, the people have a right to criticise his public actions, and if those actions have been in the interest of the people, the more they are shown up the better for Kirsch. Mr. Kirsch, if we understand him aright, claims that he acted in the interest of the people in that matter. Now, let us see whether he did or not. For publishing the proceedings of the first meeting of the county board, the Times sends in a bill of $14.90, calling it 60 squares. The McIntosh Tribune sends in a bill for $15.36, calling the same matter 64 squares. No bill from the Fisher Bulletin was found, and we can't tell which horn of the dilemma the Grand Forks man, Bierly, will catch onto, but it matters not—whichever figure he sends in the sum total will be over $45, which the taxpayers will put up for work that under our bid they would pay nothing for. Under our bid for the financial statement the cost would have been one-half less, at least. The delinquent tax list does not cost the taxpayer a cent, and our bid on that was only four cents higher than the combine. On job work our bid was a specified sum as against a proposal to charge whatever they saw fit, and on these items there would have been quite a saving on the first order given. It is a fact which cannot be gotten over that Polk County will pay nearly, if not quite, double for its printing this year than it would had our bid been accepted. The people had a right to expect that Mr. Kirsch's long experience on the board would enable him to make a better bargain for the people than was made. That experience should have taught him that the printing of the proceedings free was a big item; that the printing of the financial statement at half rates was a big item, as well as all other notices at the same rates, and that the delinquent tax list cuts no figure at all because it is not a direct tax upon the taxpayer. In view of the facts comment is unnecessary. Since the above was in type we see in Com. proceedings a bill from the Bulletin for $15.12, presumably for the same meeting, making the cost to the taxpayers $45.38.

An Interesting Case.

[Communicated.]

The case of R. M. King of Tennessee, which has attracted such wide-spread attention for the last year, has just been tried on appeal in the Federal Court at Memphis, Tenn., Judge Hammond presiding. It will be remembered that Mr. King, who is a seventh-day observer, after resting on Saturday, plowed corn in his field on Sunday, for which the court of his county fined him $75 and costs. By the advice and help of the National Religious Liberty Association, of which Mr. King is a member, he appealed his case to the Supreme Court of the State, which affirmed the decision of the lower court.

On the refusal of Mr. King to pay the fine assessed, he was placed in jail, but was released on a writ of habeas corpus, which was made returnable in the United States District Court at Memphis Tenn., the second Monday in January, 1891. In the mean time, the Religious Liberty Association secured the services of Hon. Don M. Dickinson of Detroit, Mich., to assist in the case, with the design of carrying it, if possible, to the Supreme Court of United States there to test the constitutionality of Sunday laws in the various states of the Union.

The argument of the case has just been concluded in the Federal Court, but the Judge reserved his decision, which will probably be handed down in a few days. The decision will be anxiously looked for by many, as it will be one which will materially affect the operation of Sunday law in that Judicial District, and probably in all parts of the United States.

THE JOURNAL calls attention to the advertisement of the Grand Forks Daily Herald, elsewhere published, and respectfully urges all desiring the latest and freshest news to subscribe for the Herald. It is the leading morning daily of North Dakota, and as its rates are extraordinarily low it comes within the reach of all. The Herald has recently been improved, and will be a State paper in the fullest sense of the word—containing all the news of the world, foreign and domestic. Give the Herald a trial. 50 cents per month.

Commissioners Proceedings.

January 30th, 1891.

Board of County Commissioners met at the auditors' office in the city of Crookston, on the 30th day of January, 1891 as per adjournment at last meeting

School petition of P. O. Hegland and W. Adams for formation of new school district composed of the following territory viz:

Sec. 18 19, 20 and that part of Sec. 17 on west side of Red Lake River in Tp. 153, R. 43. Granted.

Also sw ¼, Sec.31, Tp. 150, R. 47 was detached from school district No. 28 and attached to school district No. 110.

Application of A. Brainerd for correction and abatement of taxes. Granted

The individual petition of Chris Thosbornson, praying that w½ of sw¼ of Sec.8. Tp. 149, R. 47 be detached from school district No. 29 and attached to district No. 110 was granted.

Sec. 9. 10. 15 and 16, Tp. 148, R, 46 was attached to school district No. 75 for taxable purposes.

The following resolution was offered by M. E. Kirsh.

Wheras, in the County of Polk in this State, there is now on the tax list of this county 983,386 acres of land subject to taxation, and whereas, there is now with in the limits of this county more than 200,000 acres of railroad lands, belonging principally to the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba R. R. which are not taxed, and whereas, said railroad owing said lands pay only 3 per cent, on gross earnings, being the same as paid by other railroads in this State which have no land grants, so this non-taxation of these lands amounts practically to an exemption of said lands, and whereas, the same condition of affairs exist in many other counties in the northern part of this State, now therefore be it resolved, that it is the sense of this board that some relief in this state of affairs is impertively needed in this and other counties having railroad lands within its borders, and we hereby earnestly urge that our legislature now assembled exhaust all legal means to that end.

And that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to our State senator, and one to each of the representatives.

M. E. KIRSCH.
J. P. JOHNSON.
ANDREW O. STORTROEN,
CYPRIEN DEMERS,
A. C. RHINEHART,
Comissioners of Polk County.
Attest. C. U. WEBSTER,
County Auditor.

On motion of A. C. Rhinehart the county auditor was instructed to inter into contract with the Crookston Water Power & Light Co, to furnish the court house with electric light composed of 43 lamps for $250 per year.

On motion the resignation of J. M. Hanson as text book agent at St. Hilare was accepted.

On motion L. Johnson was appointed, provided he files his bond according to law.

The Commissioners then proceeded to compare the canceled orders with the stubs. They canceled the stubs and destroyed the canceled orders.

Annual statement of auditor examined approved and ordered published in the official papers of the county. Adopted unanimously.

Bond of W. R. Bierly, publisher of Fisher Bulletin for county printing. Approved.

Resolution offered by A. C. Rhinehart, whereas there was certain planks in the town of Sandsville belonging to Polk county and whereas same plank are badly needed for crossings on the railroad ditch across public highway in the town of Northland and Sandsville;

Therefore be it resolved that 20 of said plank be delivered to the town of Northland and the remainder to the town of Sandsville, provided said town of Sandsville pay Martin Sands $15 due him by the county on piles delivered to bridge on Snake river. Resolution adopted unanimously.

School petition of Harold Bogan and others praying that a new school district be formed embracing the territory herein described be and is hereby granted provided none of said territory is now included in any other school district to wit:

The s½ of Sec. 10, 11 and 12. Tp. 154, R. 47 and 15, 14, 13, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 35 and 36, Tp. 154 R. 47 Sec. 30, Tp. 151, R, 46.

School petition of E. L. Smith considered and hearing set for next meeting.

Resolution offered by commissioner A. O. Stortroen.

Be it resolved by the board of county commissioners of Polk Co., Minn. that whereas a movement is being made by the several counties of the north part of the state, to have all railroad lands in said state bear their just share of the taxation and whereas a large quantity of said land lies within said county named, about 200,000 acres, which is now free from taxation, and whereas we believe that the proper effort a law could be passed which would render said lands taxable.

Now therefore be it resolved that a committee be appointed to act with committees in other counties to wait upon the legislature of the state and secure if possible the passage of a law in that be half, that said committee to consist of the chairman of the board and one other member of the board to be appointed by the chairman and, the attorney shall be one of said committee, and be it further resolved that the sum of five hundred dollars, or so much thereof as shall be necessary be appropriated out of the general fund of the county to detray the expenses of said committee. Adopted unanimously.

Abatement of taxes of Stewert & Spotswood granted.

Petition of Raphail St. Marie referred to Com. DeMers.

Bills audited and allowed.

J. P. Johnson, building culvert...	$ 7 00
Geo, Ralph, inspecting bridges...	10 00
C. U. Webster, postage and paper,	2 70
A. Grundysen, 2 cords wood for office............	12 00
Onezime Ducharme, assisting janitor from Dec. 15 to Jan. 15	50 00
L. Davis, serving school notices...	8 70
Marcus T. Caswell, taking up coffin burying same dray bill	10 00
C. U. Websthr, express on stationery............	94
McIntosh Tribune, printing.......	15 30
A. R. Erickson, boarding prisoners	18 58
Pioneer Press Co. Rect books....	24 50
Jas. F. Kelly, 4 sets U. S. statutes over issued	50 00
Wm. Marin, labor and lumber, court house............	35 60
A. C. Schmidt' setting court house doors etc............	8 10
H. Shepard, coroners fees........	9 55
John Evenson, emptivng vault...	14 00
W. R. Bierly, printing............	15 12
Valelle Lizce, witness fees........	2 44
Pallet Pierce do	1 96
Wm. Marin, work on court house	32 50
George D. Barnard & Co. copy tax judg etc to clerk of court........	61 00
Bills of Rinney Loyd, C. S. Kreger and Charles Myers referred to County Atty. John Lucken, recording bonds, certificates etc of Co. officers......	19 75
Wm. Myln, justice peace fees...	6 50
A. W. DeFrate, clothing for prisoners at Alexandria............	41.50
A. W. DeFrate, board of prisoners	129 15
Andrew O. Stortroen Com. service	9 60
C. DeMers, do...	16 50
W. E. McKenzie, printing	27 60
Walter S. Booth, blanks..........	9 90
W. E. McKenzie, postal cards and printing............	26 50
W. E. McKenzie, stationry........	91 00
Sever Larson, witness fees........	4 80
Hans P. Johnson do........	3 90
A. C. Rhinehart, Com. service..	35 60
C. W. Mead, Com. fees........	19 40
M. E. Kirsch, do........	19 20

Bills rejected, August Boslran, O. W. Boslan, John Strumberg, P. Bodine and Dr. J. Lemieux two bills.

The additional bond of J. T. Beaudry was then accepted and approved.

On motion board adjourned sine die.

C. U., WEBSTER.
Clerk.

The Money Question.

J. M. Rickey, in National Economist.

Money is a prime factor in civilization, and yet it is a power for good or evil, dependent upon the wisdom of legislation for its creation and legitimate use. Like the elements of natural life, so is money essential to the health of the body politic and the freedom and welfare of the citizen.

The true function of money is as a measure of value fixed by law to facilitate commercial transactions on a money basis of a certain unit of value. The volume of currency circulation should be ample to conduct the ordinary business on a pay system, and that the public may enjoy the full benefit of a monetary condition, its uses should be kept free from taxation and be restricted from the perversion of its use for the purposes of usury. Interest on money resolves communities in to opposite interests, a small class who monopolize the money and its uses, and the masses who are compelled to have it to transact their commercial business, and are thus made to pay the tribute of the products of their labor to the usurers.

The loaning of money on usury, or interest, as between individuals, and the government and individuals, is the relic of a financial system which originated in the early dawn of civilization, whereby the few were enabled to subjugate the many and absorb their earnings. All the arbitrary governments of Europe are the legitimate offspring of the system. It is incompatible with the liberty and common welfare of a free people. The stability of the republic and the rights of its citizens are safer under the primitive system of barter than any system of currency under the control of the few, whereby they are enabled to exact tribute from the business and labor of the people, who are the only producers of wealth.

Money being only a representative of value, in and of itself, is inert—of no value except as a means to facilitate the exchange of valuable commodities and commercial transactions—it pays a debt but never earned a dollar legitimately—created expressly to occupy the place of credit. Therefore the loaning of money for usury is a perversion of its uses and thwarts the object of its creation. And instead of money occupying its normal function to dispense with credit, it is strange to say that it is made use of by the aid of legislation upon which to found the most pernicious and oppressive system of credit.

A usurous money system all history admonishes us is the worst evil that can befall a free government. The governments of ancient historical renown, the Grecian States with their once matchless cities of architectural beauty—their people the model oracles of the world in arts and sciences, in poetry and eloquence and the science of government, and the ancient republic of the great Roman Empire, once the proud mistress of the civilized world, all these were the victims of the rapacious usurers. Is it any wonder that the Old as well as the New Testament scriptures anathamatize usurers? Baron Rothschild, by the accumulation of usury, holds in his hand the financial destiny of the British Empire and dictates legislation to subserve his interest.

The three thousand five hundred national banks combined with the five hundred millionaires controlling more than half the wealth of this country, acquired by usury and more questionable means, is a menace to liberty and the administration of the government in the interest of the people.

The money power yields nothing and grasps for everything, as is manifested by its emissaries who are in control of the national administration. Not satisfied with bonding the government, it arrogantly assumes to dictate the volume and kind of currency to suit its purposes whereby it can hold the people in financial bondage also. The money class in this country of late years are becoming native foreigners, having no sympathies in common with the people. Fortunately our form of government affords the people with a majority of honest and intelligent yemanry a peaceable remedy for all grievances, with the use of the bal lot box instead of the cartridge box. There is no disguising the fact that we are in the midst of a financial revoulation in this country. It is numbers on one side and combined capital on the other. The stake on both sides involves questions the most momentous, affecting not only American civilization, but the nationalities of all Europe.

When King Philip of Macedon, had subdued all the Grecian republics to his standard, Athens alone, with her Demosthenes, was invincible, until he sent camel loaded with gold through her gates to corrupt her orators. The power of money has heretofore proved more than a match against military force. It remains to be seen what the Alliance of intelligent members are able to accomplish in the movement that is being organized. Having established a monetary system consistent with our advanced civilization; all other financial reforms in the interest of producers are sure to follow in the train. In the language of one of old, "To your tents, O Isral!"

We Owe Much to Blaine.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The bureau of the American republics has received a letter from a leading merchant in Brazil, who writes as follows:

"Almost every thing made in America is good for this country. Glasswere is wanted badly, particularly big tumblers; water sets and small liquor glasses, knives and forks, all kinds of tinware, hardware, and notions of every kind, cotton sheeting, prints and cheap lightweight goods. In fact, I can only say that I do not know what will not sell. We want paper and stationery of every kind, varnishes, felt shoes, wooden ware, gloves blank books. We have recently had the largest shipments of manufactures from the United States ever landed here, and although the prices were outrageous they met with wonderfully quick sales. Lamps that sold in New York at 85 cents net, were sold here at $3 net, and I disposed of 200 in a couple of days. If I were in business in New York instead of Rio Janiro I would do a big trade throughout all the provinces of Brazil. It only wants some of the New York wholesale firms to go for this market, and before long our people would regularly send all their supplies. Blaine's reciprocity idea will lead to increased business with us. It is a splendid notion, and if Blaine can carry it out both countries will have a good deal to thank him for."

Northwestern Agriculturalist:—One of the reforms that can be looked after by reformers of all parties began at home or near enough home to be in every county seat in the Northwest, Is there any good reason why county officers should receive any larger salaries than would be paid in any business for competent men? If these offices were not "soft snaps," paying in many cases several times as much as the services rendered are worth, there would not be a biennial scramble for them, The corruption fund of the politics is gathered up from the candidates for these offices, who, in some instances, spend thousands of dollars in the campaign which precedes election. Take the fat out of these offices, and let the incumbents serve for what the labor is worth, and the air of politics will be speedily purified. But reformers generally prefer to talk about reforms a good ways from home. It is a good deal easier to make war upon corruption in politics in Washington or New York, at long range than to pass resolutions against evils that exist about home. If any attempt was made to reduce the fees of county officers to a reasonable sum, there would be a bigger lobby organized in twenty-four hours, in any state in the Northwest, than was ever gathered in the interest of any measure in Washington at the national capitol.

Lake Bark Record.

Within the last week Thos. H. Canfield has shipped two bull calves 8 months old, from his herd of Shorthorns. One was purchased by Mr. H. Edlund, of Fertile, Polk County who also took a ½ grade heifer calf. The other went to Johnstown, N. Dakota. Both of these were from the celebrated Loran family, and weighed respectivey 580 and 620 Pounds.

TRY
O. J. BARNES,
THE
CITY GROCER!

Trade at
HOLMBOE'S,
THE ROBERT ST. DEALER
—IN—
General Merchandise!

SUBSCRIBE FOR
THE HERALD,
The Leading Morning Paper of North Dakota.
Weekly $1.00. Daily $6.00 per Year in Advance.
Daily contains the News of the World, the Latest Telegraphic News, Full Associated Press Dispatches. Address
THE HERALD, Grand Forks, N. D.

S. L. COLLINS
—PROPRIETOR OF—
MAIN STREET
Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.
CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,
Crookston, - - - - Minnesota
Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.
FINE HEARSE
In connection which I will attend to in person

J. V. E. WYATT,
UNDERTAKER.
Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for
N E W G O O D S.
A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material. | Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,
OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.
Organized Under the State Laws.
Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $5,700
Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections.
Interest on time deposits.
OFFICERS.
C. HENDRICKSON, President.
O. H. LUCKEN, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.
DIRECTORS.
C. O. Christianson, E. P. Pierce, H. Steenerson, Max Ericsson, O. H. Lucken, J. H. Lookin, L. K. Anker, A. D. Stephens, A. G. Gallasch, C. Hendrickson, A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

The Northwestern Farmer
ONE YEAR FREE

Mr. McKinley:—"How are you to-day, Uncle Sam?"
Uncle Sam:—"Miserable! That last dose was a little mite too strong for me [illegible]."
Alliance Farmer:—"Yes, and when the medicine begins to work, you will feel worse. We have decided to change doctors for you, and will then see if anything can be done to cure you."

REDUCED SAMPLE ILLUSTRATION in the NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul.
(See November 15th number, how Boys and Girls can get Christmas Gifts FREE.)
The publisher of the NORTHWESTERN FARMER will send the paper free from November 15th for the balance of the year, to every one of our readers who send their address on a postal card. Address, FARMER AND BREEDER, St. Paul, Minn.
THE NORTHWESTERN FARMER AND BREEDER published in St. Paul, Minn., is a sixteen page, 64 column Illustrated Semi-Monthly Agricultural Journal (24 numbers in the year). It is a well-known, enterprising, ably edited and popular farm paper.
WE OFFER IT FREE
for one year to all who will pay us one year's subscription to
The Polk County Journal.

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon.
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON. - - - - MINN.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

THE NEW
NORTHWEST
Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana | FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS | 100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products. | LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills. | Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth. | In the Northwest. Free Lands, New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills. Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise. | Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines. | These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.
The valleys of Red, Mouse, Missouri Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890 Write F. L. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn | Hunting, Fishing.

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, - MINNESOTA

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

New Millinery Store
ON BROADWAY.
NOW READY
OUR NEW
Fall Styles
LADIES,
Call and Examine.
DRESSMAKING!
We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.
Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Feb. 12, 1891.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
8:25 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
5:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc	9:55 p. m.
8:30 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:42 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
2:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

MONTANA EXPRESS DAILY.

7:40 p. m. de..........St. Paul..........ar. 6:55 a. m.
7:00 a. m. de.......CROOKSTON.......de. 7:25 p. m.
8:15 a. m. de.......Grand Forks.......de. 6:20 p. m.
2:30 p. m. ar..........Helena..........de. 11:00 a. m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH.
Daily, except Sunday.
Depart 7:15 a. m.......................Arrive 7:00 p. m.

FOSSTON BRANCH.
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Depart 7:30 a. m.......................Arrive 5:00 p. m.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH.
Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
Depart 10:45 a. m.......................Arrive 4:00 p. m.

W. W. FEGAN,
Agent, Crookston.

The Alliance and its Power For Good.

The American Farmer.

The necessity for maintaining, extending and perfecting the organization of the Farmers Alliance can not be too frequently or too persistently urged, says The Homestead. Since the days when the dying father called his sons to his bedside, and by means of the object lesson of the bundle of sticks, taught them how important it was that those having like interests should stand together, the principle that "In union there is strength" has been universally recognized, at least in theory. In practice, farmers have been among the last to accept it. The isolation of the farm, and of the farmer's daily life and employment, in a measure accounts for this, because concert of action necessarily implies and is preceded by frequent opportunities for consultation relative to wants and interests that are felt in common, and these opportunities farmers have enjoyed to a less degree than men engaged in almost any other calling. But if they are last in the field of organization and selfhelpful co-operation, a comparatively brief experience has shown that it is easily within their power to be first in effective and substantial influence, and that no just demand which they make in an organized way can long be denied, so soon as it becomes apparent that they are intelligently in earnest about it.

For they, too, have had their object lesson, inculcating in the most striking and satisfactory manner the effectiveness of united effort. In Iowa the law authorizing an elective railway commission, the abolition of the free pass, the law requiring the fixing of freight rates and establishing joint rates, the law reducing interest, some valuable though not yet perfect school book legislation, the anti-trust law, and numerous other enactments of practical benefit to our agricultural interests, are an earnest of what can be done by the farmers in the way of self-help when they organize and think and give voice to their wishes. In the nation the interstate commerce law has been passed, pooling and discriminations by railroads have been made unlawful, the importance of agriculture has been recognized by erecting a law department in the cabinet to have charge of the interest, valuable experiment stations have been established a half a million dollars has been appropriated as a starter for the Hennepin canal which, when completed, will afford Western products cheap water transportation to Chicago, as the Welland and Erie canals have done from Chicago eastward; an anti-trust law has been passed, and also the original package law, which is distinctly a deferring to the wishes of the rural population rather than to the cities which were indifferent or opposed to it; a handsome appropriation has been made in favor of the agricultural colleges in the several States the meat inspection bill has passed, coupled with authority to place an embargo upon the products of other countries which refuse admission to our meats upon the false pretense that they are unsound, and in many other ways the wishes and interests of the farming class have been promoted to an extent which was formerly unthought of.

Some of the things accomplished merely indicate a growing recognition of the dignity and importance of agriculture, and of how large a factor in the national economy the farmer is, and exhibit a disposition to advance his convenience and welfare. Others were attained in the face of the obstinate resistance by entrenched wrong which had long maintained and fattened upon the abuses that have been abolished. In either case the end thus gained is an argument in favor of still more perfect organization by the farmer and of further study on his part of his own needs.

There has also been great moral gain in the achievements that owe their existence to the farmers' organized efforts. When the proposition for many of the reforms were first propounded, they were derided as the wild speculations of an ignorant and causeless discontent, and the farmers favoring them were stigmatized as "disturbers of repose." Now every one of the propositions is admitted to be right and no one of the enactments could be repealed. A distinct advance in moral power has thereby been made, in this, that whereas formerly every presumption was taken against what the farmer asked, on the theory that it probably emanated from discontented ignorance, the presumption is now the other way, and politicians are beginning to realize that the farmer is a correct thinker to whom the very many so-called statesmen might well go for counsel; and that his comparatively isolated situation is not without the compensating advantage that it prevents him from dissipating his powers by a superficial attention to many subject, and enables him to concentrate his thought upon those topics that lie nearest him and most intimately affect his welfare.

While the good that has been accomplished by the farmer's united effort affords ample encouragement for continuance in well doing, the things yet to be accomplished call for it more loudly than before. The spirit that originated combines and monopolies is still fertile, inventive and insatiably greedy. Trusts and pools have been scotched, but their creators still have to be watched, for they have not been and will not be converted to honesty by legislative enactment. Laws are a necessary deterrent to wrong-doers, but they work no change of heart. The cotton seed oil trust will, we hope, be destroyed as a trust, by the law which declares every contract, combination or conspiracy in restraint of trade illegal and punishable, but its successor will doubtless continue to insist upon falsely branding the product of its presses, "pure refined lard," unless the farmers insist that that too shall be mode illegal by the passage of the Conger lard bill. The injury which fabricated lard does the farmer is very considerable, and it is his right and duty to see that cotton seed oil takes off the mask. Again, why one gambler should be prosecuted and punished for betting on the turn of a card, which injures nobody but himself, and another should be permitted to bet with impunity on the fluctuations of grain that never did and never will exist, to the great detriment of every producer of real grain, is one of those incongruities to which farmers should turn their attention in an organized way, and unless some better reason can be furnished for it than we have ever yet seen advanced, it should be stopped by the Butterworth Option bill or some similar measure. The Inter-State Commerce law prevents railroads from discriminating in favor of some shippers, but the "Red Lines" and "Blue Lines" not only rob stockholders, but give discrimination which render the operation of the "Big Four" easy and profitable, at the expense of the owners of live stock.

In State legislation there should be a thorough revision of the system of taxation, in order that the burdens of government may be more equitably imposed. Instead of the present law for the encouragment of raising wolves, there should be such change as would render it possible for the farmer to diversify his labors by raising a few sheep. Still other reforms are possible to the organized efforts of the farmers, who have only to make their matured wishes known in order to see them embodied in law. We shall not here attempt to specify the many just and desirable things that are possible to united, earnest, intelligent effort on the part of the farmer, but there are enough of them and still step a long distance this side of the millenial drawning.

Success in the past and desirable things yet remaining to be accomplished unite in demanding that the farmer should maintain, extend and perfect his organization.

To Perfect Organization.

The American Farmer.

This should be the aim of all who are interested in the success of the present movement toward union among farmers. It should be remembered that the former failures to crystallize a permanent organization were due in a large part to attempts to accomplish the desired ends before sufficient strength was acquired. The strength of many other organizations lies in their wealth and the abuse of money to further their ends. The farmers can hardly hope to wield capital in this manner. But they have certain lawful rights as citizens, and they may be stronger than the wealthy corporations if they make good use of their numbers. Indeed the present movement toward organization is a grave one; but if after such flattering progress it should not prove effective it will be many years before the defect can be remedied in order to restore the confidence necessary to enlist the co-operation of all, writes J. H. to the National Stockman.

If farmers are to be a unit of power they must stand squarely shoulder to shoulder, and by such proximity the entire line will be unified and become a formidable faction in influencing national affairs. Is not the balance of power within the easy reach of such an organization? And lest some in their enthusiasm already believe that such a result is well nigh achieved this is written to disabuse their minds.

If there ever was need for cool and broad-minded leadership for any movement it certainly is in demand for the present farmers' movements. These must be national in their extent, and to prevent a clashing of interests, and to suppress any jealousy that may arise so as to exert the greatest influence, will require the supervision of the able men that can be found. Therefore the leadership will be responsible for the success of these new organization, for they so far have mushroom growth, even if the underlying causes have been of long standing, and their decay can be as speedy. Yet tried leadership is rare among the farming class.

Having been accustomed so long to rely upon other classes to take the lead in political and diplomatic matters, many farmers who assume this distinction are liable to be extreme and impractical in their views. I have not a word to say against complaint of the long standing grievances which farmers have endured, but it is too common to note the unpleasant utterances made by many would-be leaders in their ignorance, and which declarations savor too strongly of anarchy to suit the popular mind. Candor and firmness should characterize all who presume to enlighten farmers upon their duty, and since there is much sympathy manifested by other classes this can be strengthened by these factors. In short we shall not be strongly opposed so long as we are reasonable.

Hence the first end, I think, is to be strongly organized, and retain the good will of certain non-farming classes. Then undertake only such measures as receive the sanction of all who are interested in the organization. It is not the time to lay stress upon disputed measures, for there is much that can be done upon the propriety of which all heartily agree, and while Tom, Dick and Harry may feel that the dawn of the millenium depends upon the realization of certain personal ideas, yet they should be sensible enough to submit to the whole for the sake of the whole. Over zealous friends may work the cause they greatly desire to further a real injury by thoughtless persistence. Beware of reaction in this movement. Be thoroughly organized, for there is abondant time to accomplish the result after this is done.

100 PAGES

WIDE AWAKE. 1891

BEGINNING WITH THE HOLIDAY NUMBER

Is permanently enlarged to one hundred pages, radiant with new and larger type, a new style of page, and fresh, strong literary and pictorial attractions.

Mrs. Burton Harrison, whose story of "The Anglomaniacs" has been the sensation of the season in The Century, has written for Wide Awake a story called "Diamonds and Toads."

Hon. John D. Long (ex-Governor of Massachusetts) furnishes six articles, under the general title of "Our Government," for the enlightenment of coming citizens—the boys and girls of to-day.

Margaret Sidney's new serial, "Five Little Peppers Grown Up," will tell more about Polly and Jasper and David and Joel and Phronsie, and others, as it runs through the year. Fifty charming illustrations by Chas. Mente.

Marietta's Good Times will chronicle in her own words, from her own manuscript, the childhood adventures of Marietta Ambrosi.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn, a little girl who had a great many ancestors, is an irresistible little folks' serial, by Elizabeth Cumings.

Unusually Interesting Articles, some elaborately pictorial: "Dining with Gladstone," by Mrs. John A. Logan; "Amy Robsart's Embroidery," by Frances A. Humphrey? "Mother Goose's Pets," by Agnes Pepplier; "Gypsies and Gypsying," by Elizabeth Robbins Pennell; "Some Horses that I have known," by Maud Howe; "Seinte Marie College of Wynchestre," by Oscar Fay Adams; "Boston's Girl Sculptor," by Mrs. Newberry; "The Sugar Crank," by Theodora R. Jenness.

Some Problems in Horology, by E. H. Hawley, of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, will interest High School students. Three sets of cash prizes.

The Best of Short Stories from thousands offered and solicited the past year—some by new authors.

Figure Drawing for Children, in twelve illustrated lessons by Caroline H. Rimmer, with four prize offers each month.

The Ever Popular Ways to do Things, the School and Playground Stories, Tangles, Post Office and Men and Things.

Wide Awake is only $2.40 a Year.

D. LOTHROP CO., Publishers, Boston.

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,

——DEALERS IN——

Shelf and Heavy

HARDWARE,

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, Ole Olson Gang Plows, F. F. Thompson & Sons Walking Plows. Sole agents for the Domestic Sewing Machine.

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

STOVES AND RANGES

SOLE AGENTS FOR

Havanna Press Drills

FOR POLK COUNTY.

Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., - - - - Crookston

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

CALL IN.

[First publication Jan. 29th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, January 23d, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Sam Johnson, deceased.

Letters testamentary on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto James Hanson, of Washington County, Minn.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county of Polk, on Monday, the 3d day of August, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, the 23d day of January, A. D. 1891.

By the Court, C. M. BENSON,
[41-43] Judge of Probate.

[First publication Feb. 5th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court. Special Term, Feb. 4th, 1891

In the matter of the estate of Nils O. Paulsrud, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Johannes J. Bjornstad, executor of the estate of Nils O. Paulsrud, deceased, representing among other things that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard, by the Judge of this Court on Tuesday, the 3d day of March, A. D. 1891 at 2 o'clock p. m., at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 4th day of February, A. D. 1890.

By the Court: C. M. BENSON,
[42-44] Judge of Probate.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., Dec. 16th, 1890.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Lars Abelson against Taylor H. Wolford for failure to comply with law as to timber-culture entry No. 1,990, dated May 7th 1881, upon the southeast one-quarter Section 24 Township 154 n, Range 47, in Polk County, Minnesota, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; contestant alleging that the said Taylor H. Wolford has not during the four years last past planted trees, tree cuttings or tree seeds on said tract, and has not cultivated or in any way improved same during said period; that there is now not to exceed one acre of growing trees on said land and that the whole of said land is in a wild state, the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 25th day of March, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged failure.

[42-47] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

L. E. GOSSMAN,

Attorney-at-Law,

No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

M. LeGUEE.

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, MINN.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated December 29th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, December 31st, 1887, in book 34 of mortgages, page 461, whereby Albert Drager, an unmarried man, mortgageor, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the southeast quarter of section eleven (11), in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-five (45), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $370.12, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $22.20, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $392.32. Now, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.
THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22, 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 12th, 1883, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 12th, 1883, in book K of mortgages, page 91, whereby Andrew Steenerson and Bertha Steenerson, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the south half of the southeast quarter, and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty (30), in township one hundred and forty-eight (148), of range forty-eight (48), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $462.50, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $18.99, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $481.49. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed, and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at ten o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.
THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated July 21st, 1888, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, July 23d, 1888, in book 36 of mortgages, page 375, whereby Geo. Galland and Keziah Galland, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the east half of the southwest quarter of section thirty-three (33), in township one hundred and forty-nine (149), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $264.59. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.
THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 22nd, 1889, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 23rd, 1889, in book 42 of mortgages, page 41 whereby Albert Iten and Sophronia Iten his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the north half of the southwest quarter and the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section twenty-four (24), and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section twenty-three (23), all in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $467.51. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.
THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.
[40-46]

[First publication Feb. 12th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK. In District Court, 14th Judicial District.

Frederick K. McKeen, Plaintiff, vs. James B. Holmes, The Minnesota Title Insurance and Trust Company, Charles P. Haseltine, Neil Farnham, and Williford and Northway Manufacturing Company, Defendants.

Notice of Sheriff's Sale under Judgment and Decree. Foreclosure of Mechanics' Liens.

Whereas, a certain judgment was duly obtained, entered and docketed in the District court, in the County of Hennepin, State of Minnesota, in the 4th Judicial District, on the 13th day of December, 1890, and whereas a transcript and certified copy of said judgment was thereafter, to-wit: on the 4th day of February, 1891, duly filed and docketed in the Clerk's office in the District Court, of Polk County, State of Minnesota, in the 14th Judicial District, in the above entitled action, in favor of said plaintiff, Frederick K. McKeen and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of two hundred eighty-seven and 73-100ths dollars ($278.87), including interests and costs, and in favor of said defendant, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of five thousand four hundred eighty-one and ninety-one one-hundredths dollars, ($5,481.91), including interests and costs, and whereas, in said judgment it was decreed that the judgment so rendered in favor of said plaintiff to the full extent thereof, including interests and costs, and the judgment so rendered in favor of said defendants, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company to the extent of five thousand four hundred sixty-two and 6-100ths ($5,462 06) dollars, including interests and costs, to be specific liens upon the land and appurtenances in said judgment described situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: That tract of land known as block one hundred two (102), of Rail Road Addition to the Town of Red Lake Falls, being a portion of lot six, (6), in Section sixteen, (16), in Township one hundred fifty-one, (151), Range forty-four, (44), of which certain Flouring Mills are a part of the appurtenances, co-ordinate with other, and prior and superior to any right, title, lien or claim to or in said land or appurtenances of the said defendants, James B. Holmes, Charles P. Haseltine, Neil Farnham, or the Minnesota Title Insurance Company or any of them. And whereas it was in said judgment decreed and ordered that the Sheriff of said Polk County State of Minnesota, sell said land and appurtenances at public auction as by law in such cases made and provided, to satisfy said judgment and interest thereon, together with costs of said sale, and to pay the proceeds of said sale; after deducting all lawful expenses and charges thereof to and between said Frederick K. McKeen and Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, to the amount of their respective judgments and liens given.

Provided, if said net proceeds be insufficient, then to distribute the same pro rata among and between said judgment creditors; a certified copy of said judgment and decree having been duly served upon and delivered to me. Now, therefore,

Notice is hereby given that I will sell the above described land and appurtenances thereon, at public auction to the highest bidder therefor in accordance with and as directed in said decree on the 8th day of March, 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the county Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said Polk County and State of Minnesota, to satisfy said judgment and claims, together with the costs and expenses of such sale.

Dated February 11th, 1891.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN,
Sheriff of Polk County, Minnesota.
WHITE & EVANS, Attorneys for Plaintiff.
E. D. JACKSON, Attorney for Defendant,
Willford and Northway Mf'g Company.
[48-49]

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,

CROOKSTON, MINN.,

Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plain and Fancy

DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, FLANNELS,

BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

——SILKS.——		——DRESS GOODS.——
☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.		☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.
Armures, for	$1.00	34 inch Flannel	20 cents.
Rhadames for	1.00	54 inch Tricot	35 "
Faille Francais for	1.00	54 inch Flannel	45 "
Gros Grain for	1.00	54 inch best all wool Flannel	75 "
Satin Luxors for	1.00	36 inch Henriettas	25 "
The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

——LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.——

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

——FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.——

A good Flannel for	30 cents.	A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket	$1.50
" " "	35 "	" " 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket	2.00
" " medicated, for	40 "	" " 4½ lb. 10¼ white "	4.50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dry Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST.

PUBLISHED 50 YEARS CONSECUTIVELY.

RECOGNIZED as the BEST RURAL and FAMILY PERIODICAL in the WORLD, giving Invaluable Help, the Best Information, Thousands of Plans, Practical and Useful hints and Suggestions, and THOUSANDS OF ORIGINAL ENGRAVINGS ANNUALLY. Try it this year, it will Pay You well. No one can read a number without getting thoroughly Reliable and Practical Information, Profitable to Everybody. Each number contains Sketches of Labor-helping Contrivances to aid In-door and Out-door Work. Fine Engravings of Animals, Plants Flowers, Out-buildings, with many Pleasing, Instructive Pictures for Young and Old. Subscription price $1.50 a year.

We are desirous to make this the BANNER YEAR in CIRCULATION, which is now over 100,000 copies monthly.

OUR PREMIUM OFFER.

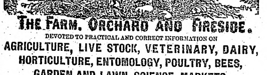
THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD CYCLOPÆDIA. Price $1.00. Bound in Cloth and Gilt. A Complete Ready Reference Library for Farmers, Gardeners, Fruit Growers, Stockmen and Housekeepers, containing a large fund of Useful Information, Facts, Hints and Suggestions, in the various Departments of Agriculture, Horticulture, Live Stock Raising, Poultry Keeping, Bee Keeping, Dairy Farming, Fertilizers, Rural Architecture, Farm Implements, Household Management, Domestic Affairs, Cookery, Ladies' Fancy Work, Floriculture, Medical Matters, Etc.

Containing 644 Pages, with 249 Illustrations.

This Valuable Book furnished with the AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST ONE YEAR, for $1.60, or for only 10 cents additional to the subscription price, paying postage on book.

BEST WEEKLY AGRICULTURAL JOURNAL.

$1.00 PER YEAR. ESTABLISHED AT CHICAGO, IN 1841. $1.00 PER YEAR.



THE FARM, ORCHARD AND FIRESIDE.

DEVOTED TO PRACTICAL AND CORRECT INFORMATION ON

AGRICULTURE, LIVE STOCK, VETERINARY, DAIRY, HORTICULTURE, ENTOMOLOGY, POULTRY, BEES, GARDEN AND LAWN, SCIENCE, MARKETS.

A Family Journal for two generations, the acknowledged favorite, at the fireside of western homes.

The Household Department, carefully prepared and illustrated delights the ladies.

Its Miscellany, Puzzles, and Young Folks endear it to the young members of the family.

Filled with Practical Illustrations and Concise, Timely Topics of General Interest.

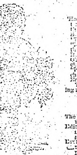
ONLY ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

Do not fail to read THE PRAIRIE FARMER during 1891—its 51st year. Send for free sample copy or subscribe at once, addressing

THE PRAIRIE FARMER PUB. CO., 166-168 Adams St., CHICAGO, ILL.

SPRING SMILES!

Upon the Well Wintered Farm.



[illegible] "Keep [illegible]," "Why I Raise [illegible]," [illegible] "with the Silo," [illegible] "Why I Don't Leave the Farm," [illegible] "Our Country Roads," "Are [illegible]," "Notes [illegible]," "Are Politicians Our Friends," "What Should the Teacher Do," "How I [illegible]," "When to Buy Seeds," "The Boy Mechanic," [illegible] "Fighting Animals," "My [illegible]," "Shall We Heed the Experience of Others." These are only a few of the subjects to be found in forthcoming numbers of

FARM, STOCK AND HOME,

OF MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The most popular and reliable semi-monthly Agricultural journal published.

Edited by E. H. OWEN, assisted by scores of practical farmers, stockmen, dairymen, poultrymen, apiarists, gardeners, fruit growers, housewives, etc., etc.

Every number contains sixteen to twenty pages of 64 to 80 columns, printed from clear, new type, on fine, white book paper.

FARM, STOCK AND HOME is issued the 1st and 15th of every month—24 numbers a year—at an annual subscription of only 50 cents.

[illegible] DON'T PASS THIS OFFER. [illegible] We have arranged with the publishers of Farm, Stock and Home to accept subscriptions at regular rates; or we will send it and THE JOURNAL one year for only $1.50. Sample copies can be seen at this office.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, QUEBEC.

Office in McKinnon Block.

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank.

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

Crookston Meat Market

E. STEENERSON, Proprietor. E. ERIKSON, Manager.

Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN,

LAWYERS,

FOURNET BLOCK,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum.

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, FEBRUARY 19, 1891. NO. 44

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. I outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
¼ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

Reading for Young People.

ED. JOURNAL:—Kindly permit me a little space in your columns just to call attention to the subject of reading. How often it occurs that reading does no good is a waste of time. Some people have empty purses because they have earned no shining coin to meet the expenses of life. Some have empty heads because they do not read. Yet reading—good reading in every style suited to all tastes, and adapted to everybody's purse is to be had. Young people read more. Life is too short and opportunities are too grand for any of us to fail from want of knowledge. Some books merely excite us. Set our whole nature in a whirl of confused thought. These books harm us, other books put us to sleep. Think of a young man going to sleep eating his dinner! But that is no more ridiculous than that I should try to force my mind to read an authors' sentences which he has so written as to put me to sleep. Let us not condemn the subject because we cannot read the book with interest. Some ladies make poor bread out of the best material. If a book upon a subject in which I ought to find a thrilling interest does not arouse my attention and thought, one of three things actually is the cause. It may be my taste as a reader is wrong. Fever usually deranges the patient's taste. Or it may be my want of interest is caused by my own wrong opinion upon the subject of the book. Young people sometimes have a fever for most exciting reading and it sometimes rages until good taste is dead. Fatal fever! But such reading as leaves you possessed of good, earnest progressive ideas in all cases is good reading: We should read magazines, daily and weekly papers on varied and important subjects. Wit and fun, duty and obligation, natures own treasures of granduer and beauty, the experiences of noble lives, the touching rivalries of a thousand races for wealth, for happiness and for fame on the highways of life all about us, all are pictured to us in perodical litterture. Yes, in these papers and magazines is good reading. Disdain bad reading. Prize the good; take time for reading. Evey boy and girl should have the privilege of being a subscriber to one or more good, wideawake, clean, interesting newspapers at twelve years of age. And as years go on the numbers of periodicals addressed to each boy or girl should increase. Divide the time for reading. Give some to books and some to periodicals. Many grown up men and women fail here. For some reason, or for no reason at all, they spend all time allotted to reading either to books or to papers to the neglect of other kinds of reading. Then divide up the time given to books, to books on many subjects. Read a variety of periodical also. Thus one's appetite for reading is healthy. But read with a purpose if it be nothing more than the purpose to feed your immortal hunger for knowledge. And as time passes reading will be a source of untold good, giving pleasure of knowledge, thoughts that will comfort your memaries which are like fragrant baeezes bearing onward the odors from banks of roses and gardens far away. Resolve never to give up reading. Duties may press every waking hour. Then classify these duties and sandwich in a little reading. Sickess may suspend reading. But take up the good habit again. Live in companionship with your gratest friend good reading.

R. H. BATTEY.

THE BANQUET

Given by the Crookston Fire Department

To its Departing Chief, E. W. Wile.

At the St. Louis Hotel, on Thursday Evening, February 5th, 1891.

On Thursday evening, February 5th, about fifty invited guests assembled a the St. Louis Hotel to participate in a banquet given by the Fire Department to their retiring Chief, E. W. Wile. After a sumptuous repast, toastmaster J. H. McGlogon, called on the first toast: "To Our Departed Brethren, Henry and John Utzinger." Responded to by the Department rising in solemn silence to reverently respond.

"OUR GUEST"

Was responded to by J. E. O'Brien, who said;

As I look over this gathering and see the pleasant faces of my companions it seems hardly necessary for me to say that the members of the fire department of this City are here to-night to perform one of the most pleasant duties of its existance by displaying their appreciation of true merit.

Seven years ago we knew our guest Mr. E. W. Wile as one of our business men and in that capacity we recognized in him the many qualities that go to please a man foremost in his calling.

Later on we knew him as our comrade and when the alarm of distress was sounded he could be seen in our midst in his usual genteel appearance to go forth with his co-workers to wallow in the mud or become a walking icicle that he might alleviate the suffering of his fellow man, and follow the dictates of a heart over flowing with sympathy for his neighbor in trouble.

Years of meritorious work has reaped its reward and we then find him in command of our forces and with signal ability he has placed the Fire Department of this city on the list with a record second to no other volunteer Fire Department in this great state.

The same noble impulse that placed him in our ranks that distinguished him as our chief, brings a separation between him and his comrades. And he goes forth to comfort the declining years of an aged parent and perform the supreme duty that falls to an obedient son.

And when he has returned to the home of his boyhood he will be remembered the valuable lessons he has taught. And now on behalf of your comrades I offer you, our honored guest, this cane as a slight token of our friendship and high esteem and as a remembrance, together with the hope that you will some day reach the highest pinnacle in American citizenship.

Stepping forward, Mr. O'Brien presented Mr. Wile with a handsome gold-headed ebony cane in behalf of the department.

In reply, Ex-Chief Wile, in responding to the toast, "The Department," said:

I am again reminded of the many, many noble traits of character displayed by the members of "Our Department." You have upon three different occasions bestowed upon me great honors, the highest within the gift of our department, (and I beg to assure you they have been sensibly appreciated), and now to crown all, you have spread this sumptuous feast upon the eve of my departure from your midst. It is enough for me to note the spontaneous outburst of your noble and generous hearts, and with your hearty co-operation with me for the past seven years, it has required no demonstration on your part to convince me that you have been true and faithful firemen. You are soldiers—battling the elements; you protect life at the risk of your own; you know not of danger. Oh, what noble purposes! As our Department grows older, I trust you will ever maintain its present dignity, and above all its superlative efficiency, the maintenance of these qualifications depend largely upon your actions. Let good conduct procure you the esteem of your friends, so that by your example others will follow, and thus perpetuate this grand organization. And when at last the "still alarm" shall have been sounded for me, I shall be resigned, conscious that I have endeavored to do my duty well. Brother Firemen, I again thank you for these and other kindly manifestations of love for the retiring Chief of your Department.

The toast, "Our City," was responded to by His Honor, Mayor Alexander McKinnon, as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN:—I have done ample justice to the bountiful repast set before us, and as a consequece my capacity for storing away such substantials and dainty delicacies as are here provided has been fully taxed, and I find myself almost "too full for utterance".

However, Mr. President, it affords me great pleasure to respond to the toast "The City of Crookston"—yes the of the Northwest. As a citizen of Crookston, I am proud of her rapid and substantial growth. We have here everything that goes to make up a model city. Our educational advantages are superior. We have churches of nearly every denomination, so that all may worship the "Lord of Creation", who so bountifully supplies our every want. We have a system of water works and a sewer system that will compare favorably with any in the state. We have buildings that would be a credit to a city of 20,000 inhabitants. We have all these things now; what may we not expect to have within the next few years? I am not here to-night to prophesy, but when I tell you that Crookston has not yet seen her best days—(the days of her greatest prosperity are yet to come)—and that our city is destined to be one of the best cities in the Northwest, I am merely stating a fact of which you are already aware.

QUEEN CITY

Our present council is doing everything possible to advance the best interests of our city. Each of our aldermen is doing his duty nobly and well.

The occasion which brings us together here this evening is to show our respect for our worthy fellow-citizen, Mr E. W. Wile, who is about to leave our city. All who know Mr. Wile—and who does not—know him to be an able business man; a man who has always had the best interests of the city at heart, and never missed an opportunty to advance its interests; a true friend and a thorough gentleman.

It was my privilege, as Mayor of your city, to appoint Mr. Wile Comptroller of our city's finance, and, that he brought to the office exceptional business ability and discharged the duites of that office to the entire satisfaction of the public is a fact well known to you all.

As Chief of our Fire Department, Mr. Wile's work speaks for itself. Our Fire Department is the pride of our citizens, and the best volunteer Fire Department in the State of Minnesota.

I regret exceedingly that Mr. Wile, has decided to leave our city, and I think I voice the sentiments of all who are present here to-night, when I say that the city, in his departure will lose one of its most progressive men; one of its most faithful and competent officers, and a genial society man. That the various organizations with which he has been so long identified will lose a splendid worker whose place will not soon be so acceptably filled. And we will all lose a kind, true, and generous friend.

We shall ever watch, with greatest interest, your progress in your new home, and trust that your success in your new field of labor may be as complete as your success here.

In closing, I wish you Godspeed on your journey. May the Goddess of Fortune shower upon you her richest blessings, and in the words of our own Irving's Rip VanWinkle, "May you live long and prosper.

Responding to the toast, "The Council and Its Relations to the Fire Department," Alderman E. D. Childs said:

Mr. Toast Master and Gentlemen of the Fire Department and City Government: Were the occasion which calls us together this evening other than to extend the parting hand to our worthy Chief, and our able Comptroller, who during the whole period of his sojourn in our midst has labored with unflagging zeal to promote every material interest of our fair city, we should be satisfied and content indeed, feasted as we have been, physically and mentally, since we gathered round your hospitable board.

But that Divine Law of "compensation," which is said to permeate and dominate in all human affairs, shadows this festive occasion, seasoning our honey with wormwood, mingling sorrow with joy, and turning our laughter into mourning, with the recollection that we are about to lose the hearty co-operation of him who so soon goes from us to his eastern home, to which he will carry our warmest gratitude and sincerest wishes for his continued prosperity and happiness.

In common with you all, I have listened with just pride as His Honor, who preceded me, has recited the advancement and advantages of our thriving city. Our growth is but of yesterday. I have but to shut my eyes, and there arises at once before my mental vision, the picture of frontier simplicity which greeted me in 1877, as our tri-weekly train consisting of one passenger coach and half a dozen freight cars drew up to the depot, and I first stepped foot on your streets. The grass-grown tracks of the railway yard, with its meager switching accommodations, the log store in which during the next succeeding year our now oldest business firm commenced their prosperous career, the solitude of the primeval forest which waived upon the present site of this delightful hostelry, which opened wide its doors to receive us, all this, and more, which I have not time to recite, are indellibly photographed upon my memory, and give assurance of a growth and advancement in future years proportionate to the growth of this great Empire of the Red River, Valley, of which we must ever continue to be the metropolis. As we walk the streets to-day, how changed the scene, how marked the contrast. Do you ask the secret of the accomplishment of this rapid transformation? Look for it in the public spirited enterprise of your citizens and their readiness to seize and avail themselves of the unlimited resources of soil, of forest, mine and river which nature has so lavishly bequeathed us. But this alone could not have accomplished this result. The capatalist looks not alone to prospectively large returns for his investments, but for security and permanancy as well. Provisions must be made that fire does not consume, as well as that the thief does not break through and steal, and so it came about that early in the history of our city a a demand for organized protection against fire sprang up, and the outgrowth of this demand is to-day your splendidly equipped and perfectly disciplined department. We have been told to-night something of its history, progress and development; the unwritten history of the protection it has afforded our property, the feeling of security it has given to capital have been vastly more potent in securing the growth of our city than aught that has been or will be said to-night. But great as the services of the past have been, the duties and responsibilities of the future are proportionately greater, as the Crookston of to-morrow is to be greater than the Crookston of to-day. Organized as it now is, an "Independent Department," and yet dependent in many ways upon the city government as it is, and must be, the mutual relations are such as to require the utmost confidence, harmony and good will shall prevail between the two, if each is to receive the full and effective co-operation of the other. With very rare exceptions, such have been their relations in the past, and such I trust and believe they will continue for the future. But while your organization has many advantages for yourselves and for the city as well, yet in this very fact lurk the elements of danger, which, to be avoided, must be recognized and fully understood. That we may the more readily understand the relations which the City Council and the Fire Department bear toward each other, let us for a moment glance at some of the official acts of the Council towards it. The first, and charter election of the City of Crookston was held April 1 1879. At a meeting of its Council held Dec. 31 of the same year, a motion was passed calling for "a meeting of the citizens and business men to convene Friday evening Jan. 9 1880 for the purpose of making arrangements for protection in case of fire". At that meeting to act in harmony with the City Council, and Mr. E. B. Ellsworth was chosen Chief. At a meeting of the Council held Jan. 13 1880, the Council was requested to, and did confirm the appointment of Chief Ellsworth, and appointed alderman Jacobus a committee of one to consult with him upon the subject of advertising for bids for the necessary fire apparatus.

Jan. 21 1880 the city purchased the chemical engine at a cost of $1063. March 26 1880, the Extinguisher having arrived it was formally accepted by the Council, and Thomas Morris appointed to take care of it. April 8 1880 a Committee was appointed by the City Council to purchase a location for an engine house. April 27 1880, the committee reported, favoring the purchase of the present site for $250, which report was adopted, also the clerk was instructed to advetise for bids for the construction of an engine house. May 4 1880, the constitution and by-laws of Crookston Fire Company number one was presented to the City Council and approved by them, and their appointment of Thomas Morris as Chief was confirmed at the same time. May 18 1880, the contract was let to S. B. Norris to build the present City Hall, and Engine House for the sum of $1255. Dec. 19 1882, the City Recorder was authorized to purchase a fire alarm bell of 1000 lbs. weight. Oct. 25 1883, Mr. M. B. Hayes, on the recommendation of the Mayor was appointed Chief of the Fire Department with a salary of $60 per month, and it was further voted at this meeting that each member of the Fire Department be allowed $2 for services actually rendered at fires. Nov. 12 1883, the present Fire Department was organized under the laws of this State by adopting a constitution and by-laws. At the next regular meeting of the Council held Nov. 10; 1883, this Constitution and By-laws was submitted for their approval and by them referred to the committee of the Fire Department.

So far as the record goes they still have them under consideration, no report ever having been made. April 3 1884, it was voted to give the first team responding to an alarm of fire, and conveying the aparatus to and from the same under direction of the Chief the sum of $5; the second one, $3. June 3 1884, upon a petition from the City Fire Department to the Council, the Department was granted the privelige of enrolling as many members as they may deem proper, the number not to exceed fifty in all. But time fails for further recital; if you have caught the facts as shown by this record you will concede that every succeeding City Administration has regarded its Fire Department which I can safely say you can search the record in vain for any unfriendly act, I am glad to be able truthfully to say; that for the protection so extended you have given full return in kind, good measure, pressed down, heaped up and running over. But while bearing this testimony, I feel that I should be unfaithful to the task which you yourselves have to-night imposed upon me, in asking me to speak upon this subject, if I did not point out to you the cloud, at present no larger than a man's hand, which has recently appeared above the horizon; but which may at any time, if no precautionary measures are taken, spread across the whole heavens and precipitate a storm which will sweep away the labors of these years. As I ead to you the succesive steps which were taken leading up to and including your prasent organization, and which I elaborated in order to bring out this fact more fully; did you notice the utter absence at every stage of the proceedings, of any definate, recorded understanding of where the rights and responsibilities of the council ended, and of the department began? Take for instance the appointment of our Chief. He has at times been appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the Council, and in other cases he has been appointed by the Department and confirmed by the Council while in some cases I can find no record that the Council had official notice of his existence. Again, you have in vain listened for the passage of any ordinanace, resolution or contract which should form a basis of agreement between the two, the only thing of any kind or nature which could be constructed as such, being the resolution of Oct. 25 1883, which fixed the salary of the Chief at $60, and gave each fireman $2 for services actually rendered at fires, not specifying what should be construed as services actually rendered at fires. And in dealing with this question the fact confronts us that the Chief has not for years received any salary, although there is no record to show when it was officially discontinued, while the members now insist they are entitled to remuneration when they respond to the fire alarm, even when no service is actually rendered, as instanced in a case recently under consideration. The charter under which the council acts provides for the organization of a paid Fire Department, but yours is an indepenedent organization. The charter says the appointing power shall be in the Council but your constitution provides that you shall choos your own Chief who shall be confirmed by the Council. These are but illustrations of the incongruities of the present system under which we are acting and are mentioned as an excuse for the suggestion which I wish to meet respectfully make at this time, that steps should be immediately to modify either the Charter or your Constitution or both, in such manner that these differances may be elminated. Thus far no serious trouble has occured. You have nobly responded to every call upon you to protect the lives and property of our citizens and the Council has made satisfactory recompense. I trust the day is far distant when aught but good fellowship shall prevail and ask, gentlemen that you allow me to add to your toast "The "Council and its relation to the Fire Department" these words: "May ever continue as plasent in the future as in the past."

Mr. Childs was followed by a song by Capt. L. C. Couvrette.

Responding to the toast "The Press," W. E. McKenzie said:

The pathway of a newspaper man is not always strewn with roses. I could almost have thought differently a couple of days ago, when I received an invitation to this banquet, given in honor of our guest. But this afternoon as I sat in my office contemplating the feast of reason and flow of soul that I was to get the benefit of, to-night, without contributing anything in return, I was rudely awakened from my dream of pleasure by a visit from one of the members of your company, who informed me that I was expected to reply to the toast of "The Press." Now, I have always had a good deal of respect for the Crookston Fire Department and its members; but when they call upon me for a speech—who never delivered a speech in my life, they show a lack of judgment that ought to call for an investigation by the Council. Yet, I could not refuse to say a word for the press. I am a firm believer in its power, and that its power is usually exerted on the right side. To it is due much of the credit for the development of our resources, and the upbuilding of our cities, our schools, our churches and our railroads. Its labors have been unceasing for the highest and most progressive interests of the people among whom it circulates. It is just to the rich and merciful to the poor. The thunderbolt of its wrath is hurled against tyranny in high places, or cruelty in a hovel. It helps to bury our dead; keeps track of the happy bridal events that take place, and of the wailing babies that are ushered into the world. It is the first to welcome the new comer and inspire him with confidence. The last to bid God speed to the departing citizen who goes to fight life's battles upon a new field. To our guest of this evening the papers of this city should feel grateful. He has encouraged and assisted them, both morally and financially. His departure from our city will be greatly regretted, but by none more than the local press. Gentlemen, I thank you.

Song, "Every Night at Half Past Ten," by Capt. L. C. Couvrette.

In response to the toast, "The March of Progress," J. R. McKinnon said:

Our Guest and Fellow Citizens:—In response to the toast assigned to me by our genial toastmaster, I cannot do it justice. But I can look back with pride to the date of our organization, Nov. 12th, 1883, when a small number of citizens banded themselves together for the purpose of protecting life and property in their own young city. We met with many difficulties—first, the want of finances to equip ourselves in a manner becoming to firemen; second, the want of apparatus to do our duties at fires, but with our unflinching efforts and with the good assistance of the City Council from time to time, we have attained a standard which I am proud of. The first thing worthy of mention outside of saving property, was when we joined the State Firemen's Association, from which we received many benefits with our company apparatus. With other firemen in the State, we helped to get the State laws passed by which our city gets annually $150 or more, for the purpose of maintaining a fire company. With this money and what we get from the city for services rendered at fires, we have equipped ourselves in a manner second to none in the state. We have rented rooms, and with the able assistance of our retiring officers in making the proper selections in furniture and fixtures, they are second to none in the state. Our next move, seeing many young men in the streets of Crookston who had no place to go for amusement, we therefore purchased an atheneum outfit and rented a large hall at considerable expense which is run now for the benefit of the public, and all is paid for. From time to time it is ready to change officers, so the best man would get in the right place. In that event I retired and J. E. O'Brien was elected Chief, and everything moved along smoothly and better. We met our best fireman under peculiar circumstances on a cold January night in 1884. I, with ten others, were pulling a hose cart through a snow drift to a fire. A well dressed gentleman came along and took hold like an old fireman. He helped to lay

(Continued on Second Page.)

Toledo Weekly Blade.

1891.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

THE most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding, year after year, a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

NEW story to commence first of the year, written especially for the Blade by Oliver Optic. "Money Maker Series" A series of special articles on "Side Issues," written for The Blade. Blade China Tea Sets and Dinner Sets given to club-raisers. Send for specimen copy of The Weekly Blade and our interesting announcements for the coming year.

SPECIMENS.

A specimen copy will give you a better idea of The Weekly Blade than any description we can give in an advertisement. We therefore invite everybody to write us for a specimen, which we will cheerfully mail you free; and at the same time please mail us a list of names of your friends and neigbors, and we will also mail them specimens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AGENTS.

ANYBODY can earn Ten Dollars very quickly by raising clubs for The Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address

THE BLADE,
Toledo, Ohio.

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
Drs. Starkey and Palen
Compound Oxygen
NOT A DRUG
1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetised, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U S. Coms'r.
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

1891—THE ST. PAUL—DAILY NEWS.—1891

Furnishes all the News of the World.

Bright,
Fearless
and
Independent.

Champions the cause of the people independent of the political parties. Opposes monopolies and all public or private robbery by means of unjust tariff or other inquitous legislation, State or National.

The full reports of legislative proceedings, which the Daily News will supply during the coming session of the Legislature, will alone be worth the cost of a year's subscription.

Sent by mail, postage paid, at the following remarkably low price:

Six months....................$1.75
One year....................3.00

For 75 cents additional to either a six months or a yearly subscription a complete set of the works of Charles Dickens, eleven volumes, (paper binding) will be sent postage paid.

Send for sample copies of the News. Address: The Daily News, St. Paul, Minn.

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

THE BANQUET.

(Continued from First Page.)

the hose across the ice and up the banks of the Red Lake River, up to his neck in snow. I was surprised to find a stranger in our city work so hard to save the property of his fellow citizens. I could see that the stranger was ready to sacrifice his good clothes, his night's rest, his health, yes, even risk his life to save life and property, and I said, "stranger, whoever you are, you are all right." The answer was: "The occasion requires all I can do at this time." Gentlemen, allow me right here to introduce to you the stranger of that cold January night. He is no other than our guest, our retiring Chief, E. W. Wile. The wishes of the Crookston Fire Department, like one voice from one mind, is that E. W. Wile will always be in the future, as in the past, equal and above any and all emergencies. Now let us fill our glasses with the purest wine and drink to the health of E. W. Wile.

"The Pioneer Fire Department," was responded to by Hon. H. Steenerson as follows:

FELLOW CITIZENS: I am sure you will believe me when I say that I am taken by surprise on being asked to speak on this occasion, as I have not reduced my remarks to writing as some of the other gentlemen have, and I hope they will not be printed. "The Pioneer Fire Department," is a toast I am proud to respond to. When I received an invitation to attend this banquet I was at a loss to find a reason for it, as I had forgotten all about the Pioneer Fire Department. My embarrassment increased while I was listening to the very eloquent and elaborate historical review of the present Fire Department given by Mr. Childs. It has been said by the highest literary critics that the best specimen of historical literature in the English language and exemplifying the highest and best form of the natural style of composition, is the work of Alexander William Kinglake giving an account of the Invasion of the Crimea. I was reminded of that work in listening to the very able paper concerning this Fire Department, read by my friend at my left, (Mr. Childs,) and yet it is a fact that he entirely omitted to mention the Pioneer Fire Department or my doings as a member thereof. Why, it is to that membership alone that I can ascribe the honor of being with you to-night. There never was a period in the history of the city when so little property was destroyed by fire as during the existence of the pioneer organization. In fact, there never was a single fire that dared to burn up anything. From such pioneers you might well expect that such a magnificent organization as the present one would develop. It has been well said, that "a golden treasure is a true friend," and Crookston loses a golden treasure in Mr. Wile, the retiring Chief of the Fire Department. (Applause.) For my part I am sorry to lose him in a double sense, as a citizen of Crookston and as a good paying client, and you know the latter means A GREAT DEAL TO A LAWYER. From the great success, politically, of some former residents of Crookston, notably John N. Ives, who is now Attorney General of Kansas, we should not be surprised if our honored guest should develop an ambition for political honors in the future. We hope then, if such should be the case, that after he has settled down in his new home in the State of Indiana, so justly famous for the statesmen and politicians it has produced, that we shall hear of Mr. Wile as the successor of that great Senator, D. W. Voorhees, the tall sycamore of the Wabash.

"Our Fire Limits," was responded to by Alderman I. U. Jennings as follows:

MR. TOAST MASTER: I did not expect when I came here to be called upon to speak, but I am pleased to be one of your number to add my testimonial with others of the worth of our esteemed citizen, who is about to leave us, and in whose honor this banquet is given. I have had the pleasure of being a member of a number of orders in this city in which E. W. Wile participated, and I will say that in every one he became a useful member, and each one was made better and more enjoyable by his presence. As city comptroller he has been an efficient officer, making prompt reports of the condition of the city finances and very much improving the system of transacting the business of the city. We all have our failings, but I am glad that to-night we are enabled to dwell upon that only which is good. As "chairman of the fire committee," I have known Mr. Wile as a member and as Chief of the Fire Company for a number of years, and know that he was held in high esteem by its members, but I did not know until to-nigh how near he was to the hearts of the boys, and, in fact, I did not know until to-night how much I thought of him myself. It is an old proverb among the Germans that "it is a good citizen who can return to where he has once lived." I will say that if E. W. Wile shall ever again desire to return here to make Crookston his home we will ever welcome him. "We never miss the water till the well runs dry."

[During Mr. Jennings' remarks a stray dog was being rather hastily expelled from the room, which caused him to protest in a very loud and indecorous manner. Ald. Morrisey, the wit of the evening, seized the opportunity to get [illegible] nouncing that it was the dog that was making the noise and not Ald. Jennings. This brought down the house, but as soon as quiet was restored Ald. Jennings was ready for him and retorted as follows:

The More I See, The Morrisey,
The More I See, The Charter be
The guide that governs Morrisey.

This witicism can only be appreciated by those who know Mr. Morrisey's habit of proving everything by the city charter. Those present took in the situation and the applause was deafening.]

Responding to the toast "The Ladies," Judge Montague said:

My friends, it might be pardoned on this occasion if I should state that I am too full for utterance. Your generous fire company has turned on too many streams to-night. I thought the many years experience your company has had would have taught your banquet committee to be more prudent, when operating on the inside of a building, and not have your hydrants wide open; but this is somewhat of a departure from the ordinary duties of the fire department. The company usually operates with water, while to-night it is champagne. These changes are essential to human life. The rolling waves and mighty billows of ocean keep its waters pure. The mighty winds which sweep over the surface of the earth, purifies the atmosphere. This happy concourse of people, here by their presence to do honor to our distinguished guest, E. W. Wile, is intended to be a tribute of and respect and appreciation to his worth as Chief of our Fire Department and as a distinguished citizen of our city. Wine, which gladdens the heart of man, music, which enobles and elevates, and oratory to instruct and amuse, all are brought into requisition and no man will say that our honored guest does not deserve the highest honors which we can bestow. His reward should be that conferred on the worthy, patriotic citizen who has served the public well, and faithfully performed the duties of citizenship, which require the best efforts of an intelligent, honorable man. These gatherings of our people serve a noble purpose; they serve to bring together in a spirit of the most cordial friendship persons who otherwise may seldom meet; heart speaks to heart; business cares are driven away; there is a commingling of the refined and higher attributes of man. Many friendships are pledged which will be lasting. Let us trust that the pledge of our friendship which we have so cordially given our honored guest, Mr. Wile, may last through life and though State lines may separate, and rivers roll between, memories of this meeting and of the past will keep ever green in our hearts this feeling of friendship and desire for the success of our honored guest. But the sentiment given me to respond to was: "The Ladies." Though they are not here this evening, we do not forget them. The fireman who goes through hardships and dangers to save property and life, often reckless of his own life, will not surely forget the ladies. Ever the smiles and affections of the fair have been for the most valiant. Woman honors the valiant man. We have all seen in the ball room that your chivalrous chief whom you honor to-night, never lacked for a lovely partner in the dance and was not less conspicuous for his efficiency on such occasions than when acting with the fire company in battling midst smoke and flame. In looking over this banquet hall this evening, my mind goes back to the historical account of a celebrated banquet in ancient Athens, where the noblest intellects of the ancient world were assembled, where the lovely Aspaisa presided as the guiding spirit. Gathered around that festive board were great statesmen, poets, philosophers and orators, but none there more honored or deserving more honor than Aspasia. Her beauty, accomplishments and genius had swayed the destinies of Athens; sculptors and poets received from Aspacia lessons on the sublime and beautiful; she appealed to woman to move onward and upward, and to man she showed that in humanities upward flight woman would ever lure to higher realms and point the way. While we lament the departure of our honored guest, we will not forget his lovely and accomplished wife, Mrs. Wile, who has graced many festive occasions in our city by her presence, beauty and wit.

Responding to the toast "The Future," the new Chief, A. A. McKinnon, said:

MR. TOASTMASTER AND GENTLEMEN: I am pleased to be called upon to respond to the toast of "Our Future." The question of the past has been ably handled by brilliant speakers of our city, and consequently I have but little to say, but we hope to co-operate with our city fathers and be as successful in the future as in the past, and that the beautiful city of Crookston, with all her natural advantages, may be unequalled in this northern country. Gentlemen, as Chief of this Volunteer Fire Department, allow me to voice the sentiments of the members for our distinguished guest, E. W. Wile, that he may be a shining star in his new field of labor.

To the toast "The Department Wet," Mr. Henry Murry responded as follows:

Mr. Toastmaster and Gentlemen: I am called on this evening as the "Bill Nye" of our Fire Department, but as I am no speech maker I am like the man who fell out of the balloon, "I am not in it," but as far as being in sympathy with what is being done here this evening, I am like the man in the coffin, "I am dead in it." [illegible]

a vote of thanks was tendered to Barney Olson, Barney Feran, Will Hoch, Lewis Berquist and O. Latourelle, for efficient aid in making the banquet the success it was: also to Prof. J. B. Lanigan for his excellent write up of the speeches.

The following resolution was also passed:

Whereas, We have just listened to the resignation of our Ceief, E. W. Wile, and the causes leading thereto, with deep regret; be it

Resolved, That the sincere gratitude of this Department is extended to him for the many favors received at his hands; for the admirable way in which he has commanded our forces, and for his untiring efforts to build up for our city this strong organization by making it so attractive to its members; and be it further

Resolved, That we accept with profound reluctance his resignation as Chief, and do ourselves the pleasure of placing his name on our list of Honorary members, to have it remain there as a monument to the good he has done us, and that the united wishes for his health and prosperity of this entire Department go with him to his new home.

On Thursday, February 5th, twins were born to Mr. and Mrs. John Olson, in the town of Nesbit, and three days later one of them died. The father caused an inquest to be held to ascertain whether or not the nurse or attending physician was guilty of contributory negligence. The evidence before the jury showed that the child was apparently dead when born; that the physician was obliged to devote his time to the mother for 10 or 15 minutes before he could attend to the child; that he succeeded in resuscitating the child and it lived three days. The jury brought in a verdict as follows:

STATE OF MINNESOTA } ss.
County of Polk, }

An inquest, taken at Crookston, in the County of Polk, on the 12th, 13th and 14th days of February, A. D. 1891, before deputy coroner H. Shepard, coroner of said County of Polk, upon the body of Olson, an infant child lying there dead, by the oath of the persons whose names are hereunto subscribed, who being sworn to enquire on behalf of the State of Minnesota how and by what means the said Olson (infant) came to his death, upon their oath do say: That we, the jury, upon due examination of the body of the deceased and according to the testimony of the physicians and other witnesses, that the child's death was caused by retarded circulation, respiration and condition of birth, We therefore attach no blame to the attending physician and nurse. Said child died the 8th day of February, 1891, at or near the town of Nesbit, County of Polk, State of Minnesota.

In testimony whereof the said Coroner and Jurors of the injuest have hereunto set their hands the day and year aforesaid.

J. E. Wyatt.
V. D. Carruth.
C. V. Lindell.
A. C. Schmidt.
H. E. Stansbury.
A. A. Olds.

Attest: H. SHEPARD,
Dept. Coroner, Polk Co., Minn.

The Wilson Theatre Company.

Our citizens enjoyed a rare treat last week in the visit of the Wilson Theatre Company to our city. On Monday evening they presented "The Tramp's Daughter, or The Diamond Mystery.' On Tuesday evening, "Held by the Enemy," on Wednesday evening, "The Pearl of Savoy," on Thursday evening "The White Slave," on Friday evening, "Michael Strogoff," on Saturday afternoon, matinee, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," and in the evening "Burr Oaks," all new pieces here with the exception of "The Pearl of Savoy." C. H. Truesdell, the leading man, is an excellent actor, has a fine, commanding presence which readily makes friends for him. Percy E. McKidd, the Villain, is a PERFECT villain (in his stage presence) and he is also excellent in the leading part, which he took Saturday evening in "Burr Oaks." He is a good all 'round man. Ed. O'Connor is the comedian and a rattling good one he is, while J. P. Lester, Phil Ray and W. H. Young are well up in their parts. Miss Alice Clark, the leading lady, is a strong emotional actress, excelling in tragedy, which seems to be her natural forte, yet she has a pleasant manner in lighter parts which is captivating. Mrs. C. H. Truesdell is a pleasing actress, good anywhere, while Camille Dahl, (Mrs. Wilson) takes her parts especially well with an ease and grace that naught but long and faithful practice can acquire. Little Gertie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truesdell, sometimes appears and takes her part charmingly. Pearl Hight, the Soubrette, is a clever little actress and was a favorite. As a whole, the company is an exceptionally strong and good one, far better than the average that travel in this upper country. The orchestra belongs to the troupe and is an excellent one. They carry scenery adapted to each play and their costumes are rich and elegant. Mr. E. C. Wilson, the proprietor, has proved himself the best manager ever in this city as he brought a troupe which had never been heard of here and filled the house every night during the week as well as the Saturday matinee, and the "standing room only" sign did duty almost every evening. One thing is sure, if Mr. Wilson ever favors this city again, when we get our new Opera House, all that will be necessary to secure large audiences will be to mention the fact that Wilson is coming again and the date. He has demonstrated that Crookston is a good show town.

For Sale.

1 New milch cow. Call on M. E. Bart- [illegible]

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Feb. 19, 1891.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard	79.
1 Northern	77.
2 Northern	72.
3 Northern	67.

J. O. Buhn was down from Mentor on Wednesday.

The Record Breaker is a daisy. Herb has it. Try 'em.

O. H. Lucken has gone to attend the State Encampment at St. Paul.

J. O. Norby was in the city this week.

R. J. Montague went to St. Paul last week.

Mrs. I. U. Jennings and her daughter, Mrs. I. M. Underhill, went to Grand Forks yesterday.

The County Attorney has taken an appeal from that $500 lobby appropriation made by the economical county board.

The G. A. R. ball, that was to have been held this evening, is postponed for one week, owing to the death of Gen. Sherman.

Hon. H. Steenerson has rented rooms in the Opera Block and will take possession as soon as the block is ready for occupancy.

Owing to the inquest at the hall on Saturday, the alliance meeting was adjourned till next Saturday. A full attendance is desired.

Ole H. Bang, M. Anderson and Martin Sands were over from the west side his week, soliciting subscriptions for building a church.

J. V. E. Wyatt's wife has returned from her visit east, accompanied by Mr. W's aunt and three daughters who will make Crookston their future home.

The Record Breaker, the best five cent cigar in the city, is to be found at Herb's. It is as good as many a ten cent cigar.

Andy Locken contemplates entering the mercantile business again. With Mr. Solberg, he expects to open up a ready made clothing house in the McKinnon block early in March.

At the matinee last Saturday, little Maggie Arnold got the doll and a Young boy, the skates. In the evening Herb Newland held the lucky number, 482, that drew the bedroom sett.

Ask for the Record Breaker, and take no other. Herb keeps 'em.

A meeting to consider the question of establishing a cheese factory in the town of Crookston is announced to be held in City Hall on Saturday of next week, at two p. m. All interested are invited.

Bierly, the brilliant genius of the East Grand Forks News, says that the State was represented by lawyer "Thinglestad" in the inquest last week. Hallestad says: "This is the unkindest cut of all. After laboring hard for three days to be called Thinglestad. Next I know the boys will all call me 'thing,' for short."

Who has not heard of John Dillon? Who having once heard him does not want to hear him again? He has lots of admirers in this neck of the woods who will be pleased to learn that he will appear before a Crookston audience some day in the near future in his great play entitled "Wanted, the Earth." At the present writing we are unable to announce the date but we are told that it will probably be some evening next week. All who enjoy a good laugh should see Dillon.

Herb Mason has secured the right of way for the Record Breaker, the best selling as well as the best five cent cigar on the market. When you want to enjoy a good smoke at a slight cost call on Herb.

John Paterson returned from the far west last week. Had a good time and saw all of the Crookston old-timers. Says: "They are all doing well. Leo is making money in real estate and law; W. H. Jennings has a fine business in shingle making and is coining wealth. Zwickey makes a good chief of police, but is being severely roasted by the press because the council fired all the democrats and put republicans on the force. W. D. Bailey is doing a good business in a restaurant; all the rest are doing well. I went out on an express train and returned on a freight—from Winnipeg Junction. Glad to get back even in that way, alive. Some galoot, who wanted my overcoat worse than I did stole it from me, but I got back alive and well for which I am very grateful. I do not like the climate there and I do not consider the chances for making money there any better than here, unless you were in on the ground floor. When Leo or the rest of 'em want a bit of pocket money for a lunch or something like that they go out on change and sell a corner lot for $10,000 or so, and there you are. See? But you see, fresh fish, like Jake and me, who don't got the corner lot to sell, can't avail ourself of such means to raise the wind. By the way, I saw Dr. Van Dyke at Seattle and Doc has struck it rich. Bought into a fine business and is waxing rich. Has all he can do at big figures. Ecklund, Judge Holcomb, Pete Bauchemin and all those fellows, old Kittson County boys, are millionaires. No, I shall not go out there to locate. Old Polk County is good enough for me."

Farmers! == Farmers!

IT WILL PAY YOU

TO READ THIS

My Prices on Hardware to the 1st of March will be as follows:

Common mixed paints, Per gallon	75c to $ 1 00
Best " "	1 25
Ten quart tin pail,	15
Cream cans,	50
No. 9 copper bottom boilers,	1 00
No. 9 " " tea kettles, heavy tin,	65
No. 9 " " coffee boilers,	60
Nails, cut steel, per keg,	2 50
Nails, steel wire, per keg,	3 00
Clevises, per lb.,	6½
One doz. 6 quart pressed pans,	75
A scythe and snath	1 00
New novelty wringer,	2 00
Five gallon pump cans,	1 35
Warranted axes,	65
Best steel shovels,	50c and 60
Tar paper, per hundred,	2 00
Tar felt paper, per hundred,	2 00
Shot, per sack,	1 50
Loaded shells, per hundred,	2 00
Winchester rifles, octagon band,	14 75
Stove pipe, per joint,	15
Ox bows, per pair,	50
One set Mrs. Potts' sadirons,	1 25
Grind stones, per pound,	1½
Maydole's best carpenter hammers,	50
Best tubular lanterns,	40
Qt. can carriage paint,
8x10, 8 light windows, per pair	70
8x10, 12 light windows,	90
Glass at cost.

Every other article in the store at proportionately the same prices. Hurry up and catch on. Positively a great snap which you cannot afford to miss. A saving of from 50 to 100 per cent.

Wm. C. Spottswood,

Successor to Stewart & Spottswood.

Owing to the number of attractions booked for next week, the usual Tuesday evening dance at McKinnon Hall will be postponed until Tuesday evening, March 31.

Daily Herald:—Col. Knudson is confident that Grand Forks will capture the Lutheran College. Subscribers may yet be called upon for the amount of their subscriptions. Let us hope so.

St. Paul Dispatch—: Articles of incorporation of the Rainy Lake Crookston & Pacific Railroad company were filed with the secretary of the state this afternoon. The intention is to build a line of road west from Crookston to the Red River. The officers are: Halvor Steenerson, president; C. E. Sawyer, first vice president; J. B. McKinnon, second vice president; O. H. Lucken, secretary; Lewis Ellington, treasurer, and Elias Steenerson, general manager.

HALL COL. COBHAM POST, No. 90, }
Dept. Minnesota, }
February 15th, 1891. }

With the deepest regret and sorrow the death of Gen. W. T. Sherman comes to Col. Cobham Post. But his years were full, his race was completed, his duty done and most nobly. With the most profound grief and mourning this Post will attend at the hall on Thursday and dress our room in the habiliments of woe and drop a parting tear to the memory of a noble life ended, an earnest and kindly career closed and a renowned soldier wrapped at last in his country's flag. Full of years and honors, a nation mourns.

LOUIS FONTAINE, Commander.
V. D. CARRUTH, Adjutant.

Hardware Going at Wholesale Prices.

Read My Low Prices in Another place!

A large stock of mixed paints, white lead, Venetian red, yellow and ochre, paint brushes, &c., Builders' hardware, tinware, woodenware, guns, rifles, cutlery. (Stoves below cost.) Belting, hose, carpenter's tools, cross-cut saws, building paper, blacksmith supplies, bolts, clevises, &c., all at actual and less than cost. This is a genuine closing out sale.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

We know of a choice farm of 320 acres within three miles of the court house, every foot of it under cultivation, which can be had at a very reasonable figure with interest at only 6 per cent. If you are looking for a chance, here is a bargain. Call at THE JOURNAL office. [37-tf]

ED. JOURNAL:—Again am I compelled to take up the pen in reply to the last leaf on the tree of the democratic party in this county. Poor misled, misguided, misinformed man who does not know what he is talking about, but tries to say something smart and gets caught every time, and has to eat his own words. For the sake of argument he makes statements that there is not a word of truth in; cries mugwump, alliance black sheep, &c. I do not know who Mr. Kirsch's informant is about Mr. Casey's refusal to grant a certificate to my unqualified relative. I have no relatives nearer than Iowa, except my own family, and if you, or your informants say that I ever asked Mr. Casey to grant a certificate on my request, I brand the one who makes the assertion as a misstater of facts.

As school clerk of District No. 139, I had some correspondence with Mr. Casey, and if you are very anxious to know what it was about, I could tell you; but as election is over and I do not like to kick a man that the alliance used pretty hard, I will simply say that it was not a request for a certificate. So much for Mr. Casey being a thorn in my eye. As for being president of King alliance, I am and have been since its organization, and it has always been a lively alliance and polled 137 votes last fall. So far as being a black sheep or mugwump, the alliance is used to being called such pet names as those; and the editors of alliance papers have got used to being accused of selling out to the alliance. Why, Mr. Kirsch, the alliance had no money to corrupt any one with. You, as the last leaf on the democratic tree, had ought to know that the alliance was a party of principles, composed of farmers, who had been so ill treated that their principles was about all they did have; and because they asserted their rights and let some of your pets out of office, you cry black sheep and mugwump. All papers that support the alliance have sold out, and alliance candidates are unqualified to hold office. And Mike Kirsch knows these things, and that had ought to be enough to satisfy any one. So far as our alliance platform is concerned, I think I ought to know how that reads as well as Mr. Kirsch, and I never saw in that platform a clause which reads: "Casey for assistant superintendent or down goes your salary," and if there is such a plank in the alliance platform it should be stricken out, as it conflicts with alliance principles. I do not believe that alliance men would support a ticket that had such a platform. If you want any more of your history I can write it up for you, as I have got my summer's wood up and have not much to do until spring work commences. But you had better take a tumble to yourself and not try to make too many three base hits on you may get caught out on the fly. W. G. H.

AUCTION SALE.

About the middle of March, definite date to be fixed and announced later, I will sell at Public Auction at the Red barn, Schraeder's Livery and Sale Stables, the entire outfit, consisting of horses, buggies, carriages, harnesses, whips, robes, cutters, sleighs, and a thousand and one articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale announced later.

MRS. E. D. SCHRAEDER.

A CALL

To the Farmers of Polk Co. is hereby given to attend a meeting, to be held at Fertile, Friday Feb. 20th, at 10 o'clock a. m, to take steps towards the construction of a flouring mill. The attendance of Representatives from very township is urgently requested, by the Woodside Alliance and others. [41-tf]

WANTED.

A few large young fresh cows. Enquire at Fontaine & Anglim's.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMETIER,
[36-tf] Lisbon, N. Dakota.

L. E. GOSSMAN,

Attorney-at-Law,

No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

[illegible] Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North-Star.
Fife.
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

P. J. RUSSELL,

Attorney-at-Law

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Next to Merchants' Bank,

FOR SALE CHEAP.

1 PAIR OF BROOD MARES

Six years old with foal to thoroughbred Percheron Norman horse.

2 Geldings, 4 years old.

2 Mares, 4 years old.

1 good Driving Horse, 6 years old.

1 pair 2 year old Mares, 7-8 Norman Percheron.

1 pair good Norman Fillies.

Address THEO. GREENHALGH, city post office, or call at the farm in Fairfax. [40-45]

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum. Particular attention is invited to our line of meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTH [illegible]

CALL IN.

Prof. D. N. Harper on Seed Wheat.

ED JOURNAL:—Through your columns I sent a letter last spring to many farmers in your locality on the subject of seed wheat. With your permission I should like to again avail myself of your valuable space on the same subject. In the spring I made examination of the wheat which many farmers intended to use for seed and reported my opinion as to its quality. I also told them this could be improved by cleaning. Now I wish every farmer to send me a reply to the following questions and to leave at your office a small sample of the seed as planted and a small sample of the crop, each properly labelled. In addition to the questions asked please give as full an account as possible of the condition of growth etc., so that we may know fully of the experience of every farmer. Every one must see that only in some such way as this can we arrive at reliable knowledge of the result. I trust all will appreciate the value of this information and assist us in obtaining it. While it has been impossible for me to make the same personal examination as in 1889, the reports received show clearly that good results can surely be obtained only by seeding the right kind of wheat, and while opinions may differ as to the extent to which seed may be injured and still produce a crop, the results of the first few seasons show that it is not true economy to stint on the quality of the seed.

QUESTIONS

I. What is the nature of your land, heavy loam or light and sandy? How old is it? 2. How did you prepare the seed bed? Do you summer-fallow? 3. Did you plant with a drill or broadcast? How deep did you drill it? 4. How did you clean the wheat before sacking? 5. How much did you seed to the acre? 6. How long have you used this same seed? 7. Where did you get the original seed? 8. Do you grow blue-stem or Fife separate? How do the result compare as to yield, in time of ripening etc? 9. Do you stack any wheat? 10. Have you received any of the so called Ladog wheat? Please state result and your opinion of the wheat. I am requested by many farmers to inform them of people and places where good seed can be obtained. If you have any such wheat particularly of Scotch Fife please send me a small sample, and give a history of its growth, etc. I shall be glad to make examination of any sample of wheat for seed and report on its quality. Specially label such samples

D. N. HARPER.
Experiment Station,
University of Minnesota,
St. Anthony Park- Minn.

Grand Forks Daily Plaindealer:—There is no danger that the Great Northern will take the farms in the Red River Valley, and we do not think the company intends to make the attempt. If the company is entitled to more land, it will have to be selected from public lands. Most of our farmers have patents from the United States, and there is no going back on that authority.

This Is Business.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Austin, Minn., Feb, 14.—Arrangements are being made here whereby a subtrust of the Farmers' National Trust will be organized. The farming fraternity of the whole Northwest, consisting of 60,000 men, proposed to form this trust and make their own market. Men of shrewd and broad intellect are at the head of his scheme, and before the seed ripens for 1891, the farmer will know what he is doing.

New Land District.

Minnesotians in Washington for That purpose.

WASHINGTON, dispatch to the St. Paul Daily News, Feb. 16.—Hon. H. A. Truax, and J. R. Howes, of Brainerd, Minn, are here in the interest of a new land district for Northern Minnesota, the office to be located at Grand Rapids, on the Duluth & Winnipeg railrord, By the operation of this road, it is claimed a large quantity of land has been made desirable for settlement, and that as the land offices are now located long distances have to be traveled to make filings and transact other necessary business incident to occupation. If formed a great portion of the land will be taken from the St. Cloud district, and the balance from such portions of the Crookston and Duluth districts as can be best reached by the new railroad.

Outrageous Proposition.

The St. Paul Daily News.

Among the bills pending in the Legislature there is one or more which will oppress every employer in the State and drive many manufacturing concerns out of business.

These bills, if they should become laws, would make every employer responsible for injuries resulting to one from the carelessness of another employe.

There is hazard in everything ranging from walking or riding in the street to working in about machinery. The law should not be called upon to offer a premium for carelessness which might bring disaster at any time to any one.

It is proper to compel employes to have their machinery and mechanical appliance in first-class shape, but it is absolutely ruinous to the manufacturing interests of the State to compel them to pay heavy damages to every careless employe or his family for injuries received from his own carelessness inflicted upon another employe is a similar manner.

The pending bills are made so sweeping that they include every class of employer, and the farmer who hires a threshing machine crew could be compelled to pay $5,000, or even more, if any of the number should be killed owing to the negligence of those in charge of the machine. He would absolutely have no control over the men he had engaged to thresh his grain, and at the same time if they were killed or maimed, they, or their heirs, could strip him or his family of every dollar he had on earth, in the way of damages.

There are, and should be, laws for the protection of life in the nature of requiring inspection of steam boilers, requiring machinery to be located in a certain manner, providing exits from buildings where labor is employed, etc. These are all reasonable and proper, and it is possible that still other safeguard may be thrown around the employes.

But to hold the employer responsible for acts entirely beyond his control would be so monstrous that it would not stand in court, even if it was adopted.

We do not understand that the employes are asking any such measures, but the movement appears to have originated among attorneys who are out of a job and seek to have an opportunity to begin suits on shares against those who are engaged in manufacturing enterprises.

The Legislature should have a sufficient regard for the public interests to protect the employe by refusing to drive the employer out of business.

BOULDERS WANTED!

The Crookston Water Works and Light Company

WILL PAY CASH

For 1,000 loads of Boulders to be delivered at the head of the mill race in Crookston. For further particulars enquire of

ED. PETERSON, Supt.

Closing Out at Cost!

I AM CLOSING OUT

MY ENTIRE STOCK OF

General Merchandise

AT AND BELOW COST.

IF YOU WANT

BOOTS, SHOES

OR CROCKERY,

Call at once. All Heavy Goods Going Below Cost. This is a Bona Fide Sale and Everything Goes. Call and See.

A. STURE.

Call for a National Conference.

The Great West.

This Convention is postponed until May. Date given hereafter

Whereas, in unity there is strength therefore it is desirable that there should be a union of all the variously named organizations that stand on common ground.

To this end, and, in accordance with recent suggestions of the general assembly of the Knights of Labor, and the general wish of all progressive reformers, this call is made for a national conference to be composed of delegate from the following organizations, namely:

The Independent Party;
The Peoples Party, by its representatives;
The Union Labor Party, by its representatives;
The late Federal and Confederate soldiers, by their representatives;
The Farmers Alliance;
The Farmers Mutual Benefit Association;
The Citizens' Alliance;
The Knights of Labor;
The Colored Farmers' Alliance;

And all other organizations that support the principles of the St. Louis Agreement of December, 1889. Each state organization to send one delegate from each congressional district, and two from the state at large; and each district organization to send not less than three delegates, and each county organization not less than one delegate to be chosen according to the custom of each respective organization, during the month of January, 1891; also that the editor of each newspaper is hereby invited as a delegate, that has advocated the principles of the St. Louis agreement and supported the candidates nominated thereon in 1890.

The delegates to meet in the city of Cincinnati, Ohio, on Monday, the 23rd day of February, 1891, at 2 o'clock p.m., for the purpose of forming based upon the fundamental ideas of finance, transportation, labor and land, and the transaction of other legitimate business in the furtherance of the work already begun by these organizations preparatory to the united struggle for country and home, in the great political conflict now pending that must decide who, in this country, is sovereign—"the citizen or the dollar."

A NATIONAL UNION PARTY,

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN

Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton
Grand Forks, Crookston,

AND ALL POINTS

EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on

THE DINING CAR LINE

Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points

IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY

—AND—

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS
PASSING THROUGH

Minnesota, North Dakota, Montaus
Idaho, Oregon and Washington

CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars,
First and Second Class Coaches,
Pullman Tourist and
Free Colonist Sleepers

AND ELEGANT DINING CARS

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and west, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

East bound.
Passenger 7:10 p. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.
West bound.
Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p. m.

For rates, maps, time tables or special information, apply to C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston, Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Crookston Meat Market

E. STEENERSON, Proprietor.
E. ERIKSON, Manager.

Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION

Of the Rainy Lake, Crookston and Pacific Railroad Company.

For the purpose of organizing a corporation under Title one (1) of chapter thirty four (34) of General Statutes 1878, and Acts amendatory thereto, the undersigned hereby associate ourselves together and adopt the following Articles of Incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this Corporation shall be the Rainy Lake, Crookston and Pacific Railroad Company, and the general nature of its business shall be the locating, surveying, constructing and operating a line of railroad from some point on Rainy Lake River or on the International boundary line on Rainy Lake between Rainy Lake and Lake of the Woods, in the State of Minnesota, to the City of Crookston, in the County of Polk in said State, and from said City of Crookson in a southwesterly direction to Southwest corner of said Polk County, thence westerly to the Pacific Ocean, or to a point of connection with some railroad already constructed and operated, or in process of construction, to the Pacific Ocean or to some of the arms, sounds or inlets thereof, and also a branch line from or near the crossing of said road over the Big Fork River to Vermillion Lake, and thence to Lake Superior, and to construct side-tracks, switches, depots, bridges, telegraph line and all other things necessary or suitable for the full prosecution of the business of operating and maintaining such railroad,

ARTICLE II,

The principal place of business of said Corporation shall be in the City of Crookston, County of Polk, and State of Minnesota.

ARTICLE III.

The time of the commencement of said Corporation shall be the first day of March A. D. 1891, and the period of its duration shall be one hundred years.

ARTICLE IV

The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), divided into Two thousand shares of fifty dollars ($50) each, and the same shall be paid in at such times and in such manner as shall be required by the board of directors.

ARTICLE V.

The highest amount of indebtedness of said corporation shall at no time exceed the sum of five million dollars ($5,000,000).

ARTICLE VI.

The names and places of residence of the persons forming this corporation are as follows: Halvor Steenerson, Frank Bivins, Lewis Ellington, John H. Locken, Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Earleson, Chas. E. Sawyer, and O. H. Lucken all of Crookston, Polk County, Minnesota, and George J. McManus of Duluth, Minn., and Andrew Elken, Thomas G. Thompson, William Marin, Thomas H. Bjoin, A. Holmboe, Lars K. Asker, Fred Anderson, Chr. O. Christanson and H. H. Dickmann, all of Crookston, Minn.

ARTICLE VII

The names of the first board of directors of said corporation are as follows, to-wit: Halvor Steenerson, Frank Bivins, Lewis Ellington, John H. Locken, Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Ericsson, Charles E. Sawyer, and O. H. Lucken.

The government of said corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of not less than Nine nor more than Eleven directors to be elected annually by and from the stock holders of said corporation as hereinafter provided.

The annual meeting for such election shall be held in the office of said Company in the City of Crookston on the first Tuesday in December of each year, and until their successors are elected and qualified the said directors shall respectively continue to be such directors.

The directors shall, at their annual meeting to be held immediately after the annual meeting of the stockholders, elect a President, two Vice Presidents, Secretary, and Treasurer and may elect a General Manager, and until the next meeting as aforesaid.

Halvor Steenerson Shall be President.
Charles E. Sawyer shall be 1st vice President.
John R. McKinnon shall be 2d vice President.
Olanus H. Lucken shall be Secretary, and
Lewis Ellington shall be Treasurer, and
Elias Steenerson shall be General Manager.

In case of resignation of any of said officers or directors, or their inability to act, their place shall be filled by the remainder of the board of directors at any meeting called and held for that purpose.

If for any reason the annual meeting for the election of the officers and directors shall not be held at the time above specified, it may be held at any time that the directors may appoint for the purpose.

In Witness Whereof, the said Incorporators have hereunto set their hands and seals, this 9th day of Feb., A. D. 1891,

In presence of
Alex. McKinnon.
E. M. Walsh.

Halvor Steenerson	(Seal)
Franklin Bivins	(Seal)
Lewis Ellington	(Seal)
John H, Locken	(Seal)
Elias Steenerson	(Seal)
John R. McKinnon	(Seal)
Max Ericsson	(Seal)
Charles E. Sawyer	(Seal)
Olavus H. Lucken	(Seal)
George J, McMannus	(Seal)
Andrew Elken	(Seal)
Thomas G. Thompson	(Seal)
William Marin	(Seal)
Thomas H, Bjon	(Seal)
A. Holmboe	(Seal)
Fred Anderson	(Seal)
H. H. Dickmann	(Seal)
C. O. Christianson	(Seal)

State of Minnesota }
County of Polk } SS.

On this 9th day of February A. D. 1891 personally come before me, a notary public in and for said County: Halvor Steenerson, Franklin Bivins, Lewis Ellington, John H. Locken, Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Ericsson, Charles E. Sawyer, Olavus H. Lucken, George J. McManus, Andrew Elken, Thomas G. Thompson, William Marin, Thomas H. Bjoin, A. Holmboe, Lars K. Aaker, Fred Anderson, H. H. Dickmann, and C. O. Christianson, to me known as the identical persons who executed the foregoing instrument, and each of said persons acknowledged the execution thereof, as his free act and deed for the uses and purposes in said instrument expressed.

ALEXANDER MCKINNON,
Notary Public, Polk County, Minnesota.

E. STEENERSON,

Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of snide Co's. ☞ CALL ON ELI!

WM. A. ROBERTSON.

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

TRY

O. J. BARNES,

THE

CITY GROCER!

Trade at

HOLMBOE'S,

THE ROBERT ST. DEALER

—IN—

General Merchandise!

SUBSCRIBE FOR

THE HERALD,

The Leading Morning Paper of North Dakota.

Weekly $1.00, Daily $6.00 per Year in Advance.

Daily contains the News of the World, the Latest Telegraphic News, Full Associated Press Dispatches. Address

THE HERALD, Grand Forks, N. D.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - Minnesota

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

In connection which I will attend to in person

J. V. E. WYATT,

UNDERTAKER.

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for

NEW GOODS.

A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material.

Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized Under the State Laws.

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $5,700

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections. Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.

C. HENDRICKSON, President.
O. H. LUCKEN, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H. Lucken. A. D. Stephens A. G. Gallasch.
H. Steenerson. J. H. Locken. C. Hendrickson.
Max Ericsson. L. K. Aaker. A. E. Johnson. [illegible]

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,
GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA

PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY
On Real Estaee
MONEY
On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT.

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

THE NEW

NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana	FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS	100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands alond the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.	LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.	Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth.	In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills. Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise.	Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines.	These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.
The valleys of Red, Mouse, Missouri Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890. Write F. L. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn.	Hunting Fishing.

H. STEENERSON

ATTORNEY AT LAW

CROOKSTON, - MINNESOTA

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY

OUR NEW

Fall Styles

LADIES,

Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Feb. 19, 1891.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
8:35 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10	Duluth	7:00 "
5:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc	9:55 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:42 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
3:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

MONTANA EXPRESS DAILY.

7:40 p. m. de	St. Paul	ar. 6:55 a. m.
7:00 a. m. de	CROOKSTON	de. 7:25 p. m.
8:15 a. m. de	Grand Forks	de. 6:20 p. m.
2:30 p. m. ar	Helena	de. 11:00 a. m.

ST. VINCENT BRANCH.
Daily, except Sunday.
Depart 7:15 a. m. .... Arrive 7:00 p. m.

FOSSTON BRANCH.
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Depart 7:30 a. m. .... Arrive 5:00 p. m.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH.
Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
Depart 10:45 a. m. .... Arrive 4:00 p. m.

W. W. FEGAN,
Agent, Crookston.

The following resolutions were adopted at a meeting held by the Fosston Farmers' Alliance, Feb. 7th, 1891:

Resolved, That we, the members of the Fosston Farmers' Alliance, do hereby agree not to buy any agricultural machinery, binding twine, or any other goods that we may see to our interest to buy, to any company who is willing to sell direct to us or our appointed agent; we will not have anything to do with local agents, as we consider them a burden on the farmers, and we think we can get along without them as well. We also agree to stand by our appointed agent, provided he acts fair and honestly with us, and does not enter into any bargain or scheme with any company, at the expense of the members, for his own benefit; and be it also

Resolved, That we will not subscribe for, or uphold, any newspaper that is working against the Farmers' Alliance and their interests; neither will we deal with any business man who works against us and sympathizes with the plutocrats and monopolists. We will uphold The Great West, as we approve the stand it has taken in exposing the frauds imposed upon the farmers; also THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, McIntosh Times and Red River Dalen. We most heartily endorse these papers for their efforts in our behalf, and we feel it to be the duty of every member to uphold and circulate the above mentioned papers, and others working in the same direction.

Resolved, That we denounce the division bill now pending in the legislature, providing for the division of Polk County into four parts; but we approve of and favor a bill providing for dividing the county into two parts, believing it to be to the best interest of all the taxpayers located in this part of the county, and would not, in our judgment, injure the citizens of the west side by so doing.

Resolved, That the secretary write to the secretaries of other alliances in this vicinity and urge them to appoint a committee to meet at McIntosh, Feb. 28th, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m., to see what can be done about machinery and binding twine for next season, and to make any additions they may see fit; all the above resolutions to be published in the papers named above.

ESLEN LEET,
Sec. Fosston Alliance.

Taxation Of Railroad Lands

Report Of the Convention Held at Brainerd.

Norman County Herald.

Pursuant to the call of the board of county commissioners of Aitkin county, there assembled in the city of Brainard on Wednesday, January 28th, about thirty delegates, representing a large number of counties in the northern portion of the state, the object being to discuss the advisability of taxing railroad lands.

The meeting was called to order by W. H. Mayer, of Carleton County was chosen chairmen, and Wm. Spencer was elected secretary.

A general discussion then ensued, the delegates each and all expressing themselves enthusiasticaly in favor of drafting a bill providing for the taxation of these lands.

On motion of W. B. Marr of Aitken, a committee was appointed to take further steps in this matter, said committee consisting of two members from each of to counties named here: Aitken, Itaska, Carleton, St. Louis, Lake, Cook, Pine, Kandiyohi, Mille Lacs, Morrison, Fodd Benton, Polk, Becker, Wadena, Cass Hubbard, Wilkins, Otter Tail, Kanabec, Crow Wing.

The following committeemen were elected at large: H. B. Allen, of Cloquet; J. E. Reynelds, of Wadena; Geo. T. Williams, of Aitkin. The Auditor and county attorney were appointed to represent Norman County.

The committee was instructed to meet at Wadena on Feb, 10th, to take final action.

A committee was also appointed to employ the necessary legal assistance to draft any bill or bills bearing on this matter, such bills to be their meeting in Wadena for approval.

A committee on resolutions reported the following which were adopted amid great enthusiasm:

Whereas, There is in the northern portion of this state, along the lines of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, and St. Paul & Duluth railroads, amounting in the aggregate to millions of acres of lands untaxed, and

Whereas, As the railroad companies holding said lands, hold them for sale at a price beyond their actual value for farming purposes so that they are practically withdrawn from the market, and are not sold or improved, and

Whereas, Said lands being exempt and not taxed, they do not bear their just proportions of maintaining county and municipal government, the expense of constructing and maintaining roads and bridges and

Whereas, By reason of the afore said facts, the other lands adjacent thereto, and in many cases being a small amount compared with the amount of railway lands is compelled to bear more than their just proportions of expenses and thereby greatly hindering and retarding the development of the northern portion of this state, and

Whereas, Said railroad companies owning land grants pay 3 per cent, of their gross earnings into the state treasury in lieu of all taxes and assessments, being the same paid by other railroad companies having no land grant, and none of the proceeds from the sale of said lands, or any of the product therefor, go to make up any portion of the said gross earnings, so so that said mode of taxation amounts to exemption from all taxes, which we regard as a gross injustice to all taxpayers in this state, wrong in principal and should be abolished, now therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the representatives of taxpayers, of the counties above named, in convention assembled at the city of Brainerd, on this 28th day of January, 1891, do hereby earnestly urge in behalf of the people of said counties, that our legislature exhaust all legal means to correct this inequality of taxation and we do hereby earnestly request that all tax-payers of this state do join with us in our efforts to correct this inequality to the end that this property shall bear its just proportion of the expense of maintaining the government of this state.

On a whole the convention was a great success, and evidences the fact that the parties interested will leave no stone unturned to bring about the desired result.

The Historic Hatchet.

We take the hatchet for our text, because to-morrow is the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, and the legend of the little hatchet is inseparably connected with the memory of the great man. And yet the matter-of-fact people, who go patiently mousing around among old documents and records, say the pretty story is not true and so another cherished belief is shattered. Still the hatchet remains an emblem for a truthful man, (when it does not suggest the bad Indian with his tomahawk) though a good many of our fellow citizens have evidently "buried the hatchet," as it does not appear as a sign over their doors. Railroad men are supposed to have no use for the hatchet as a trad-mark—except the agents of "The Burlington," who have no need for anything but the truth in detailing the advantages and attractions of the 7,000 miles of track of the system, the superb equipment, the fast time, the courteous treatment, the sure connection. Call on any railroad coupon ticket agent in the Northwest for confirmation, or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

PETERSON stands in the front rank of periodcals for ladies and families. It is not possible to speak too highly in its favor. There is nothing that can contribute to the comfort and pleasure of home which is not to be found it its pages. Its literary matter is always of a high order of merit, and is furnished by writers of superior talent and established reputation. The March number is an admirable illustration of the excellence and variety of its contents. There are two capital illustrated articles, one on "House-keeping in India," and another on "The Little Queen of Holland," besides illustrated stories and poems, novelet and miscellaneous papers. There is a profusion of fine full page engravings and an entirely new departure in the double fashion plate which cannot fail to be excedingly popular. Peterson in its fiftieth year is fresh, brighter, and handsomer than ever. We cannot too warmly recommend it as a periodical which will meet the tastes of the entire household. Terms Two Dollars a year. Address PETERSON'S MAGAZINE, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Fictitious Dividends.

The American Farmer.

Were the law in rance in Frelation to the payment of fictitious dividends in force in this country, the Railway Review thinks, the social status of our States prisons would be considerably elevated by the influx of a large number of now reputed respectable citizens. It was only recently that the head of a large company in France, together with his other directors, were sentenced to a severe fine and term of imprisonment for the offense of declaring a fictitious dividend. France is evidently behind the times, or else we are. The practice of declaring and paying dividends with borrowed money has become so common in this country as to attract no more than passing notice, and it is to be feared that were the French law in force, very many stocks which are now sustained by a process of that kind, in order that present holders may unload on favorable terms, would soon seek their natural level, although their promoters might at the same time be forced to take up a temporaray residence at some public institution at the expense of the State.

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,

DEALERS IN

Shelf and Heavy

HARDWARE,

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, Ole Olson Gang Plows, F. F. Thompson & Sons Walking Plows. Sole agents for the Domestic Sewing Machine.

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

STOVES AND RANGES

SOLE AGENTS FOR

Havanna Press Drills

FOR POLK COUNTY.

Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., - - - Crookston.

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN, MINNESOTA,

DEALER IN

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

Doors, Windows and Mouldings

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY.

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

Prosperity of Railroads.

The American Farmer.

"Poor's Manual" for this year, which has just been issued, puts the gross earnings of railroad of the Unite States for 1889 at $1,003,736,596, a sum more than double the revenue of the Federal Government, and almost equal to the amount of the National debt. Yet it is said that this enormous sum is short of the total, since owing to a change in the time of the expiration of the fiscal year with the railroads some companies ailed to report. It is estimated that the gross earnings must amount to $6,700 per mile for the 160,000 miles now in operation, or a total of $1,362,000,000. The gross earnings amounts to over 10 per cent, and the net earnings, $322,284,986, are equal to nearly 4 per cent on a valuation which includes an enormous amount of watered stocks and bonds and takes in all the bankrupt roads and the lines built to "float bonds, not for traffic." It is plain that the railroads are making more money than any other great interest in the country and the reward of the carrier is greater than that of either the agricultural or manufacturing producers taken as a whole.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office in McKinnon Block.

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank.

☞ Professional calls by day or nigh promptly attended to.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Feb. 12th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of twenty hundred seventy-six and 67-100 ($20.76 67-100) dollars, which is claimed to be due, and is actually due, at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by James B. Holmes, as mortgagor, to Frederick W. Miller, as mortgagee, bearing date the 24th day of May, A. D. 1889, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of May, A. D. 1889, at 9:10 o'clock a. m., in book 22 of mortgages, on page 507; which said mortgage was duly sold and transferred by a deed of assignment duly executed and delivered by said Frederick W. Miller to the Hauser & Sons Malting Company (a corporation) bearing date the 7th day of April, 1890, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, 1890, at 11:30 o'clock a. m., in book 52 of mortgages, on pages 88 and 89, and no action or proceeding at law, or otherwise, having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, situate, lying and being in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and more particularly described as follows: Lots five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), nine, (9), ten (10), thirteen, (13), fourteen, (14), seventeen, (17), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block seventy-eight, (78); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block eighty, (80); lots nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), eighteen, (18) nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), and twenty-two, (22), in block eighty-one, (81) lots three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12), in block eighty two, (82); all of block ninety-two, (92); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), twelve, (12), twenty-one, (21), twenty two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block ninety-three, (93); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12), in block ninety five, (95), all in the Railroad Addition to Red Lake Falls according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes (if any) on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on Tuesday, the thirty-first day of March A. D. 1891 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 17th, A. D. 1891.

The Hauser & Sons Malting Company,
Assignee of said Mortgagee.
Moritz Heim, Attorney for said Assignee.
[42-49] St. Paul, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon

OFFICE IN

McKinnon Block, Crookston

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated December 29th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, December 31st, 1887, in book 34 of mortgages, page 461, whereby Albert Drager, an unmarried man, mortgageor, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the southeast quarter of section eleven (11), in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-five (45), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $370.12, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $22.20, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $392.32. Now, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22. 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 12th, 1883, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 12th, 1883, in book K of mortgages, page 91, whereby Andrew Steenerson and Bertha Steenerson, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the south half of the southeast quarter, and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty (30), in township one hundred and forty-eight (148), of range forty-eight (43), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $462.50, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $18.99, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $481.49. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at ten o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated July 21st, 1888, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, July 23d, 1888, in book 36 of mortgages, page 375, whereby Geo. Galland and Keziah Galland, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the east half of the southwest quarter of section thirty-three (33), in township one hundred and forty-nine (149), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $264.59. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 22nd, 1889, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 23rd, 1889, in book 42 of mortgages, page 41, whereby Albert Iten and Sophronia Iten, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the north half of the southwest quarter and the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section twenty-four (24), and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section twenty-three (23), all in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $467.51. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.
[40-46]

[First publication Feb. 12th. 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK, In District Court, 14th Judicial District.

Frederick K. McKeen, Plaintiff, vs. James B. Holmes, The Minnesota Title Insurance and Trust Company, Charles P. Haseltine, Nell Farnham, and Williford and Northway Manufacturing Company, Defendants.

Notice of Sheriff's Sale under Judgment and Decree. Foreclosure of Mechanics' Liens.

Whereas, a certain judgment was duly obtained, entered and docketed in the District court, in the County of Hennepin, State of Minnesota, in the 4th Judicial District, on the 13th day of December, 1890, and whereas a transcript and certified copy of said judgment was thereafter, to-wit: on the 4th day of February, 1891, duly filed and docketed in the Clerk's office in the District Court, of Polk County, State of Minnesota, in the 14th Judicial District, in the above entitled action, in favor of said plaintiff, Frederick K. McKeen and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of two hundred eighty-seven and 78-100ths dollars, ($278.87), including interests and costs, and in favor of said defendant, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of five thousand four hundred eighty-one and ninety-one one-hundredths dollars, ($5,481.91), including interests and costs; and whereas, in said judgment it was decreed that the judgment so rendered in favor of said plaintiff to the full extent thereof, including interests and costs, and the judgment so rendered in favor of said defendants, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company to the extent of five thousand four hundred sixty-two and 6-100ths ($5,462.06) dollars, including interests and costs, to be specific liens upon the land and appurtenances in said judgment described, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: That tract of land known as block one hundred two (102), of Rail Road Addition to the Town of Red Lake Falls, being a portion of lot six, (6), in Section sixteen, (16), in Township one hundred fifty-one, (151), Range forty-four, (44), of which certain Flouring Mills are a part of the appurtenances, co-ordinate with other, and prior and superior to any right, title, lien or claim to or in said land or appurtenances of the said defendants, James B. Holmes, Charles P. Haseltine, Nell Farnham, or the Minnesota Title Insurance Company or any of them. And whereas it was in said judgment decreed and ordered that the Sheriff of said Polk County State of Minnesota, sell said land and appurtenances at public auction as by law in such cases made and provided, to satisfy said judgment and interest thereon, together with costs of said sale, and to pay the proceeds of said sale, after deducting all lawful expenses and charges thereof to and between said Frederick K. McKeen and Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, to the amount of their respective judgments and liens given.

Provided, if said net proceeds be insufficient, then to distribute the same pro rata among and between said judgment creditors; a certified copy of said judgment and decree having been duly served upon and delivered to me. Now, therefore,

Notice is hereby given that I will sell the above described land and appurtenances thereon, at public auction to the highest bidder therefor in accordance with and as directed in said decree on the 24th day of March, 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the county Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said Polk County and State of Minnesota, to satisfy said judgment and claims, together with the costs and expenses of such sale.

Dated February 11th, 1891.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN,
Sheriff of Polk County, Minnesota.
WHITE & EVANS, Attorneys for Plaintiff.
E. D. JACKSON, Attorney for Defendant,
Willford and Northway Mf'g Company.
[42-49]

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,

CROOKSTON, MINN.,

Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plain and Fancy

DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, FLANNELS,

BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

SILKS.

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for	$1.00
Rhadames for	1.00
Faille Francais for	1.00
Gros Grain for	1.00
Satin Luxors for	1.00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

DRESS GOODS.

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel	20 cents.
54 inch Tricot	35 "
54 inch Flannel	45 "
54 inch best all wool Flannel	75 "
36 inch Henriettas	25 "

LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.

A good Flannel for	30 cents.
" " "	35 "
" " medicated, for	40 "

A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket	$1.50
" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket	2.00
" 4½ lb. 10¼ white "	4.50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dr Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST.

PUBLISHED 50 YEARS CONSECUTIVELY.

RECOGNIZED as the BEST RURAL and FAMILY PERIODICAL in the WORLD, giving Invaluable Help, the Best Information, Thousands of Plans, Practical and Useful hints and Suggestions, and THOUSANDS OF ORIGINAL ENGRAVINGS ANNUALLY. Try it this year, it will Pay You well. No one can read a number without getting thoroughly Reliable and Practical Information, Profitable to Everybody. Each number contains Sketches of Labor-helping Contrivances to aid In-door and Out-door Work. Fine Engravings of Animals, Plants Flowers, Out-buildings, with many Pleasing, Instructive Pictures for Young and Old. Subscription price $1.50 a year.

We are desirous to make this the BANNER YEAR in CIRCULATION, which is now over 100,000 copies monthly.

OUR PREMIUM OFFER.

THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD CYCLOPÆDIA. Price $1.00. Bound in Cloth and Gilt. A Complete Ready Reference Library for Farmers, Gardeners, Fruit Growers, Stockmen and Housekeepers, containing a large fund of Useful Information, Facts, Hints and Suggestions, in the various Departments of Agriculture Horticulture, Live Stock Raising, Poultry Keeping, Bee Keeping, Dairy Farming, Fertilizers, Rural Architecture, Farm Implements, Household Management, Domestic Affairs, Cookery, Ladies' Fancy Work, Floriculture, Medical Matters, Etc

Containing 644 Pages, with 249 Illustrations.

This Valuable Book furnished with the AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST ONE YEAR, for $1 60, or for only 10 cents additional to the subscription price, paying postage on book.

[First publication Feb. 5th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, Feb. 4th, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Nils O. Paulsrud, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Johannes J. Bjornstad, executor of the estate of Nils O. Paulsrud, deceased, representing among other things that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard, by the Judge of this Court on Tuesday, the 3d day of March, A. D. 1891 at 2 o'clock p. m., at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 4th day of February, A. D. 1890.

By the Court: C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.
[42-44]

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., Dec. 16th, 1890.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Lars Abelson against Taylor H. Wolford for failure to comply with law as to timber-culture entry No. 1,990, dated May 7th 1881, upon the southeast one-quarter Section 21 Township 154 n, Range 47, in Polk County, Minnesota, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; contestant alleging that the said Taylor H. Wolford has not during the four years last past, planted trees, tree cuttings or tree seeds on said tract, and has not cultivated or in any way improved same during said period; that there is now not to exceed one acre of growing trees on said land and that the whole of said land is in a wild state, the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 25th day of March, 1891, at 10 o.clock a. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged failure.

[42-47] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN,
LAWYERS,
FOURNET BLOCK,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS, - - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashi e

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, Geo. Q. Erskine, E. M. Walsh, K. D. Chase, B. B. Northrop, John Moore, Chas. E. Sawyer, F. D. Childs, A. A. Miller, W. H. Crosby

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn

THE PRESS

(NEW YORK)

For 1891.

Daily.	Sunday.	Weekly.
6 pages, 1 cent.	20 pages, 4 cents.	8 or 10 pages, 2 cents.

An Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis.

A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.

Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.

Circulation Over 100,000

COPIES DAILY.

The Press is the organ of no faction; pulls no wires; has no animosities to avenge.

THE MOST REMARKABLE NEWSPAPER SUCCESS IN NEW YORK.

The Press is a National Newspaper.

☞ Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of The Press.

☞ The Press has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It sparkles with points.

☞ The Press Sunday Edition is a splendid twenty page paper, covering every current topic of interest.

☞ The Press Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions.

☞ For those who cannot afford the Daily or are prevented by distance from early receiving it, The Weekly is an excellent substitute.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM
The Press has no superior in New York.

THE PRESS

Within the reach of all. The best and cheapest Newspaper published in America.

Daily and Sunday one year	$5.00
" " " six months	2.50
" " " one "	.45
Daily only, one year	3.00
" " four months	1.00
Sunday, one year	2.00
Weekly Press, one year	1.00

Send for The Press circular. Samples free. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal commissions. Address

THE PRESS,
Potter Building, 38 Park Row,
New York.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited.

Terms $1.00 per Day.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, FEBRUARY 26, 1891. NO. 45

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m.	6 m.	1 year
¼ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

Work Together.

The proposition which is before the people of Polk County to give $1,000 toward advertising the merits of this country abroad throughout the world is one that should not be rejected without careful consideration. It is a fact that is fully appreciated that one of the needs of the country is more settlers to occupy and cultivate the hundreds of acres that are now lying idle, and the only thing needed to bring in plenty of men to take up every quarter section is to show them that farming in the Red River Valley is a money making business. The Great Northern will put thousands of dollars into the expense necessary to advertise the country, and Mr. Hill offers to contribute $15,000 to a fund to be used to send 100 farmers out as missionaries, thus showing that the road feels a deep interest in the matter and is anxious to co-operate with the people, and we think the people should be willing, at least, to co-operate. The road might go one step farther with excellent effect, by placing its lands upon the market at figures as near the maximum government price as the circumstances would permit. Such a policy would have a tendency to bring every available acre under cultivation within a very short period of time, and the company would gain in freights far more than the difference in price. Again, every facility should be given for marketing the wheat, and such arrangements made as to permit any who wish to do so to build flat houses in which to handle their wheat. This would have a tendency to give the farmer every cent the market would warrant for his wheat, which would in itself be one of the biggest advertisements this country ever had. The country is all right; will raise the very choicest wheat and in abundance, and this fact, with a free and open wheat market, should cause every idle acre to be occupied in a very short time. We are glad to see that the company is interested in this matter and we expect that much good will come of it.

Fertile Fancies.

From the Journal, Feb. 19.

A meeting of the Farmers' Alliance of the town of Godfrey will be held at the residence of W. N. Godfrey Feb. 28th at 10 a. m. All farmers interested in the establishment of a cheese factory are earnestly requested to be present.

P. S. Midchell, of the town of Godfrey, has just completed a 63 foot well. It is said to be one of the best in the town.

Albert Hanson is prouder than ever now. It's a girl and it arrived last Thursday morning. Mother and baby are doing well.

R. P. Christanson went out to his farm in Sundal the first of the week to bring in a load of wheat when behold, upon entering the granary the wheat was gone and he hasn't found it since. Mr. O. thinks he has a clew to the parties who help themselves to his wheat and will no doubt make it warm for somebody.

Knute O. Overli, of the town of Garden, met with an accident last Wednesday afternoon that caused his death. He was engaged in hauling wood with a spirited span of horses and when nearly home they ran away, throwing him under the sleigh and dragging him along over several stumps, crushing his breast and hurting him internally. He lived until Friday. The deceased was about thirty years old, of good habits, industrious and well-to-do, and was beloved by all who knew him. His wife died about three months ago.

Brown Knutson was in Crookston Tuesday, where he disposed of a couple span of his horses, which he brought up from the southern part of the state a week or so ago.

The Lutheran College!

A PUBLIC MEETING

To be Held at McKinnon Hall, on Friday Evening, February 27th, 1891,

TO CONSIDER WAYS AND MEANS TO BUILD.

The city, through it council, having decided not to give a bonus to aid in establishing the Norwegian Lutheran Collage, it now behooves every public spirited citizen to rally to its support. The advantages of such institutions to our city are too obvious to need mention here, as it is well known that there is not a resident of this city who would not be benefitted, directly or indirectly, by the institution, and that the city could well afford to build and equip the concern, for the benefits it would derive are too well known to need discussion. If every citizen will take hold of the matter, contributing $5, $10, $25, $50 or $100, as he is able, there would be no doubt of our ability to secure this institution. Whereas the city could well afford to build the institution for the benefits it would confer, we are not required to contribute over one-fourth of the amount that will be needed to complete the work. The question now before the house is: "Shall we rouse ourselves, make an effort to and really secure this noble institution?" The majority of the trustees are residents of Crookston and naturally anxious to have Crookston get the college, but Grand Forks and Fargo stand ready to put up for it heavy, and it must go where the best offer is made. The Grand Forks papers have for some time past been filled with slurs against Crookston, saying that she has not enterprise enough to secure such an institution and that in the end "the enterprising citizens of Grand Forks will be called upon to put up what they have subscribed." A great many of Polk County's citizens will contribute to the enterprise and must this money be sent over to help build up Grand Forks? Let us rally around this cause and keep this institution where it belongs—in Crookston. Remember this meeting at McKinnon's Hall on Friday evening, Feb. 27th, at 8 o'clock, and come prepared to say what you will do for yourselves and your city. If we have entertained any narrow prejudices, let us sink them in our efforts to make Crookston the leading city of the Northwest. Everybody come!

LIST OF PRESENTS AT THE Palen-Heidrich Wedding.

China castor and syrup pitcher—Mr. and Mrs. Rauch.

Two silver napkin rings—Mr. and Mrs. Schuler and Geo. Schuler.

Fancy photo holder—Susie Schouiler.

Fancy towel—Amelia Biver.

Water set—Geo. Logenfield.

Sofa—J. Hill and G. Palen.

One-half dozen plates, pie plates and sauce dishes—Carl Heidrich and G. Parks.

Fancy rug—Tim Donovan.

Silver sugar shell—Mrs. L. G. Theurer.

Set silver tea spoons—W. S. Palmer.

Two flower vases—Mrs. McKinney.

One-half dozen fruit knives—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Himmelsback.

Bed spread—Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Martin.

Silver castor—Aug. Walter.

Set cups and saucers—M. P. Utsinger.

Set fruit dishes—Ed. Cleary.

Easy chair—H. T. Murray, E. Welsh, T. Rauch, W. Hoch and W. W. Dunbar.

Butter knife and sugar shell—J. B. Retzner.

Dozen napkins—Miss Bertha Bruner.

Silver cake basket—Mr. and Mrs. Conley.

One-half dozen fruit plates—Louisa Rauenbuebler.

Silver butter dish—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Vine.

Silver card stand—Mr. and Mrs. P. Baker.

Set silver fruit knives—Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hoch.

Silver and gold sugar shell—Miss Milly Popp, New Ulm, Minn.

Antique oak bedroom set—John Helstab. Fred Kern, J. V. E. Wyatt, R. S. Owens, T. Laugheed, Wm. Klinger, Harry Lund, J. Ketten, J. Goldschmidt, Fred Heidrich, N. Ersbfeld.

Parlor lamp—Mr. and Mrs. Schleevoight.

Pickle castor—Miss Annie Klinger.

Table cloth and dozen napkins—N. S. Gervais.

Parlor lamp—Mr. and Mrs. Synder, Fertile.

Dozen fancy napkins and towels—Mr. and Mrs. Cooke, Fertile.

Silver butter knife—Mrs. H. O. Davis, Grand Forks.

Table cloth—Louise Brohman, Menominee, Mich.

One-half dozen fancy towels—Mrs. M. J. Falk.

Table cloth and dozen napkins—Mr. and Mrs. Wile.

Plush sofa pillow—Miss Julia Biever.

Silver butter knife—Teddie Heidrich.

Clock and pair silver napkin rings—Will Heidrich.

China chamber set—Fontaine & Anglim.

Dozen silver knives and forks—Mr. and Mrs. Heidrich.

Bed spread—Mr. and Mrs. F. Remshardt.

Pickle castor—Miss Libbie and Nellie Brislan.

Steel engraving and smoking stand—Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt.

Steel engraving and easel—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Walker.

Table clock—G. Neeson.

Table scarf—Mrs. J. Gauche and Miss Bezanon.

Two pair slippers—C. Riedesel.

Bible stand—Mr. and Mrs. John Florin.

Chenile table spread—Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Theurer, F. R. Hammel, M. E. Kirsch.

A Satisfied Man.

Did you ever see him? It seems as if the search for him would be more hopeless than Diogones' quest. One man is saving money to build a house; another is trying to sell his for less than it cost. This young man is spending all the money he can earn in theatre tickets, bouquets, and livery hire, to persuade a girl to marry him; that middle-aged man is paying lawyers big money to get a divorce. The Eastern man wants to go West; the hungry and cropless Western farmer wishes he could go back to the old home in the East. Farmers wish they had a soft snap keeping store; the merchant with notes coming due in the bank wishes he could have as easy a time as "that old Granger." The children are in a hurry to be "grown up folks." The old people would like to be young again. However, the above does not show that all are dissatisfied. The man who buys his railroad tickets over "The Burlington," secures a berth in their luxurious sleeper, and awakes to breakfast in their peerless dining cars—in him you have "A Satisfied Man." For tickets over this popular line or any information, apply to the nearest ticket agent of "The Burlington" or connecting lines, or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. agent, C. B. & N. R. R. St. Paul Minn.

Muscle from Milk.

N. Y. Witness.

My father lived on bread and milk all his life. He was a strong, healthy man, and in his prime could do more work than any man in his locality. When other men in the harvest field would stop in the middle of the forenoon or afternoon to eat or drink, he never cared for anything between meals but a drink of cold water, and would laugh at the meaters because their strength gave out so much sooner than his did. He never employed a physician for himself, and very seldom for any of his family—not more than a dozen times in fifty years. He never had rheumatism, dyspepsia or any other disease, and died of old age in his eightieth year. Also, my own family always use milk very freely, either eating or drinking it at least once every day, and we are a remarkably healthy family, never taking medicine and never employing a physician.

POLK COUNTY ALLIANCE.

The Alliance met at the Court House, on Friday, Feb. 13th, 1891, at 10 a. m.

M. G. Peterson, W. A. Marin and A. Steenerson were apppointed a committee on credentials.

Report of previous meeting read and adopted.

Report of committee on reduction of salaries of county officials read by W. A. Marin. [This report appeared in these columns several weeks since.]

Motion to amend to make the salary of Register of Deeds $2,000 instead of $1,500 lost, and the report of the committee was adopted as read.

Moved that the secretary forward a copy of the report to Senator E. E. Lommen and urge him to use his best efforts to adopt the recommendations by law.

Andrew Steenerson was elected a delegate to the meeting at Cincinnati, with Geo. M. Swift as alternate.

Motion to reimburse Peter Cornelius for expenses at a State meeting, prevailed.

A motion that we denounce the action of the legislature in appropriating $1,000 to advertise land in Polk County. Carried.

Moved that we denounce the action of the Board of County Commissioners in appropriating $500 of the county funds to go down to St. Paul and lobby in the legislature. Carried.

The following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, We believe that when the Declaration of Independance states that all men are created with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty and pursuit of happiness. We believe it to be violated until the same chance of life is given to the child of the pauper as well as to the child of the millionaire; therefore be it

Resolved, That the National conference shall create a new party that shall not have completed its work until this meaning of the Declaration of Independence is fulfilled.

The following communication was received from Superintendent of Schools, E. J. Grefthen:

To the Honorable Members of the Polk County Alliance, State of Minnesota:—The election last fall convinced, without doubt, nearly every citizen that it is the laboring classes and the farmers that are the back-bone of this nation today, and in the near future they will govern this country. As the farmers are taxpayers, loyal and industrious citizens, I consider it just and proper to amend the school laws, so as to divide the apportionment more equally among the city and country schools. At the present time the city schools have the advantage. It is an easy matter for the people living in our cities to send their children to school 40 days and draw apportionment money, while the children in the country schools labor under disadvantages. It is often too far for the small children in the country to walk to school, and the older boys and girls have to labor for their living and cannot attend the required number of days, consequently the country districts are losing their apportionment money. Therefore I will advise the Alliance in Polk County to pass a resolution recommending a change of Sec. ——, Chapter ——, of the school laws, and to send such resolution to our legislature.

Change Sec. ——, Chapter ——, to read as follows, to-wit:

"The State Superintendent of Public Instruction shall make an apportionment of the available current school funds in the State treasury among the several counties of the State, on the first Monday of March and the first Monday of October of each year, in proportion to the number of scholars between the ages of eight (8) and sixteen (16) years who have been enrolled and have been in attendance thirty (30) days in the public schools, that have had at least five (5) months term within the year by a qualified teacher."

It will be in its place to pass another resolution recommending free text books for our public schools.

E. J. GREFTHEN,
County Suderintendent.

On motion adjourned.

Senate File No 132.

Minneapolis Times.

This is a bill to make employers liable for damages to employes for injuries sustained through the carelessness of co-employes. The proposed measure is open to criticism. It is so sweeping as to work serious injustice to employers and corporations. No amount of care and precaution on the part of the employer to prevent injury to any employe would weigh in his favor, even to the mitigation of damages. Though the employe should sustain injury through his own negligence, some shyster lawyer would always be found to prosecute his case for a percentage of the prospective verdict. And, although the employer might win the suit, he would be subject to all the cost and annoyance of litigation. Such a law was enacted in Iowa several years ago, and was found to be so detrimental to the manufacturing industries of the state and so generally impracticable that it has become almost a dead letter.

The natural effect of such a law would be to deter manufacturers from coming to Minnesota and to drive away some that are already here, or it would compel every employer to insure his workmen against injury in some large insurance company, the cost of which would certainly be paid in one way or another by the employe. This could of course be done only by individuals or corporations employing a considerable number of men. The citizen who should employ one or two men to aid him in building a house must take his chances, and the breaking of an arm or leg by one of his men would cost him enough to wipe out his entire interest in his home. A farmer could be held for damages for injuries sustained by one of his men while running a reaper or mower or working about a threshing machine, and payment for a broken limb or the accidental death of an employe would seriously reduce the profits of his farm for that season.

If employers are compelled to take out accident policies for their employes the expense of carrying those policies will come out of the employe. The chances for employment would certainly be lessened by the reluctance of new enterprises to come into the state. The tendency to lower wages would be a logical result, the relations between employers and employes would be more and more strained, and no one would be benefited but the lawyers, who already make profit enough out of damage suits under our present law.

Plainly the proposed bill is against the public interest and should not be allowed to become law. The present law furnishes very reasonable protection to employes. If one is injured through the neglect of his employer to provide proper safeguards and precautions against accidents, he can prosecute for damages with almost absolute certainty of securing a verdict. Hence there is no good reason for such legislation as this bill provides for, and only evil could come of it. To the laborer it would be burdensome, to the employer vexatious.

The Rights of Concience.

Plain Talk by a Chicago Divine.

[Communicated]

In a recent sermon on the subject of religious liberty, published in the "Inter Ocean" of February 9. Rev. Geo. W. Ballenger, pastor of the first Evangelical Church of South Chicago, among other things said;

"You can fetter the limbs, lacerate the flesh, and torture the body, but the conscience cries, I will be free. The people of God love this freedom of conscience so dearly that in the history of the past they have chosen to suffer every imaginable kind of persecution that blind zeal and satanic hatred could inflict, millions choosing death in the most horrible manner, rather than recant and surrender their right to worship God according to the dictates of conscience. And firmly believing that there are many at the present time who guard the wealth of conscience with as much sacredness, and would suffer equally as much now as did our ancestors in the Dark Ages rather than hush the voice of conscience or surrender their God-given rights, I am in favor of religious liberty alike for all. I am decidedly opposed to the present attempt on the part of many—and some of them high-church men—to secure legislation upon purely religious matters, which cannot but result in religious persecution. These so-called reforms demand the careful study of the American people at the present time. Especially does it become the pressing duty of the clergy to acquaint themselves with the signs of the times, I am compelled to believe there is a necessity for rallying in defence of that grandest of all human production,—the Constitution of the United States of America,—which guarantees to every man the right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience.

"The venomous head of the persecuting monster can be seen to-day in the King case now pending in the District Court of the United States. The treatment which this Christian man and many more of the members of his denomination in Tennesee, Gorgia, and Arkansas have received, is enough to mantle the cheek of every true American with shame, and fire the nation with just indignation. The evidence in the case proves him a Christian; the law, which is unconstitutional, treats him like a felon; and while the secular press, North and South, and many statesmen, East and West, have in positive terms expressed their indignation at this outrageous persecution, I take shame to myself as a Christian minister that my brethren of the ministry and members of the Christian churches have not protested in behalf of these our brethren. Have denominational lines so divided us and priestly creeds so separated us that the common brotherhood of Christ is lost sight of? And is the church of America so great a backslider in heart that it must resort to the civil law in order to protect its doctrines? Beware of that man or body of men, no matter how exalted their position or highsounding their title, who move in legislative halls, seeking thereby to secure the strong arm of the law to enforce their creed upon a free people!"

Free Silver not Partisan.

The Farm Stock and Home.

Free coinage is no proper sense a partisan measure. The closest microscopic scrutiny of the silver dollar can discern no mark of partisan politics on the coin, nor can the most careful assay find any trace of Democracy or Republicanism or mugwumpism in the metal of which the dollar is composed. The dollar will buy just exactly as much for a person of one party as for one of another. Senator Blackburn put the matter in the right light the other day when he said that in the state of Kentucky there was not a silver mine, yet the people of the great commonwealth were as clamorous for the free coinage of silver as the people of Colorado or any silver-producing state. That is the view which should be impressed on the House. The people want free coinage, not as a local or partisan measure, but as a thing essential to the prosperity of the country, and they should be allowed to have it. A great many people oppose free coinage because they say they object to experiments in finance. They forget that from the establishment of the Republic up to the year 1873 the United States never dreamed of anything but free coinage. It is strange that the experience of the intervening period, harmful to the interests of the country as it has been, should have produced such an impression as to cause the attempt to restore silver to its original rightful rank to be denominated an experiment. It is certainly to be hoped that the free-coinage bill will pass and become a law. Wall street will not like it, for its interests are those of the creditor class; but there has been financial legislation enough for those who do not need it, and the people should have a chance to have at least one law passed for their benefit.

Are Being Disturbed.

Farm Stock and Home.

Henry Clewes & Co., very prominent Wall Street bankers, in the last number of their Weekly Review, pay their respect to the farmers' Alliance in this wise:

"The sudden uprising of the farmers' party also has a disturbing tendency. It throws practical politics into confusion and defies all possibility of forecasting the settlement of national questions upon which vast interests are dependent. The serious feature of this movement is that whilst its broad platform includes barely a single sensible or wholesome issue, and is little else than an expression of the lowest form of popular ignorance, yet it is backed by a mass of voters possibly large enough to constitute it a determining power in the next federal elections."

There is nothing in the world that the capitalistic classes so fear as "disturbing tendencies" throwing "practical politics into confusion," etc., especially when backed by a mass of voters possibly large enough to carry the next national election. The capitalist cannot be blamed for fearing the threatend "disturbance." Conspirators, burglars, villians of all types ask nothing but to be let alone, they will take care of all else. Capitalists, while not necessarily conspirators or burglars, strongly resemble them in this respect. While they have been let alone about 25,000 of them have obtained possession of one quarter of the nation's wealth, and the industrial classes have been correspondingly impoverished, and now that these classes propose to make a disturbance the capitalists quite naturally protest.

Again, the fact that "a mass of voters possibly large enough to constitute a determining power in the next federal elections" are backing a platform that is "an expression of the lowest form of popular ignorance," is a most alarming one. Surely the republic is in danger if our people have grown so ignorant. Possibly if our friends, the bankers, will take the "free silver" dollars out of their spectacles and put crystal lenses in their places things will not look quite so dark to them.

Free Press (Winfield, Kan.) says:

The government is simply a body of men organized to make and compile laws to protect the government, which is the people. Not a corporate body as it were, to create class laws for the few.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, MINN.

Toledo Weekly Blade.

1891.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

THE most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding, year after year, a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

NEW story to commence first of the year, written especially for the Blade by Oliver Optic. "Money Maker Series." A series of special articles on "Side Issues," written for The Blade. Blade China Tea Sets and Dinner Sets given to club-raisers. Send for specimen copy of The Weekly Blade and our interesting announcements for the coming year.

SPECIMENS.

A specimen copy will give you a better idea of The Weekly Blade than any description we can give in an advertisement. We therefore invite everybody to write us for a specimen, which we will cheerfully mail you free; and at the same time please mail us a list of names of your friends and neigbors, and we will also mail them specimens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AGENTS.

ANYBODY can earn Ten Dollars very quickly by raising clubs for The Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address

THE BLADE,
Toledo, Ohio.

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN

COMPOUND OXYGEN

NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street. Philad'a, Pa.

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

1891—THE ST. PAUL—DAILY NEWS.—1891

Furnishes all the News of the World.

Bright,
Fearless
and
Independent.

Champions the cause of the people independent of the political parties. Opposes monopolies and all public or private robbery by means of unjust tariff or other iniquitous legislation, State or National.

The full reports of legislative proceedings, which the Daily News will supply during the coming session of the Legislature, will alone be worth the cost of a year's subscription.

Sent by mail, postage paid, at the following remarkably low price:

Six months....................$1.75
One year....................3.00

For 75 cents additional to either a six months or a yearly subscription a complete set of the works of Charles Dickens, eleven volumes, (paper binding) will be sent postage paid.

Send for sample copies of the News Address: The Daily News, St. Paul, Minn.

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Feb. 26, 1891.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard	80.
1 Northern	78.
2 Northern	74.
3 Northern	66.

Remember the G. A. R. dance this evening.

Charlie Thomas went to Warren on Thursday morning.

See those baby carriages at Herb's if you want a good one.

News was received on Thuesday that Eddie Roberts the young son of Al Roberts is very sick at Grand Forks.

Rev R H. Battey is spending the week with his family in Minneapolis. Expects to return on Saturday or Sunday morning.

The last dance of a very pleasant series of which H. A. Mason has appeared as instructor occurs at McKinnon's hall on Tuesday evening of next week.

The McIntosh Times quotes wheat one cent higher all around than it is quoted in this market. How's that? Can outside buyers pay more than Crookston buyers?

Unheard-of bargains in jewelry at Tom. Morris' until March 10th. Come early and come a running.

If your baby is restless, uneasy and cross, continually crying, go to Herbs and get one of those faribault Rattan carriages; that's what they cry for. Sure cure or no pay for the advice.

February seems bound to supply the deficiency as fair as snow is concerned. For about a week we have had snow every day until we now seem to have enough of that useful commodity.

Eben Lancaster has gone to the twin-cities and they do say that he fully intends to bring back a bran new hack when he returns. He has seemed somewhat uneasy for some time past just as though he had a new hack or something on his mind and now he has gone for it, they say.

S. A. Sylvester and E. I. Benoit have formed a co-partnership under the firm name of Sylvester & Benoit, and will about March 1st open a full and complete line of hardware in the building occupied by A. Asseline on Broadway. The boys are both rustlers and will no doubt do well. We wish them success.

Mrs. H. Thibarge died at her residence in this city last week after a short illness. It will be remembered that a short time since THE JOURNAL contained an account of an elopement of a young couple. Mrs. T. was the mother of the groom, and upon their arrival from their runaway trip she withdrew her opposition and the young couple were united in marriage.

Levi Myers came down from the lumber camp on Friday. He has cut 712,000 feet of pine this winter and has it ready to saw into lumber. He has hauled 630,000 ft, of dry pine lumber to Fosston where it is now ready to be sent all over the Northwest in car loads lots whenever wanted. His lumber camp is about 12 miles east of Fosston.

Mr. M. Douser and Miss Hattie Thomas were united in marriage on Saturday afternoon by Rev. F. C. Whitney, leaving on the evening train for a short visit at Barnesville. Miss Hattie has grown from a little girl into a handsome and accomplished young lady in our city and Mr. Dauser is one of our leading photographers. The JOURNAL adds its blessing.

Tom Morris has decided to go to Superior to locate. Tom is one of the oldest of Crookston jewelers, coming when but few were here and locating in a little shop on Main Street, and growing up with the city. We hope he will "make no common error" ("excuse our lateen") in this move for Tom a good jeweler and we do not like to see such leave. However we suppose we shall have to wish him good luck and take our chances in that.

"I AM going away and I am NOT going to take my large and select stock of jewelry along, and somebody is going to get big drives out of it." That's what Tom Morris says.

The conundrum which has agitated the public mind for the past weeks "Will Herb Mason have a full and complete line of baby carrages this spring" is now solved and happily so by the arrival of a whole carload—more or less of those celebrated Faribault Rattan works baby carriages, samples of which will be on exhibition at Herb's place. They are said to be the slickest, the neatest and the best carriages made. Wait for the wagon—the little baby wagon at Herb's.

The babies all say Herb's carriages are the best.

Anent the proposed college, a good German friend of ours sends in a communication, signed "taxpayer," urging the people of our city to wake up and secure the institution before Grand Forks gets away with us and the college. So far as we can see, it seems to be the general wish of the taxpayers of Crookston to aid this college, and we are very confident that should a proposition to vote aid come before our people it would carry by a good majority. Come out to the meeting to-morrow evening and talk it up.

MARRIED.

CHRISTIANSON—EIKEN.—In this city, on Thursday evening, February 19th, 1891, at the residence of the bride, by the Rev. G. O. Rygh, Judge C. O. Christianson, to Mrs. Helma Eiken.

The many friends of our ex-Judge of Probate in Polk County will unite with THE JOURNAL in extending hearty congratulations to the newly wedded pair. They were quietly married in the presence of a few of their nearest relatives, and have commenced housekeeping in the Judge's cosy residence on the corner of Hurlbut and Cowing streets, where they are at home to their many friends. THE JOURNAL was handsomely remembered on Washington's Birth Day by a box of Brown's best cigars, a present from the groom, and as the smoke therefrom arises and mixes with the glorious atmosphere of the Red River Valley, we will silently add our blessing, while we earnestly wish for them a long and prosperous journey on the voyage of life.

Tom Morris wishes us to say that his entire stock of jewelry must be closed out before March 10th, regardless of cost, and if you desire a bargain in that line call at once. All persons who are indebted to him are requested to call at once and settle.

Sherman memorial services were held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday, the Rev. O. A. Elmer preaching an eloquent discourse. Col. Cobham Post turned out en masse.

John Dillon.

John Dillon will appear at the Opera House, Crookston Saturday eve Feb, 28th. What more need be said? The theatre-going public of the country know John Dillon better then they know Edwin Booth, and Barnum has a standing offer for the man, women or child who has seen him and not laughed at least one solid hour at each and every performance. Mr. Dillon has lost none of his old-time favoriteism in this city, and prospects bid fair for the same standard business that has heretofore graced his presence. Surely there if no flies on John.

Quite breezy on Tuesday.

Call and see those baby carriages at Herbs.

E. P. Perce is rusticating in St. Paul this week.

Dr. M. Leguee is said to be improveing slowly.

Wheat took an upward turn on Tuesday reaching 80 cets.

Call and see what Tom Morris can do for you in the line of jewelry.

W. N. Godfrey was in from Maple Bay last week chatting with his many friends.

Herman Rasmussen will start a new hardware store in this city about April 1st.

Call and see that new Jewett cook stove and get price thereon if you want a bargain.

Mrs. Chas. Misner left for the coast last Thursday evening to join her husband at Tacoma.

Ole Bang, while in the city last week, purchased a valuable brood mare of Peter Cornelius.

A Sture calls attention to the change in his ad. Look it over and go to Sture's for bargains.

Cashier Ellington, of the Scandia American bank, is in St. Paul this week visiting with our law makers.

If you need any article of household furniture call on Tom Morris, and if he has it you can get it at a price that will make you tired.

Ole Hoyen sold 26 hogs to Erickson & Steenerson, the butchers, this week. Ole says it is no trick to make money at farming if you only know how.

Lots of rock being delivered for the improvements at the dam. Many of our farmers are making a good thing hauling rocks at $1.50 per tun.

Herman Boerth, the contractor who has charge of the decorations for the new opera house informs THE JOURNAL that, that much will be completed in about three weeks.

C. G. Rapp was down from St. Hilaire this week looking very much better than he did the last time he was down. Says they have very much more snow up there than we have.

That autocratic old rooster, Thinglestad Brierly, seems to be very much exercised over that county printing deal. The taxpayers will be as soon as they begin to sense the significance of it.

There will be a special meeting of the W. C. T. U. held at the Reading Room, Friday, Feb. 27th, at 3 o'clock p. m. Business of special importance to come before us.

Sam Parker was over from Park Rapids on land office business last week. Says their new road to Wadena will soon be completed. Sam is an old soldier and met several old comrades while here.

A railroad meeting was held in the town of Vineland on Monday at which it was decided to bond for the new road. A vote of thanks was tendered the city council of the city of Crookston for its friendly attitude toward the new road.

Early on Friday morning last the elevator at Fisher, owned by Hugh Thompson and Marcus Johnson was discovered to be on fire and it was soon entirely destroyed. It is said to have contained 15,000 bushels of wheat and 2,500 barrels of flour. The estimated loss is $27,000; insured for $20,000.

Some good friend of THE JOURNAL sent us a load of dry wood from Maple Lake last week and now we would like a few cords of green wood to mix with it. Will take 8 or 10 cords at market price on subscription.

T. B. McManus returned last week from a visit to the old home in Canada. Just now they are having pretty warm times down there on account of the approaching election in which reciprocity cuts a prominent figure.

Strangers and citizens all cordailly welcomed at the Congregational church next Sunday morning and Evening. 11. a. m. "Ten Phases of Religion." 7:30 p. m. "The young Mother." Communion service and admission of members after morning sermon.

Do not forget the meeting at McKinnons Hall to-morrow evening. It is called for the purpose of ascertaining whether the city of Crookston will allow the proposed Red River Valley college to be built elsewhere. Everybody cordially invited.

Chris Houston will try Blue Stem this year and has secured 75 bushels for seed. He went down to Maple Bay after some extra fine Scotch Fyfe wheat and secured 125 bushel of that. He is undecided yet whether to use the old broadcast seeder or get a drill.

Mrs. M. Bailey desires to inform the ladies of Crookston and vicinity that she has secured the services of a thoroughly competent French dress-maker and is now prepared to attend to all orders in the latest style of the art. Call at her new store in the Malett block, corner of Broadway and Fletcher streets.

We have an entirely new No. 9 Jewett cook stove which we will offer for sale at a bargan it taken soon. This stove has never been used, we got it in trade and will dispose of it for cash or negotiable paper at a figure that cant be duplicated in this city. If you need a good stove call at THE JOURNAL office and see this one.

Last week Elias Steenerson General Manager of the Rainy Lake, Crookston and Go-Down-Southwest Railroad Company received a letter from Ole Oleson, of Warren asking for a position on the new line, conductor walking-boss section foreman or any position that might be lying around loose. Eli replied that every place was filled except that of private secretary to the general manager, which position he would gladly assign to Ole provided that he, the said Ole would accept it at the same salary paid the general manager.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMETIER,
Lisbon, N. Dakota.

[36-tf]

[Communicated.]

Why cannot Crookston people work for the college as well as other places. She can have it if she only will put up necessary money to secure it, and if she don't other places will. Why lie here idle? Surely it wont be here if we do nothing to secure it, and it will be a credit to Crookston and Polk County to have it.

Gentlemen this may be our last chance to secure this college and if we do not come up to the scratch it will be something like this: We want the College, Grand Fork's people say, Crookston cannot have it unless she more does pay. Crookston you must not sleep; if you do Grand Forks the college will get, and the College she will keep.

A TAY PAYER.

NOTICE! NOTICE!

I will furnish painted barb wire at $3.60 per hundred.

I will furnish galvanized barb wire at $4.20 per hundred.

I will continue clearing out my stock of hardware until March 25th only.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

John Dillon.

Duluth Evening Herald.

The usual house greeted John Dillon at Temple Opera last evening. The farcical comedy, "Wanted the Earth," furnishes a good field for the actor's well known ability, and he was cordially received. It is impossible to hear Dillon without spending an evening of fun and enjoyment. Dillon is very well sustained by the company he has about him and the play, though rather disjointed in plot was very smooth both in acting and stage management.

Sealed Bids.

Notice is hereby given that up to and including Thursday, March 12th 1891, sealed bids, for building a school house in school district No 4, will be receved by me at my office in fisher. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids for plans and specifications call on or address, THOMAS BENSON, clerk of school district No. 4, Fisher, Minn.

AUCTION SALE.

About the middle of March, definite date to be fixed and announced later, I will sell at Public Auction at the Red barn, Schraeder's Livery and Sale Stables, the entire outfit, consisting of horses, buggies, carriages, harnesses, whips, robes, cutters, sleighs, and a thousand and one articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale announced later.

MRS. E. D. SCHRAEDER.

Farmers! == Farmers!

IT WILL PAY YOU

TO READ THIS.

CHEAP HARDWARE.

Closing Out! Closing Out! Read! Read!

My Prices on Hardware are as follows:

Common mixed paints, Per gallon	85c to $ 1 00
Best " "	1 25
Ten quart strainer pails,	35
Twelve quart strainer pails,	40
No. 9 copper tea kettles,	1 75
Clevises, per lb.,	6½
One doz. 6 quart pressed pans,	85
Steel nails, per keg rate,	2 65
Wire nails, per keg rate,	3 15
Wringers,	2 00
Five gallon pump cans,	1 35
Tar felt paper, per hundred,	2 50
Winchester rifles, octagon band,	14 75
Stove pipe, per joint,	15
Ox bows, per pair,	50
One set Mrs. Potts' sadirons, nickle plate,	1 25
Grind stones, per pound,	1½
Patent wire lift tubular lanterns,	50
8x10, 8 light windows, per pair	70
8x10, 12 light windows, "	90
Scythe snaths,	40
Lock top cream cans, with glass,	70
Ox cards, per pair,	15
Painted barb wire, per hundred,	3 60
Galvanized barb wire, per hundred,	4 20
Lanterns,	40 and 50
Well buckets,	35

Numerous other articles and proportionately the same prices. Call early as possible. Will continue Closing Out until the 25th of March.

Wm. C. Spottswood,

Successor to Stewart & Spottswood.

BOULDERS WANTED!

The Crookston Water Works and Light Company

WILL PAY CASH

For 1,000 loads of Boulders to be delivered at the head of the mill race in Crookston. For further particulars enquire of

ED. PETERSON, Supt.

Closing Out at Cost!

I AM CLOSING OUT

MY ENTIRE STOCK OF

General Merchandise

AT AND BELOW COST.

IF YOU WANT

BOOTS, SHOES

OR CROCKERY,

Call at once. All Heavy Goods Going Below Cost. This is a Bona Fide Sale and Everything Goes. Call and See.

A. STURE.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars interest due January 1, 1890, thirty five dollars, interest due July 1, 1890, and thirty-five dollars, interest due on the first day of January, 1891, which default has continued to the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mederic Desautells and Clanive his wife mortgagors, to The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of July, 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of July, 1887, at 11:45 o'clock a. m., in book 31 of mortgages, on page 55.

And, whereas, the said The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of one thousand one hundred and nineteen and 72-100 dollars, with interest [illegible] thereof at the rate of seven per cent per annum, from the 23d day of February, 1891, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The south half (s½) of the northeast quarter (ne¼) and the south half (s½) of the northwest quarter (nw¼) of Section twelve (12), Town one hundred and fifty (150), Range forty-four (44) in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County at the front door of the Court House in the town of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 16th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of one thousand one hundred and nineteen and 72-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 23d, A. D. 1891.

The Loan and Guaranty Company,
of Connecticut,
Assignee of Mortgagee.
A. Humphreys,
[45-51] Attorney for Assignee of Mortgagee.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by William H Perkins and Mattie L. Perkins, his wife, to the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, bearing date the 4th day of September, A. D. 1888, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 4th day of September, A. D. 1888, at 2:10 o'clock p. m., in book 39 of mortgages on pages 51-54.

And, whereas, such default consists in the failure to pay the following instalments of interest, to-wit: $17.50 that became due March 4th, 1889 $17.50 that became due September 4th, 1889, $17.50 that became due March 4th, 1890 and $17.50 that became due September 4th, 1890.

And, whereas, the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, the holder of said mortgage has elected to declare, and hereby does declare the whole principal sums in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof, including principal and interest, upon the premises in said mortgage described, the following sum, to-wit: Five hundred and ninety-four and 47-100 ($594.47) dollars

And, whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The west half of northeast quarter (w½ ne¼) and north half of southeast quarter (n½ se¼) of section thirty-four (34) Township one hundred and fifty-one (151) of Range forty-one (41), containing 160 acres more or less, according to the government survey thereof. Said premises situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law: which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 11th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 20th, A. D. 1891.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
H. D. DICKINSON,
Attorney for Mortgagee. [N. G. 31] [45-51]

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of thirty five dollars ($35.00) installment of interest, which became due and payable on the first day of December, A. D. 1888, and a further default having been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars ($35.00) installment of interest which became due and payable on the 1st day of December, A. D. 1889, and a further default having been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars ($35.00) installment of interest which became due and payable on the 1st day of December, A. D. 1890, upon a certain mortgage made, executed and delivered by John E. Ostgord and Betsy Ostgord his wife, of Polk County and State of Minnesota, mortgagors, to The Netherlands American Land Company, of Amsterdam, Holland, mortgagee, bearing date the 6th day of June, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 13th day of June, A. D. 1887, at 3:30 o'clock p. m., in volume "32" of mortgages, on pages 190 and 191.

And whereas a further default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage by the mortgagors failing and neglecting to pay the taxes assessed against, and levied upon, said premises covered by said mortgage prior to the date of the sale of lands for the payment of taxes, and the mortgagee, to protect the lien of its said mortgage, was compelled to pay and on the 4th day of May, A. D. 1889, did pay, in satisfaction of the taxes then due and delinquent on the said premises the sum of nineteen and six hundreths dollars ($19.06), and on the 31st day of March, A. D. 1890, did pay, in satisfaction of the taxes then due and delinquent on the said premises the sum of twenty-two and three hundreths dollars ($22.03); and the said defaults having each continued for a period of more than thirty days, the whole sum secured by said mortgage is hereby declared to be due and payable, as stipulated in said mortgage in case of a failure to comply with the conditions thereof; and that by reason of such defaults and declaration, there is claimed to be due and payable on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of five hundred twenty-three and eighty hundreths dollars ($523.80) and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and by virtue of the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in and conveyed thereby, viz: The east half (e½) of the northeast quarter (ne¼) and east half (e½) of the southeast quarter (se¼) of Section three (3) in Township one hundred forty-seven (147) Range forty-five (45), containing one hundred and fifty nine and 50-100 (159.50) acres, more or less, according to the United States Government survey thereof, together with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold a public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, interest, taxes, and twenty five dollars as attorney's fees, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made at the front door of the Court House in Crookston, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, by the Sheriff of said County of Polk, at the hour of two o'clock p. m. on the 14th day of April, A. D. 1891, subject to redemption at any time within one year, in manner provided by law.

Dated Moorhead, Minnesota, Feb. 21st, 1890.

The Netherlands American Land Company,
Mortgagee.
W. B. Douglassand Ball & Smith,
[45-51] Attorneys for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale,

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred fifty-nine and 05-100 ($559.05) dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Henry Johnston and Ella L. Johnston, his wife, mortgagors, to George McLean guardian, mortgagee, bearing date the 7th day of February, 1888, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 16th day of February, 1888, at 8 o'clock a. m, in book 33 of mortgages, on pages 540 to 549; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The northeast quarter of Section twenty-eight (28) in Township one hundred and forty-seven (147), in Range forty (40), containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres more or less, according to the government survey thereof, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred fifty-nine and 05-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 23d, A. D. 1891.

GEORGE MCLEAN, Guardian.
Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

[illegible] Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North Star.
Fife.
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

P. J. RUSSELL,

Attorney-at-Law

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Next to Merchants' Bank.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

1 PAIR OF BROOD MARES

Six years old with foal to thoroughbred Percheron Norman horse.

2 Geldings, 4 years old.

2 Mares, 4 years old.

1 good Driving Horse, 6 years old.

1 pair 2 year old Mares, 7-8 Norman Percheron.

1 pair good Norman Fillies.

Address THEO. GREENHALGH, city post office, or call at the farm in Fairfax. [40-45]

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

CALL IN.

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN

Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton Grand Forks, Crookston,

AND ALL POINTS

EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on

THE DINING CAR LINE

Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points

IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY

—AND—

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS

PASSING THROUGH

Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana Idaho, Oregon and Washington.

CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars,
First and Second Class Coaches;
Pullman Tourist and
Free Colonist Sleepers

AND ELEGANT DINING CARS

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and west, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

East bound.

Passenger 7:10 p. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.

West bound.

Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p. m.

For rates, maps, time tables or special information, apply to C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston, Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

L. E. GOSSMAN,

Attorney-at-Law,

No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

E. STEENERSON,

Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of saide Co's. ☞ CALL ON ELI!

That wonderful genius, Thinglestad Bierly, who presides over the destinies of the Grand Forks News, East Grand Forks News and Grand Forks Bulletin, has discovered that it was all right for the county board to award the printing to the combine at double the amount of THE JOURNAL's bid, because, he says, THE JOURNAL man raises Holstein cattle! Because THE JOURNAL man invested big money in a fine breed of cattle which greatly benefits the farming interests of the county, and has paid thereon larger taxes than other business interests, proportionately, therefor, the tax payers of the county should pay for their printing twice what THE JOURNAL offered to do it for, one-third of which goes out of the county to help build up a Grand Forks institution that has never paid a cent of taxes into our treasury. That seems to us to be the thinnest excuse ever offered for robbing the taxpayer, but then we don't claim to be such a wonderfully brilliant genius as Thinglestad Bierly does; we don't claim to know more than the whole Northwest combined, so we may be mistaken, but we do not clearly see how his abuse of THE JOURNAL is going to relieve him of the odium of being a co-conspirator in the job by which the county is made to pay two prices for its work. Perhaps his brilliant genius will compensate the taxpayers, or perhaps the reflection that one-third of their money paid out for that purpose helps to build up Grand Forks. He does not pretend to say that the combine's bid benefits the taxpayers in the least, but only intimates that the bid of THE JOURNAL was purposely rejected because THE JOURNAL man is taxed to support the stock interests of the county. Thinglestad Bierly is very much like many other noble patriots in this country, wonderfully alive to the interests of the poor taxpayer when he can do their work at two prices, but that is about as far as his interest seems to go. He seems to think because he runs two or three little papers of Polk County, printing them in Grand Forks and sending them to their respective towns for distribution, that he is the biggest man in Polk County, and he looks down with scorn upon all the home papers of the county who pay their taxes here to support the county, especially when they have the temerity to cross his purposes. The people of this county have had too many such brilliant geniuses to support for their own good, but it does seem that P. T. Barnum's theory that the people like to be humbugged still holds true.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 19, 1891.

ED. JOURNAL: One of the great pleasures of Capitol life was granted to the old and honored veterans, now lawmakers for this State, of which there are twenty-two. After the House had fairly opened, a kind and cordial invitation was extended to old soldier legislators to meet with the State Encampment then in session, at 11 o'clock. Soon before 11 a resolution was sent to the Speaker requesting that the invitation be accepted, which was adopted, and then from all parts of the House could be seen the old grey headed veterans leaving their seats with that joy and pleasure on their faces that none know save him who expects to meet and see his comrades near and dear to him as, almost, a brother, yet meet, perhaps, for the first time. No tongue can tell, no pen describe the feelings of a true soldier; of the ties that bind them as one man, yet many. After entering New-Market Hall, and after many hand shakes with friends and strangers, the legislative soldiers were asked to take seats on the stage and listen to the reports from the Soldier's Home, which, to me, were listened to with pleasure and yet with sadness. To think and know that so many of our brave and noble heroes, worthy of more than the name of soldier, who at this time cannot receive the comforts of home, and who cannot receive the comforts due him on account of room at the Soldier's Home. Sad, yet too true. Some, and I fear many, are languishing in a common poor house. Why? Hark, the echo answers why? Again, why? No room in the Minnesota Soldiers' Home. I sat high on the stage, where, looking down I could see many a wrinkled brow, and so many bald headed sons of Uncle Sam's, the thought came to me how many of these men, 29 years ago, at the beginning of the war, were then 30 years old. It is shown that a majority of our army were between the ages of 19 and 21, young, strong, healthy, with fiery blood of patriotism for liberty and the old flag. (Long may she wave.) Nearly thirty long years have passed since the first gun was fired; since our mothers (God bless them,) gave their sons for the freedom we all enjoy to-day, and I saw many who are just tottering on the brink of the grave, but a few more revielies and the taps, and the light will be out, as to-day two of our country's noble generals lie in state, and one, Gen. Sibley, in this city. A few more encampments, a few more friendly gatherings of the "Old Boys in Blue," and history will hand down to our children all that is left, and when that time comes may it be that our names are on the muster roll, where it shall be said "thou hast fought a good fight, enter ye in and enjoy that feast prepared for you!" In the evening, had the pleasure of my first camp fire with our country's braves, their wives and daughters, never to be forgotten by me so long as I have my mind. The songs were sung with feeling, and before the quartette was an empty chair. As they sang that good old song, "The Vacant Chair," many tears rolled down the cheeks of mothers then. To our comrades of Crookston, let me say your Post was represented by your delegates, and when I say I met Comrades Lucken and Geo. Truax, I surely felt proud of them. Quarter Master send me the amount of my dues and I will remit, and oblige. WM. CARLETON.

Persons familiar with the subject believe and assert that the flax grown in Minnesota and the Dakotas will turn out as good fibre as any in the world. This belief has assumed practical form in Minnesota. Linen mills are being built at Minneapolis and hundreds of tons of fibre will be needed. Will farmers help sustain the faith and work of the manufacturers? Hand broken and scutched fibre or tow is worth more than machine scutched, and any farmer with a few dollars' worth of tools can prepare from two to three hundred dollars worth of fibre during the winter and in the evenings and odds and ends of time of other seasons when not otherwise profitably employed. By right treatment both seed and fibre can be saved. We hope our farmers will give the matter careful thought this spring and put in a few acress with a view to making fibre and perhaps twine, for a machine of Minnesota invention will make it, it is claimed, at a cost of two cents a pound. A circular of information concerning the cultivation of flax for fibre and the manufacture o cheap breaking and scutching tools furnished free by W. W. Fegan local agent of the Great Northern Ry., or F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul, Minn.

Communicated.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Holmes entertained a company of friends at their residence, at Melvin, on Feb. 23d, the occasion being the tenth anniversary of their wedding. The jolly postmaster of Melvin and his charming wife proved themselves the most agreeable of entertainers, as all who were present and partook of the feast will testify, while the array of tinware on the side table gave evidence of the extreme usefulness of a tin wedding, and all join in wishing a fair and prosperous voyage adown the stream of life to the Melvin merchant and his family. E.

Won by Americans.

The Leading Prizes Come to the United States.

In The Queen's last word contest, Dr. Edmund T. Stevens, of Buffalo, N. Y., won the first prize of a trip to Europe and $200 in cash, and Annie B Turner, of Deposit, N. Y., secured the special prize of a handsome, Shetland pony.

The publishers of this well-known Magazine have decided to offer one more competition, and to the persons sending them the largest list of English words (of not less than four letters) constructed from letters contained in the three words, "Dominion of Canada" they offer many useful prizes, including $750 in cash, Shetland ponies, China Dinner Sets, Gold Watches, French Music Boxes, Portiere Curtains, Silk Dresses, Mantle Clocks, etc., all to be awarded strictly in order of merit. An elegant Silver Tea Service (valued $30) will be given each day to the persons from whom the largest list is received that day from the State in which they reside. The object of special Daily Prize for each States is to increase the interest in the The Queen's Competitions in every locality in the United States. Those desiring to contest for one of these valuable prizes may start on their list at once, but send six U. S. 2c stamps, and receive last number of The Queen with full particulars before forwarding your list. Address THE CANADIAN QUEEN.

Toronto, Canada.

A recent number of the Century Magazine contained a graphic account of the perils attending the trip of the first wagon train across the plains to California. It took over six months, every day of which was one of danger of hunger. Now the journey can be made in four and half a days via the Montana route of the Great Northern Railway, from St Paul or Minneapolis, in perfect safety and comfort, and three good meals a day.

WANTED.

A few large young fresh cows. Enquire at Fontaine & Anglim's.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb 26th, 1891]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of three hundred thirty-seven and 50-100 ($337.50) dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Christine Estby and John Estby, her husband, mortgagors, to Charles H. Jefferson, mortgagee, bearing date the 23d day of November, 1885, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of November, 1885, at 10 o'clock a. m., in book 23 of mortgages, on pages 49 50 and 51, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law, or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lot number five (5), in block number three (3), in South Crookston, Polk County, Minnesota, according to the recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minnesota; in Polk County, and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of three hundred thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 23d, A. D. 1891.

CHARLES H. JEFFERSON, Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,

[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of twenty-two hundred and eighty ($2,280) dollars, which is claimed to be due, and is actually due, at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by James B. Holmes, as mortgagor, to Frederick W. Miller, as mortgagee, bearing date the 24th day of May, A. D. 1889, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of May, A. D. 1889, at 9:10 o'clock a. m., in book 22 of mortgages, on page 507; which said mortgage was duly sold and transferred by a deed of assignment duly executed and delivered by said Frederick W. Miller to The Hauser & Sons Malting Company (a corporation) bearing date the 7th day of April, 1890, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, 1890, at 11:50 o'clock a. m., in book 52 of mortgages, on pages 88 and 89, and no action or proceeding at law, or otherwise, having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, situate lying and being in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and more particularly described as follows: Lots five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), nine, (9), ten (10), thirteen, (13), fourteen, (14), seventeen, (17), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block seventy-eight, (78); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block eighty, (80); lots nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), and twenty-two, (22), in block eighty-one, (81) lots three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12), in block eighty-two, (82); all of block ninety-two, (92); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), twelve, (12), twenty-one, (21), twenty two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block ninety-three, (93); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12), in block ninety five, (95), all in the Railroad Addition to Red Lake Falls according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes (if any) on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on Tuesday, the ninth (9th) day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 26th, A. D. 1891.

The Hauser & Sons Malting Company,
Assignee of said Mortgagee.
By Paul Hauser, Sr.
President.

Moritz Heim, Attorney for said Assignee.

[43-51] St. Paul, Minn.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred thirty-five and 32 100 dollars, ($535.32) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by James E Mitton and Mary M. Mitton, his wife, mortgagors, to Robert J. Adams, mortgagee, bearing date the 3d day of November, 1884, and, with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of November, 1884, at 2:35 o'clock p. m., in book "S" of mortgages, on pages 520 to 533, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The northwest quarter of Section Ten (10), Township one hundred and fifty (150), Range forty-six, (46), west, containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred thirty-five and 32-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 23d, A. D. 1891.

ROBERT J. ADAMS, Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,

[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

WHEREAS, ALBERT GILMOUR AND Jane Gilmour, his wife, of Polk County, State of Minnesota, as mortgagors, did, on the 8th day of July, A. D. 1887, duly execute and deliver to Josiah Upton, of the County of Ontario, State of New York their mortgage bearing date of June 25th, A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The se¼ se¼ Section 6, ne¼ ne¼ Section 7, and n½ nw¼ Section 8, Township 147, Range 44 west, containing 160 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of seven hundred and fifty dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note, with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage, and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee or order, which said mortgage was on the 8th day of July, A D. 1887, at 5:30 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk, in book 33 of mortgages, on pages 35-36; and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest on said mortgage on the 25th day of June, A. D. 1889, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the 25th day of December, A. D. 1889, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest on said mortgage on the 25th day of June, A. D. 1890, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest thereon on the 25th day of December, A. D. 1890, and the said interest is still unpaid and due; and

Whereas, it was stipulated by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed, that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, his heirs, administrators, executors or assigns, to consider the whole sum hereby secured as immediately due and payable without notice to said mortgagors or any other party; and

Whereas, the said Josiah Upton, mortgagee, has exercised his option to consider and declare, and does hereby consider and declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and

Whereas, there is now due, and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred twenty-five and 23-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now, therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 21st, A. D. 1891.

JOSIAH UPTON, Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,

[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE-PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office in McKinnon Block.

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN,

LAWYERS,

FOURNET BLOCK,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION

Of the Rainy Lake, Crookston and Pacific Railroad Company.

For the purpose of organizing a corporation under Title one (1) of chapter thirty-four (34) of General Statutes 1878, and Acts amendatory thereto, the undersigned hereby associate ourselves together and adopt the following Articles of Incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this Corporation shall be the Rainy Lake, Crookston and Pacific Railroad Company, and the general nature of its business shall be the locating, surveying, constructing and operating a line of railroad from some point on Rainy Lake River or on the International boundary line on Rainy Lake between Rainy Lake and Lake of the Woods, in the State of Minnesota, to the City of Crookston, in the County of Polk in said State, and from said City of Crookston in a southwesterly direction to Southwest corner of said Polk County, thence westerly to the Pacific Ocean, or to a point of connection with some railroad already constructed and operated, or in process of construction, to the Pacific Ocean or to some of the arms, sounds or inlets thereof, and also a branch line from or near the crossing of said road over the Big Fork River to Vermillion Lake, and thence to Lake Superior, and to construct side-tracks, switches, depots, bridges, telegraph line and all other things necessary or suitable for the full prosecution of the business of operating and maintaining such railroad.

ARTICLE II.

The principal place of business of said Corporation shall be in the City of Crookston, County of Polk, and State of Minnesota.

ARTICLE III.

The time of the commencement of said Corporation shall be the first day of March A. D. 1891, and the period of its duration shall be one hundred years.

ARTICLE IV

The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), divided into Two thousand shares of fifty dollars ($50) each, and the same shall be paid in at such times and in such manner as shall be required by the board of directors.

ARTICLE V.

The highest amount of indebtedness of said corporation shall at no time exceed the sum of five million dollars ($5,000,000).

ARTICLE VI

The names and places of residence of the persons forming this corporation are as follows: Halvor Steenerson, Frank Bivins, Lewis Ellington, John H. Locken, Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Ericsson, Chas. E. Sawyer, and O. H. Lucken all of Crookston, Polk County, Minnesota, and George J. McManus of Duluth, Minn., and Andrew Elken, Thomas G. Thompson, William Marin, Thomas H. Bjoin, A. Holmboe, Lars K. Asker, Fred Anderson, Chr. O. Christanson and H. H. Dickmann, all of Crookston, Minn.

ARTICLE VII

The names of the first board of directors of said corporation are as follows, to-wit: Halvor Steenerson, Frank Bivins, Lewis Ellington, John H. Locken, Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Ericsson, Charles E. Sawyer, and O. H. Lucken.

The government of said corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of not less than Nine nor more than Eleven directors to be elected annually by and from the stock holders of said corporation as hereinafter provided.

The annual meeting for such election shall be held in the office of said Company in the City of Crookston on the first Tuesday in December of each year, and until their successors are elected and qualified the said directors shall respectively continue to be such directors.

The directors shall, at their annual meeting to be held immediately after the annual meeting of the stockholders, elect a President, two Vice Presidents, Secretary, and Treasurer and may elect a General Manager, and until the next meeting as aforesaid.

Halvor Steenerson Shall be President
Charles E. Sawyer shall be 1st vice President.
John R. McKinnon shall be 2d vice President.

Olanus H. Lucken shall be Secretary, and
Lewis Ellington shall be Treasurer, and
Elias Steenerson shall be General Manager.

In case of resignation of any of said officers or directors, or their inability to act, their place shall be filled by the remainder of the board of directors at any meeting called and held for that purpose.

If for any reason the annual meeting for the election of the officers and directors shall not be held at the time above specified, it may be held at any time that the directors may appoint for the purpose, and at such place as they may previously direct.

In Witness Whereof, the said Incorporators have hereunto set their hands and seals, this 9th day of Feb., A. D. 1891.

In presence of
Alex. McKinnon,
E. M. Walsh.

Halvor Steenerson (Seal)
Franklin Bivins (Seal)
Lewis Ellington (Seal)
John H, Locken (Seal)
Elias Steenerson (Seal)
John R. McKinnon (Seal)
Max Ericsson (Seal)
Charles E. Sawyer (Seal)
Olavus H. Lucken (Seal)
George J. McMannus (Seal)
Andrew Elken (Seal)
Thomas G. Thompson (Seal)
William Marin (Seal)
Thomas H, Bjon (Seal)
A. Holmboe (Seal)
Lars K. Aaker (Seal)
Fred Anderson (Seal)
H. H. Dickmann (Seal)
C. O. Christianson (Seal)

State of Minnesota }
County of Polk } SS.

On this 9th day of February A. D. 1891 personally came before me, a notary public in and for said County: Halvor Steenerson, Franklin Bivins, Lewis Ellington, John H. Locken Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Ericsson, Charles E. Sawyer, Olavus H. Lucken, George J. McManus, Andrew Elken, Thomas G. Thompson William Marin, Thomas H. Bjoin, A. Holmboe, Lars K. Aaker, Fred Anderson, H H. Dickmann and C. O. Christianson, to me known as the identical persons who executed the foregoing instrument, and each of said persons acknowledged the execution thereof, as his free act and deed for the uses and purposes in said instrument expressed.

ALEXANDER MCKINNON,
Notary Public, Polk County, Minnesota.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

TRY

O. J. BARNES,

THE

CITY GROCER!

Trade at

HOLMBOE'S,

THE ROBERT ST. DEALER

IN

General Merchandise!

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,
Crookston, - - - - Minnesota
Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

In connection which I will attend to in person

J. V. E. WYATT,

UNDERTAKER.

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for

N E W G O O D S.

A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material. | Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized Under the State Laws

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $5,700

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections. Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.
C. HENDRICKSON, President.
O. H. LUCKEN, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

DIRECTORS.
C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch.
H. Steenerson. J. H. Locken, C. Hendrickson.
Max Ericsson. L. K. Aaker. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

WM A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

Crookston Meat Market

E. STEENERSON, Proprietor. E. ERIKSON, Manager.

Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

Farmers custom specially invited.

Terms $1.00 per Day.

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,
GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA

PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY
On Real Estaes
MONEY
On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.
A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

THE NEW
NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana | FARM LANDS
NeW TOWNS | 100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. Whitney, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products. | LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills. | Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth. | In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills. Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise. | Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines. | These have made Montana the richest state per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.
The valleys of Red, Mouse Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn. | Hunting, Fishing.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law,
SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY
OUR NEW
Fall Styles

LADIES,
Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, Feb. 26, 1891.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
8:25 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
5:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:55 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:43 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
2:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

MONTANA EXPRESS DAILY.

7:40 p. m. de.........St. Paul..........ar. 6:55 a. m.
7:00 a. m. de.......CROOKSTON.......de. 7:25 p. m.
8:15 a. m. de.......Grand Forks.......de. 6:20 p. m.
2:30 p. m. ar..........Helena.........de. 11:00 a. m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH.
Daily, except Sunday.
Depart 7:15 a. m.......................Arrive 7:00 p. m.

FOSSTON-BRANCH.
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Depart 7:30 a. m......................Arrive 5:00 p. m.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH.
Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
Depart 10:45 a. m.....................Arrive 4:00 p. m.

W. W. FEGAN,
Agent, Crookston.

Northwestern Agriculturist—: Some farmers, and especially farmers' boys, get an idea that sharp practice which may give a temporary advantage will not work to their permanent injury. But there is no business in which it pays to be dishonest and untruthful, and this is true of the farmer's business as in any other. If there is misrepresentation and attempted cheating by a farmer who brings his products to market he is thence forward a marked man, and must always sell what he has to offer under suspicion. The farmer who builds up a reputation for honesty and fairidealing, can sell in the poorest market and can get favors which men of doubtful repute are refused. It pays boys, especially, to be always truthful, honest and straightforward. Every man who knows him is ready to help such a boy, and he never will want for friends and good wishes. A good name is better than great riches.

Farm Accounts Must be Kept.

S. H. Cutting, in Farm and Home.

The main, and perhaps the sole reason, why farming dosen't pay is because of the guess work which is largely practiced by farmers. Ask a man how much he made on his sheep or potatoes and he will say good, fair or bad, as the case may be. This is not because he dosen't want to say, but because he is utterly unable to give a decided reply. The excuse for not keeping a strict account is, that they can't do it or such things don't come handy to them. This is usually an exaggeration, but if you cannot, or are not disposed to, just put that girl at it who lately graduated from the high school at your expense, or that bright boy, who, you feared, won't take to farming.

Even that school teacher you married some 20 years ago because she was the tidiest girl about would be glad to do it if she thought you would be good natured about it. But few farmers do more business than can be carried in the head until evening, when it can be written up at leisure. In case of too much for the memory a note book carred in the pocket will be the thing. It is no use to say that a strict account cannot be kept as to the cost of crops, for the changes bearing them are no more sudden or fluctuating than those of the merchant's markets, which depend largely on the production of the soil. When you know exactly where your profits come from and your losses originate you can drop those branches which do not increase your income and turn the time and attention given to them to increasing the production of the paying crops.

The Courage of Innocence.

National Economist.

The New York Times, with its usual simplicity, is constrained to remark:

"The declarations of the Farmers Alliance of Minnisota indicate very plainly the political tendency of the organization in the Northwest, and show that there is no likelihood that it will develop into a "third party." It is much more likely to serve the purpose of a bridge whereby a large proportion of the agricultural voters of that section will pass over from the party ground which they have occupied in the past to the Democratic fields, provided always that the Democratic party does nothing to repel accessions to its ranks by a reactionary course. The most important features of the Minnesota platform are simply emphatic declarations of Democratic doctrine on the subject of tariff reform and sectionalism. The convention refused to accept the platform of the National Alliance at Ocala, and ignored the wild sub-treasury scheme which threatened to isolate the organization from all sympathy with the political parties of the country"

Just as though the Minnesota State Alliance belonged to the National Farmers Alliance and Industrial Union. The Times would like it to go out to the world that the State Alliance of Minnesota had rebelled. But the wish was father to the thought, and the plain fact that this Minnesota State meeting was held under authority of the Northwestern Alliance destroys the effect of this bit of fiction. This bridge which is to lead the Alliance, etc., is a beautiful figure of speech that is also demolished. This sort of speculative dreaming does not stop with the above. It further says:

Upon financial questions the Farmers Alliance is essentially weak, because those who formulate its doctrines have no clear conception of financial principles and the practical effect of legislation affecting the currency. They have general notion that the "volume of money" is inadequate to the "requirements of trade and business,' and are in favor of increasing it.

How patronizing and kind. One would conclude, that the writer had failed to learn of the late political disaster, or to read even carelessly the certain signs of coming events.

When another national canvas comes on to arouse the people on the issues of the day, minor and doubtful questions will be lost sight of and attention will be concentrated upon one or two vital matters. The leading issues of 1895 are almost certain to be reform of the tariff and burial of sectionalism.

Here is a case of boiled-down innocence. The tariff reform and burial of sectionalism, indeed. What a combination; something on the order of fire and water. The one prominent measure that has kept alive the feeling, of sectional hate is the tariff. Whenever the people of the North and South have begun to exhibit an increase of fraternal fellowship, the old ghost of tariff reform has been brought out on one side or the other, and upon that issue the sections have been arrayed against each other. This question has been the bane of better fraternal conditions, and always will be while in the hands of scheming politicians. The questions of tariff will not be the issue in 1892, and the two old parties might as well consent to it now as later.

The Baltimore American gives the following: A most remarkable spectacle was witnessed in Paris the other day when the new loan was issued. The people began to collect about the place of issue for at least twenty hours before the time specified for receiving subscriptions, Many of them camped all night in the vicinity in order to retain their places in line. The wealthy people vied with the poorer classes, their carriages standing in the streets to wait until the doors were thrown open; but there was no favoritism on account of ranks or riches. All had to take their places as they arrived. "First come, first served," was the rule, and the loan of 860,000,000 of francs was subscribed for over and over again in a few hours. It was in the fullest sense of the word a popular loan, and most clearly attested the patriotism of the people, and their absolute confidence in the Government and the future of France. But the feature most interesting to Americans was the striking contrast between the manner of issuing this French loan and that which prevails in the United States. In France the bonds were made to represent small amounts, fifty francs or about $10, and were issued directly to subscribers those subscribing for single bonds being given the preference. In this way the humblest citizen with $10 in his pocket can buy a bond drawing 3 per cent interest. The government thus becomes a savings bank for the masses of the people, and the latters' interest in the maintenance of the government, and of peace also, is increased tenfold. In the United States loans are farmed out to bankers, who are paid a commission, and who also make a heavy per cent in issuing them. The object heretofore has been not to secure popular subscriptions, the bidders for the heaviest blocks of stock have always been referred.

The Investigator (Atlantic, Iowa) says: No man can have a better reason for agitating reform movements than the fact that he is suffering under old unimproved conditions. The man who is poor and in debt and held back by strong men who have all sorts of advantages of him, is the first man who should agitate a reformation in our finance system; the well-fixed man does not care to have a change. Not infrequently do we hear some rich man or his hireling criticizing and kicking a poor devil, who has lost his money through the strength and cunning of others which the law sanctions, for preaching and agitating equality before the law. It has always been the poor and down-trodden and despised who have brought about conditions of improvement in government and society. There is no act more noble, no sight more inspiring, than that of a fallen man or woman trying to rise up out of the miserable condition into which greedy and selfish inhumanity has shoved him. Such men and women need help, encouragement, at least a fair consideration of their efforts, from the strong; but they hardly ever receive anything but insults and kicks. The majority of Republican editors are meaner, cheekier, more contemptible than the man who would refuse to pull a sick man out of a mud hole in a road on a rainy day. The English language has no invective poison enough to apply to some of their cases, no paraphrastic prod prickly enough to puncture into their feeling.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston.

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,
—DEALERS IN—
Shelf and Heavy
HARDWARE,
Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, Ole Olson Gang Plows, F. F. Thompson & Sons Walking Plows. Sole agents for the Domestic Sewing Machine.
A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF
STOVES AND RANGES
SOLE AGENTS FOR
Havanna Press Drills
FOR POLK COUNTY.
Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., - - - Crookston.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, MINNESOTA,
—DEALER IN—
Lumber, Building Paper,
PAINTS, OILS,
Doors, Windows and Mouldings.
ALSO
FARM MACHINERY.
—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—
MILWAUKEE HARVESTER
AND THE CELEBRATED
WINONA PLOWS,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,
CROOKSTON, MINN.,
Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plain and Fancy
DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, FLANNELS,
BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for	$1.00
Rhadames for	1.00
Faille Francais for	1.00
Gros Grain for	1.00
Satin Luxors for	1.00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS.—

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel	20 cents.
54 inch Tricot	85 "
54 inch Flannel	45 "
54 inch best all wool Flannel	75 "
36 inch Henriettas	25 "

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for 30 cents.	A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket $1.50
" " " 35 "	" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket 2.00
" " medicated, for 40 "	" 4½ lb. 10¼ white " 4.50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dr Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

SUBSCRIBE FOR
THE HERALD,
The Leading Morning Paper of North Dakota.
Weekly $1.00. Daily $8.00 per Year in Advance.
Daily contains the News of the World, the Latest Telegraphic News, Full Associated Press Dispatches. Address
THE HERALD, Grand Forks, N. D.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated December 29th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, December 31st, 1837, in book 34 of mortgages, page 461, whereby Albert Drager, an unmarried man, mortgageor, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the southeast quarter of section eleven (11), in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-five (45), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof $370.12, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $22.20, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $392.32. Now, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22, 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 12th, 1883, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 12th, 1883, in book K of mortgages, page 91, whereby Andrew Steenerson and Bertha Steenerson, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the south half of the southeast quarter, and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty (30), in township one hundred and forty-eight (148), of range forty-eight (48), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $462.50, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $18.99, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $481.49. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at ten o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated July 21st, 1888, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, July 23d, 1888, in book 36 of mortgages, page 375, whereby Geo. Galland and Keziah Galland, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the east half of the southwest quarter of section thirty-three (33), in township one hundred and forty-nine (149), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $204.50. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 22nd, 1889, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 23rd, 1889, in book 42 of mortgages, page 41, whereby Albert Iten and Sophronia Iten, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the north half of the southwest quarter and the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section twenty-four (24), and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section twenty-three (23), all in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $467.51. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.
Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.
[40-46]

[First publication Feb. 12th. 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK, In District Court, 14th Judicial District.

Frederick K. McKeen, Plaintiff, vs. James B. Holmes, The Minnesota Title Insurance and Trust Company, Charles P. Haseltine, Neil Farnham, and Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, Defendants.

Notice of Sheriff's Sale under Judgment and Decree. Foreclosure of Mechanics' Liens.

Whereas, a certain judgment was duly obtained, entered and docketed in the District court, in the County of Hennepin, State of Minnesota, in the 4th Judicial District, on the 13th day of December, 1890, and whereas a transcript and certified copy of said judgment was thereafter, to-wit: on the 4th day of February, 1891, duly filed and docketed in the Clerk's office in the District Court, of Polk County, State of Minnesota, in the 14th Judicial District, in the above entitled action, in favor of said plaintiff, Frederick K. McKeen and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of two hundred eighty-seven and 73-100ths dollars, ($278.87), including interests and costs, and in favor of said defendant, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of five thousand four hundred eighty-one and ninety-one one-hundredths dollars, ($5,481.01), including interests and costs, and whereas, in said judgment it was decreed that the judgment so rendered in favor of said plaintiff to the full extent thereof, including interests and costs, and the judgment so rendered in favor of said defendants, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company to the extent of five thousand four hundred sixty-two and 6-100ths ($5,462.06) dollars, including interests and costs, to be specific liens upon the land and appurtenances in said judgment described, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: That tract of land known as block one hundred two (102), of Rail Road Addition to the Town of Red Lake Falls, being a portion of lot six, (6), in Section sixteen, (16), in Township one hundred fifty-one, (151), Range forty-four, (44), of which certain Flouring Mills are a part of the appurtenances, co-ordinate with other, and prior and superior to any right, title, lien or claim to or in said land or appurtenances of the said defendants, James B. Holmes, Charles P. Haseltine, Neil Farnham, or the Minnesota Title Insurance Company or any of them. And whereas it was in said judgment decreed and ordered that the Sheriff of said Polk County State of Minnesota, sell said land and appurtenances at public auction as by law in such cases made and provided, to satisfy said judgment and interest thereon, together with costs of said sale, and to pay the proceeds of said sale, after deducting all lawful expenses and charges thereof to and between said Frederick K. McKeen and Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, to the amount of their respective judgments and liens given.

Provided, if said net proceeds be insufficient, then to distribute the same pro rata among and between said judgment creditors; a certified copy of said judgment and decree having been duly served upon and delivered to me. Now, therefore,

Notice is hereby given that I will sell the above described land and appurtenances thereon, at public auction to the highest bidder therefor in accordance with and as directed in said decree on the 30th day of March, 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the county Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said Polk County and State of Minnesota, to satisfy said judgment and claims, together with the costs and expenses of such sale.

Dated February 11th, 1891.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN,
Sheriff of Polk County, Minnesota.
WHITE & EVANS, Attorneys for Plaintiff.
E. D. JACKSON, Attorney for Defendant,
Willford and Northway Mf'g Company.
[42-48]

Industrial World (Spokane Falls Wash) says:

There has never been a dissenting State Alliance on the sub-treasury bill, and out of a total vote of thirty six States at the national meeting only four votes were cast against it. We think that the sub treasury will not only smash the Democratic party but the Republican also. These old parties are backed by the money rings of Wall street, and they will use this party machinery to ignore and kill this bill. The party politicians flocked to the Ocala meeting to defeat this bill, but failed. These same men have flocked to the different State Alliances for the purpose, but have everywhere failed. The fight is on. All of the subsidized daily papers are, without exception, united in discouraging the discussion and consideration of this bill. The politicians are everywhere fighting it, as there is a deadly fear in their minds that it will force itself to the front and smash them and their parties. Alliance men and mechanics also, should force this bill to the front, and never to lose an opportunity to put in a good word for it and the land loan bill. It will be to the people like a man who is pulled out of a mudpond and dressed in a new suit of clothes. They are the beginning of a series of much needed reforms

Scarcity on fat cattle in Montana.

Rocky Mountain Husbandman.

The indications are now that there will be a scarcity of fat cattle for the home market in Montana. So scant was the feed supply and so anxious were our people in regard to the safe wintering of their stock that few of them detemined to feed their steers for the spring market, rather preferring to make the common herd safe than in danger it in the least by keeping their best steers in prime condition. However, there is yet time for the feeding of a few steers. The present outlook of the winter would seem to indicate that there would be hay left, and some who have a good supply on hand may yet conclude to feed their best steers. These have not as yet fallen off a great deal and if put on big feed would come out quite nicely in the spring. Fat four-year-old steers will bring a good price in the spring; but we would not advice the feeding project if it would in any manner endanger the remainder of the herd. Much of Montana's early beef supply in the spring, comes from Chicago, and unless prices improve there will be no big money in feeding. However, for points away from the railroad the feeder can count on good round figures for fat stock after March 1st and from that time until the middle of June—the time for the coming in of grass-fed beef again.

THE PRESS
(NEW YORK)
For 1891.

Daily,	Sunday,	Weekly,
6 pages, 1 cent.	20 pages, 4 cents.	8 or 10 pages, 2 cents.

An Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis,
A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.
Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.
Circulation Over 100,000
COPIES DAILY.

The Press is the organ of no faction; pulls no wires; has no animosities to avenge.

THE MOST REMARKABLE NEWSPAPER SUCCESS IN NEW YORK.

The Press is a National Newspaper.

☞ Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of The Press.

☞ The Press has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It sparkles with points.

☞ The Press Sunday Edition is a splendid twenty page paper, covering every current topic of interest.

☞ The Press Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions.

☞ For those who cannot afford the Daily or are prevented by distance from early receiving it, The Weekly is an excellent substitute.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM
The Press has no superior in New York.

THE PRESS
Within the reach of all. The best and cheapest Newspaper published in America.

Daily and Sunday one year	$5.00
" " " six months	2.50
" " " one "	.45
Daily only, one year	3.00
" " four months	1.00
Sunday, one year	2.00
Weekly Press, one year	1.00

Send for The Press circular. Samples free. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal commissions. Address
THE PRESS,
Potter Building, 38 Park Row,
New York.

U. S. LAND OFFICE. Crookston, Minn., Dec. 16th, 1890. Complaint having been entered at this office by Lars Abelson against Taylor H. Wolford for failure to comply with law as to timber-culture entry No. 1,990, dated May 7th 1881, upon the southeast one-quarter Section 24 Township 154 N, Range 47, in Polk County, Minnesota, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; contestant alleging that the said Taylor H. Wolford has not during the four years last past, planted trees, tree cuttings or tree seeds on said tract, and has not cultivated or in any way improved same during said period; that there is now not to exceed one acre of growing trees on said land and that the whole of said land is in a wild state; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 25th day of March, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged failure.

[43-47] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION

Of the Rainy Lake, Crookston and Pacific Railroad Company.

For the purpose of organizing a corporation under Title one (1) of chapter thirty four (34) of General Statutes 1878, and Acts amendatory thereto, the undersigned hereby associate ourselves together and adopt the following Articles of Incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this Corporation shall be the Rainy Lake, Crookston and Pacific Railroad Company, and the general nature of its business shall be the locating, surveying, constructing and operating a line of railroad from some point on Rainy Lake River or on the International boundary line on Rainy Lake between Rainy Lake and Lake of the Woods, in the State of Minnesota, to the City of Crookston, in the County of Polk in said State, and from said City of Crookson in a southwesterly direction to Southwest corner of said Polk County, thence westerly to the Pacific Ocean, or to a point of connection with some railroad already constructed and operated, or in process of construction, to the Pacific Ocean or to some of the arms, sounds or inlets thereof, and also a branch line from or near the crossing of said road over the Big Fork River to Vermillion Lake, and thence to Lake Superior, and to construct side-tracks, switches, depots, bridges, telegraph line and all other things necessary or suitable for the full prosecution of the business of operating and maintaining such railroad.

ARTICLE II.

The principal place of business of said Corporation shall be in the City of Crookston, County of Polk, and State of Minnesota.

ARTICLE III.

The time of the commencement of said Corporation shall be the first day of March A. D. 1891, and the period of its duration shall be one hundred years.

ARTICLE IV

The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), divided into Two thousand shares of fifty dollars ($50) each, and the same shall be paid in at such times and in such manner as shall be required by the board of directors.

ARTICLE V.

The highest amount of indebtedness of said corporation shall at no time exceed the sum of five million dollars ($5,000,000).

ARTICLE VI

The names and places of residence of the persons forming this corporation are as follows: Halvor Steenerson, Frank Bivins, Lewis Ellington, John H. Locken, Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Earleson, Chas. E. Sawyer, and O. H. Lucken all of Crookston, Polk County, Minnesota, and George J. McManus of Duluth, Minn., and Andrew Eiken, Thomas G. Thompson, William Marin, Thomas H. Bjoin, A. Holmboe, Lars K. Aaker, Fred Anderson, Chr. O. Christianson and H. H. Dickmann, all of Crookston, Minn.

ARTICLE VII

The names of the first board of directors o said corporation are as follows, to-wit: Halvor Steenerson, Frank Bivins, Lewis Ellington, John H. Locken, Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Ericsson, Charles E. Sawyer, and O. H. Lucken.

The government of said corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of not less than Nine nor more than Eleven directors to be elected annually by and from the stock holders of said corporation as hereinafter provided.

The annual meeting for such election shall be held in the office of said Company in the City of Crookston on the first Tuesday in December of each year, and until their successors are elected and qualified the said directors shall respectively continue to be such directors.

The directors shall, at their annual meeting to be held immediately after the annual meeting of the stockholders, elect a President, two Vice Presidents, Secretary, and Treasurer and may elect a General Manager, and until the next meeting as aforesaid.

Halvor Steenerson Shall be President.
Charles E. Sawyer shall be 1st vice President.
John R. McKinnon shall be 2st vice President.
Olanus H. Lucken shall be Secretary, and
Lewis Ellington shall be Treasurer, and
Elias Steenerson shall be General Manager.

In case of resignation of any of said officers or directors, or their inability to act, their place shall be filled by the remainder of the board of directors at any meeting called and held for that purpose.

If for any reason the annual meeting for the election of the officers and directors shall not be held at the time above specified, it may be held at any time that the directors may appoint for the purpose.

In Witness Whereof, the said Incorporators have hereunto set their hands and seals, this 9th day of Feb., A. D. 1891,

In presence of
Alex. McKinnon,
E. M. Walsh.

Halvor Steenerson (Seal)
Franklin Bivins (Seal)
Lewis Ellington (Seal)
John H. Locken (Seal)
Elias Steenerson (Seal)
John R. McKinnon (Seal)
Max Ericsson (Seal)
Charles E. Sawyer (Seal)
Olavus H. Lucken (Seal)
George J. McMaunus (Seal)
Andrew Eiken (Seal)
Thomas G. Thompson (Seal)
William Marin (Seal)
Thomas H. Bjon (Seal)
A. Holmboe (Seal)
Lars K. Aaker (Seal)
Fred Anderson (Seal)
H. H. Dickmann (Seal)
C. O. Christianson (Seal)

State of Minnesota } ss.
County of Polk }

On this 9th day of February A. D. 1891 personally come before me, a notary public in and for said County: Halvor Steenerson, Franklin Bivins, Lewis Ellington, John H. Locken Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Ericsson, Charles E. Sawyer, Olavus H. Lucken, George J. McManus, Andrew Eiken, Thomas G. Thompson, William Marin, Thomas H. Bjoin, A. Holmboe, Lars K. Aaker, Fred Anderson, H. H. Dickmann, and C. O. Christianson, to me known as the identical persons who executed the foregoing instrument, and each of said persons acknowledged the execution thereof, as his free act and deed for the uses and purposes in said instrument expressed.

ALEXANDER McKINNON,
Notary Public, Polk County, Minnesota.

[First publication Feb. 5th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court. Special Term, Feb. 4th, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Nils O. Paulsrud, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Johannes J. Bjornstad, executor of the estate of Nils O. Paulsrud, deceased, representing among other things that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard, by the Judge of this Court on Tuesday, the 3d day of March, A. D. 1891 at 2 o'clock p. m., at the Probate Office in Crookston, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, this 4th day of February, A. D. 1890.

By the Court: C. M. BENSON,
[43-44] Judge of Probate.

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum.

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, MARCH 5, 1891. NO. 46

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. Outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
¼ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

LUCKY WASHBURN.

He Can Get Help From Democrats When He Wants It.

St. Paul, Special to Duluth Tribune, Feb. 22.—A Washington dispatch says: It is a peculiar fact that Senator Washburn was the only man who secured an advance in the salaries of consular offices, getting a raise for W. R. Coates of $1,000, although a dozen old and new senators proposed amendments to the bill increasing the salaries of officers whose appointments they had secured. It was also observed that Senator Washburn secured the support of the democrats, with few exceptions. That recalls the fact that when Washburn broke away from the hide bound men of his party and voted to lay aside the force bill, the democratic senators asserted that whenever Washburn wanted anything he could depend upon democratic support. It was generally stated among those senators who failed to get the desired increase, that the democrats remembered the men who voted with them although no one inferred that there had been any trade or understanding between the democrats and Washburn.

Why They Want to Wind it Up.

Fergus Falls Telegram to Evening Journal, Feb. 25.—The Minnesota Farmers' Mutual Live Stock Association, for which an application to wind it up has been made, is an assessment live stock insurance company, which has been doing business here for the past four years. Everything went well until the losses were so great that assessments became high. Then a big kick arose all over the state, but under the contract each member bound himself to stay in the association for three years. In order to enforce the collections hundreds of suits have been brought. The association has won its suits in every instance, so a move has been made to have the attorney general wind the company up on the ground that such insurance is not authorized under the laws of the state.

Good Advice.

Industrial Union, Columbus, Ohio.

The importance of electing three well-qualified officers for each sub-alliance cannot be over-estimated. The following especially:

1. Good man for president, especially interested in the cause, enthusiastic, and who will make a good presiding officer.

2. Man for secretary whose education qualifies him to keep correct minutes of the meetings.

3. Lecturer, who should be well versed in the questions of the day and study the principles and objects of the order. He should at each meeting be ready to suggest, or speak, or read something to the alliance, and thus excite discussion in the body.

Remember these hints.

National Economist: The alliance has now reached the danger line of its existence. It is too strong to be injured and its principles are too just to be fairly and openly contested. Trickery and special pleadings on the part of its enemies are the only effective weapons that can now be used. The order should now be prepared for this, and remember that unity of action and faith in each other is the only defense against such attacks. Let the membership stand together as one man, and make the fight for home and family.

The Ottumwa (Iowa) World says: The idea of electing United States senators by direct vote of the people is growing more popular all the time. The Indiana legislature has adopted a resolution endorsing the change, and it's only a question of time when the pressure in favor of it will compel Congress to adopt a constitutional amendment providing therefor.

The Alliant, (Concordia, Kan.,) says: The hard lesson of the present now being learned in interest-paying has been studied during every age of the world's history. The little, common, everyday, legal interest has absorbed homes, lands, crowns, kingdoms. To-day capital is grasping and absorbing the homes and lands of free America. To see the fruits of its work you have only to look at the result in your township and county, then bear in mind that the same thing is transpiring in a greater part of the United States. Many more homes and farms will go into the same voxtex by virtue of the indebtedness now hanging over them. Local causes have, in a great measure, caused much of the failure of the borrowers to pay their indebtedness, but a general contraction of the circulating money, the debt-paying power, has been the prime cause of so many failures to pay, and consequent foreclosures. The people can arrest the tide and leave to the coming generation a better system of finance.

AID TO SETTLERS.

Action in the Senate to Reimburse Them for Lands.

OWNED BY THE GREAT NORTHERN.

Senator Pierce Asks for an Investigation of the Case.

Special to the Minneapolis Journal.

Washington, Feb. 23.—A joint resolution was introduced in the senate and house to-day that is of great importance to settlers in the eastern portion of North Dakota. This resolution was presented by Senator Pierce in the senate and Representative Hansbrough in the house. It provides that the secretary of the interior be directed to negotiate with the Great Northern Railway Company, subject to the approval of congress, with a view to securing its consent to make selections of other public lands not universal in character, in lieu of such lands to which it is entitled by reason of the decision of the supreme court Dec. 22, 1890, in the case of the Manitoba Railroad Company against Ransom Phelps, and to inquire what legislation is necessary to protect the settlers on the lands of the company or to remunerate them for the loss of their homes.

The secretary of the interior is also directed to report to congress progress or the result of such negotiations at a date not later than Dec. 15. 1891. The residents on sections of North Dakota, interested in this matter, are fully cognizant of its importance. By the results of this decision the Great Northern railroad is entitled to thousands of acres in improved and valuable lands now occupied by settlers in that state. Some property thus affected is located in Richland county and in the city of Wahpeton. Under the supreme court decision it further appears that the Great Northern road is entitled to a large amount of land along the line of definite location of the St. Vincent branch of this road for a distance of about 160 miles, from Fargo to Pembina. A great deal of this land has been purchased from the Northern Pacific road under its primary indemnity land grants. It is said that 5,000 acres of Dwights farm is in controversy and a large tract of the Grandin farm. Senator Casey has been working to bring about a settlement of the difficulty ever since the decision was rendered. He has been assisted by J. N. Pinney, of Fargo, as the representative of the settlers.

The joint resolution will pass before this session closes, and it is understood in North Dakota that the Great Northern officials will agree to the proposed transference of their rights by selecting other lands in lieu of the lands involved in the decision.

The conference report on the bill providing for the allotment of lands in severalty to Indians was presented and agreed to.

Ada, Minn, Special to the St. Paul Globe. Feb. 30.—The Minnesota Mutual Live Stock Insurance company of Fergus Falls, sued about a hundred farmers in this county for assessments due, which the farmers refused to pay. The suit came off to-day, and the farmers were out en masse to fight their cases. Mr. Erickson, of Fergus Falls, secretary of the insurance company, and his lawyers were also here. Mr. Errickson was the man who worked up the insurance in this county and when the farmers found that he was there to fight them they were infuriated and decided to scare him into a relinquishment of his claims against them. They got their men together, and after procuring a rope, went in search of Mr. Erickson, whom they found in his room at the Ada house. Their spokesman told him what they came for, and, after some parleying and flourishing a noosed end of a piece of hemp, Mr. Erickson gave up his suit and gave the farmers a release of the company's claims against them, he having learned previous to the time of the farmers' visit that the farmers' attorney, H. H. Phelps, of this city, had got a ruling from attorney General Clapp that the suit could be quashed on account of the insurance company not having been legally incorporated.

The Trying Season on Farm Stock.

Prairie Farmer.

It is not sufficiently considered by farmers that during the winter there is a constant warfare going on between the animal heat of the body and the chemically low temperature always present during the winter months. The bodily temperature, in health about 98 degrees, has no contest with the weather outside during the summer while the thermometer registers 75 degrees to 90 Fahr. At any rate, so far as is known, the difference of a few degrees between the bodily heat and temperature of the atmosphere is not damaging to the farm beast in the direction of causing the taking up of adipose matter previously accumulated, or of preventing the deposit of fat, all other conditions being favorable to this.

Pursuing this line of thought there is a constant effort going on between all bodies in contact, to effect an "evening up of temperature." If the body of an animal be placed in contact with a body of ice there will be a constant interchange of temperature between the two—the heat from the animal's body being expended in melting that portion of the ice in contact with it, the temperature of the animal's body being lowered while the contact continues. Now, this illustrates what is going on in the case of animals exposed to a low temperature, and where the exposure is in a current of cold air, moving rapidly, then the tax on the beast—the abstraction of animal heat—will be severe in proportion to the rapidity of the current and the severity of the cold. Hence we see animals making the endeavor to screen themselves from cold by placing a fence, a building, a hay stack, or a hill slope between themselves and a cold current.

In a stable having two rows of stalls, one facing the west and the other the east if a cold current prevails against the west side of the enclosure, the animal occupying that side will not only be affected by the cold current—pretty much regardless of the sort of building they are in—but the animal heat from the bodies of the animals on the cold side of the building will pass in a steady current to the bodies of those occupying the opposite side, simply because the current tends that way. It may be said to be drawing it very fine when we say that the beasts occupying the side of the stable where the wind strikes will require more food during the continuance of such a condition than will be needed by those on the opposite side, depending upon the charater of he wall between the animals and the outer air.

Under the advanced position of the present day (referring to turning of long yearlings for beef) an immense gain is offered the farmer, in that he can market his steers before entering upon their second winter. It requires an extraordinary summer gain—more than is usually made—to compensate for the loss through winter; food is expending while not only is no gain in weight being made, but on the contrary, as a rule, loss in weight occurs. The sophism that "farm animals well summered are half wintered," is an error fatal to profitable feeding. In cold climate it requires better provisions and vastly more care than are usually given farm animals to enable the feeder to hold to the growth and gain secured during the season of grass.

The demands within the body of the beasts are as imperious as are the demands of the moving locomotive with a heavy train attached, and no ingenious sophistry can take the place of shelter and proper feed in the one case, nor of plenty of fuel in the fire box in the other. G. S.

Prairie Farmer:—Our Mr. Shepherd says in relation to a fair understanding of the age of sheep, that at one year there are two large teeth in the center of the jaw, and two are added each year up to five years, when the sheep is said to have a "full mouth." After this the age cannot, with accuracy, be told by the teeth, and unless the animal is vigorous has nearly outlived its usefulness, and should be prepared for the butcher. And now the question comes up how many boys under fifteen can tell how many front teeth a sheep has in the under jaw?

The Free Coinage Bill.

National Economist.

The full text of the free coinage bill introduced by Mr. Vest and adopted by the Senate is as follows:

> A bill to provide for a unit of value and for the coinage of gold and silver and for other purposes.

That from and after the date of the passage of this act the unite of value in the United States shall be the dollar, and the same may be coined of 412½ grains of standard silver, or twenty-five and eight-tenths grains of standerd gold, and the said coin shall be legal tender for all debts, public and private. That hereafter any owner of silver or gold bullion may deposit the same at any mint of the United States to be formed into standard dollars or bars for his benefit and without charge; but it shall be lawful to refuse any deposit of less than $100, or any bullion so base as to be unsuitable for the operations of the mint.

Section 2. That the provisions of section 3 of "an act to authorize the coinage of the standard silver dollar and to restore its legal tender character," which became a law February 28, 1879, is hereby made applicable to the coinage in this act provided for.

Section 3 That the certificates provided for in the second section of this act shall be of denominations of not less than $1 nor more than $100, and such certificates shall be redeemed in coinage of standard value. A sufficient sum to carry out the provisions of this act is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated. So much of the act of July 14, 1890, entitled an act directing the purchase of silver bullion, and the issue of treasury notes thereon and for other purposes as requires the purchase of 4,500,000 ounces of silver bullion per month, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Section 4. That the certificates provided for in this act, and all silver and gold certificates already issued, shall be received for all taxes and dues to the United States of every discription, and shall be a legal tender for the payment of all debts, public and private.

Section 5. The owners of bullion deposited for coinage shall have the option to receive coin or its equivalent in the certificates provided for in this act, and such bullion shall be subsequently coined.

This bill not only gives the people free coinage of silver, but again places the unit of money where Hamilton placed it, with the silver dollar. The coinage act of 1873 changed this unit from silver to gold for the purpose of making the burden of debt more oppressive. By this act the wrong is righted and greed of the despoiler checked.

A Hundred-Year Loan.

National Economist

There has been a great deal said and written about the authority of the government to lend money. A certain class of politicians have held up their hands in holy horror at the idea of infringing upon the constitution by allowing the government to lend money. These same politicians favored the loan of funds by the national government to the New Orleans exposition and to the centennial exposition, and many of them favored the indorsement by the United States government of the Union Pacific railroad funds. United States treasury notes are obligations of the United States government to pay, and lending them to individuals must be on a par with lending of United States credit in any other shape to individuals and corporations; hence the indorsement of the Pacific railroad funds by the United States government was equivalent to lending that amount of money or treasury notes. The bonds could not have been floated at near so much without the government indorsement, which made them valuable at once. The farmers of this country advance the proposition that the government shall issue Treasury notes against the most potential form of all value, that which is demanded by the people of this government to be consumed every year, as the safest plan on which to base a currency that shall relieve the regular annual stringency that must accompany the augmented demand for money during the crop season—a stringency that deranges all branches of business, and threatens the country with a crisis and crash every year. These same politicians, ostensibly indifferent through their great veneration for the Constitution, but really indifferent through their love for the exploiting element that controls Wall street" hold up their hands in holy horror at this plan indorse the one given below. They have but one object, and and that is to perpetuate and increase the debt of the United States so as to keep the people paying interest which shall be a tribute to a fund that shall be used to perpetuate favoritism. The time is past, gentlemen, when such diabolical schemes as this can be perpetrated at the expense of the honest producers in this country. They will rise up in righteous indignation at such an effort to rob them as is demonstrated in the following article. The cry is: No more debts; no more bonds; pay cash as you go; increase the volume of money so as to make it adequate to perform the business of the country, to the end that every man may pay cash and this noxious credit system be abolished.

Mr. Sherman, from the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, reported a bill to amend the act of February, 1889, incorporating the Nicaragua Canal Company and authorizing the issue of bonds guaranteed by the United States. The report recites the importance of the canal project, treats in detail of the history of past negotiations on the subject and maintains that the proceeding of Great Britain at Belize, on the Mosquito coast, discharged the United States from its engagement with Great Britain in 1850 to refrain from exercising control of any part of Central America. The report says that the work of the private corporation on the canal has advanced with great rapidity; that the total cost of the project will be but one-third more than the Welland canal, and that it will be completed within six years. The full cost of the work is set down at $100,000,000. The committee feels that to secure this amount of money the company will be obliged to sell bonds at a large discount. Consequently it will be necessary to impose heavy tolls on shipping, and as the canal would really constitute a part of the coast line of the United States, the burden would be largely borne by the American people. Therefore the committee beleves that it would be the part of economy, aside from the considerations of national policy, for the United States to guarantee the bonds of the company to the amount of $100,000,000, so that they may be sold at par, with the result of reducing first, the actual expenditures of the company and second the tolls, which would otherwise amount $12,500,000 annually. In its present form the bill meets the objections raised by President Cleveland to the treaty negotiated in 1884, as it does not commit the United States to the defense of the territorial integrity of the Centrial American States. The capital stock of the company is to be limited to $100,000,000. The existing stock and contracts of the company are to be made to comform to the requirements of the bill. To secure the means to contract and complete the canal the company is authorized to issue bonds in denominations of not less than $100, nor more than $1,000 to an amount not exceeding $100,000,000, to be dated January 1, 1891, and to be payable January 1, 1991, with interest at the rate of 3 per cent, payable quarterly. The bonds are to be secured by a first mortgage on the property and rights of property of the canal company, including all concessions and freanchises, and the mortgage is to be so framed as to be a first lien under the laws of Nicaragua and Costa Rica. The bonds are to be printed and deposited in the United States Treasury, and are to be issued by the Secretary of the Treasury to the company only as the work on the canal progresses. The bonds are to bear the guarantee of the United States for principal and interest as it accrues, and the company is to issue no other bonds. The Secretary is authorized to pay the interest on the bonds as it becomes due if not paid by the company and an indefinite appropriation for the purpose is embodied in the bill. If the company fails to pay the interest as it falls due, and upon the payment thereof by the United States, the company is required to pay to the United States the amounts paid by the United States on the guarantee, with interest annually at 4 per cent until paid. For sums paid by the United States under the guarantee the United States is to be subrogated to the rights under the mortgage which the bondholders would have had if the same had remained unpaid by the company and had not been paid by the United States.

DR. M. WATTS.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office over Merchants' Bank.
Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION

Of the Rainy Lake, Crookston and Pacific Railroad Company.

For the purpose of organizing a corporation under Title one (1) of chapter thirty four (34) of General Statutes 1878, and Acts amendatory thereto, the undersigned hereby associate ourselves together and adopt the following Articles of Incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this Corporation shall be the Rainy Lake, Crookston and Pacific Railroad Company, and the general nature of its business shall be the locating, surveying, constructing and operating a line of railroad from some point on Rainy Lake River or on the International boundary line on Rainy Lake between Rainy Lake and Lake of the Woods, in the State of Minnesota, to the City of Crookston, in the County of Polk in said State, and from said City of Crookson in a southwesterly direction to Southwest corner of said Polk County, thence westerly to the Pacific Ocean, or to a point of connection with some railroad already constructed and operated, or in process of construction, to the Pacific Ocean or to some of the arms, sounds or inlets thereof, and also a branch line from or near the crossing of said road over the Big Fork River to Vermillion Lake, and thence to Lake Superior, and to construct side-tracks, switches, depots, bridges, telegraph line and all other things necessary or suitable for the full prosecution of the business of operating and maintaining such railroad.

ARTICLE II.

The principal place of business of said Corporation shall be in the City of Crookston, County of Polk, and State of Minnesota.

ARTICLE III.

The time of the commencement of said Corporation shall be the first day of March A. D. 1891, and the period of its duration shall be one hundred years.

ARTICLE IV

The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), divided into Two thousand shares of fifty dollars ($50) each, and the same shall be paid in at such times and in such manner as shall be required by the board of directors.

ARTICLE V.

The highest amount of indebtedness of said corporation shall at no time exceed the sum of five million dollars ($5,000,000).

ARTICLE VI

The names and places of residence of the persons forming this corporation are as follows: Halvor Steenerson, Frank Bivins, Lewis Ellington. John H. Locken, Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Earieson, Chas. E. Sawyer, and O. H. Lucken all of Crookston, Polk County, Minnesota, and George J. McManus of Duluth, Minn., and Andrew Eiken, Thomas G. Thompson, William Marin, Thomas H. Bjoin, A. Holmboe, Lars K. Asker, Fred Anderson, Chr. O. Christanson and H. H. Dickmann, all of Crookston, Minn.

ARTICLE VII

The names of the first board of directors o said corporation are as follows, to-wit: Halvor Steenerson, Frank Bivins, Lewis Ellington. John H. Locken, Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Ericsson, Charles E. Sawyer, and O. H. Lucken.

The government of said corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of not less than Nine nor more than Eleven directors to be elected annually by and from the stock holders of said corporation as hereinafter provided.

The annual meeting for such election shall be held in the office of said Company in the City of Crookston on the first Tuesday in December of each year, and until their successors are elected and qualified the said directors shall respectively continue to be such directors.

The directors shall, at their annual meeting to be held immediately after the annual meeting of the stockholders, elect a President, two Vice Presidents, Secretary, and Treasurer and may elect a General Manager, and until the next meeting as aforesaid.

Halvor Steenerson Shall be President.
Charles E. Sawyer shall be 1st vice President.
John R. McKinnon shall be 2st vice President.
Olanus H. Lucken shall be Secretary, and
Lewis Ellington shall be Treasurer, and
Elias Steenerson shall be General Manager.

In case of resignation of any of said officers or directors, or their inability to act, their place shall be filled by the remainder of the board of directors at any meeting called and held for that purpose.

If for any reason the annual meeting for the election of the officers and directors shall not be held at the time above specified, it may be held at any time that the directors may appoint for the purpose, and at such place as they may previously direct.

In Witness Whereof, the said Incorporators have hereunto set their hands and seals, this 9th day of Feb., A. D. 1891,

In presence of
Alex. McKinnon,
E. M. Walsh.

Halvor Steenerson	(Seal)
Franklin Bivins	(Seal)
Lewis Ellington	(Seal)
John H. Locken	(Seal)
Elias Steenerson	(Seal)
John R. McKinnon	(Seal)
Max Ericsson	(Seal)
Charles E. Sawyer	(Seal)
Olavus H. Lucken	(Seal)
George J. McMannus	(Seal)
Andrew Eiken	(Seal)
Thomas G. Thompson	(Seal)
William Marin	(Seal)
Thomas H. Bjon	(Seal)
A. Holmboe	(Seal)
Lars K. Asker	(Seal)
Fred Anderson	(Seal)
H. H. Dickmann	(Seal)
C. O. Christianson	(Seal)

State of Minnesota }
County of Polk } ss.

On this 9th day of February A. D. 1891 personally come before me, a notary public in and for said County, Halvor Steenerson, Franklin Bivins, Lewis Ellington, John H. Locken Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Ericsson, Charles E. Sawyer, Olavus H. Lucken, George J. McManus, Andrew Eiken, Thomas G. Thompson, William Marin, Thomas H. Bjoin, A. Holmboe, Lars K. Asker, Fred Anderson, H. H. Dickmann, and C. O. Christianson, to me known as the identical persons who executed the foregoing instrument, and each of said persons acknowledged the execution thereof, as his free act and deed for the uses and purposes in said instrument expressed.

ALEXANDER MCKINNON,
Notary Public, Polk County, Minnesota.

A. A. JUST, M. D.
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

Toledo Weekly Blade.

1891.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

THE most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding, year after year, a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

NEW story to commence first of the year, written especially for the Blade by Oliver Optic. "Money Maker Series." A series of special articles on "Side Issues," written for The Blade. Blade China Tea Sets and Dinner Sets given to club-raisers. Send for specimen copy of The Weekly Blade and our interesting announcements for the coming year.

SPECIMENS.

A specimen copy will give you a better idea of The Weekly Blade than any description we can give in an advertisement. We therefore invite everybody to write us for a specimen, which we will cheerfully mail you free; and at the same time please mail us a list of names of your friends and neigbors, and we will also mail them specimens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AGENTS.

ANYBODY can earn Ten Dollars very quickly by raising clubs for The Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address

THE BLADE,
Toledo, Ohio.

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN
COMPOUND OXYGEN
NOT A DRUG
1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r.
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner.

1891—THE ST. PAUL—DAILY NEWS.—1891

Furnishes all the News of the World.

Bright,
Fearless
and
Independent.

Champions the cause of the people independent of the political parties. Opposes monopolies and all public or private robbery by means of unjust tariff or other iniquitous legislation, State or National.

The full reports of legislative proceedings, which the Daily News will supply during the coming session of the Legislature, will alone be worth the cost of a year's subscription.

Sent by mail, postage paid, at the following remarkably low price:

Six months..........$1.75
One year..........3.00

For 75 cents additional to either a six months or a yearly subscription a complete set of the works of Charles Dickens, eleven volumes, (paper binding) will be sent postage paid.

Send for sample copies of the News Address: The Daily News, St. Paul, Minn.

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, March 5, 1891.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 81.
1 Northern 79.
2 Northern 76.
3 Northern 67.

Monday was what you might call an owly sort of a day.

Mrs. E. E. Bangs is expected home in two or three weeks.

E. D. Childs went down to St. Paul on Tuesday evening.

A. C. Wilkinson will open a law office in the new opera block.

Louis Ellington returned from St. Paul on Friday morning.

Hank Murray has fixed up elegant quarters in the new opera block.

The Great Northern train was nearly three hours late on Wednesday morning.

M. R. Brown has gone to St. Paul to attend the meeting of the drainage committee.

Call and see that new Jewett cook stove and get price thereon if you want a bargain.

Mrs. A. A. Miller returned on Wednesday last from a visit to friends in Wisconsin.

Mrs. I. U. Jennings has moved her shop across the street, into the store next door west of the Fournet block.

If there is any virtue in deep snows, Polk County ought to have from 30 to 40 bushels of wheat per acre this year.

Wm. Watts will move his law office into the new opera block. This block is bound to be the temple court of the city.

If you don't wish to incur a costly election on the division question, now is the time to come to the front with a remonstrance.

Conductor Tom Stahl has sold his residence on Main street to Mr. Alderman. Consideration about $1,000, worth double the amount.

At the Demorest prize contest which was held at the Baptist church last Saturday evening, Miss Isabella Reed was awarded the medal.

Rev. R. H. Battey has gone to Ada to assist the pastor at that place, who is holding a series of revival meetings. Will be home for Sabbath services.

John McKinnon left for St. Paul on Monday evening. Intends to extend his trip to Duluth and Superior ere his return which will be the last of the week.

John Dillon once more appeared before a Crookston audience on Saturday evening, in "Wanted, the Earth." John appears to hold his own remarkably well.

Hon. H. Steenerson has taken possession of his new quarters in the new Opera House block. He will soon have as handsome quarters as the city can boast of.

The G. A. R. ball on Thursday evening of last week was a great success and highly enjoyed by all who attended. The boys have not forgotten how to entertain.

On dit in railroad circles that the Great Northern road will be extended from Fosston to Duluth in the near future. We shall believe it when we see it accomplished.

S. L. Dobson returned on Sunday morning from a trip below. He has decided to take the road again for his old tea firm until the oat crop is ready for grinding next fall.

Tom Adams showed up in the city last week looking hale and hearty and just as young and handsome as ever. Tom says he don't know yet whether he shall return to the coast or not.

Rev. R. H. Battey returned from Minneapolis on Sunday morning in time for services. While in St. Paul on Friday he purchased 50 books to add to the Congregational S. S. library.

Wait a minute. Till you see what Benoit & Sylvester can do for you in the way of hardware. They will be all ready for business in a few days and invite JOURNAL readers to call and size 'em up.

Brown Knudson was up from Fertile on Monday with six good work horses for this market. They can be seen at Alderman & Sylvester's stables and can be had cheap for cash or good paper. Call early for choice.

Dr. A. Nelson was up from Fertile on Monday chatting with his many friends here. The doctor says that business is good this winter and payments excellent. Says they have more snow around Fertile than we have.

President H. Steenerson, of the Rainy Lake, Crookston & Pacific R. R. went down to Duluth last week to see about making arrangements to extend his line from Crookston to Duluth. The general manager is confident that this plan is entirely feasible.

Elsewhere will be seen an ad for the Minneapolis Tribune. The Tribune is a square-toed republican newspaper, one that strikes from the shoulder, and is one of the best in the State. We have known it for years and always found it a sound, reliable newspaper.

We have an entirely new No. 9 Jewet cook stove which we will offer for sale at a bargain if taken soon. This stove has never been used, we got it in trade and will dispose of it for cash or negotiable paper at a figure that can't be duplicated in this city. If you need a [illegible] stove call at THE JOURNAL office.

Benoit & Sylvester are daily receiving their hardware stock and expect to be ready for business early next week. They will make a specialty of their stove business, to which they invite attention. When they get their stock all in they will tell JOURNAL readers all about it, which will be in a very short time.

Services and Sunday school as usual at the Congregational church next Sunday morning. Fifty new volumes were added to the S. S. library this week and the library will be re-opened and books drawn next Sabbath. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:30 p. m. No evening services. Union meeting at the Presbyterian church.

Everything indicates good prices for wheat next fall, and if we have our usual good crops we may reasonably expect a very prosperous year. The prices for oats, barley and potatoes also will undoubtedly be good, so that we think it reasonably safe to prophesy an unusually prosperous year for farmers this year.

On Saturday evening a little house near the brewery, occupied by James Grant, a colored employe on the Great Northern road, took fire and was consumed, together with its entire contents. Mr. Grant lost everything except the clothing on his back. He has moved his family into rooms over Clary & Buckingham's store.

Upon hearing what was being done to aid in the building of the Rainy Lake, Crookston and Pacific R. R., John Sheley, deputy wheat inspector at Minneapolis, writes that he will contribute $100 in cash, right of way through his land and 40 acres for depot grounds, &c. That is the kind of a citizen to have in a community.

Delegations from Fosston, Red Lake Falls and East Grand Forks have gone down to St. Paul this week to work for division of the county into four parts. They have petitions containing some 600 names asking for division. Those who are opposed should now come to the front with a remonstrance which could easily secure three times 600 names.

Wheat held steady at 81 during the week, during all of the wild excitement which sent it skyward elsewhere. It never does seem to get very much excited and go skyward in a hurry in this market for some reason or other. We sometimes wish it had that inclination more. Perhaps it would leave a few more dollars in the pockets of our farmers.

C. J. McCollom writes THE JOURNAL that their cheese factory is for sale cheap, and parties who are interested can get figures by addressing him at Hallock. The Kittson County farmers will miss it largely if they allow the institution to be moved from the county, but if it has to go, we would like to see Polk County get the benefit of it. It has been worth thousands to Kittson County farmers and should stay there by rights.

President J. J. Hill, of the Great Northern road, returned from a trip to England last week on the ocean steamer Spree. It is said that the effect of Mr. Hill's being on this "spree" is that he secured the wherewithal to continue building his road to the coast, and from Fosston to Duluth and wherever he likes. We know of some who are everlastingly preaching against men going on sprees, but what's the matter with this one?

See notice of auction sale elsewhere by M. R. Brown. Mr. Brown has decided to hold an auction sale, commencing on Friday, March 27th, to accommodate any who have horses or mules to sell who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity but have not stock enough to pay them for the expense of making a sale. All who are interested should see Mr. Brown at once.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of our citizens was held in McKinnon's Hall on Friday evening, and after thoroughly discussing the proposition to give $10,000 to the Red River College, it was resolved to request our representatives in the legislature to pass a bill allowing our citizens to vote on the proposition at the coming spring election. We can see no harm in allowing the question to come before the people, the more especially as they seem to desire it.

The dedication and opening exercises of Crookston Lodge, No. 79, I. O. O. F. will take place on Thursday evening, March 31st, under the direction of the Grand Lodge of Minnesota. Lieut-Gen. G. S. Ives will conduct the ceremony of dedication in the new hall, commencing at 8 o'clock. At 10 o'clock the banquet will be spread in the banquet room, after which a grand social hop will be enjoyed in McKinnon Hall. The boys will spare no pains nor expense to make the affair a grand success.

The drainage committee met in St. Paul on Wednesday to consult on ways and means for carrying out the work of drainage in the Red River Valley. They will ask the legislature for an appropriation for the purpose. So far, this upper country has had very little money appropriated to its uses and as this is a very essential matter for the Red River Valley, it would seem no more than just to grant the request. Our members should do their utmost to secure the needed appropriation and we believe they will. If the work could be accomplished it would be worth millions to the country.

We know of a choice farm of 320 acres within three miles of the court house, every foot of it under cultivation, which can be had at a very reasonable figure with interest at only 6 per cent. If you are looking for a chance, here is a bargain. Call at THE JOURNAL office. [illegible]

E. J. Haseltine was down from Euclid this week and dropped in to see THE JOURNAL man. Speaking of farming in the Valley, Mr. H. says that when he went upon his farm a few years ago he had not a dollar in the world, and had to go in debt for machinery, teams, &c.; that he has never cleared less than $1,000 a year at farming and is now entirely out of debt with money in the bank. He thinks that could he have had a competing market in which to have sold his wheat every fall, he would now be independently well off, and he hopes the day is close at hand when the elevators will receive no more protection than other interests. He has concluded not to remove to Wisconsin this spring and may continue to farm at Euclid as heretofore.

Every One Using Machine Oils.

Best black oil, per gallon,	15c
" Eldorado engine oil, per gal.,	25c

Bring in your cans and jugs and save 100 per cent on machine oil.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

The dancing school wound up with a social dance on Tuesday evening, which event was highly enjoyed by all who were present. This school has been very successful under the able management of its modest conductor, H. A. Mason, who has won laurels by his methods of teaching, and at the last dance of the season he was urged to announce just one more. A vote was taken and was unanimously in favor of another on the evening of St. Patrick's Day, March 17th, and Herb, with his usual good nature, consented.

For Sale Cheap.

Four good brood mares and two good work horses cheap for cash or negotiable paper. Inquire of Knudson and Borlaug, at Alderman & Sylvester's livery stables.

Closing Out Notice.

Read the great bargains in another column, which I shall continue until March 25th. Positively no longer. Everything must go at most any price.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD,
Successor to Stewart & Spottswood.

Farmers' Grist Mill.

On Saturday, March 28th, the Farmers' Alliance Milling Association will meet at the residence of W. N. Godfrey, in the town of Godfrey, to elect directors and officers. It is desired that every town interested send as many representatives as possible so that the officers may be equitably distributed. All who are interested should now come to the front with subscriptions to stock. Let there be a rousing meeting. [46-47]

GODFREY, Feb. 24, 1891.

ED. JOURNAL:—To-day I am seated on a chair by the window looking out upon the beautiful flakes of snow which have completely covered the ground, and will, in my opinion, be dancing a quadrille before night.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of farmers living adjacent to Fertile, was held in Fertile, for the purpose of discussing the propriety of building a mill. One man thought we had no right to jump upon Mr. Kankel and suggested that a committee be appointed to compromise with that gentleman, but he gave no definite reason why we should do so. Justice Mitchell, of the town of Woodside, gave an elaborate description of the cost of running a steam mill and of the cost of running a water power mill, including all expenses from first to last. Mr. Mitchell is a well-informed and meritorious gentleman and his statements can be depended upon. Mr. Mitchell is also in favor of building a mill at Maple Bay, which is, in my mind, the proper place, as it is centrally located and would do a large part of the milling that must be done in this vicinity, and could be run cheaper at that point than in Fertile.

Farmers are now laying out their plans for the spring work.

Justice Mitchell will hold court next week.

P. S. Mitchell struck water at 68 feet. He is much pleased.

John Nelson will be courting in the land office at Crookston this week.

The town of Godfrey is now free from diphtheria.

A mass meeting of all the farmers in the adjoining towns will be held at the residence of W. N. Godfrey, on the 28th day of March, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. We must have a mill at Maple Bay.

SUBSCRIBER.

Take Notice.

All parties owing accounts and notes that are due are requested to call and settle before March 15th, or they will be left with an attorney for collection. I must have the money. I will continue selling out at and below cost until March 25th.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

Sealed Bids.

Notice is hereby given that up to and including Thursday, March 12th 1891, sealed bids, for building a school house in school district No 4, will be received by me at my office in fisher. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids for plans and specifications call on or address, THOMAS BENSON, clerk of school district No. 4 Fisher, Minn.

Farmers! == Farmers!

IT WILL PAY YOU

TO READ THIS.

CHEAP HARDWARE.

Closing Out! Closing Out! Read! Read!

My Prices on Hardware are as follows:

Common mixed paints, Per gallon	85c to $ 1 00
Best " "	1 25
Ten quart strainer pails,	35
Twelve quart strainer pails,	40
No. 9 copper tea kettles,	1 75
Clevises, per lb.,	6½
One doz. 6 quart pressed pans,	75
Steel nails, per keg rate,	2 65
Wire nails, per keg rate,	3 15
Wringers,	2 00
Five gallon pump cans,	1 35
Tar felt paper, per hundred,	2 50
Winchester rifles, octagon band,	14 75
Stove pipe, per joint,	15
Ox bows, per pair,	50
One set Mrs. Potts' sadirons, nickle plate,	1 25
Grind stones, per pound,	1½
Patent wire lift tubular lanterns,	50
8x10, 8 light windows, per pair	70
8x10, 12 light windows, "	90
Scythe snaths,	40
Lock top cream cans, with glass,	70
Ox cards, per pair,	15
Painted barb wire, per hundred,	3 50
Galvanized barb wire, per hundred,	4 10
Lanterns,	40 and 50
Well buckets,	35
Best black machine oil, per gallon,	15
Best Eldorado " "	25
10 quart tin pails,	15
No. 0 barrel churn,	3 00
No. 1 barrel churn,	3 25

Numerous other articles and proportionately the same prices. Call early as possible. Will continue Closing Out until the 25th of March.

Wm. C. Spottswood,
Successor to Stewart & Spottswood.

BOULDERS WANTED!

The Crookston Water Works and Light Company

WILL PAY CASH

For 1,000 loads of Boulders to be delivered at the head of the mill race in Crookston. For further particulars enquire of

ED. PETERSON, Supt.

Closing Out at Cost!

I AM CLOSING OUT

MY ENTIRE STOCK OF

General Merchandise

AT AND BELOW COST.

IF YOU WANT

BOOTS, SHOES OR CROCKERY,

Call at once. All Heavy Goods Going Below Cost. This is a Bona Fide Sale and Everything Goes. Call and See.

A. STURE.

AUCTION SALE.

About the middle of March, definite date to be fixed and announced later, I will sell at Public Auction at the Red barn, Schraeder's Livery and Sale Stables, the entire outfit, consisting of horses, buggies, carriages, harnesses, whips, robes, cutters, sleighs, and a thousand and one articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale announced later.

MRS. E. D. SCHRAEDER.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Don't pay any bet you have made on which is the best five cent cigar in the Crookston market until you have sampled The Black Rose. Found only at Wilson & Thompson's.

Paint! Paint! Paint!

Now is the time to buy paint and use it a little later on. The old reliable brand, "The Northwestern," we are closing out at $1.25 per gallon. Strictly pure. Other goods cheaper.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

WANTED.

A few large young fresh cows. Enquire at Fontaine & Anglim's.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMETIER,
(36-tf) Lisbon, N. Dakota.

A GREAT PRIZE.

Any one, not now a subscriber, sending the Tribune Co. ONE DOLLAR can get the famous picture, the

The Russian Wedding Feast,

FREE BY MAIL WITH

The Daily and Sunday Tribune..........6 weeks
or the Daily (without Sun.) Tribune..........8 weeks or the Evening Tribune..........12 weeks
or the Sunday Tribune..........26 weeks
or the Farmers Weekly Tribune..........52 weeks

This offer is good until June 1st, 1891.

The picture is a beautiful work of art. Reproduced in all the beautiful colors of the original painting, 24 inches by 17 inches.

Send at once and secure a handsome prize.

Postage stamps to the amount of $1.00 will be accepted. Address,

THE TRIBUNE CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

Regular Subscription Rates by Mail.

	1 Year.	3 Mo.	1 Mo.
Daily and Sunday	$8 50	$2 25	85c
Daily, 6 days	7 00	1 75	70c
Sundays only	2 00	50	20c
Evening Tribune	4 00	1 00	40c
Farmers' Weekly	1 00	25

[First publication March 5th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court. Special Term, Feb. 28th, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Ole Isakson Austad, deceased.

Letters testamentary on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Osmund Osmundson, of said county.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in Crookston, on Monday, the 7th day of September, A. D. 1891, at ten o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks, prior to the day appointed for such examination, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, the 28th day of February, A. D. 1891.

By the Court, C. M. BENSON, Judge of Probate.
[46-48]

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication March 5th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars interest due January 1, 1890, thirty five dollars, interest due July 1, 1890, and thirty-five dollars, interest due on the first day of January, 1891, which default has continued to the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mederic Desantels and Celanive, his wife, mortgagors, to The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of July, 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of July, 1887, at 11:45 o'clock a. m., in book 33 of mortgages, on page 56.

And, whereas, the said The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of one thousand one hundred and nineteen and 72-100 dollars, with interest on $1105 thereof at the rate of seven per cent per annum, from the 23d day of February, 1891, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The south half (s½) of the northeast quarter (ne¼) and the south half (s½) of the northwest quarter (nw¼) of Section twelve (12), Town one hundred and fifty (150), Range forty-four (44) in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County at the front door of the Court House in the town of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of one thousand one hundred and nineteen and 72-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 23d, A. D. 1891.

The Loan and Guaranty Company,
of Connecticut, Mortgagee.

A. Humphreys,
[46-52] Attorney for Mortgagee.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, MINN

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, $100,000

SURPLUS, $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, E. D. Chase, R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

[illegible] Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North Star.
Fife.
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

1 PAIR OF BROOD MARES
Six years old with foal to thoroughbred Percheron Norman horse.
2 Geldings, 4 years old.
2 Mares, 4 years old.
1 good Driving Horse, 6 years old.
1 pair 2 year old Mares, 7-8 Norman Percheron.
1 pair good Norman Fillies.

Address THEO. GREENHALGH, city post office, or call at the farm in Fairfax. [40-45]

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS.

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

CALL IN.

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN

Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton Grand Forks, Crookston,

AND ALL POINTS

EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on

THE DINING CAR LINE

Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points

IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY

—AND—

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS
PASSING THROUGH
Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana Idaho, Oregon and Washington
CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF
Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars,
First and Second Class Coaches,
Pullman Tourist and Free Colonist Sleepers
AND ELEGANT DINING CARS

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and west, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

East bound.
Passenger 7:10 p. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.

West bound.
Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p. m.

For rates, maps, time tables or special information, apply to C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston, Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

L. E. GOSSMAN,

Attorney-at-Law,

No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

E. STEENERSON,

Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of outside Co's. ☞ CALL ON ELI!

We may not be so awfully brilliant as Thinglestad Bierley, but we do not go sneaking around his establishment like a cur trying to hire his men away from him. If that is an evidence of brilliant journalism we have to admit that you have the advantage of us. We say that no one but a dishonorable, cowardly cur will do such things, but a thing who will is capable of robbing taxpayers.

Thinglestad Bierley, the aristocratic snob who runs the Grand Forks East Grand Forks Bulletin News, has conceived the idea that he knows everything and that because he does, no other newspaper man in this upper country amounts to much. Now, if this brilliant genius could only manage to buy himself up at his actual worth and sell himself at what he values himself at, he would make millions, and would not be obliged to put up jobs on our susceptible county board by which he gets two prices for his work. That is the flea that is biting Bierly, and he hopes by attempting to belittle THE JOURNAL to hide from the taxpayers the ugly facts in that printing deal. If you are such an almighty brilliant newspaper man and honest, Thinglestad, why don't you show the taxpayers of Polk County wherein they are benefitted by paying you two prices for work that they could get done for half?

Thinglestad Bierley says that THE JOURNAL man don't know enough to make the taxpayers pay two prices for their work, therefore we do not understand our business. Well, now that does make us feel bad, to be sure! And coming from such a source, too! According to his theory no one who does not know how to put up and carry through such jobs is fitted for the newspaper business. We are satisfied with reasonable, living profits, and admit that we do not know how to put up jobs to make the taxpayers of the county pay two prices for their work. However, we will try and worry along without adopting the Bierley tactics, even if his serene highness is not suited. Such newspaper talent as he manifests may be a grand thing for this new land, but it seems to come extremely high! And especially as the only merits his sheets can boast of are found in the extreme personal beauty of the aristocratic being who runs them in Grand Forks, paying what little revenue can be extracted from him to build up Dakota and her interests. He is a jim dandy!

The main point at issue—the condition of our wheat markets—seems to be having very little attention in the legislature. We need a law compelling the roads to accept our wheat for shipment just the same as other commodities are handled, and this would compel the roads to allow anybody who desired to handle wheat to build a flat-house or a warehouse to handle it in. This law should embody responsibility for weights also. If this point was fully covered it would remedy most, if not all, of the evils of which we now complain. Had our farmers always received what their wheat should have netted them, but very few would now be needing to borrow money—on the other hand the most of them would now have money to loan to their less thrifty neighbors and to all new-comers who need it.

The Extra Session Avoided.

WASHINGTON, Telegraph to Minneapolis Times Feb. 28.—The general feeling among those familiar with the situation is that the appropriation bill has so far advanced that unless some unforseen developments arise the house and senate will be able to complete all the appropriation bills before the hour of adjournment on the 4th of March.

Fisher Bulletin:—Every person who is acquainted with J. B. Merrill is satisfied that he his is a Prince of good fellows, but it remained for thirty and more of his friends on last Thursday night to discover that he was a Royal Flush of a good fellow, and entitled to the highest of praise as an entertainer. It must be understood however, that these excellent qualifications attributed to friend Jerry, are in a measure due to the superior judgment and perception of his estimable lady. On last Thursday night the lower portion of Mr. Merrill's residence was taken possession of by thirty-two ladies and gentlemen, who indulged in conversation, music and progressive euchre until nearly midnight, when a capital lunch put the finishing touches to the enjoyment of the evening. Mrs. R. T. Webster and Mr. James Rosaaen were awarded the leading prizes for their knowledge in progressive euchre.

Sherman's Estate.

The Deceased General Left No Will—His Property Small.

NEW YORK, Telegraph to Minneapolis Times Feb. 28.—Application was made today in the surrogate's court through counsel, for the appointment of Rev. Father Sherman and Phillip T. Sherman, as administrators in the estate of the late William T. Sherman, who left no will. The administrators will take charge of the personal property of the deceased, and an inquiry will be made as to the value of the real estate, which consists principally of the four-story brown stone dwelling in this city, worth probably $50,000, and some real estate in St. Louis, the value of which is not known. Rev. Father Sherman said this evening that he estimated as the most valuable part of the estate of his father, the Sherman memoirs, covering the life of Sherman and his military campaign. Secretary Blaine, has written the concluding chapter as an appendix to the book. A cheap edition of the memories with Mr. Blaine's addition is now in press in this city, and will be sold for $2. It will contain 400 pages and will be illustrated with steel plates of portraits and war maps. This special adition is designated popularize the work among Grand Army men throughout the country. The proceeds of the work will be for the benefit of those whom Gen. Sherman's death leaves dependent upon the estate for support.

AUCTION SALE

OF

HORSES and MULES.

For the purpose of accommodating the many who may want to dispose of their surplus Horses and mules this spring, I will hold an Auction Sale at my Yards and Stables in the city of Crookston, commencing

Friday, March 27th, 1891,

At 10 o'clock a. m., and continuing the same until all is sold.

All persons desiring to enter their stock for this sale, must do so on or before the 20th of March giving description of stock and the terms on which he wants it sold. The terms or cost for advertising and selling will be 5 per cent of the sale. No stock will be allowed to be taken away until settled for. The terms on which each horse or mule will be sold will be made public at the sale.

M. R. Brown.

Won by Americans.

The Leading Prizes Come to the United States.

In The Queen's last word contest, Mr. Edmund T. Stevens, of Buffalo, N. Y., won the first prize of a free trip to Europe and $200 in cash, and Annie B Turner, of Deposit, N. Y., secured the special prize of a handsome, Shetland pony.

The publishers of the well-known Magazine have decided to offer one more Competition, and to the persons sending them the largest lists of English words (of not less than four letters) constructed from letters contained in the three words, "Dominion of Canada" they offer many useful prizes, including $750 in cash, Shetland ponies, China Dinner sets, Gold Watches, and French Music Boxes, Portiere Curtains, Silk Dresses, Mantle Clocks, etc., all to be awarded strictly in order of merit. An elegant Silver Tea Service (valued $30) will be given each day to the persons from whom the largest list is received that day from the State in which they reside. The object Daily Prizes for each State is to increase the interest in The Queen's Competitions in every locality in the United States. Those desiring to contest for one of these valuable prizes may start on their list at once, but send six U. S. 2c. stamps and receive last number of The Queen with full particulars before forwarding your list. Address THE CANADIAN QUEEN, Toronta Canada.

Fund for Mrs. Windom.

New York Bankers will Raise Fully $50,000 For Her.

NEW YORK. Feb. 28—An informal meeting of several bankers was held on Feb. 21. in this city, to devise means for raising a testimonial fund for the widow of Secretary Windom. Information was received through Senator Washburn and Stephen Elkins that the estate of the late secretary of the treasury could afford an annual revenue of only $3,500. One-third of this sum, according to the will, was to go to Mrs. Windom, the rest to be divided among the children—three. It was determined to raise a testimonial fund of $50,000, and last Monday at the Union League clubs subscription lists were prepared and $14,500 was subscribed. A member of the commitee said to a reporter to-day.

"We are very sorry that this matter has got out. We have done our best to keep it quiet, because it is of a delicate nature, and Mrs. Windom is a lady of the most refined sensibilites. It would be a poor compliment to the people of this country, however, if they especially those of the financial circles, were to allow the widow of one who has done so much for our finances to be in the circumstances described. If this affair must be made public, you might as well give your readers the facts as they are. We already have $30,000 subscribed, and we want to round it out into an even $50,000 or more if the people feel so disposed.

St. Vincent New Era.

Before the next issue of the Era Congress will have adjourned and one of the most obliging, faithful and hard working congressmen, Hon. S. G. Comstock, will have returned to Moorhead his home, and to private life.

Although belonging to the opposite political party to us, we could not but admire the man who devoted his time and intellect so unreservedly to his constituents and to his country, as Mr. Comstock did, and although working out great schemes, kindly and patiently attended to the enquiries of his humblest constituent, and on so many occasions worked for St Vincent.

We thank him and respect him just the same as if he was President, and sincerely hope his retirement may be as pleasant as was Emperor Diocletian's, who ruled and afterwards raised cabbages, and after trying both thought planting cabbages the pleasanter of the two.

AGAINST PASSES.

The Annual Report of the Railway Commission.

The Minneapolis Times.

The advance sheets of the annual report of the railroad and warehouse commissioners issued yesterday. The report shows that 25 railroad companies have furnished information to the commission, 154 miles of new road were built during the past year, while 48 miles were discontinued from service. The total mileage in the state for the year ending June 30. 1890, was 5,409 miles, an increase over the previous year of 106 miles. The capital stock of the reporting companies was $414,124,210, the total funded debt $580,689,994, and total of current liabilities $10,350,518.

The gross earnings of the roads for the year was $27,193,168, an increase over the previous year of $1,967,490, of which sum $19,719,719, was received for freight, and $5,617,095 from passenger earnings. The freight earnings increased $2,845,886 over the previous year, while passenger earnings decreased $369,211.

The operating expenses of the roads were $16,311,062, leaving $10,882,106 as net earnings to be divided among the stockholders. This sum was an increase of $642,500 over 1889.

The state received in taxes on the gross earnings the sum of $698,229,26, of $7,813 over 1889.

The accrued interest on funded debt of all roads in the state was $26,262,948, Twelve companies report a surplus of $20,167,980, while seven report a deficit of $2,670,979.

The total number of tons of the freight carried during the year was 13,537,010, an increase of 3,315,852. The total number of passengers carried was 8,648,581, a decrease of 797,725,

The number of men employed by the roads in Minnesota was 19,179, who received in wages $12,197,616. By accidents 90 persons lost their lives and 543 were injured.

The commissioners heard and passed upon 81 complaints during the year, embracing various subjects, and as a result of their delibrations recommend the passage of laws which will give the people of this state equal transportation of passengers and property without discrimination as to persons or places, safe transportation of the same, the best service the system is capable of, and the cheapest transportation that is compatible with the foregoing and is just to the companies.

On the subject of free passes the report deals at some length, and says:

"If it shall be deemed expedient to put our state law into harmony with the interstate commerce law, the provisions of section 1, chapter 10 of the general laws of 1887, which allows railroad companies to issue passes for the free transportation of passengers, must be repealed.

"It is the conviction of this commission the issuing of free passes, as now practiced in this state, is an unjust discrimination as against every passenger who pays, and thus opposed to the spirit of the act passed for the regulation of common carriers; that it is a fruitful source of corruption; that it is injurious alike to public and private interests, and to the interest of the companies themselves, and that it is one of the chief obstacles in the way of proper and necessary reform in the railway management and the control thereof under the authority of the state.

"In again calling attention to the subject the commission expresses its conviction that if the transportation of passengers and persons in this state is prohibited by law, material reductions can be made in passenger rates without loss of revenue to common carriers, and a practice which is itself nothing but an unjust discrimination and a continual source of irritation and annoyance to the general public, can be eliminated from the evils which affect the system."

Life of General Sherman.

No literary announcement of the year is of greater interest to the general public than that of a comprehensive Life of General Sherman, which is about to be published and sold through agents by the noted house of Hubbard Brothers, of Philadelphia. Admirable biographies of Grant and Sheridan, complete to the time of their death, are already familiar to the public, but a life of the third great commander, to finish the series, has been lacking. The various biographies of Sherman hitherto published have necessarily been incomplete; and even his own memoirs, written in 1875, said almost nothing of his intensely interesting early life, and not a word, of course, of the more than twenty years of social activity and fraternity with old comrades since the war.

The work which is now to be issued will splendidy supply the widely felt demand for a history of the great strategic commander. It is being written by General O. O. Howard, a man of fine literary attainments, who knew Sherman better than any other of his comrades now living, and ranked next but one to him in the army, and by Willis Fletcher Johnson whose ability as a historian is familiar to the reading public of America through his former unusually popular works, which have had millions of readers, and the sales of their vast editions enriched an army of book agents. That this history of Sherman, the last of the great Generals, will surpass all others in popularity is not to be doubted.

The story of this great General's career is of a marvellous march from the mountains of time to the sea of eternity. Of the three great war heroes, Sherman was by far the most interesting personality. He was the best known to the public and the best loved for his genial disposition and warm sympathy with the popular heart. He has joined his illustrious compeers in the eternal bivouac of the dead. His is a life to study—to emulate—and is a profound inspiration. The forthcoming volume will tell the whole story of his marvellous career, and from the authorship engaged upon it, we are assured it will be told in a way that will enthral the attention and interest of every reader from first to last. It is a book every American will want and one every American youth should read. It will doubtless be the best life of the great chieftain published, and we predict for it wonderful popularity.

The Winter Month.

February Makes a Record—Last Month Very Cold.

St. Paul Globe.

Minnesota winters are surely undergoing a change. A study of the meteorological record shows that there is a decided tendency in late years to concentrate the winters in the month of February. The old-fashioned winters, which began in October and lasted until March, have disappeared, and in their stead we have no decided winter until after the new year. The February just completed was much colder than the average—in fact, it was the coldest February, with three exceptions, in the past twenty-one years. The mean temperature was 11 deg, as against a mean in that time of 19 deg. In those twenty-one years, the coldest February -7 deg—was in 1875, and the warmest—32 deg—in 1878. Last month there were eleven days of below-zero wether. The coldest day was the 4th, when 25 deg was reached, and the warmest the 14th, when the mercury soared to 44 deg. The greatest daily range of temperature was 38 deg on the 4th, and the last was 6 deg on the 9th. The precipitation last month was 1.18 inches, the greatest in the past eight years for a February. There were 9 cloudless days, 11 partly cloudy and 8 cloudy.

Weekly Arbor State (Beatrice, Neb. says:

There is a growing spirit of independence abroad in the land which is bound to make itself felt in the future politics of the country. It is a spirit that cannot be led by the allurements of place or spoils, nor driven by the lash of partisan machinery or organized bossism. It regards governments as a necessary good or evil, rather than a sinecure for dead-heads or a pension department for the benefit of social drones and political tramps. It believes in the supremacy and sovereignty of the people and the subordination of their official servants. It holds to the doctrine that the powers of governments are a scard trust from the people, to be used and exercised for the people's good, and that to use them for the promotion of corporate individual ends, regardless of the general welfare, is treason, and such a betrayal of trust as to disqualify such traitors for future service. This element already commands the respect of even those who have not themselves [illegible]

TRY

O. J. BARNES,

THE

CITY GROCER!

Trade at

HOLMBOE'S,

THE ROBERT ST. DEALER

—IN—

General Merchandise!

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - Minnesota

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

In connection which I will attend to in person

J. V. E. WYATT,

UNDERTAKER.

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for

N E W G O O D S.

A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material.

Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized Under the State Laws.

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $10,500

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections. Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.

C. HENDRICKSON, President.
O. H. LUCKEN, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch.
H. Steenerson. J. H. Lockin, C. Hendrickson.
Max Eriksson. L. K. Aaker. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

WM A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B.—Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom specially invited.

Terms $1.00 per Day.

H. STEENERSON

ATTORNEY AT LAW

CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,

GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA

PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $35 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY
On Real Estaes

MONEY
On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

THE NEW

NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana	FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS	100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.	LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.	Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth.	In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills, Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raizers' paradise.	Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines.	These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.
The valleys of Red, Mouse, Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890 Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn	Hunting Fishing.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY

OUR NEW

Fall Styles

LADIES,

Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,

ATTY'S-AT-LAW.

McKinnon Block. Crookston, Minn

M. LeGUEE.

Veterinar Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON. - - MINN.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

Licensed College Physician and Surgeon Quebec.

Office in McKinnon Block.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, March 5, 1891.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
8:35 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
5:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:55 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:48 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
3:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

MONTANA EXPRESS DAILY.

7:40 p. m. de........St. Paul........ar. 6:55 a. m.
7:00 a. m. de........CROOKSTON........de. 7:25 p. m.
8:15 a. m. de........Grand Forks........de. 6:20 p. m.
9:20 p. m. ar........Helena........de. 11:00 a. m.

ST. VINCENT BRANCH.
Daily, except Sunday.
Depart 7:15 a. m.................Arrive 7:00 p. m.

FOSSTON BRANCH.
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Depart 7:30 a. m.................Arrive 5:00 p. m.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH.
Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
Depart 10:45 a. m.................Arrive 4:00 p. m.

W. W. FEGAN,
Agent, Crookston.

Farm and Fireside, of Philadelphia, Pa., entirely misconceives the purposes and scope of the sub-treasury plan, and in its issue of January 1 says:

The true inwardness of the sub-treasury scheme is to force up prices on farm products by getting up a gigantic corner on them. Producers that will store up their products in these government warehouses, and receive on them treasury notes that shall circulate as lawful money, being relieved of any immediate necessity for selling them, can hold their products until the price is high enough to suit them, or by combining they can at any time produce a scarcity in the market by witholding them from sale, and thus force up prices just as high as consumers will stand.

No corner has ever been successful in this country that depended on holding farm products, and none ever will be while present conditions prevail; that is to say, while the price of the American products is fixed by the price of the amount exported. Combinations only force prices up or down in this country by means of manipulations of the market, selling short and gambling in futures. The regular prices of the products apart from such influences depend on foreign quotations, which are regulated by the price of that part of the crop that is exported. That being the case, farmers would not put grain or cotton in warehouses on a a quotation price based on the export market when the home market was forced up above that, because it would pay them better to sell. Consequently prices never could be raised even a fraction on the consumer, but the middle man would be everlastingly squeezed out and the farmer get near to the benefit of the consumer's prices. In fact he would get the consumer's prices less the actual necessary expenses of handling, storing, keeping, insuring, and so on, and there would be none left for the gambler. This is what the Alliance contends for, and what no doubt Farm and Fireside would heartily indorse if convinced of the fact.

Several Sevens.

In ancient times, the number seven was looked on as having something of a sacred and mysterious character, evidences of which crop out all through history. There were Seven Wise Men of Greece, the Seven Wonders of the World, Seven Cities claiming to be the birth-place of Homer. The Hebrew temple contained a seven-branched golden candlestick; the Jews marched seven times around the walls of Jericho to compass its fall. The seventh son of a seventh son was supposed to be gifted with miraculous powers of healing. The seventh day of the week was set apart as a holy day. Shakspere speaks of the "seven ages of man." "The Burlington" system of railroads with its seven thousand miles of track, links together seven cities of the Central West—Chicago, St. Lous, St Paul Minneapolis, Kansas City, Omaha and Denver. There is nothing mysterious about its popularity with the traveling public; that has been achieved by the facilities and accommodations it offers. For tickets, time tables, rates of fare, etc., apply to any ticket agent of "The Burlington" or connecting lines, or write to W. J. C. Kenyon Gen. Pass. Agent. C. B. & N. R. R. St. Paul, Minn.

There is no doubt but sugar beets can be produced with profit in Minnesota and Dakotas for the manufacture of sugar in factories on a large scale, and making syrup at home on a small scale, as well as for stock-feeding purposes. Those who contemplate experiments in 1891 should arrange for good seed at once and begin to study up methods of cultivation so as to get the best results. Factories will certainly be built in Minnesota, and the sooner our farmers take hold of beet culture, the sooner the manufacture of sugar can be inaugurated. A leaflet containing much information about this interest is given away by W. W. Fegan, local agent of the Great Northern Railway, or by F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul, Minn.

Every farmer should have his plans for spring work pretty well matured or else he ought to be seriously considering now what crops he expects to plant. Field and garden seed should be in hand examined or tested. Extra attention this year to the small things of the farm will add thousands of dollars to the value of our products. Let us have more poultry, eggs, vegetables, root crops, fruits, etc., than ever before, for sale and home use.

American Farm News (Akron, Ohio) says: If any doubt has heretofore existed in the minds of the people as to the propriety and absolute necessity of electing United States Senators by a direct vote of the people, the doubt will be readily dispelled by a resume of the actions and doings of the United States Senate, so far, the present session. Elected, as many of them are, by the most reprehensible methods known to politics, and believing that what has been done can be done again, they grow bold in audacity and manifest cussedness, bordering on imbecility. They have abused party organizations, dubbed the farmer a "rainbow chaser," potato bank theorist, and are at the same time engaged in the introduction of bills for political effect and buncombe only. They realize that they are not within easy reach of the people, and a Democratic Senator from Tennessee and a Republican Senator from Vermont deplore in speeches in the United States Senate the probable defeat of a brother senator from Kansas, all prominent railroad attorneys with no interest in anything or anybody but their own selfish purposes and the immense interests they collectively represent. We hope the farmers of the United States will see to it that the present system of electing senators is abolished, whereby a senator can buy his way by buying cheap legislators at so much a head. When democratic senator Harris, in a belabored speech in the senate, calls for the return of republican senator Ingalls from Kansas, it is about time for the farmers to "holler" fire.

Alliance Eagle (Ellisville, Miss.) says: The alliance, as an organization, is neither for nor against the democratic or republican party, but are fighting for personal rights, and a government of and by the people. If any person or party wants to "fall by the wayside," let him step in the way of the alliance. They have started out to right some of the wrongs that have existed to long already.

Labor's Tribune (Carthage, Mo.) says: What is there in the average newspaper to impress people favorably toward sobriety, morality or Christianity? One would conclude from the tone of the great dailies as well as from newspapers in general, that nothing existed beyond the present sense of sorrow, suffering, money-making and worldly amusement. Every editor should wisely consider that he is aiding one way or another to shape the present and future destiny of those who read his paper. The character of the people as a rule is very similar to that of the editors and writers whose articles go to make up the belief of the people. Hence an editor, whose paper is full of nothing but society gossip, theatrical plays and games, is aiding to drive his readers away from the higher and more noble concerns of the life that now is, besides poisoning the minds of his readers against the truth that treats of the life to come. It has been stated by a cool-headed writer, that if Christ was to come to earth as he did 1891 years ago, he would be compelled to become an editor in order to reach the people. This may, or may not be true, but one thing is certain, the newspapers of today are the educators of the people beyond all other agencies.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by William H. Perkins and Mattie L. Perkins, his wife, to the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, bearing date the 4th day of September, A. D. 1888, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 4th day of September, A. D. 1888, at 2:10 o'clock p. m., in book 39 of mortgages on pages 51-54.

And, whereas, such default consists in the failure to pay the following instalments of interest, to-wit: $17.50 that became due March 4th, 1889, $17.50 that became due September 4th, 1889, $17.50 that became due March 4th, 1890, and $17.50 that became due September 4th, 1890.

And, whereas, the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, the holder of said mortgage, has elected to declare, and hereby does declare the whole principal sums in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And, whereas, there is actually due and payable at the date hereof, including principal and interest, upon the premises in said mortgage described, the following sum, to-wit: Five hundred and ninety-four and 47-100 ($594.47) dollars.

And, whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The west half of northeast quarter (w½ ne¼) and north half of southeast quarter (n½ se¼) Section thirty-four (34) Township one hundred and fifty-one (151) of Range forty-one (41) containing 160 acres more or less, according to the government survey thereof. Said premises situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 11th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 20th, A. D. 1891.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

H. D. DICKINSON,
Attorney for Mortgagee. [N. G. 31] [45-51]

Crookston Meat Market

E. STEENERSON, Proprietor. E. ERIKSON, Manager.

Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,

—DEALERS IN—

Shelf and Heavy

HARDWARE,

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, Ole Olson Gang Plows, F. F. Thompson & Sons Walking Plows. Sole agents for the Domestic Sewing Machine.

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

STOVES AND RANGES

SOLE AGENTS FOR

Havanna Press Drills

FOR POLK COUNTY.

Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., - - - - Crookston.

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN, MINNESOTA,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

Doors, Windows and Mouldings.

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY.

—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER.

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,

CROOKSTON, MINN.,

Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plain and Fancy

DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, FLANNELS,

BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for........$1.00
Rhadames for........1.00
Faille Francais for........1.00
Gros Grain for........1.00
Satin Luxors for........1.00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS.—

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel........20 cents.
54 inch Tricot........85 "
54 inch Flannel........45 "
54 inch best all wool Flannel...75 "
36 inch Henriettas........25 "

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for........30 cents.
" " ....35 "
" " medicated, for 40 "

A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket........$1.50
" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket........2.00
" 4½ lb. 10¼ white "........4.50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dr Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

SUBSCRIBE FOR

THE HERALD,

The Leading Morning Paper of North Dakota.

Weekly $1.00; Daily $6.00 per Year in Advance.

Daily contains the News of the World, the Latest Telegraphic News, Full Associated Press Dispatches. Address

THE HERALD, Grand Forks, N. D.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated December 29th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, December 31st, 1887, in book 34 of mortgages, page 461, whereby Albert Drager, an unmarried man, mortgageor, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the southeast quarter of section eleven (11), in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-five (45), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $379.12, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $22.20, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $392.32. Now, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.

Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22, 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 12th, 1883, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 12th, 1883, in book K of mortgages, page 91, whereby Andrew Steenerson and Bertha Steenerson, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the south half of the southeast quarter, and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty (30), in township one hundred and forty-eight (148), of range forty-eight (48), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $462.50, to which amount should be added the taxes on said property paid by said mortgagee, amounting, with interest as provided in said mortgage, to $18.99, making the total amount claimed to be due at the date hereof on said mortgage $481.49. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at ten o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.

Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated July 21st, 1888, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, July 23d, 1888, in book 36 of mortgages, page 375, whereby Geo. Galland and Keziah Galland, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the east half of the southwest quarter of section thirty-three (33), in township one hundred and forty-nine (149), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $264.59. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee.

Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.

First Publication Jan. 22 1891.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage containing power of sale dated January 22nd, 1889, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, January 23rd, 1889, in book 42 of mortgages, page 41, whereby Albert Iten and Sophronia Iten, his wife, mortgageors, mortgaged to The Middlesex Banking Company, mortgagee, the north half of the southwest quarter and the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section twenty-four (24), and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section twenty-three (23), all in township one hundred and fifty-two (152), of range forty-four (44), in said Polk county, by which default the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof, $467.51. Now notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county or his deputy, on March 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the court house in Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt, interest, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated January 10th, 1891.

THE MIDDLESEX BANKING COMPANY, [Seal.]
By Robt. N. Jackson, President,
Mortgagee

Henry C. Gilbert & Co., Attorneys.
[40-46]

[First publication Feb. 12th. 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK. In District Court, 14th Judicial District.

Frederick K. McKeen, Plaintiff, vs. James B. Holmes, The Minnesota Title Insurance and Trust Company, Charles P. Haseltine, Neil Farnham, and Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, Defendants.

Notice of Sheriff's Sale under Judgment and Decree. Foreclosure of Mechanics' Liens.

Whereas, a certain judgment was duly obtained, entered and docketed in the District court, in the County of Hennepin, State of Minnesota, in the 4th Judicial District, on the 13th day of December, 1890, and whereas a transcript and certified copy of said judgment was thereafter, to-wit: on the 4th day of February, 1891, duly filed and docketed in the Clerk's office in the District Court of Polk County, State of Minnesota, in the 14th Judicial District, in the above entitled action, in favor of said plaintiff, Frederick K. McKeen and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of two hundred eighty-seven and 78-100ths dollars, ($278.87), including interests and costs, and in favor of said defendant, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of five thousand four hundred eighty-one and ninety-one one-hundredths dollars, ($5,481.91), including interests and costs, and whereas, in said judgment it was decreed that the judgment so rendered in favor of said plaintiff to the full extent thereof, including interests and costs, and the judgment so rendered in favor of said defendants, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company to the extent of five thousand four hundred sixty-two and 6-100ths ($5,462.06) dollars, including interests and costs, to be specific liens upon the land and appurtenances in said judgment described, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: That tract of land known as block one hundred two (102), of Rail Road Addition to the Town of Red Lake Falls, being a portion of lot six, (6), in Section sixteen, (16), in Township one hundred fifty-one, (151), Range forty-four, (44), of which certain Flouring Mills are a part of the appurtenances, co-ordinate with other, and prior and superior to any right, title, lien or claim to or in said land or appurtenances of the said defendants, James B. Holmes, Charles P. Haseltine, Neil Farnham, or the Minnesota Title Insurance Company or any of them. And whereas it was in said judgment decreed and ordered that the Sheriff of said Polk County State of Minnesota, sell said land and appurtenances at public auction as by law in such cases made and provided, to satisfy said judgment and interest thereon, together with costs of said sale, and to pay the proceeds of said sale, after deducting all lawful expenses and charges thereof to and between said Frederick K. McKeen and Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, to the amount of their respective judgments and liens given.

Provided, if said net proceeds be insufficient, then to distribute the same pro rata among and between said judgment creditors; a certified copy of said judgment and decree having been duly served upon and delivered to me. Now, therefore,

Notice is hereby given that I will sell the above described land and appurtenances thereon, at public auction to the highest bidder therefor in accordance with and as directed in said decree on the 30th day of March, 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the county Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said Polk County and State of Minnesota, to satisfy said judgment and claims, together with the costs and expenses of such sale.

Dated February 11th, 1891.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN,
Sheriff of Polk County, Minnesota.

WHITE & EVANS, Attorneys for Plaintiff.
E. D. JACKSON, Attorney for Defendant,
Willford and Northway M'f'g Company.
[43-49]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of twenty-two hundred and eighty ($2,280) dollars, which is claimed to be due, and is actually due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by James B. Holmes, as mortgagor, to Frederick W. Miller, as mortgagee, bearing date the 24th day of May, A. D. 1889, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of May, A. D. 1889, at 9:10 o'clock a. m., in book 22 of mortgages, on page 507; which said mortgage was duly sold and transferred by a deed of assignment duly executed and delivered by said Frederick W. Miller to The Hauser & Sons Malting Company (a corporation) bearing date the 7th day of April, 1890, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, 1890, at 11:50 o'clock a. m., in book 52 of mortgages, on pages 88 and 89, and no action or proceeding at law, or otherwise, having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, situate, lying and being in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and more particularly described as follows: Lots five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), nine, (9), ten (10), thirteen, (13), fourteen, (14), seventeen, (17), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block seventy-eight, (78); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block eighty, (80); lots nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), eighteen, (18) nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), and twenty-two, (22), in block eighty-one, (81) lots three, (3), four, (4), five (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12), in block eighty-two, (82); all of block ninety-two, (92); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), twelve, (12), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block ninety-three, (93); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12) in block ninety five, (95), all in the Railroad Addition to Red Lake Falls according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes (if any) on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, ; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on Tuesday, the ninth (9th) day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 26th, A. D. 1891.

The Hauser & Sons Malting Company,
Assignee of said Mortgagee.
By Paul Hauser, Sr.
President.

Moritz Heim, Attorney for said Assignee.
[43-51] St. Paul, Minn.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred thirty-five and 22-100 dollars, ($535.22) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by James E. Mitton and Mary M. Mitton, his wife, mortgagors, to Robert J. Adams, mortgagee, bearing date the 3d day of November, 1884, and, with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of November, 1884, at 2:35 o'clock p. m., in book "S" of mortgages, on pages 529 to 533, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: The northwest quarter of Section Ten (10), Township one hundred and fifty (150), Range forty-six, (46), west, containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred thirty-five and 22-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 23d, A. D. 1891.

ROBERT J. ADAMS, Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

WHEREAS, ALBERT GILMOUR AND Jane Gilmour, his wife, of Polk County, State of Minnesota, as mortgagors, did, on the 8th day of July, A. D. 1887, duly execute and deliver to Josiah Upton, of the County of Ontario, State of New York their mortgage bearing date of June 25th, A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The se¼ se¼ Section 6, ne¼ ne¼ Section 7, and n½ nw¼ Section 8, Township 147, Range 44 west, containing 160 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of seven hundred and fifty dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note, with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage, and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee or order, which said mortgage was on the 8th day of July, A. D. 1887, at 5:30 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk, in book 33 of mortgages, on pages 33-36; and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest on said mortgage on the 25th day of June, A. D. 1889, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the 25th day of December, A. D. 1889, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest on said mortgage on the 25th day of June, A. D. 1890, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest thereon on the 25th day of December, A. D. 1890, and the said interest is still unpaid and due; and

Whereas, it was stipulated by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed, that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, his heirs, administrators, executors or assigns, to consider the whole sum hereby secured as immediately due and payable without notice to said mortgagors or any other party; and

Whereas, the said Josiah Upton, mortgagee, has exercised his option to consider and declare, and does hereby consider and declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and

Whereas, there is now due, and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred twenty-five and 23-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now, therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 21st, A. D. 1891.

JOSIAH UPTON, Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office in McKinnon Block.

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN,

LAWYERS,

FOURNET BLOCK,

CROOKSTON, - MINN

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of three hundred thirty-seven and 50-100 ($337.50) dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Christine Estby and John Estby, her husband, mortgagors, to Charles H. Jefferson, mortgagee, bearing date the 23d day of November, 1885, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of November, 1885, at 10 o'clock a. m., in book 23 of mortgages, on pages 49, 50 and 51, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lot number five (5), in block number three (3), in South Crookston, Polk County, Minnesota, according to the recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minnesota. In Polk County, and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of three hundred thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 23d, A. D. 1891.

CHARLES H. JEFFERSON, Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee.
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars ($35.00) installment of interest, which became due and payable on the first day of December, A. D. 1888, and a further default having been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars ($35.00) installment of interest which became due and payable on the 1st day of December, A. D. 1889, and a further default having been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars ($35.00) installment of interest which became due and payable on the 1st day of December, A. D. 1890, upon a certain mortgage, made, executed and delivered by John K. Ostgord and Betsy Ostgord his wife, of Polk County and State of Minnesota, mortgagors, to The Netherlands American Land Company, of Amsterdam, Holland, mortgagee, bearing date the 10th day of June, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 13th day of June, A. D. 1887, at 3:00 o'clock p. m., in volume "32" of mortgages, on pages 190 and 191.

And whereas a further default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage by the mortgagors failing and neglecting to pay the taxes assessed against, and levied upon, said premises covered by said mortgage prior to the date of the sale of lands for the payment of taxes, and the mortgagee, to protect the lien of its said mortgage, was compelled to pay and on the 4th day of May, A. D. 1889, did pay, in satisfaction of the taxes then due and delinquent on the said premises the sum of nineteen and six hundreths dollars ($19.06), and on the 31st day of March, A. D. 1890, did pay, in satisfaction of the taxes then due and delinquent on the said premises the sum of twenty-two and three hundreths dollars ($22.03); and the said defaults having each continued for a period of more than thirty days, the whole sum secured by said mortgage is hereby declared to be due and payable, as stipulated in said mortgage in case of a failure to comply with the conditions thereof; and that by reason of such defaults and declaration, there is claimed to be due and payable on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of five hundred twenty-three and eighty hundreths dollars ($523.80), and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and by virtue of the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and conveyed thereby, viz: The east half (e½) of the northeast quarter (ne¼) and east half (e½) of the southeast quarter (se¼) of Section three (3) in Township one hundred forty-seven (147) Range forty-five (45), containing one hundred and fifty-nine and 50-100 (159.50) acres, more or less, according to the United States Government survey thereof, together with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold a public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, interest, taxes, and twenty-five dollars as attorney's fees, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made at the front door of the Court House in Crookston, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, by the Sheriff of said County of Polk, at the hour of two o'clock p. m. on the 14th day of April, A. D. 1891, subject to redemption at any time within one year, in manner provided by law.

Dated Moorhead, Minnesota, Feb. 21st, 1890.

The Netherlands American Land Company,
Mortgagee.

W. B. Douglass and Ball & Smith,
[45-51] Attorneys for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale,

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred fifty-nine and 05-100 ($559.05) dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Henry Johnston and Ella L. Johnston, his wife, mortgagors, to George McLean, guardian, mortgagee, bearing date the 7th day of February, 1888, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 16th day of February, 1888, at 8 o'clock a. m, in book 33 of mortgages, on pages 546 to 549; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The northeast quarter of Section twenty-eight (28) in Township one hundred and forty-seven (147), in Range forty (40), containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, more or less, according to the government survey thereof, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred fifty-nine and 05-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 23d, A. D. 1891.

GEORGE McLEAN, Guardian,
Mortgagee,

JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., Dec. 16th, 1890.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Lars Abelson against Taylor H. Wolford for failure to comply with law as to timber-culture entry No. 1,990, dated May 7th 1881, upon the southeast one-quarter Section 24 Township 154 n, Range 47, in Polk County, Minnesota, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; contestant alleging that the said Taylor H. Wolford has not during the four years last past, planted trees, tree cuttings or tree seeds on said tract, and has not cultivated or in any way improved same during said period; that there is now not to exceed one acre of growing trees on said land and that the whole of said land is in a wild state, the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 25th day of March, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged failure.

[42-47] H. H. DICKMANN - Register.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - MINN.

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK.

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, MARCH 12, 1891. NO. 47.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. Outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

The Agawam Alliance, of Rocksbury, met on the 28th ult, and elected A. W. Lind, President, C. A. Johnson, Secretary, and Knud Quande, Treasurer. A few new members were admitted and the following declaration and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, We cannot get justice at the St. Hilaire elevator, but lose on an average, about 10 cents per bushel on our wheat, therefore be it

Resolved, That we build an elevator at St. Hilaire the coming season. We have placed the stock shares at ten dollars each and urgently call upon each sub-alliance in this vicinity to call a meeting at once and act upon this question and such other of the questions as we have touched upon, as they may see fit, and report to our secretary.

We do not approve of the purchase of The Great West by the state alliance, as we think it is doing vastly morte good under its present management than would be possible if controlled by a milk-and-water executive committee of the state alliance.

We do not think it business-like to take stock shares in The Red River Dalen without knowing something about its financial situation, circulation, &c. Yet we are cognizant of the fact that the farmers of Polk County could ill afford to do without it, even though the subscription price should have to be raised to five dollars a year.

We appreciate the attitude of THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL toward the reform movement and commend it to our brother farmers.

We look upon the five hundred dollar steal of our county commissioners for lobbying purposes, as a disgrace to that body.

We think our legislature is doing very little good work, and "to a man up a tree," it looks very much as though some monster devil-fish had wound its tantacles around it; we are, however, pleased to note the firm, decided stand of President Donnelly in favor of the producing class. We would like very much to have our present legislature inquire into the combination, or agreement, between the railroads and elevator companies, with a view to abrogate said agreement. We think the funding bill on interest should be changed to 5 and 7 per cent.

We hope that all sub-alliances will join hands in the endeavor to shake off that parasitacal nuisance, the machine agent, by dealing only with such factories as will sell to us direct. And be it further

Resolved, That as it is demonstrated that the merchants of the Northwest are on the very brink of bankruptcy on account of coming into possession of too much of the real and personal property of farmers, and the farmers, on account of losing their said property, become paupers and hence a public nuisance. Therefore, in order to save the merchants from bankruptcy, and the farmers from becoming a public nuisance, farmers ought, through co-operation, to become their own merchants.

One word more to our legislature. As we believe it to be the inherent right of a free people to have the opportunity to vote upon any question they may ask, we regard our legislature in duty bound to give us the privilege of voting upon the question of prohibition at the next general election.

We look upon the modern loan agent not only as a very costly, unnecessary appendage, but as an irresponsible, heartless, conscienceless cuss, a curse to the community, and must be dispensed with as soon as possible.

Judging from their own record, the joint conspirators against the peace of this country, Wall street and Congress, are evidently of the same opinion as a noted Frenchman of historic fame, namely, that the "poor can eat grass." We sincerely hope they may profit by the Frenchman's experience. We have made our pre-emptory demands, namely, free coinage, sub-treasury and government warehouses, and we are going to have them, though Wall street was as far away and as hard to scale as Mount Everet. Arsenals and forts are no intimidation to starving millions.

As we have reason to believe that a large per cent. of the pedigrees of stallions sold in this country are spurious, and hence these stallions sold to unsuspecting farmers for more than double their real value, we would like to know if our county attorney can't suggest a way to ferret out this swindle and have the culprits punished.

We favor the national party movement.

The infant, county division, is dead Rest in peace, abortive child.

C. A. JOHNSON, Secretary.

BUSINESS IN POLITICS

What a Governor Should Be and Do, According to S. M. Owen.

Why He Believes Changes Should Be Made in Appointive Power.

Offices Should be Filled Just as Merchants Fill Clerkships.

The Alliance Leader, Talks Interestingly on Current Politics.

St. Paul Globe.

While the Alliance members in the legislature are distinguishing themselves in the state law factory, S. M. Owen, their conspicuous chief in the last campaign, is quietly sawing wood and writing farm editorials. But he is keeping a keen eye on the legislature, and, it is safe to say nothing escapes him. A Globe reporter dropped in on him yesterday and interrupted a flow of editorial thought with the question:

"Mr. Owen, I should like to get your opinion of the legislature—its statues, if you please."

"Status–Manliness you mean? When men ask what effect will this bill have upon our party?' there is a censurable dodging of responsibility. Conglomerate bodies are apt at this, but the general trend of our legislature is safe, I think, for the people behind it are pressing it forward. The alliance has hopefully colored most of the party lines, both democratic and republican. But I want to see the alliance members to a man care less for party ends, and strike heroically for retrenchment by introducing just and practical bills, simple and unambiguous, what the people need and do call for. Don't stop to ask if Mr. So-and-So will vote for them. Stand right up. Let the alliance with its agricultural support vote square and demonstrate to the people that he are true to their pledges, even if their bills are voted down by party servers, and the people the next time will see that just such men are returned, and enough of them to enact the laws they demand."

"It is reported, Mr. Owen, that you want to lessen the appointing power of the governor."

"Why not? The people are the masters or ought to be. The appointing business has become a political vice. When the offices are filled and round salaries guaranteed, who looks after the performance of the assigned duties? There are the tax laws, for instance. Who sees that they are righteously enforced? In rural districts they are obeyed, but in cities property hiding is all the rage, and just taxation is a nullity; and the burdens fall upon the labor classes. And there's the school law. It is good enough so far as it goes; covers the age eight to sixteen; but it's a body without a soul. No provision is made to enforce it; hence, inoperative. All the legislature needs to do is to make this provision, and carry it out. What is the dairy commission? If it is to continue its present methods, 'Let her go.' I say, that there may be room to have something hereafter that is efficient."

"Why not improve it; regulate it; save it? Is it a good thing?"

"Absolutely good as designed, but absolutely unwieldly and impracticable as now administered. Its intended mission was not to consume money, but to use it in educating the farmers and dealers in relation to the best cows, the best adaptable food for butter and cheese, how to make these articles in best qualities for best profits, and to protect those interests against fraud and spurious goods."

"Do you mean to imply that what the appointees care for is the salary only, and that they generally do not discharge their duties?"

"Look at the results; are they equal to the requirement and expenditure? I am willing the governor should appoint, but when he appoints I want him to see that the work is done, and faithflly, too. I don't believe in multiplying offices with salaries for the sake of keeping the party on its legs."

"But if the governor, as no doubt you concede, selects men who are qualified, would you hold him responsible for their neglect?"

"Yes, just that responsible. Neglect of public duty, or incompetency to perform that duty, should mean 'Off goes your head!' Let me illustrate. Here's a business corporation—say a railroad. Its safety and success depend on qualification and duty discharged. The officials at headquarters understand this and are pre-eminently executive. Life and property, venture and profit are involved here. Justice to the people demands there shall not be a moment's parley when an employe fails to do the work assigned him."

"You compare a corporation to the state; is not the state really different?"

"Substantialy no; the state is a great industrial institution set up by the people. The officers are the people's servants, and as such must obay the people. The governor is head chief—the business manager, if you please. Suppose a candidate calls with his credentials of qualification. Are these enough to warrant an appointment? I tell you every fellow needs to be looked all over and through and through, and sounded like the hammer hitting the car wheel to learn if it is safe. 'You think you can do this work?' asks the governor—a genuine business governor. The man answers, 'Yes, of course.' The salary is ample, he continues; can you equal its value in service? The man says yes again. 'And you need an assistant with another special salary?' Why yes, he replied; 'an assistant will be of great convenience.' 'That settle it,' the governor adds, 'I can find plenty of men who will gladly do all the work,' turning to his writing: 'I don't want you.' Now that is business—business principles."

Here Mr Owen indicated, with a tipping down of his chair to his table and seizing his pen, that the time was up' and the reporter bowed himself out with a "thank you."

Alliance Wide Awake.

Drastic Resolution Passed by a Minnesota Convention.

Special to the Globe]

ALBERT LEA, Minn., Feb. 28.—Forty delegates attended the county Alliance convention to-day, and the meeting was decidedly interesting. Preliminary arrangements were made to buy binding twine for the members, and also machinery direct of the manufacturers. Hon. C. G. Johnsrud was elected purchasing agent. The resolutions reported by the committee each elicited spicy discussion. The gist of them is as follows:

Requesting members of the legislature of this county to introduce a bill reducing county commissioners' per diem to $2 a day and to five cents for mileage; requesting them to support House File No 156. which would reduce the salaries of treasurer, sheriff, register and clerk each to $1,000; favoring McMillan's, or a like bill, to prevent improper uses of money and to prevent corrupt practices at elections: instructing said members to support a bill making it a criminal offence for any railroad company to give, and for any member of the legislature or state officer to receive, free passes or mileage and pledging the influence and votes of the Alliance against any member, for any future office, who votes for or received free passes; demanding that liquor license-money be turned into the county treasury instead of into the treasuries of cities and villages, and demanding the passage of a law excluding citizens of Albert Lea from voting for county superintendent, and exempting said city from taxation to support said officer, and finally condemning members of the house who voted for appropriating $10 for postage and 21 cents per day for newspapers for themselves.

The Farmers Alliance.

It Is preparing for a Vigorous Campaign in 1892

Minneapolis Times.

The Farmers' Alliance of Hennepin county is composed of men who believe in taking time by the chin whiskers, and now while the smoke of the last battle still clings to the bill tops they are marshalling their forces, laying their plans and bringing up their ammunition wagons for the struggle of 1892. With these ends in view a meeting was called in the Labor Temple at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. It was not largely attended, but those present were leading spirits and the enthusiasm displayed would have kept three times as many people in a cheerful mood.

After electing J. B. Dukes president and Thomas A. Clark secretary the morning session adjourned, and the meeting reconvened at 1 o'clock.

On motion the delegates proceeded to discuss the advisability of a fusion of the alliance with the various labor organizations of this city. This question was warmly argued, a large number of delegates taking part. Among the speakers were Messrs. Clark, Lucas Graves, Haimngton, Schofield, Nelson and House. No decision was reached in this matter, but a resolution was adopted favoring the coalition of the county and city committees. This joint committee was instructed to prepare a plan for the thorough organization of alliance adherents throughout the county and to lay a plan of a campaign, to be vigorously pushed from this time on. It is quite probable that the committee will also further consider the proposition to join forces with the labor organizations.

Hon. S. M. Owen entered the hall during the discussion, and was greeted with cheers, which told that he still has the confidence of his adherents of this city.

Facts About Mortgages.

Interesting Statistics Gathered by Supt. Porter's Agents.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—One of the most interesting branches of the inquiry of the census office is the special one relating to mortgages. Under this inquiry an examination has been made for the purpose of ascertaining what people own their own homes, those who live in rented houses, and those who have their homes partly paid for. One hundred inquiry counties were selected in various parts of the country. These counties were taken with a view of representing all classes. For these the fullest inquiry is made. The first work, however' is done through the registers' offices. Some 1,500 enumerators have been employed for this work.

The number of mortgages in this country is 9,000,000. It is believed the average value of each will be between $500 and $600, although in some of the Eastern states the average will run over $2000. One of the most interesting things is connected with the whole inquiry is the disclosure of the prevailing motive for incurring such indebtedness. In nearly every case it is for improvement. Fully 90 per cent of the mortgages are what are called live debts, incurred by men who are pushing their fortunes and taking their chances on investments in developing the business of their community.

The largest number of mortgages held in any one city is in Chicago, and this is rather an evidence of the extreme energy and business activity of the town.

Another interesting fact is the tremendous rate of interest charged in some parts of the country. In some parts of the West upwards of 60 per cent has been charged for the use of money. In no place is an excessive rate of interest so well concealed as in the South.

Life of General Sherman.

No literary announcement of the year is of greater interest to the general public than that of a comprehensive Life of General Sherman, which is about to be published and sold through agents by the noted house of Hubbard Brothers, of Philadelphia. Admirable biographies of Grant and Sheridan, complete to the time of their death, are already familiar to the public, but a life of the third great commander, to finish the series, has been lacking. The various biographies of Sherman hitherto published have necessarily been incomplete; and even his own memoirs, written in 1875, said almost nothing of his intensely interesting early life, and not a word, of course, of the more than twenty years of social activity and fraternity with old comrades since the war.

The work which is now to be issued will splendidy supply the widely felt demand for a history of the great strategic commander. It is being written by General O. O. Howard, a man of fine literary attainments, who knew Sherman better than any other of his comrades now living, and ranked next but one to him in the army, and by Willis Fletcher Johnson whose ability as a historian is familiar to the reading public of America through his former unusually popular works, which have had millions of readers, and the sales of their vast editions enriched an army of book agents. That this history of Sherman, the last of the great Generals, will surpass all others in popularity is not to be doubted.

The story of this great General's career is of a marvellous march from the mountains of time to the sea of eternity. Of the three great war heroes, Sherman was by far the most interesting personality. He was the best known to the public and the best loved for his genial disposition and warm sympathy with the popular heart. He has joined his illustrious compeers in the eternal biovuac of the dead. His is a life to study—to emulate—and is a profound inspiration. The forthcoming volume will tell the whole story of his marvellous career, and from the authorship engaged upon it, we are assured it will be told in a way that will enthral the attention and interest of every reader from first to last. It is a book every American will want and one every American youth should read. It will doubtless be the best life of the great chieftain published, and we predict for its wonderful popularity.

The question of proper cultivation of the soil is one of importance to every farmer. Methods employed in clayey, heavy, wet and other soils of the East and South will not exactly suit the lighter and dryer soils of the Northwest. A leading and successful farmer of Minnesota has been experimenting gives his opinion in a little circular furnished free by W. W. Fegan, local agent of the Great Northern Railway, or F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul, Minn. It is a publication calculated to interest all thoughtful and practical farmers.

"Scarcely Able to Walk."

How often have we heard that from people just getting about after a severe illness; how often is it on the lips of the weary house-mother at the close of the day, when it seems as if every burden of the whole family had been laid on her shoulders. How welcome to all such is the invitation of some friend to "take a ride," how they spin through the fresh air brings color to the pale cheek, lights up the dull eye, and renews the strength. If your friends are in this tired condition, give them a ride, and one that has a constant-change of pleasant scenes will be the best. The most charming scenery in the West is that along the Mississippi River, from Rock Island to St. Paul, and "The Burlington" is the line by which to see it, gliding over a smooth track in palaces on wheels. Buy a ticket over this line for your friend who is "scarcely able to walk," and get your money back in noting the improvement sure to follow the journey. Any ticket agent of "The Burlington" or connecting lines, can attend to this kind of a call, or if you wish to know more about the line write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. agent C. B. & N. R. R. St. Paul, Minn.

The Custer County Record (Broken Bow, Neb.) says;

The question is frequently asked, how would the government get money into circulation in case it should decide to issue a volume of legal tender paper coin? This many seem a very idle and foolish question to those who have made the subject of finance a special study. It is by no means such to those who ask it. We believe it to be an important question, and furthermore believe those who ask are honest in making the inquiry. Away back in the early days of the greenback party, we well remember that this was the one point of ridicule. Those who opposed the greenback doctrine pictured Uncle Sam turning a machine grinding out paper money, and the spout of the machine emptying i's contents in the coat tail pocket of the granger. Many a poor, ignorant fellow clapped his hands and stamped his feet in political delight, who since that day has a mortgage clapped on his home and himself stamped into the earth as a penalty for his foolishness over that bit of ridicule. There are many ways by which the government can put money into circulation when it pleases the people to order it done. Inasmuch, however, as the Alliance has made a demand as to how it shall be done, it is unnecessary for us to go out of the way to discuss other methods at this time. The plan proposed by the Alliance in that the government shall create a sufficient volume of legal tender paper coin to meet the requirements of commerce, and that it shall be loaned direct to the people on good and sufficient security at a low rate of interest. This would most certainly bring the money direct to the people, for they hold the security; that is to say, they hold the land, which is the source of all wealth, and hence the final security of all debt. Nor is there anything very radical in this measure, for on anything like a close examination of the present financial system, it will be found to largely partake of our plan. Briefly stated, the Alliance simply asks that the government shall continue to create money, as it is now doing, and shall continue to loan the money so created, which it is now doing at a low rate of interest, but that it shall be loaned to the people who can furnish the security—land—instead of to a special few, who in turn loan it to the people. The only important change demanded is that the loan shall be made to the people direct at a rate fixed by themselves, instead of through the national banks at a rate fixed by the bankers. But is claimed that inasmuch as the holder of land is mortgaged, the money, loaned to him, must go to lift the mortgage, and would land in the pockets of the capitalist at the first jump. Yes, this is true, and brings us at once to the vital point in the financial question. Having passed the money from the government to the mortgaged farmer, and from him to the capitalist, we have the farmer in possession of his home, and the capitalist of his money. Now what are the conditions of the parties after this transaction? The farmer goes on his daily rounds producing wealth, relieved of four-fifths of his interest burden, the capitalist finds himself in possession of his money, which is not endowed with the power of creating wealth, it bears no interest on its face, he cannot lock it up and live off its earnings, and is face to face with the fact that he must go to work for a living which he will never do, or he must put his money to work for him at the rate of interest fixed by the government. For three thousand years the world has been trying to prevent excess of usury by laws making it an offense, and have made a dismal failure of it. The plan presented by the Alliance would solve the problem at once, by fixing an absolute rate of 2 per cent, through government loans, and present to all those who live off labor through interests, the alternative, as a means of obtaining livelihood a pair of plow handles or 2 per cent on their money. Brother, which of the two do you think he would take? Do you now see how the money would flow back to the people at the rate fixed by the government?

The weekly Examiner (Hartford, Conn.) says: A few weeks ago the money manipulators of Boston met and passed resolutions against the passage of the silver bill now pending in Congress. Their brethern of Hartford followed suit this week, and sent instructing to our Senators and Representatives in Washington to act accordingly. A long series of lugubrious resolutions were adopted, among them the declaration of the measure being detrimental to the interest of the workers. Of course these resolutions were skillfully written, and without the least doubt have exerted an influence on the minds of those who read them, who knew nothing of the merits of the question from previous knowledge or examination. We could never conceive of the possibility of arranging an argument to prove that more money injected into the channels of trade under conditions were people were complaining of a scarcity of the precious stuff, would surely result to their detriment and demoralization before seeing how well it was done under the auspices of the Hartford Board of trade. Of course the "other side" of the question was not mentioned. But any poor workingman is able understand the statement and appreciate its most pregnant truth, that when he is obliged to accept a dollar "worth only 80 cents" for a dollar's worth of labor, he is robbed of 20 cents in the transaction.

He can see this plainly, if he can only once forget of having to take a big dollar of 420 grains of silver for about 75 cents, where a smaller one of 412½ grains equaled to him the full 100 cents, and where the fractional part of a cent's worth of paper equalled the same amount. But it was superfluous act to send these instructions to Connecticut's representatives in the national body, unless there be a hidden purpose in doing it. These men knew what was expected of them before, and had already shown their faithfulness. Realizing that they owe their seats, their emoluments and distinguished honors (?) to the class of men who met in Hartford, they were sure to obey their behests without any positive instructions. True, this class does not do all the voting, but that is of little consequence where they have the steering of those who do. They control the "machine," and the machine controls the "cattle." Aye, they control both machines in this State, for were not the two leading organs of the city in hearty accord with the work of the remonstrants, although on the place-hunters' squabble they have been pulling each other's hair ever since the contest commenced. And did not Democrats and Republicans stand up together in the protest against "debasing" the poor man's dollar, who day after day, while passing into their salons of wealth and grandeur, can see hundreds of these same poor men on the street corners without the opportunit of securing a dollar of any kind—depreciated or otherwise; and should any one dare to suggest a means whereby they might secure that opportunity would have howled back at him the taunt of "socialism," "paternalism" and other epithets that to the minds of the fools imply crime, viciousness or absurdity. What purpose, then, it may be asked, do these men subserve in their protest against the free coinage of silver? This; the more money that is placed in circulation over which they have no control, the less becomes their power of exacting usury from those obliged to use that money, the less control have they over the property and resources of others, and the more is their peculiar institution threatend which enables them to earn their bread so easily by the sweat of other brows.

M. LeGUEE.

Veterinar Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - - - - MINN.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

Licensed College Physician and Surgeon, Quebec.

Office in McKinnon Block.

Toledo Weekly Blade.

1891.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

THE most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding, year after year, a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

NEW story to commence first of the year, written especially for the Blade by Oliver Optic. "Money Maker Series." A series of special articles on "Side Issues," written for The Blade. Blade China Tea Sets and Dinner Sets given to club-raisers. Send for specimen copy of The Weekly Blade and our interesting announcements for the coming year.

SPECIMENS.

A specimen copy will give you a better idea of The Weekly Blade than any description we can give in an advertisement. We therefore invite everybody to write us for a specimen, which we will cheerfully mail you free; and at the same time please mail us a list of names of your friends and neigbors, and we will also mail them specimens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AGENTS.

ANYBODY can earn Ten Dollars very quickly by raising clubs for The Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address

THE BLADE,
Toledo, Ohio.

DRS STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN

COMPOUND OXYGEN

NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records shows 50 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

1891—THE ST. PAUL—DAILY NEWS—1891

Furnishes all the News of the World.

Bright,
Fearless
and
Independent.

Champions the cause of the people independent of the political parties. Opposes monopolies and all public or private robbery by means of unjust tariff or other iniquitous legislation, State or National.

The full reports of legislative proceedings, which the Daily News will supply during the coming session of the Legislature, will alone be worth the cost of a year's subscription.

Sent by mail, postage paid, at the following remarkably low price:

Six months.............................$1.75
One year..................................3.00

For 75 cents additional to either a six months or a yearly subscription a complete set of the works of Charles Dickens, eleven volumes, (paper binding) will be sent postage paid.

Send for sample copies of the News. Address: The Daily News, St. Paul, Minn.

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon

OFFICE IN

McKinnon Block, Crookston

Polk County Journal.
W. G. COOKE, Publisher.
Crookston, March 12, 1891.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 84.
1 Northern 82.
2 Northern 79.
3 Northern 70.

The Commercial is overflowing with guests.

J. C. McKnight was up at court on Monday.

Frank Hunt was down from Red Lake Falls on Monday.

Jim Kelley was down on the special venire on Monday.

Everybody seems to be in at court and the hotels are all full.

District Attorney, Eugene Hay, was in the city on Monday on business.

Barber Ralston has lost a young son, who died at Grand Forks last week.

Another batch of patents were received at the Land Office this week.

Arthur Steuart has gone to Superior to attend to matters at the new store.

W. C. Spottswood came up on Wednesday evening to look after affairs in the city.

Dr. C. K. Bartlett, of St. Peter, is in the city, called as expert testimony in the Russell case.

Send in your reports of town elections. THE JOURNAL would like a report from every town.

Tacoma experienced an earthquake shock on the 7th inst. It is said to have been more severe at Seattle.

Judging by the way the goods are arriving, our merchants must be anticipating a big trade this spring.

Wheat seems to be on the rise a trifle. Opened out one cent higher Monday morning, reaching 82.

The large plate glass in the Gervais store window broke on Sunday, caused, it is said, by the settling of the building.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational church meets with Mrs. Finlayson on Thursday afternoon of this week.

Al. Roberts was over from Grand Forks on Monday. Says Eddie is doing nicely at the hospital, where he has the very best of care.

Minor Rood drove down from Mentor last week looking for a purchaser for his Maple Lake farm. He has a fine place on the lake which he offers cheap.

Dan McDonald is figuring on a contract on the new Rainy Lake, Crookston & Pacific railroad. Dan is an experienced builder and an all-round good man.

Ira DeCamp is in the city for a few days. He has resigned his position as manager of the Columbia, at Fargo, and may conclude to remain here. It looks very natural to see him around again.

The republican club met on Saturday night and elected as delegates to the convention in Minneapolis on March 12th, E. C. Davis, E. M. Walsh, Lewis Ellington, T. G. Thompson and C. M. Lowe.

W. R. Bierly, of the Grand Forks News had the misfortune to lose his establishment by fire on Friday of last week. Lost everything but the books. Partially insured. The Journal extends its sympathy.

Jack McLaren met our reporter one day last week and invited him to help celebrate the advent of a bright young lady, whose arrival, he said, THE JOURNAL had neglected to note. We proceeded to discuss an acorn with Jack at once.

Agent Fegan informs THE JOURNAL that a flagman is to be stationed at the Robert street crossing of the Great Northern road, day and night. This is as it should be and will prevent the recurrence of such sad affairs as that of last summer.

The president and general manager of the rainy Lake Crookston & Pacific R. R. went down to the town of Sheley, Norman Co. on Tuesday to attend a railroad meeting at that place. The sentiment of the meeting was unanimously in favor of bonding for the road.

Mine host Bemis makes it a point to care for every guest who comes, and he now has every unoccupied sleeping room in the city engaged and filled. He is sleeping the jury in the Malette block, where he has a few hundred guests stored o' nights. He takes an option on every room in the city whenever possible.

Judge C. L. Brown is a brother of attorney Brown, of Argyle, well known in our city. At one time Judge Brown was known as the youngest Judge on the bench in the state, and his father as the oldest. The Judge was appointed for his first term and has been re-elected two or three times. He seems to understand his business pretty thoroughly.

Mrs. John C. Welles, of Fon du Lac, Wis., died suddenly at the farm residence at Edna last week of pneumonia. Mrs. Welles came up with her husband a few weeks since to remain with him during his presence at the farm when she was taken with her last illness. Dr. Dampier was summoned but before he could start the sad news of her death reached him. The remains were taken to her home at Fon du Lac.

THE TRIAL

OF

HORACE RUSSELL

FOR THE

Murder of Dr. Bahnsen.

On the opening of the court on Monday morning, commenced the beginning of the end of this celebrated case which has been so prominent in the public mind ever since the morning when that fatal pistol shot rang out upon the morning air, stretching one man cold in death and placing another on trial for his life. Horace Russell, the prisoner, walked into the court room with a firm tread and rather a nonchalant air, and took his seat in a chair a little in the rear of the chairs occupied by his counsel. His countenance is somewhat bleached from long confinement, otherwise he shows no ill effects from his imprisonment. Judge C. L. Brown, of Morris, Stevens County, is presiding, while Attorney Gen. M. E. Clapp and R. J. Montague, ex-county attorney, is assisting County Attorney, A. R Holston, and Arthur C. Noyes is associate counsel with Halvor Steenerson for the accused. After some sparring for position between the learned counsel, John Cromb, P. A. Russell and Wm. Watts were appointed triers and the tedious work of impanelling the jury began. At 6 p. m. the special venire of 50 had been exhausted and only ten good men and true sworn to impartially try the case in accordance with the evidence that shall be given, and the Judge ordered the Sheriff to summons 25 more men from which to select the other two jurors. Those sworn on Monday were James Sullivan, Thomas Wallace, Ole P. Onstad. K. Tedmanson, Edward Lanctot, August Munn, O. Edvold, Jr., W. N. Campbell, Jas. Novetny, R. H. Aimer and Thomas Plante. James Sullivan was taken very ill during the day and had to be excused, leaving only ten ready for business. The Judge instructed the Sheriff to take charge of the jurors for the night and dismissed the proceedings until Tuesday morning.

Tuesday morning was consumed in procuring one juror—H. C. Burdick, of Fertile, and the Judge ordered the Sheriff to summon a special venire of 20 to report at 2:30. At 3:50 the 12th man was found in the person of Geo. H. Ralph and the court took a recess of 25 minutes. It took 85 men in all to secure the twelve good men and true to try this case. At 4:15 the county attorney arose to present the case for the state, making a powerful speech, which was listened to with marked attention not only by the jury but also by a large audience. He spoke 27 minutes, after which the first witness, Mrs. Annie Bahnsen, was called, who testified as follows:

"My name is Annie Bahnsen; lived in Crookston on August 26th; lived in Fisher before that." (At this point the attorney for the defense interposed an objection, which was overruled, and the testimony continued.) "Am the widow of the late W. J. Bahnsen; the last time I saw my husband alive was about 10 minutes of 7 o'clock on the morning of August 26th at our door, when he kissed me good bye as usual. He was starting for Fisher; next saw him at the residence of Mr. Hamilton, at Fisher, about 4 p. m. the same day; he was dead.

Levi Brainerd sworn: "Live near Fisher; was at Fisher on the morning of August 26th, at the depot a little before train time and upon its arrival; was waiting for Dr. Bahnsen to take him to see my wife who was sick; saw defendant, Russell, standing near the corner of the depot apparently doing nothing in particular; upon arrival of train met Dr. Bahnsen as he got off the platform and shook hands with him; he said: "hello, is that you," and we turned toward the rear of the train; as we stood facing the train waiting for it to pull out so we could cross the track to our path, I heard the report of a pistol so near my left ear that it deafened me; Dr. Bahnsen said, "Oh, my," and instantly I heard another report and he fell to the platform near me; I said "look-out," and turning to my right saw Russell about 20 or 30 steps distant going toward rear of train; going off of the platform; he went two or three rods; I said "ain't somebody going to stop that man;" Dr. Bahnsen lived 20 minutes, I think; know Horace Russell by sight; this defendant is the man." Cross examined. "The train was going northwest, I think; the depot does not stand with the points of the compass; first saw Russell about 12 feet away; he was standing facing the train; I don't know whether he fired the shot at all or not; I did not see him fire it; did not see Bahnsen have anything in his hand; don't know whether he had or not; he said to me "Oh, you are here, are you?" a minute after I heard the shot, or it may have been three minutes; the pistol must have been within a foot and a half of my ear; there was a ringing in my left ear a long time after; in fact all night; we were facing the train waiting for it to pass; think it was standing still, though it may have been pulling out slowly; heard but two shots; saw Russell run; did not see any one start after him." After a few questions on re-direct, court was adjourned until 9 a. m. Wednesday morning.

Upon the assembly of the court on Wednesday morning the prisoner's wife and little daughters, one 4 and the other 6, came in and were given seats near the prisoner, who greeted the little ones with a fond kiss and then bowed his head in his hands and sat for some time wrapt in deep meditation, while the innocent little toddlers gazed about, upon the crowd, upon the attorneys huddled about their tables, and upon the jury sitting cold and silent in the jury box, as if in infantile wonder what it all meant.

The first witness called was H. B. Herrick, of Fisher, who testified substantially as follows: "Was at the depot in Fisher on the morning of August 26th; saw Dr. Bahnsen get off of the train; saw him meet Levi Brainerd; saw Russell, he was about three feet from Dr. Bahnsen; had a revolver in his hand; saw him shoot twice; think the first shot hit the doctor in the neck and the next in the back of head; the doctor swung half round and fell on his face on the platform; lived, I should think, 10 or 15 minutes; Russell ran to the end of the platform swinging his revolver in the air, and jumped off, exclaiming: "I have got him!" and ran south toward the river." Overcoat exhibited. "I think that is the coat worn by Dr. Bahnsen at that time." Cross examination. "I was talking with Russell as the train was approaching; it was on general subjects, not about Bahnsen; he did not appear to be expecting anybody in particular; he shot the doctor about one-half minute after he alighted from the train; some one on the train, a passenger it was said, fired at Russell as he was running.

I. W. Webb sworn. Live at Edna; was on train that morning going to Grand Forks; saw Dr. Bahnsen on the train; saw Russell shoot him; the second shot he had to reach his hand round somebody who was apparently between him and the doctor; I was about 100 feet away, a car length; I think he had two revolvers; I did not hear him say "I have got him!" I think I could have heard it if he said it; I helped to carry the body in the depot.

Dr. C. A. Leslie sworn. I live at Fisher; know Dr. Bahnsen; saw him first that morning lying in depot; examined the wounds as much as I could without endangering his life; saw brain matter on the probe; at that time I did not know but he was where he had been shot; when I learned different, examined the place on platform where he fell; there was brain matter there; saw the body later on coroner's examination and probed the wounds more fully; did not find the bullets; At this point Atty-Gen'l Clapp said: "The State will rest," and attorney Noyes arose to present the case for the defense. He spoke slowly and deliberately for half an hour and was listened to with marked attention to the close. He said that together with the prosecution, the defense only wanted simple justice at the hands of the law. We shall show, said he, that the grandfather of the defendant was insane at an early age, that his mother was daft, or crazy, that his sister was sent to the insane asylum from this county. We shall show that the provocation under which this man labored was sufficient to wreck a much stronger intellect—the ruin of a once happy home, and the debauching of a once loved wife by his trusted family physician. We shall show that he sought justice in a legal channel and that it was refused him. Upon the conclusion of Mr. Noyes' address court took the noon recess.

Peter Cornelius had quite an experience on Friday night of last week, When crossing the railroad track coming from Sampson,s Addition the colts he was driving became frightened at an engine and dashed up Robert Street at a fearful gait. Peter had hold of the leathers however and he succeeded in checking their speed sufficiently to pass the dangerous N. P. bridge in Jerome's Addition when he reached it and then he let them out and gave them all the exercise they wanted.

Crookston Alliance No. 648 met on Saturday at 2 p. m. The motion to commit the Alliance to the endorsement of the bill for bonding in the sum of $1,000 for immigration purposes was laid upon the table. Chris Houston, O. C. Bergland and Eli Steenerson was appointed committee on ways and means. The duties, of the committee as defined by Sec. 10 of the by-laws are to assist the members in making purchases for their individual needs as they may request, as well as such other duties as the alliance may require of them. This committee wishes THE JOURNAL to state that they are now prepared to assist all who desire to purchase seeders, drills or agricultural implements. A resolution against county division was unanimously passed and the secretaay was ordered to send a copy of the number to each member of the legislature. Adjourned till Saturday March 21st 1891.

The General Manager of the Rainy Lake, Crookston & Pacific R. R. Co. says THE JOURNAL was in error as to the cause of the embarkation of J. J. Hill to America in such great haste. He says that as soon as Mr. Hill heard of the steps being taken to build the R. L. C. & P. R. R. he at once got on a spree which lasted till he arrived in New York. We accept the amendment.

A. Gilmour is down from McIntosh this week.

J. D. Knudson is in from McIntosh for jury duty this week.

D. Jacobus returned from his western trip on Monday night in time to be excused from the Russell jury.

Andy Locken has opened his new clothing store on Robert street and is now ready to see his many friends.

Horace C. Brown a prominent attorney of Argyle, is in the city this week on business before the U. S. Land Office and visiting his brother, the Judge.

P. H. Konzen was one of Kittson County's leading citizens in the city this week. He says that the removal of C. J. McCollom from their midst is a calamity they do not view with fortitude. Such men are so rare that their absence makes it seem like half the population had gone. He says that Ed. Love has been adding some fine thoroughbred horses to his stables, the best bred animals ever taken into Kittson County. His recent purchases are Norman Percheron.

Lost.

On Friday evening while walking on Main, Robert, Second, Broadway, or Ash Streets $25 in money wrapped in a bit of paper. A suitable reward will be paid for its return to this office.

[47-48]

Auction Sale.

The undersigned will sell at public auction on Thursday, April 9th, 1891, at his residence on Section 5, in Fairfax, (known as the Sterge place) the following property, to-wit:

Three good work horses.
One stallion.
Three cows.
One heifer.
Two lumber wagons.
One sulky, one buggy, 2 plows, one sleigh also all of my household furniture and other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS:—All sums of $10 and under, cash. All sums over $10 time will be given until October 15th, 1891 on good approved notes at 10 per cent. per annum,

[47-49] M. O. MELAND.

Closing Out Notice.

Read the great bargains in another column, which I shall continue until March 25th. Positively no longer. Everything must go at most any price.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD,
Successor to Stewart & Spottswood.

Closing Out at Cost!

I AM CLOSING OUT

MY ENTIRE STOCK OF

General Merchandise

AT AND BELOW COST

IF YOU WANT

BOOTS, SHOES

OR CROCKERY,

Call at once. All Heavy Goods Going Below Cost. This is a Bona Fide Sale and Everything Goes. Call and See.

A. STURE

For Sale or to Rent.

My farm on Maple Lake, situated one-half mile from railroad. The right party can coin money. If not sold soon will rent. For further particulars address.

MINOR ROOD, Mentor, Minn.

Every One Using Machine Oils.

Best black oil, per gallon, - - 15c
" Eldorado engine oil, per gal., - 25c
Bring in your cans and jugs and save 100 per cent on machine oil.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMETIER,
[36-tf] Lisbon, N. Dakota.

WANTED.

A few large young fresh cows. Enquire at Fontaine & Anglim's.

Auction Sale.

The undersigned will sell at public auction at the hotel at Gentilly, on Monday, March 23d, 1891, the following described property, to-wit:

Two good working mares.
One good working gelding.
Two setts work harness.
One milch cow.
Three yearling heifers.
One spring calf,
Together with all of my household furniture and other things too numerous to mention.

Terms—All sums of $10 and under cash. All sums over $10 time will be given until November 1st, 1891, at 10 per cent interest on good approved notes.

JOSEPH BERNIER.
LOUIS BERTHIAUME, Auctioneer.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication March 12, 1891.]

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Pasca Labeile and Adele Labelle, his wife, to the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, bearing date the 11th day of April, A. D. 1889, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, A. D. 1889, at 3 o'clock p. m., in book 46 of mortgages on pages 117-9.

And, whereas, such default consists of the failure to pay the following installments of interest, to-wit: [illegible] that became due November 1st, 1889; [illegible] that became due May 1st, 1890, and [illegible] that became due November 1st, 1890.

And, whereas the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, the holder of said mortgage, has elected to declare, and hereby does declare the whole principal sums in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And, whereas, there is actually due and payable at the date hereof, including principal and interest upon the premises in said mortgage described, the following sum, to-wit: Two hundred and twenty-four and [illegible] dollars ([illegible]), and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the said debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter (sw¼, sw¼) of Section twenty [illegible], in Township one hundred and fifty-two (152) north of Range forty-five (45) west, containing forty acres, more or less, according to the government survey thereof; said premises situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 27th day of April, A. D. 1891 at [illegible] o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 6th, A. D. 1891.

Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company,
Mortgagee.
H. D. Dickinson, Attorney for Mortgagee.
[47-1] (N. O. 37)

Farmers! == Farmers!

IT WILL PAY YOU

TO READ THIS.

CHEAP HARDWARE.

Closing Out! Closing Out! Read! Read!

My Prices on Hardware are as follows:

Common mixed paints, Per gallon	85c to $ 1 00
Best " " "	1 25
Ten quart strainer pails,	35
Twelve quart strainer pails,	40
No. 9 copper tea kettles,	1 75
Clevises, per lb.,	6½
One doz. 6 quart pressed pans,	75
Steel nails, per keg rate,	2 65
Wire nails, per keg rate,	3 15
Wringers,	2 00
Five gallon pump cans,	1 35
Tar felt paper, per hundred,	2 50
Winchester rifles, octagon band,	14 75
Stove pipe, per joint,	15
Ox bows, per pair,	50
One set Mrs. Potts' sadirons, nickle plate,	1 25
Grind stones, per pound,	1½
Patent wire lift tubular lanterns,	50
8x10, 8 light windows, per pair	70
8x10, 12 light windows, "	90
Scythe snaths,	40
Lock top cream cans, with glass,	70
Ox cards, per pair,	15
Painted barb wire, per hundred,	3 50
Galvanized barb wire, per hundred,	4 10
Lanterns,	40 and 50
Well buckets,	35
Best black machine oil, per gallon,	15
Best Eldorado " " "	25
10 quart tin pails,	15
No. 0 barrel churn,	3 00
No. 1 barrel churn,	3 25

Numerous other articles and proportionately the same prices. Call early as possible. Will continue Closing Out until the 25th of March.

Wm. C. Spottswood,
Successor to Stewart & Spottswood.

THE PIONEER

HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, MINN

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

Beltrami Telaugraphs.

The annual town meeting for the town of Reis was called to order by the town clerk and W. J. Nickle was appointed moderator. $545 was appropriated for the expenses of the ensuing year and the following officers elected; John S. Johnson chairman. Supervisors John Thompson and William Street. Town Clerk D. C. Hallock, Treasurer E. W. Johnson. Assessor E. W. Johnson. Justices of the Peace, D. C. Hallock and W. J. Nickle. Constables R. L. Elder and William Price. Pound Masters, K. O. Flakne and O. N. Olslund. Overseer of Road Dist. No. 1, O. N. Olslund. Overseer of Road Dist. No. 2, R. L. Elder.

H. B. Budd has rented the Herriott farm and engaged James Carey as manager.

What are you going to raise this year to exhibit next Fall at the Polk County Fair.

Ole Tollef and seven others from the town of Hubbard passed through here yesterday on their way to the Red Lake reservation where they will civilize the Indians and fight the musquitoes next summer and improve the land for same R. R. Co.

Hon John Davis member of the N. D. Legislature is visiting the Hayes Bro's.

John Calvin Charles of McIntosh was shaking hands with his friends here this week.

I. W. Webb was been called as a witness on the Russell murder trial.

H. B. Budd will serve on the U. S. Grand Jury at Fergus Falls on the 24th, of this month unless Uncle Sam excuses him.

EDNA.

We have an entirely new No. 9 Jewet cook stove which we will offer for sale at a bargain if taken soon. This stove has never been used; we got it in trade and will dispose of it for cash or negotiable paper at a figure that cant be duplicated in this city. If you need a good stove call at THE JOURNAL office.

Paint! Paint! Paint!

Now is the time to buy paint and use it a little later on. The old reliable brand, "The Northwestern," we are closing out at $1.25 per gallon. Strictly pure. Other goods cheaper.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

[illegible] Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North Star.
Fife,
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

1 PAIR OF BROOD MARES
Six years old with foal to thoroughbred Percheron Norman horse.
2 Geldings, 4 years old.
2 Mares, 4 years old.
1 good Driving Horse, 6 years old.
1 pair 2 year old Mares, 7-8 Norman Percheron.
1 pair good Norman Fillies.

Address THEO. GREENHALGH, city post office, or call at the farm in Fairfax. [40-45]

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,
(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)
REAL ESTATE,
Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.
—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

E. STEENERSON,

Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of such Co's. ☞ CALL ON ELI!

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, March 12, 1891.

Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 84.
1 Northern 82.
2 Northern 79.
3 Northern 70.

The Commercial is overflowing with guests.

J. C. McKnight was up at court on Monday.

Frank Hunt was down from Red Lake Falls on Monday.

Jim Kelley was down on the special venire on Monday.

Everybody seems to be in at court and the hotels are all full.

District Attorney, Eugene Hay, was in the city on Monday on business.

Barber Ralston has lost a young son, who died at Grand Forks last week.

Another batch of patents were received at the Land Office this week.

Arthur Steuart has gone to Superior to attend to matters at the new store.

W. C. Spottswood came up on Wednesday evening to look after affairs in the city.

Dr. C. K. Bartlett, of St. Peter, is in the city, called as expert testimony in the Russell case.

Send in your reports of town elections. THE JOURNAL would like a report from every town.

Tacoma experienced an earthquake shock on the 7th inst. It is said to have been more severe at Seattle.

Judging by the way the goods are arriving, our merchants must be anticipating a big trade this spring.

Wheat seems to be on the rise a trifle. Opened out one cent higher Monday morning, reaching 82.

The large plate glass in the Gervais store window broke on Sunday, caused, it is said, by the settling of the building.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational church meets with Mrs. Finlayson on Thursday afternoon of this week.

Al. Roberts was over from Grand Forks on Monday. Says Eddie is doing nicely at the hospital, where he has the very best of care.

Minor Rood drove down from Mentor last week looking for a purchaser for his Maple Lake farm. He has a fine place on the lake which he offers cheap.

Dan McDonald is figuring on a contract on the new Rainy Lake, Crookston & Pacific railroad. Dan is an experienced builder and an all round good man.

Ira DeCamp is in the city for a few days. He has resigned his position as manager of the Columbia at Fargo, and may conclude to remain here. It looks very natural to see him around again.

The republican club met on Saturday night and elected as delegates to the convention in Minneapolis on March 12th, E. C. Davis, E. M. Walsh, Lewis Ellington, T. G. Thompson and O. M. Lowe.

W. R. Bierly, of the Grand Forks News had the misforune to lose his establishment by fire on Friday of last week. Lost everything but the books. Partially insured. The Journal extends its sympathy.

Jack McLaren met our reporter one day last week and invited him to help celebrate the advent of a bright young lady, whose arrival, he said, THE JOURNAL had neglected to note. We proceeded to discuss an acorn with Jack at once.

Agent Fegan informs THE JOURNAL that a flagman is to be stationed at the Robert street crossing of the Great Northern road, day and night. This is as it should be and will prevent the recurrence of such sad affairs as that of last summer.

The president and general manager of the Rainy Lake Crookston & Pacific R. R. went down to the town of Shelly, Norman Co. on Tuesday to attend a railroad meeting at that place. The sentiment of the meeting was unanimously in favor of bonding for the road.

Mine host Bemis makes it a point to care for every guest who comes, and he now has every unoccupied sleeping room in the city engaged and filled. He is sleeping the jury in the Malette block, where he has a few hundred guests stored o' nights. He takes an option on every room in the city whenever possible.

Judge C. L. Brown is a brother of attorney Brown, of Argyle, well known in our city. At one time Judge Brown was known as the youngest Judge on the bench in the state, and his father as the oldest. The Judge was appointed for his first term and has been re-elected two or three times. He seems to understand his business pretty thoroughly.

Mrs. John O. Welles, of Fon du Lac, [illegible] died suddenly at the farm residence [illegible]

THE TRIAL

OF

HORACE RUSSELL

FOR THE

Murder of Dr. Bahnsen.

On the opening of the court on Monday morning, commenced the beginning of the end of this celebrated case which has been so prominent in the public mind ever since the morning when that fatal pistol shot rang out upon the morning air, stretching one man cold in death and placing another on trial for his life. Horace Russell, the prisoner, walked into the court room with a firm tread and rather a nonchalant air, and took his seat in a chair a little in the rear of the chairs occupied by his counsel. His countenance is somewhat bleached from long confinement, otherwise he shows no ill effects from his imprisonment. Judge C. L. Brown, of Morris, Stevens County, is presiding, while Attorney Gen. M. E. Clapp and R. J. Montague, ex-county attorney, is assisting County Attorney, A. R. Holston, and Arthur C. Noyes is associate counsel with Halvor Steenerson for the accused. After some sparring for position between the learned counsel, John Cromb, P. A. Russell and Wm. Watts were appointed triers and the tedious work of impannelling the jury began. At 6 p. m. the special venire of 50 had been exhausted and only ten good men and true sworn to impartially try the case in accordance with the evidence that shall be given, and the Judge ordered the Sheriff to summons 25 more men from which to select the other two jurors. Those sworn on Monday were James Sullivan, Thomas Wallace, Ole P. Onstad, K. Tedmanson, Edward Lanctot, August Munn, O. Edvold, Jr., W. N. Campbell, Jas. Novetny, R. H. Aimer and Thomas Plante. James Sullivan was taken very ill during the day and had to be excused, leaving only ten ready for business. The Judge instructed the Sheriff to take charge of the jurors for the night and dismissed the proceedings until Tuesday morning.

Tuesday morning was consumed in procuring one juror—H. C. Burdick, of Fertile, and the Judge ordered the Sheriff to summon a special venire of 20 to report at 2:30. At 3:50 the 12th man was found in the person of Geo. H. Ralph and the court took a recess of 25 minutes. It took 85 men in all to secure the twelve good men and true to try this case. At 4:15 the county attorney arose to present the case for the state, making a powerful speech, which was listened to with marked attention not only by the jury but also by a large audience. He spoke 27 minutes, after which the first witness, Mrs. Annie Bahnsen, was called, who testified as follows:

"My name is Annie Bahnsen; lived in Crookston on August 26th; lived in Fisher before that." (At this point the attorney for the defense interposed an objection, which was overruled, and the testimony continued.) "Am the widow of the late W. J. Bahnsen; the last time I saw my husband alive was about 10 minutes of 7 o'clock on the morning of August 26th at our door, when he kissed me good bye as usual. He was starting for Fisher; next saw him at the residence of Mr. Hamilton, at Fisher, about 4 p. m. the same day; he was dead."

Levi Brainerd sworn: "Live near Fisher; was at Fisher on the morning of August 26th, at the depot a little before train time and upon its arrival; was waiting for Dr. Bahnsen to take him to see my wife who was sick; saw defendant, Russell, standing near the corner of the depot apparently doing nothing in particular; upon arrival of train met Dr. Bahnsen as he got off the platform and shook hands with him; he said: "hello, is that you," and we turned toward the rear of the train, as we stood facing the train waiting for it to pull out so we could cross the track to our path, I heard the report of a pistol so near my left ear that it deafened me; Dr. Bahnsen said, "Oh, my," and instantly I heard another report and he fell to the platform near me; I said "look out," and turning to my right saw Russell about 20 or 30 steps distant going toward rear of train, going off of the platform; he went two or three rods; I said, "ain't somebody going to stop that man." Dr. Bahnsen lived 20 minutes, I think; know Horace Russell by sight; this defendant is the man." Cross examined: "The train was going northwest, I think; the depot does not stand with the points of the compass; first saw Russell about 12 feet away; he was standing facing the train; I don't know whether he fired the shot at all or not; I did not see him fire it; did not see Bahnsen have anything in his hand; don't know whether he had or not; he said to me: [illegible] sell run; did not see any one start after him." After a few questions on redirect, court was adjourned until 9 a. m. Wednesday morning.

Upon the assembly of the court on Wednesday morning the prisoner's wife and little daughters, one 4 and the other 6, came in and were given seats near the prisoner, who greeted the little ones with a fond kiss and then bowed his head in his hands and sat for some time wrapt in deep meditation, while the innocent little toddlers gazed about, upon the crowd, upon the attorneys huddled about their tables, and upon the jury sitting cold and silent in the jury box, as if in infantile wonder what it all meant.

The first witness called was H. B. Herrick, of Fisher, who testified substantially as follows: "Was at the depot in Fisher on the morning of August 26th; saw Dr. Bahnsen get off of the train; saw him meet Levi Brainerd; saw Russell, he was about three feet from Dr. Bahnsen; had a revolver in his hand; saw him shoot twice; think the first shot hit the doctor in the neck and the next in the back of head; the doctor swung half round and fell on his face on the platform; lived, I should think, 10 or 15 minutes; Russell ran to the end of the platform swinging his revolver in the air, and jumped off, exclaiming: "I have got him!" and ran south toward the river." Overcoat exhibited. "I think that is the coat worn by Dr. Bahnsen at that time." Cross examination. "I was talking with Russell as the train was approaching; it was on general subjects, not about Bahnsen; he did not appear to be expecting anybody in particular; he shot the doctor about one-half minute after he alighted from the train; some one on the train, a passenger it was said, fired at Russell as he was running.

I. W. Webb sworn. Live at Edna; was on train that morning going to Grand Forks; saw Dr. Bahnsen on the train; saw Russell shoot him; the second shot he had to reach his hand round somebody who was apparently between him and the doctor; I was about 100 feet away, a car length; I think he had two revolvers; I did not hear him say "I have got him!" I think I could have heard it if he said it; I helped to carry the body in the depot.

Dr. O. A. Leslie sworn. I live at Fisher; knew Dr. Bahnsen; saw him first that morning lying in depot; examined the wounds as much as I could without endangering his life; saw brain matter on the probe; at that time I did not know but he was where he had been shot; when I learned different, examined the place on platform where he fell; there was brain matter there; saw the body later on coroner's examination and probed the wounds more fully; did not find the bullets; At this point Atty-Gen'l Clapp said: "The State will rest," and attorney Noyes arose to present the case for the defense. He spoke slowly and deliberately for half an hour and was listened to with marked attention to the close. He said that together with the prosecution, the defense only wanted simple justice at the hands of the law. We shall show, said he, that the grandfather of the defendant was insane at an early age, that his mother was daft, or crazy, that his sister was sent to the insane asylum from this county. We shall show that the provocation under which this man labored was sufficient to wreck a much stronger intellect—the ruin of a once happy home, and the debauching of a once loved wife by his trusted family physician. We shall show that he sought justice in a legal channel and that it was refused him. Upon the conclusion of Mr. Noyes' address court took the noon recess.

Peter Cornelius had quite an experience on Friday night of last week. When crossing the railroad track coming from Sampson's Addition the colts he was driving became frightened at an engine and dashed up Robert Street at a fearful gait. Peter had hold of the leathers, however and he succeeded in checking their speed sufficiently to pass the dangerous N. P. bridge in Jerome's Addition when he reached it and then he let them out and gave them all the exercise they wanted.

Crookston Alliance No. 648 met on Saturday at 2 p. m. The motion to commit the Alliance to the endorsement of the bill for bonding in the sum of $1,000 for immigration purposes was laid upon the table. Chris Houston, O. C. Bergland and Eli Steenerson was appointed committee on ways and means. The duties of the committee as defined by Sec. 10 of the by-laws are to assist the members in making purchases for their individual needs as they may request, as well as such other duties as the alliance may require of them. This committee wishes THE JOURNAL to state that they are now prepared to assist all who desire to purchase seeders, drills or agricultural implements. A resolution against county division was unanimously passed, and the secretary was ordered to send a copy of the number to each member of the legislature. Adjourned till Saturday, March 21st 1891.

The General Manager of the Rainy Lake Crookston & Pacific R. R. Co. [illegible] THE JOURNAL [illegible]

A. Gilmour is down from McIntosh this week.

J. D. Knudson is in from McIntosh for jury duty this week.

D. Jacobus returned from his western trip on Monday night in time to be excused from the Russell jury.

Andy Looken has opened his new clothing store on Robert street and is now ready to see his many friends.

Horace C. Brown a prominent attorney of Argyle, is in the city this week on business before the U. S. Land Office and visiting his brother, the Judge.

P. H. Konzen was one of Kittson County's leading citizens in the city this week. He says that the removal of O. J. McCollom from their midst is a calamity they do not view with fortitude. Such men are so rare that their absence makes it seem like half the population had gone. He says that Ed. Love has been adding some fine thoroughbred horses to his stables, the best bred animals ever taken into Kittson County. His recent purchases are Norman Percheron.

Lost.

On Friday evening while walking on Main, Robert, Second, Broadway, or Ash Streets $25 in money wrapped in a bit of paper. A suitable reward will be paid for its return to this office.

[47-48]

Auction Sale.

The undersigned will sell at public auction on Thursday, April 9th, 1891, at his residence on Section 5, in Fairfax, (known as the Steege place) the following property, to-wit:

Three good work horses.
One stallion.
Three cows.
One heifer.
Two lumber wagons.

One sulky, one buggy, 2 plows, one sleigh also all of my household furniture and other aricles too numerous to mention.

TERMS:—All sums of $10 and under, cash. All sums over $10 time will be given until October 15th, 1891 on good approved notes at 10 per cent. per annum.

[47-49] M. O. MELAND.

Closing Out Notice.

Read the great bargains in another column, which I shall continue until March 25th. Positively no longer. Everything must go at most any price.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD,
Successor to Stewart & Spottswood.

Closing Out at Cost!

I AM CLOSING OUT

MY ENTIRE STOCK OF

General Merchandise

AT AND BELOW COST

IF YOU WANT

BOOTS, SHOES OR CROCKERY,

Call at once. All Heavy Goods Going Below Cost. This is a Bona Fide Sale and Everything Goes. Call and See.

A. STURE

For Sale or to Rent.

My farm on Maple Lake, situated one-half mile from railroad. The right party can coin money. If not sold soon will rent. For further particulars address.

MINOR ROOD, Mentor, Minn.

Every One Using Machine Oils.

Best black oil, per gallon, - - 15c
" Eldorado engine oil, per gal., - 25c

Bring in your cans and jugs and save 100 per cent on machine oil.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMETIER,
[36-tf] Lisbon, N. Dakota.

WANTED.

A few large young fresh cows. Enquire at Fontaine & Anglim's.

Auction Sale.

The undersigned will sell at public auction at the hotel at Gentilly, on Monday, March 23d, 1891, the following described property, to-wit:

Two good working mares.
One good working gelding.
Two setts work harness.
One milch cow.
Three yearling heifers.
One spring calf,

Together with all of my household furniture and other things too numerous to mention.

Terms—All sums of $10 and under cash. All sums over $10 time will be given until November 1st, 1891, at 10 per cent interest on good approved notes. JOSEPH BERNIER.

LOUIS BERTHIAUME, Auctioneer.

Farmers! — Farmers!

IT WILL PAY YOU

TO READ THIS.

CHEAP HARDWARE.

Closing Out! Closing Out! Read! Read!

My Prices on Hardware are as follows:

Common mixed paints, Per gallon	85c to $ 1 00
Best " "	1 25
Ten quart strainer pails,	35
Twelve quart strainer pails,	40
No. 9 copper tea kettles,	1 75
Clevises, per lb.,	6½
One doz. 6 quart pressed pans,	75
Steel nails, per keg rate,	2 65
Wire nails, per keg rate,	3 15
Wringers,	2 00
Five gallon pump cans,	1 35
Tar felt paper, per hundred,	2 50
Winchester rifles, octagon band,	14 75
Stove pipe, per joint,	15
Ox bows, per pair,	50
One set Mrs. Potts' sadirons, nickle plate,	1 25
Grind stones, per pound,	1½
Patent wire lift tubular lanterns,	50
8x10, 8 light windows, per pair	70
8x10, 12 light windows, "	90
Scythe snaths,	40
Lock top cream cans, with glass,	70
Ox cards, per pair,	15
Painted barb wire, per hundred,	3 50
Galvanized barb wire, per hundred,	4 10
Lanterns,	40 and 50
Well buckets,	35
Best black machine oil, per gallon,	15
Best Eldorado " "	25
10 quart tin pails,	15
No. 0 barrel churn,	3 00
No. 1 barrel churn,	3 25

Numerous other articles and proportionately the same prices. Call early as possible. Will continue Closing Out until the 25th of March.

Wm. C. Spottswood,

Successor to Stewart & Spottswood.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication March 12, 1891.]

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Pasca Labelle and Adele Labelle, his wife, to the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, bearing date the 11th day of April, A. D. 1889, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, A. D. 1889, at 3 o'clock p. m., in book 40 of mortgages on pages 147-9.

And, whereas, such default consists of the failure to pay the following installments of interest, to-wit: $6.75 that became due November 1st, 1889; $6.60 that became due May 1st, 1890, and $6.00 that became due November 1st, 1890.

And, whereas the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, the holder of said mortgage, has elected to declare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sums in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And, whereas, there is actually due and payable at the date hereof, including principal and interest upon the premises in said mortgage described, the following sum, to wit: Two hundred and twenty-four and 52-100 dollars ($224.52); and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the said debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter (sw¼ sw¼) of Section twenty (20), in Township one hundred and fifty-two (152) north, of Range forty-five (45) west, containing forty acres, more or less, according to the government survey thereof; said premises situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 27th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 6th, A. D. 1891.

Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company,
Mortgagee.

H. D. Dickinson, Attorney for Mortgagee.

[47-1] (N. G. 37)

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON. MINN

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL. - $100,000

SURPLUS. $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. O. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, E. D. Chase, R. D. [illegible]
Geo. O. Erskine, D. H. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

Beltrami Telaugraphs.

The annual town meeting for the town of Reis was called to order by the town clerk and W. J. Nickle was appointed moderator. $545 was appropriated for the expenses of the ensuing year and the following officers elected; John S. Johnson chairman; Supervisors John Thompson and William Street. Town Clerk D. C. Hallock, Treasurer E. W. Johnson. Assessor E. W. Johnson. Justices of the Peace, D. C. Hallock and W. J. Nickle. Constables R. L. Elder and William Price. Pound Masters, K. O. Flakne and O. N. Olslund. Overseer of Road Dist. No. 1, O. N. Olslund. Overseer of Road Dist. No. 2, R. L. Elder.

H. B. Budd has rented the Herriott farm and engaged James Carey as manager.

What are you going to raise this year to exhibit next Fall at the Polk County Fair.

Ole Tollef and seven others from the town of Hubbard passed through here yesterday on their way to the Red Lake reservation where they will civilize the Indians and fight the mosquitoes next summer and improve the land for some R. R. Co.

Hon John Davis member of the N. D. Legislature is visiting the Hayes Bro's.

John Calvin Charles of McIntosh was shaking hands with his friends here this week.

I. W. Webb was been called as a witness on the Russell murder trial.

H. B. Budd will serve on the U. S. Grand Jury at Fergus Falls on the 24th, of this month unless Uncle Sam excuses him. EDNA.

We have an entirely new No. 9 Jewet cook stove which we will offer for sale at a bargan if taken soon. This stove has never been used, we got it in trade and will dispose of it for cash or negotiable paper at a figure that cant be duplicated in this city. If you need a good stove call at THE JOURNAL office.

Paint! Paint! Paint!

Now is the time to buy paint and use it a little later on. The old reliable brand, "The Northwestern," we are closing out at $1.25 per gallon. Strictly pure. Other goods cheaper.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

[illegible] Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North Star.
Fife.
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

P. J. RUSSELL,

Attorney-at-Law

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Next to Merchants' Bank.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

1 PAIR OF BROOD MARES

Six years old with foal to thoroughbred Percheron Norman horse.

2 Geldings, 4 years old.

2 Mares, 4 years old.

1 good Driving Horse, 6 years old.

1 pair 2 year old Mares, 7-8 Norman Percheron.

1 pair good Norman Fillies.

Address THEO. GREENHALGH, city post office, or call at the farm in Fairfax. [40-45]

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET—

CROOKSTON, MINN

L. E. GOSSMAN,

Attorney-at-Law,

No. 2 Fournot Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

E. STEENERSON,

Agent for the Continental Insurance Company of N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Mr. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of outside Co's. [illegible] CALL ON [illegible]

THE JOURNAL has taken pains to interview many of our leading farmers and business men and we have yet to find the first man who expresses himself in favor of the repeal of the laws relating to the forfeiture of principal and interest. The majority favor the reduction of interest to 6 and 8 per cent, and we have not talked with one who did not substantially agree with Mr. Donnelly's position on the question.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the Congregational Church next Sunday. Rev. J. H. Morley of Minneapolis, Supt. of home Missions for Minnesota will be present, and our people will have the pleasure of hearing him either morning or evening. The superintendent does not come to spend the Sabbath with us to take a collection for Missions. No such collection will be taken. His presence with us is with the aim to encorage and strengthen the work of the Crookston Church and every member and all who can should enjoy his labors with us next Sabbath. See notice in Post Office on Saterday.

Atty-Gen'l Clapp is without doubt the most popular man in Minnesota to day, and one of the secrets of it is his genial every-day good nature. Time was when he was simply "Mose Clapp" to everybody who knew him in old Wisconsin, but in the fulness of time he was honored by the people of Minnesota with one of the most important offices within the gift of the people, but he is the same old "Mose" to the old-time friends. On Monday evening he was sitting in the Commercial Hotel lobby chatting with Judge Brown and a few other notables, when a granger who had just entered sung out: "Why, hello, Mose, ol' feller, is that you?" "Why, Jim, old boy, how are you," said the general, and rising and extending his hand he shook his old friend's hand as heartily as though he was the President of the United States, saying, "come up Jim and have a chair," and seeing that there was none he went into the dining room and brought one out and soon had his granger friend introduced all round and chatting as familiarly as the rest. The secret of this is that it is all genuine, comes from the heart and everybody knows it. While some make a parade of that sort of thing at certain seasons, it is perfectly natural with General Clapp—the same thing every day in the year and everywhere. Hence his great popularity with the masses.

The Times man, in his last issue, attempts to justify the double price received by the combine, by saying: "THE JOURNAL man still rants and raves and tears his hair because he was not given the county printing." That is in harmony with the line of action pursued by all who attempt to justify the Board for paying the combine double the price THE JOURNAL offered to do the work for, and this is the way the Times attempts to explain the matter: "THE JOURNAL bid for printing was eight cents per description more than that asked by either of the other papers. There are this year 6,235 descriptions; at his bid he would have received $623.50 for publishing the list. The amount the Times does the work for is $124.70, a difference of $498.80." That statement seems all innocent and right on the face of it, and we suppose it is,

AS FAR AS IT GOES,

which is just one-third exactly. The Times would have its readers understand that the $124.70 is all the cost of printing the tax list, while the FACT is that EACH PAPER gets $124.70, or $374.10 which, instead of making a difference of $498.80, as the Times says, makes a difference of $249.40. It is by such misrepresentations as this that the combine hopes to blind the eyes of the taxpayers to the real facts in this case. They well know that the bid of THE JOURNAL was less than half what they get but somehow they don't like to have the taxpayers understand that fact. So they are satisfied to take the one item—the tax list, which is not a direct tax upon the taxpayers, give a garbled presentation of that and try to imagine that people are so dull that they cannot understand the merits of the case. They fail to state that THE JOURNAL bid was very much less on job work, was less than one-half on financial statement, notices and all such work, and the only mention the Times makes of our bid on proceedings of the board free, is to slur it over and claim that it didn't amount to much, anyhow. It amounted to over $45 to the county at the very first meeting of the board. The ugly fact remains that the people have to pay the combine double price for their invaluable services, and if that condition was not the result of political scheming or jobbery, will some one inform us what it was?

Norman County Herald:—We believe there is enough fact and force in the matter now so prominent in the Great West in regard to the value of wheat, that we are ready to advocate the practical demonstration of the charges made. We will be one of twenty to raise 1000 bushels of 1 hard wheat to be shipped as a cargo direct to the English markets, to be placed in the hands of some responsible party under the direction of Dr. Fish of the Great West. We believe a practical demonstration of this kind is worth any amount of theory. His proposition is, if twenty men will ship 1000 bushels of 1 hard wheat each in one cargo a profit of at least 20 cents per bushel can be made above prices paid by the elevator companies. A practical demonstration of this proposition would mean millions of dollars to the farmers of this country. Who will make up the other twenty?

REPEALED.

Timber Culture and Pre-emption Laws.

The Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land office on Wednesday March 6th, received the following important dispatch from Washington:—

WASHINGTON, March 4, 1891.—Timber culture and pre-emption laws this day repealed. Allow no further entries thereunder of claims hereafter instituted. LEWIS A. GROFF, Commissioner.

The following is a [illegible] synopsis of the laws referred to:

Section 1 repeals the timber culture act, but saves the rights of all existing entries, and gives a right of commutation to those who have for four years tried in good faith to comply, at $1.25 per acre.

Section 2 provides modification of the desert land act, providing fully for actual reclamation of the land entered, and preventing speculative accumulation of the land, with a saving of all rights under existing entries.

Section 3 enlarges section 2288, Revised Statutes, by [illegible] reservoirs, or ditches for irrigating purposes.

Section 4 repeals the pre-emption laws, with a modification of the homestead law, and with provisions more strict as to proofs [illegible] and all final proofs, extending the commutation from six to fourteen months.

Sections 7 and 8 provide details as to final action in the Interior Department on final proofs, and provide limitations as to [illegible] suits to cancel patents, [illegible] to five years as to patents [illegible] and six as to future ones, and provisions as to the timber trespass [illegible].

Section 9 [illegible] public lands at public [illegible] public sale hereafter, thus providing private or cash entries.

Sections 10 to 17 relate to lands in Alaska, for their acquisition for manufacturing and commercial purposes and townsites.

Section 17 allows [illegible] entries, in addition to the maximum allowance of 320 acres [illegible].

Sections 18, 19, 20 and 21 relate to ditches and reservoirs, and providing for their construction [illegible].

Section 23 cures defects in the titles of settlers on certain former Indian lands caused by [illegible] of the Department of the Interior.

Section 24 authorizes the President to set apart [illegible] to preserve timber, [illegible] advisable.

Sections 2289 and 2290 show who may enter land under the homestead law and how it shall be done, as follows:

"SEC. 2289. Every person who is the head of a family, or who has arrived at the age of twenty-one years, and is a citizen of the United States, or who has filed his declaration of intention to become such, as required by the naturalization laws, shall be entitled to enter one quarter-section, or a less quantity of unappropriated public lands, to be located in a body in conformity to the legal sub-divisions of the public lands; but no person who is the proprietor of more than 160 acres of land in any State or Territory shall acquire any right under the homestead law. And every person owning and residing on land may, under the provisions of this section, enter other land lying contiguous to his land, which shall not, with the land so already owned and occupied, exceed in the aggregate 160 acres.

"SEC. 2290. That any person applying to enter land under the preceding section shall first make and subscribe before the proper officer and file in the proper land office an affidavit that he or she is the head of a family, or is over twenty-one years of age, and that such application is honestly and in good faith made for the purpose of actual settlement and cultivation, and not for the benefit of any other person, persons, or corporation, and that he or she will honestly and faithfully endeavor to comply with all the requirements of law as to settlement, residence and cultivation necessary to acquire title to the land applied for; that he or she is not acting as agent for any person, corporation or syndicate in making such entry, nor in collusion with any person, corporation, or syndicate to give them the benefit of the land entered, or any part thereof, or the timber thereon; that he or she does not apply to enter the same for the purpose of speculation, but in good faith to obtain a home for himself or herself, and he or she has not directly or indirectly made, and will not make, any agreement or contract in any way or manner, with any person, or persons, corporation, or syndicate whatsoever, by which the title which he or she might acquire from the government should inure in whole or in part to the benefit of any person except himself or herself, and upon filing said affidavit with the register or receiver on payment of $5 when the entry is of not more than 80 acres, and on payment of $10 when the entry is for more than 80 acres, he or she shall thereupon be permitted to enter the amount of land specified."

[illegible]

AUCTION SALE

OF

HORSES and MULES.

For the purpose of accommodating the many who may want to dispose of their surplus Horses and mules this spring, I will hold an Auction Sale at my Yards and Stables in the city of Crookston, commencing

Friday, March 27th, 1891,

At 10 o'clock a. m., and continuing the same until all is sold.

All persons desiring to enter their stock for this sale, must do so on or before the 20th of March giving description of stock and the terms on which he wants it sold. The terms or cost for advertising and selling will be 5 per cent of the sale. No stock will be allowed to be taken away until settled for. The terms on which each horse or mule will be sold will be made public at the sale.

M. R. Brown.

AUCTION SALE.

About the middle of March, definite date to be fixed and announced later, I will sell at Public Auction at the Red barn, Schraeder's Livery and Sale Stables, the entire outfit, consisting of horses, buggies, carriages, harnesses, whips, robes, cutters, sleighs, and a thousand and one articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale announced later.

MRS. E. D. SCHRAEDER.

We know of a choice farm of 320 acres within three miles of the court house, every foot of it under cultivation, which can be had at a very reasonable figure with interest at only 6 per cent. If you are looking for a chance, here is a bargain. Call at THE JOURNAL office. [37-tf]

Farmers' Grist Mill.

On Saturday, March 28th, the Farmers' Alliance Milling Association will meet at the residence of W. N. Godfrey, in the town of Godfrey, to elect directors and officers. It is desired that every town interested send as many representatives as possible so that the officers may be equitably distributed. All who are interested should now come to the front with subscriptions to stock. Let there be a rousing meeting. [46-47]

For Sale Cheap.

Four good brood mares and two good work horses cheap for cash or negotiable paper. Inquire of Knudson and Borlsug, at Alderman & Sylvester's livery stables.

NEW CIGAR STORE

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

CALL IN.

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN

Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton Grand Forks, Crookston,

AND ALL POINTS

EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on

THE DINING CAR LINE

Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points

IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY

—AND—

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS

PASSING THROUGH

Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana Idaho, Oregon and Washington

CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

First and Second Class Coaches,

Pullman Tourist and

Free Colonist Sleeper

AND ELEGANT DINING CARS

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and West, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

East bound.

Passenger 7:10 p. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.

West bound.

Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p. m.

For rates, maps, time tables, or special information apply to C. A. Shirley, Agent Northern Pacific R. R., Crookston, Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,

Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,

St. Paul, Minn.

Statue to Sherman.

NEW YORK, March 2.—At a meeting of business men held today to take steps looking to the erection of an equestrian statue of the late Gen. Wm. T. Sherman, it was thought that about $55,000 would be required for the work. It was suggested that an effort be made to have the statue erected and the dedication take place on the anniversary of the death of Gen. Sherman.

First March Purchase.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The treasury department today made the first purchase of silver for the current month. The amount offered was 748,000 ounces and the amount purchased 105,000 ounces at 98½ cents.

THE D. R. L. F. & N.

Surveys Now Nearly Completed—Work of Building to Begin.

Duluth Tribune.

J. B. Holmes, the projector and general manager of the Duluth, Red Lake Falls & Northern railway was seen at his hotel last evening by a Tribune reporter. In an interview he said: "The Red Lake road is a Duluth road out and our surveyors have been out for over five months and there are only thirty miles of survey yet to be completed, which will take another month, when 350 miles reaching into North Dakota will have been surveyed. The line runs to town 57, range 18, west along the Mesaba, forty miles, crosses the Mississippi River through the southern part of the Red Lake reservation crossing Red Lake river at Red Lake Falls, passes through the North Red River Valley, the present terminus of the surveys ending near Drayton, Minnesota. The road is certain to be a paying one. There is freight waiting for the road all through Northern Minnesota. Besides the county through which the line passes is rich wheat land, a fine timber belt of white oak and pine, and on this end rich mineral lands. We expect to begin the work of grading early next season, and the laying of the iron will follow as soon after as practical.

"We have no connection with any other road. We do not propose to utilize the Duluth & Winnepeg road from Grand Rapids, but will come into the city on a line of our own, although the terminals in the city have not yet been decided upon. The Manitoba road has no need of the road; they have their own line. Our road will be free and independent of all other lines."

Big Tinplate Plant.

Joliet Closes a Contract for a $500,000 Concern.

JOLIET, Ills., March 2.—A contract has just been executed between Joliet property owners and Lewis Bros., of Pittsburg, Pa., and Wales, by which South Joliet has secured a $500,000 tinplate plant to occupy twenty acres and furnish floor space of over 200,000 square feet. Lewis Bros are members of a family who have been manufacturing tinplate for many generation in England.

Sustains the N. P.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The supreme court of the United States today affirmed the decision of the United States circuit court for Minnesota in the case of the St. Paul & Pacific railroad against the Northern Pacific road. The case involved the ownership of many thousand acres of land along the line of Northern Pacific in Minnesota, and which under the decision today remains with the Northern Pacific.

Knute Nelson in Wisconsin.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 2.—A dispatch from Madison, Wis., says Knute Nelson of Minnesota is in the city in the interest of the Minnesota experimental station. He has offered the directorship of the station to Prof. W. A. Henry of the Wisconsin station. Prof. Henry could not be induced to say whether he would accept or not, but he intimated [illegible]

TRY

O. J. BARNES,

THE

CITY GROCER!

Trade at

HOLMBOE'S,

THE ROBERT ST. DEALER

—IN—

General Merchandise!

S. L. COLLINS

—PROPRIETOR OF—

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - - Minnesota

Horses bought and sold on commission.

Everything neat and nobby.

Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

In connection which I will attend to in person

J. V. E. WYATT,

UNDERTAKER.

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for

N E W G O O D S.

A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material. | Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized Under the State Laws.

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $10,500

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections. Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.

C. HENDRICKSON, President.

O. H. LUCKEN, 2d Vice-President.

A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President

L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.

A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H. Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch. [illegible] H. Steenerson. J. H. Locken. C. Hendrickson. Max Ericsson. L. K. Aaker. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

W. A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

[illegible]

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B.—Nitrous Oxide Gas (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN [illegible] BLOCK.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

Farmers custom specially invited.

Terms $1.00 per Day.

H. STEENERSON

ATTORNEY AT LAW

CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA

KOPS BROS

105 Third Street,

GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA.

PIANOS,
ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.

Grand Forks, N. D.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estaee.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

THE NEW

NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana	FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS	100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn. for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.	LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.	Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth.	In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns. New Railways. New Mines. Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills. Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raizers' paradise.	Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines.	These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.
The valleys of Red, Mouse Missouri Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890 Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn	Hunting Fishing.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

ECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY

OUR NEW

Fall Styles

LADIES,

Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

A GREAT PRIZE.

Any one, not now a subscriber, sending the Tribune ONE DOLLAR can get the picture,

The Russian Wedding Feast,

FREE BY MAIL WITH [illegible]

The Daily and Sunday Tribune [illegible] or the Daily [illegible] or the Evening Tribune [illegible] or the Sunday Tribune [illegible] or the Farmers' Weekly Tribune [illegible] This offer is good until [illegible] The picture is a beautiful [illegible] duced [illegible] painting [illegible]

THE JOURNAL has taken pains to interview many of our leading farmers and business men and we have yet to find the first man who expresses himself in favor of the repeal of the laws relating to the forfeiture of principal and interest. The majority favor the reduction of interest to 6 and 8 per cent, and we have not talked with one who did not substantially agree with Mr. Donnelly's position on the question.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the Congregational Church next Sunday. Rev. J. H. Morley of Minneapolis, Supt. of home Mission for Minnesota will be present, and our people will have the pleasure of hearing him either morning or evening. The superintendent does not come to spend the Sabbath with us to take a collection for Missions. No such collection will be taken. His presence with us is with the aim to encorage and strengthen the work of the Crookston Church and every member and all who can should enjoy his labors with us neut Sabbath. See notice in Post Office on Saterday.

Atty-Gen'l Clapp is without doubt the most popular man in Minnesota to day and one of the secrets of it is his genial every-day good nature. Time was when he was simply "Mose Clapp" to everybody who knew him in old Wisconsin, but in the fulness of time he was honored by the people of Minnesota with one of the most important offices within the gift of the people, but he is the same old "Mose" to the old-time friends. On Monday evening he was sitting in the Commercial Hotel lobby chatting with Judge Brown and a few other notables, when a granger who had just entered sung out: "Why, hello, Mose, ol' feller is that you?" "Why, Jim, old boy, how are you," said the general, and rising and extending his hand he shook his old friend's hand as heartily as though he was the President of the United States, saying, "come up Jim and have a chair," and seeing that there was none he went into the dining room and brought one out and soon had his granger friend introduced all round and chatting as familiarly as the rest. The secret of this is that it is all genuine, comes from the heart and everybody knows it. While some make a parade of that sort of thing at certain seasons, it is perfectly natural with General Clapp—the same thing every day in the year and everywhere. Hence his great popularity with the masses.

The Times man, in his last issue, attempts to justify the double price received by the combine, by saying: "THE JOURNAL man still rants and raves and tears his hair because he was not given the county printing." That is in harmony with the line of action pursued by all who attempt to justify the Board for paying the combine double the price THE JOURNAL offered to do the work for, and this is the way the Times attempts to explain the matter: "THE JOURNAL bid for printing was eight cents per description more than that asked by either of the other papers. There are this year 6,235 descriptions; at his bid he would have received $623.50 for publishing the list. The amount the Times does the work for is $124.70, a difference of $498.80." That statement seems all innocent and right on the face of it, and we suppose it is,

AS FAR AS IT GOES,

which is just one-third exactly. The Times would have its readers understand that the $124.70 is all the cost of printing the tax list, while the FACT is that EACH PAPER gets $124.70, or $374.10 which, instead of making a difference of $498.80, as the Times says, makes a difference of $249.40. It is by such misrepresentations as this that the combine hopes to blind the eyes of the taxpayers to the real facts in this case. They well know that the bid of THE JOURNAL was less than half what they get but somehow they don't like to have the taxpayers understand that fact. So they are satisfied to take the one item—the tax list, which is not a direct tax upon the taxpayers, give a garbled presentation of that and try to imagine that people are so dull that they cannot understand the merits of the case. They fail to state that THE JOURNAL bid was very much less on job work, was less than one-half on financial statement, notices and all such work, and the only mention the Times makes of our bid on proceedings of the board free, is to slur it over and claim that it didn't amount to much, anyhow. It amounted to over $45 to the county at the very first meeting of the board. The ugly fact remains that the people have to pay the combine double price for their invaluable services, and if that condition was not the result of political scheming or jobbery, will some one inform us what it was?

Norman County Herald:—We believe there is enough fact and force in the matter now so prominent in the Great West in regard to the value of wheat, that we are ready to advocate the practical demonstration of the charges made. We will be one of twenty to raise 1000 bushels of 1 hard wheat, to be shipped as a cargo direct to the English markets, to be placed in the hands of some responsible party under the direction of Dr. Fish, of the Great West. We believe a practical demonstration of this kind is worth any amount of theory. His proposition is, if twenty men will ship 1000 bushels of 1 hard wheat each in one cargo a profit of at least 20 cents per bushel can be made above prices paid by the elevator companies. A practical demonstration of this proposition would mean millions of dollars to the farmers of this country. Who will make up the other twenty?

REPEALED.

Timber Culture and Pre-emption Laws.

The Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land office on Wednesday March 6th, received the following important dispatch from Washington:

WASHINGTON, March 4, 1891. Timber culture and pre-emption laws this day repealed. All [illegible] entries thereunder of [illegible] hereafter instituted. LEWIS A. [illegible], Commissioner.

The following [illegible] synopsis of the laws referred [illegible]

Section 1 repeals [illegible] timber culture act, but saves [illegible] existing entries, and gives [illegible] commutation to those who [illegible] four years tried in good [illegible], at $1.25 per acre.

Section 2 provides [illegible] of the desert land act, [illegible] for actual reclamation of [illegible], and preventing speculation [illegible] of the land, with [illegible] all rights under existing entries [illegible]

Section 3 [illegible] 2283, Revised Statutes, [illegible] reservoirs, or ditches [illegible]

Section 4 [illegible] pre-emption laws, with [illegible] the homestead law, [illegible] more strict as to [illegible] all final proofs, extending [illegible] from six to fourteen [illegible]

Sections 7 [illegible] tails as to final action [illegible] Department [illegible] provide limitations [illegible] suits to cancel patents, [illegible] at five years as [illegible] and six as to future [illegible] as to the timber [illegible]

Section 9 [illegible] public lands at public [illegible] sale hereafter, thus [illegible] private or cash entries.

Sections 10 to 17 [illegible] lands in Alaska, for [illegible] for manufacturing and [illegible] purposes and townsites.

Section 17 allows [illegible] entries, in addition to [illegible] allowance of 320 acres [illegible]

Sections 18, 19, [illegible] relate to ditches and [illegible] providing for their construction.

Section 23 [illegible] the titles of settlers on [illegible] Indian lands [illegible] of the Department of [illegible]

Section 24 [illegible] to set apart [illegible] to preserve timber, [illegible] advisable.

Section [illegible] who may enter [illegible] homestead law and [illegible] follows:

"Sec. 2289. [illegible] who is the head of a family [illegible] arrived at the age of [illegible], and is a citizen of the United [illegible] who has filed his declaration [illegible] to become such, as required [illegible] naturalization law, [illegible] to enter one quarter-section [illegible] quantity of unappropriated [illegible] lands, to be located in a body [illegible] to the legal subdivisions [illegible] lands; but no person who [illegible] proprietor of more than 160 acres [illegible] in any State or Territory [illegible] acquire any right under [illegible]. And every person [illegible] land may, under [illegible] of this section, enter [illegible] contiguous to his land, [illegible], with the land so already [illegible] occupied, exceed in [illegible] 160 acres.

"Sec. 2290. That [illegible] applying to enter [illegible] preceding section shall [illegible] before the [illegible] in the proper land office [illegible] that he or she is the head [illegible], or is over twenty-one [illegible] and that such application [illegible] and in good faith made [illegible] purpose of actual settlement and cultivation, and not for the benefit of any other person, persons, or corporation, [illegible] that he or she will honestly [illegible] endeavor to comply with all the requirements of law as to settlement, [illegible] cultivation necessary to [illegible] title to the land applied for; [illegible] she is not acting as agent for any [illegible] corporation or syndicate in [illegible] such entry, nor in collusion with any person, corporation, or syndicate to [illegible] the benefit of the land [illegible], or any part thereof, or the timber thereon; that he or she does not apply [illegible] the same for the purpose of speculation, but in good faith to obtain a home for himself or herself, and he or she has not directly or indirectly made, and will not make, any agreement or contract in any way or manner, with any person, or persons, corporation, or syndicate whatsoever, by which the title which he or she might acquire from the government of the United States should inure, in whole or in part, to the benefit of any person except himself or herself; and upon filing said affidavit with the register or receiver, on payment of $5 when the entry is not more than 80 acres, and on payment of $10 when the entry is for more than 80 acres, he or she shall thereupon be permitted to enter the amount of land specified."

Take Notice.

All parties owing accounts and notes that are due are requested to call and settle before March 1st, or they will be left with an attorney for collection. I must have the money. I will continue selling out at and below cost until March 25th.

W. M. C[illegible]SWOOD.

AUCTION SALE

OF

HORSES and MULES.

For the purpose of accommodating the many who may want to dispose of their surplus Horses and mules this spring, I will hold an Auction Sale at my Yards and Stables in the city of Crookston, commencing

Friday, March 27th, 1891,

At 10 o'clock a. m., and continuing the same until all is sold.

All persons desiring to enter their stock for this sale, must do so on or before the 20th of March giving description of stock and the terms on which he wants it sold. The terms or cost for advertising and selling will be 5 per cent of the sale. No stock will be allowed to be taken away until settled for. The terms on which each horse or mule will be sold will be made public at the sale.

M. R. Brown.

AUCTION SALE.

About the middle of March, definite date to be fixed and announced later, I will sell at Public Auction at the Red barn, Schraeder's Livery and Sale Stables, the entire outfit, consisting of horses, buggies, carriages, harnesses, whips, robes, cutters, sleighs, and a thousand and one articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale announced later.

MRS. E. D. SCHRAEDER.

We know of a choice farm of 320 acres within three miles of the court house, every foot of it under cultivation, which can be had at a very reasonable figure with interest at only 6 per cent. If you are looking for a chance, here is a bargain. Call at THE JOURNAL office. [37-tf]

Farmers' Grist Mill.

On Saturday, March 28th, the Farmers' Alliance Milling Association will meet at the residence of W. N. Godfrey, in the town of Godfrey, to elect directors and officers. It is desired that every town interested send as many representatives as possible so that the offices may be equitably distributed. All who are interested should now come to the front with subscriptions to stock. Let there be a rousing meeting. [46-47]

For Sale Cheap.

Four good brood mares and two good work horses cheap for cash or negotiable paper. Inquire of Knudson and Borlsug, at Alderman & Sylvester's livery stables.

NEW CIGAR STORE

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerchaum

Particular attention is invited to our line of cerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTH.

CALL IN.

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN

Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton
Grand Forks, Crookston,

AND ALL POINTS

EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on

THE DINING CAR LINE

Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points

IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY

—AND—

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS PASSING THROUGH

Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana
Idaho, Oregon and Washington

CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars,
First and Second Class Coaches,
Pullman Tourist and
Free Colonist Sleeper

AND ELEGANT DINING CARS

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and west, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

East bound.

Passenger 7:10 p. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.

West bound.

Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p. m.

For rates, maps, time tables or special information, apply to C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston, Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Statue to Sherman.

NEW YORK, March 2.—At a meeting of business men held today to take steps looking to the erection of an equestrian statue of the late Gen. Wm. T. Sherman, it was thought that about $55,000 would be required for the work. It was suggested that an effort be made to have the statue erected and the dedication take place on the anniversary of the death of Gen. Sherman.

First March Purchase.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The treasury department today made the first purchase of silver for the current month. The amount offered was 748,000 ounces and the amount purchased 105,000 ounces at 98½ cents.

THE D. R. L. F. & N.

Surveys Now Nearly Completed—Work of Building to Begin.

Duluth Tribune.

J. B. Holmes, the projector and general manager of the Duluth, Red Lake Falls & Northern railway was seen at his hotel last evening by a Tribune reporter. In an interview he said: "The Red Lake road is a Duluth road out and our surveyors have been out for over five months and there are only thirty miles of survey yet to be completed, which will take another month, when 350 miles reaching into North Dakota will have been surveyed. The line runs to town 57, range 18, west along the Mesaba, forty miles, crosses the Mississippi River through the southern part of the Red Lake reservation crossing Red Lake river at Red Lake Falls, passes through the North Red River Valley, the present terminus of the surveys ending near Drayton, Minnesota. The road is certain to be a paying one. There is freight waiting for the road all through Northern Minnesota. Besides the county through which the line passes is rich wheat land, a fine timber belt of white oak and pine, and on this end rich mineral lands. We expect to begin the work of grading early next season, and the laying of the iron will follow as soon after as practical.

"We have no connection with any other road. We do not propose to utilize the Duluth & Winnepeg road from Grand Rapids, but will come into the city on a line of our own, although the terminals in the city have not yet been decided upon. The Manitoba road has no need of the road: they have their own line. Our road will be free and independent of all other lines."

Big Tinplate Plant.

Joliet Closes a Contract for a $500,000 Concern.

JOLIET, Ills., March 2.—A contract has just been executed between Joliet property owners and Lewis Bros., of Pittsburg, Pa., and Wales, by which South Joliet has secured a $500,000 tinplate plant to occupy twenty acres and furnish floor space of over 200,000 square feet. Lewis Bros' are members of a family who have been manufacturing tinplate for many generation in England.

Sustains the N. P.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The supreme court of the United States today affirmed the decision of the United States circuit court for Minnesota in the case of the St. Paul & Pacific railroad against the Northern Pacific road. The case involved the ownership of many thousand acres of land along the line of Northern Pacific in Minnesota and which under the decision today remains with the Northern Pacific.

Knute Nelson in Wisconsin.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 2.—A dispatch from Madison, Wis., says Knute Nelson of Minnesota is in the city in the interest of the Minnesota experimental station. He has offered the directorship of the station to Prof. M. A. Henry of the Wisconsin station. Prof. Henry could not be made to say whether he would accept or not, but he intimated that the offer was too large to be refused.

TRY

O. J. BARNES,

THE

CITY GROCER!

Trade at

HOLMBOE'S,

THE ROBERT ST. DEALER

—IN—

General Merchandise!

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

In connection which I will attend to in person

J. V. E. WYATT,

UNDERTAKER.

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for

N E W G O O D S.

A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material. | Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized Under the State Laws.

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $10,500

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections.
Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.

C. HENDRICKSON, President.
O. H. LUCKEN, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

C. O. Christianson.
E. P. Pierce,
H. Steenerson.
Max Ericsson.
O. H. Lucken.
J. H. Locken,
L. K. Aaker.
A. D. Stephens.
A. G. Gallasch.
C. Hendrickson.
A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

W. A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom specially invited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

H. STEENERSON

ATTORNEY AT LAW

CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,

GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA

PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estaee

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

THE NEW

NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana	FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS	100 or more, along the Great Forthern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.	LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.	Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth.	In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills. Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise.	Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines.	These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.
The valleys of Red, Mouse Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890. Write F. L. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn	Hunting, Fishing.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY

OUR NEW

Fall Styles

LADIES,

Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

A GREAT PRIZE.

Any one, not now a subscriber, sending the Tribune Co. ONE DOLLAR can get the famous picture, the

The Russian Wedding Feast,

FREE BY MAIL WITH

The Daily and Sunday Tribune..........6 weeks
or the Daily (without Sun.) Tribune......6 weeks
or the Evening Tribune..........12 weeks
or the Sunday Tribune..........26 weeks
or the Farmers Weekly Tribune..........52 weeks

This offer is good until June 1st, 1891.

The picture is a beautiful work of art. Reproduced in all the beautiful colors of the original painting, 24 incher by 17 inches.

Send at once and secure a handsome prize.

Postage stamps to the amount of $1.00 will be accepted. Address,

THE TRIBUNE CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

Regular Subscription Rates by Mail.

	1 Year.	3 Mo.	1 Mo.
Daily and Sunday	$7 50	$2 25	85c
Daily, 6 days	7 00	1 75	70c
Sundays only	2 00	50	20c
Evening Tribune	4 00	1 00	40c
Farmers' Weekly	1 00	35

THE JOURNAL has taken pains to interview many of our leading farmers and business men and we have yet to find the first man who expresses himself in favor of the repeal of the law relating to the forfeiture of principal and interest. The majority favor the reduction of interest to 6 and 8 per cent, and we have not talked with one who did not substantially agree with Mr. Donnelly's position on the question.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the Congregational Church next Sunday. Rev. J. H. Morley of Minneapolis, Supt. of home Missions for Minnesota will be present, and our people will have the pleasure of hearing him either morning or evening. The superintendent does not come to spend the Sabbath with us to take a collection for Missions. No such collection will be taken. His presence with us is with the aim to encorage and strengthen the work of the Crookston Church and every member and all who can should enjoy his labors with us neut Sabbath. See notice in Post Office on Saterday.

Atty-Gen'l Clapp is without doubt the most popular man in Minnesota to day and one of the secrets of it is his genial every-day good nature. Time was when he was simply "Mose Clapp" to everybody who knew him in old Wisconsin, but in the fulness of time he was honored by the people of Minnesota with one of the most important offices within the gift of the people, but he is the same old "Mose" to the old-time friends. On Monday evening he was sitting in the Commercial Hotel lobby chatting with Judge Brown and a few other notables, when a granger who had just entered sung out: "Why, hello, Mose, ol' feller is that you?" "Why, Jim, old boy, how are you," said the general, and rising and extending his hand he shook his old friend's hand as heartily as though he was the President of the United States, saying, "come up Jim and have a chair," and seeing that there was none he went into the dining room and brought one out and soon had his granger friend introduced all round and chatting as familiarly as the rest. The secret of this is that it is all genuine, comes from the heart and everybody knows it. While some make a parade of that sort of thing at certain seasons, it is perfectly natural with General Clapp—the same thing every day in the year and everywhere. Hence his great popularity with the masses.

The Times man, in his last issue, attempts to justify the double price received by the combine, by saying: "THE JOURNAL man still rants and raves and tears his hair because he was not given the county printing." That is in harmony with the line of action pursued by all who attempt to justify the Board for paying the combine double the price THE JOURNAL offered to do the work for, and this is the way the Times attempts to explain the matter: "THE JOURNAL bid for printing was eight cents per description more than that asked by either of the other papers. There are this year 6,235 descriptions; at his bid he would have received $623.50 for publishing the list. The amount the Times does the work for is $124.70, a difference of $498.80." That statement seems all innocent and right on the face of it, and we suppose it is,

AS FAR AS IT GOES,

which is just one-third exactly. The Times would have its readers understand that the $124.70 is all the cost of printing the tax list, while the FACT is that EACH PAPER gets $124.70, or $374.10 which, instead of making a difference of $498.80, as the Times says, makes a difference of $249.40. It is by such misrepresentations as this that the combine hopes to blind the eyes of the taxpayers to the real facts in this case. They well know that the bid of THE JOURNAL was less than half what they get but somehow they don't like to have the taxpayers understand that fact. So they are satisfied to take the one item—the tax list, which is not a direct tax upon the taxpayers, give a garbled presentation of that and try to imagine that people are so dull that they cannot understand the merits of the case. They fail to state that THE JOURNAL bid was very much less on job work, was less than one-half on financial statement, notices and all such work, and the only mention the Times makes of our bid on proceedings of the board free, is to slur it over and claim that it didn't amount to much, anyhow. It amounted to over $45 to the county at the very first meeting of the board. The ugly fact remains that the people have to pay the combine double price for their invaluable services, and if that condition was not the result of political scheming or jobbery, will some one inform us what it was?

Norman County Herald:—We believe there is enough fact and force in the matter now so prominent in the Great West in regard to the value of wheat, that we are ready to advocate the practical demonstration of the charges made. We will be one of twenty to raise 1000 bushels of 1 hard wheat, to be shipped as a cargo direct to the English markets, to be placed in the hands of some responsible party under the direction of Dr. Fish, of the Great West. We believe a practical demonstration of this kind is worth any amount of theory. His proposition is, if twenty men will ship 1000 bushels of 1 hard wheat each in one cargo a profit of at least 20 cents per bushel can be made above prices paid by the elevator companies. A practical demonstration of this proposition would mean millions of dollars to the farmers of this country. Who will make up the other twenty?

REPEALED.

Timber Culture and Pre-emption Laws.

The Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land office on Wednesday March 6th, received the following important dispatch from Washington:

WASHINGTON, March [illegible], 1891.—Timber culture and pre-emption laws this day repealed. Allow no further entries thereunder, of [illegible] institute[illegible]. LEWIS A. [illegible], Commissioner.

The following [illegible] synopsis of the laws referred [illegible]

Section 1 repeals the timber culture act, but saves [illegible] existing entries, and gives [illegible] commutation to those who [illegible] four years tried in good [illegible], at $1.25 per acre.

Section 2 provides [illegible] of the desert land act, [illegible] for actual reclamation of [illegible], and preventing speculation [illegible] of the land, with [illegible] all rights under existing [illegible]

Section 3 [illegible] 2283, Revised Statutes, [illegible] reservoirs, or ditches for [illegible]

Section 4 [illegible] pre-emption laws, with [illegible] homestead laws, [illegible] more strict as to [illegible] all final proofs, [illegible] from six to fourteen [illegible]

Sections 7 [illegible] as to final action [illegible] Department [illegible] provide limitation [illegible] suits to cancel patents, [illegible] at five years as to [illegible] and six as to future [illegible] as to the timber [illegible]

Section 9 [illegible] public lands at [illegible] sale hereafter, [illegible] private or cash entries.

Sections 10 to [illegible] lands in Alaska, for [illegible] manufacturing and [illegible] purposes and townsites.

Section 17 [illegible] in addition to [illegible] of 320 acres [illegible]

Section 18, 19, [illegible] ditches and reservoirs [illegible] providing for their construction.

Section 23 [illegible] the titles of settlers on [illegible] Indian lands [illegible] of the Department [illegible]

Section 24 [illegible] to set apart [illegible] to preserve timber, [illegible] advisable.

Sections 2289 [illegible] who may enter [illegible] homestead law and how [illegible] follows:

"SEC. 2289. [illegible] who is the head of a family [illegible] arrived at the age of [illegible] and is a citizen of the United States [illegible] who has filed his declaration [illegible] to become such, as required [illegible] naturalization laws, [illegible] to enter one quarter-section [illegible] quantity of unappropriated [illegible], to be located in a body [illegible] to the legal subdivisions [illegible] lands; but no person [illegible] of more than 160 acres [illegible] in any State or Territory [illegible] any right under [illegible]. And every person [illegible] on land may, under [illegible] of this section, enter [illegible] contiguous to his land, [illegible], with the land so already [illegible] occupied, exceed in the [illegible] 160 acres.

"SEC. 2290. [illegible] applying to enter [illegible] preceding section shall first [illegible] before the [illegible] in the proper land office [illegible] that he or she is the head [illegible], or is over twenty-one [illegible] and that such application [illegible] and in good faith [illegible] purpose of actual settlement [illegible], and not for the benefit [illegible] person, persons, or corporation, [illegible] that he or she will honestly [illegible] endeavor to comply with all the requirements of law as to settlement, [illegible] cultivation necessary [illegible] title to the land applied for; [illegible] she is not acting as agent for [illegible] corporation or syndicate in [illegible] entry, nor in collusion [illegible] person, corporation, or syndicate [illegible] the benefit of the land [illegible] any part thereof, or the [illegible]; that he or she does not apply [illegible] the same for the purpose of speculation, but in good faith to obtain a [illegible] for himself or herself, and he or she has not directly or indirectly made, and will not make, any agreement or contract in any way or manner, with any person, or persons, corporation, or syndicate whatsoever, by which [illegible] which he or she might acquire from the government from the United States should inure, in whole or in part, to the benefit of any person, except himself or herself; and upon filing such affidavit with the register or receiver [illegible] payment of $5 when the entry [illegible] than 80 acres, and on payment [illegible] when the entry is for more than 80 acres, he or shall thereupon be permitted to enter the amount of land specified.

Take Notice.

All parties owing [illegible] and notes that are due are requested to call and settle before March [illegible], or they will be left with an attorney for collection. I must have the money. I will continue selling out at and below cost until March 25th.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

AUCTION SALE

OF

HORSES and MULES.

For the purpose of accommodating the many who may want to dispose of their surplus Horses and mules this spring, I will hold an Auction Sale at my Yards and Stables in the city of Crookston, commencing

Friday, March 27th, 1891,

At 10 o'clock a. m., and continuing the same until all is sold.

All persons desiring to enter their stock for this sale, must do so on or before the 20th of March giving description of stock and the terms on which he wants it sold. The terms or cost for advertising and selling will be 5 per cent of the sale. No stock will be allowed to be taken away until settled for. The terms on which each horse or mule will be sold will be made public at the sale.

M. R. Brown.

AUCTION SALE.

About the middle of March, definite date to be fixed and announced later, I will sell at Public Auction at the Red barn, Schraeder's Livery and Sale Stables, the entire outfit, consisting of horses, buggies, carriages, harnesses, whips, robes, cutters, sleighs, and a thousand and one articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale announced later.

MRS. E. D. SCHRAEDER.

We know of a choice farm of 320 acres within three miles of the court house, every foot of it under cultivation, which can be had at a very reasonable figure with interest at only 6 per cent. If you are looking for a chance, here is a bargain. Call at THE JOURNAL office. [37-tf]

Farmers' Grist Mill.

On Saturday, March 28th, the Farmers' Alliance Milling Association will meet at the residence of W. N. Godfrey, in the town of Godfrey, to elect directors and officers. It is desired that every town interested send as many representatives as possible so that the officers may be equitably distributed. All who are interested should now come to the front with subscriptions to stock. Let there be a rousing meeting. [46-47]

For Sale Cheap.

Four good brood mares and two good work horses, cheap for cash or negotiable paper. Inquire of Knudson and Borlsug, at Alderman & Sylvester's livery stables.

NEW CIGAR STORE

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a nice chaum

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTH WEST.

CALL IN.

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN

Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton
Grand Forks, Crookston,

AND ALL POINTS

EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on

THE DINING CAR LINE

Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points

IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY

—AND—

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS

PASSING THROUGH

Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana
Idaho, Oregon and Washington

CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars,
First and Second Class Coaches,
Pullman Tourist and
Free Colonist Sleeper

AND ELEGANT DINING CARS

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South, and west, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

East bound.

Passenger 7:10 p. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.

West bound.

Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p. m.

For rates, maps, time tables or special information, apply to C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston, Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Statue to Sherman.

NEW YORK, March 2.—At a meeting of business men held today to take steps looking to the erection of an equestrian statue of the late Gen. Wm. T. Sherman, it was thought that about $55,000 would be required for the work It was suggested that an effort be made to have the statue erected and the dedication take place on the anniversary of the death of Gen. Sherman.

First March Purchase.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The treasury department today made the first purchase of silver for the current month. The amount offered was 748,000 ounces and the amount purchased 105,000 ounces at 98½ cents.

THE D. R. L. F. & N.

Surveys Now Nearly Completed-Work of Building to Begin.

Duluth Tribune.

J. B. Holmes, the projector and general manager of the Duluth, Red Lake Falls & Northern railway was seen at his hotel last evening by a Tribune reporter. In an interview he said: "The Red Lake road is a Duluth road out and our surveyors have been out for over five months and there are only thirty miles of survey yet to be completed, which will take another month, when 350 miles reaching into North Dakota will have been surveyed. The line runs to town 57, range 18, west along the Mesaba, forty miles, crosses the Mississippi River through the southern part of the Red Lake reservation crossing Red Lake river at Red Lake Falls, passes through the North Red River Valley, the present terminus of the surveys ending near Drayton, Minnesota. The road is certain to be a paying one. There is freight waiting for the road all through Northern Minnesota. Besides the county through which the line passes is rich wheat land, a fine timber belt of white oak and pine, and on this end rich mineral lands. We expect to begin the work of grading early next season, and the laying of the iron will follow as soon after as practical.

"We have no connection with any other road. We do not propose to utilize the Duluth & Winnepeg road from Grand Rapids, but will come into the city on a line of our own, although the terminals in the city have not yet been decided upon. The Manitoba road has no need of the road: they have their own line. Our road will be free and independent of all other lines."

Big Tinplate Plant.

Joliet Closes a Contract for a $500,000 Concern.

JOLIET, Ills., March 2.—A contract has just been executed between Joliet property owners and Lewis Bros., of Pittsburg, Pa., and Wales, by which South Joliet has secured a $500,000 tinplate plant to occupy twenty acres and furnish floor space of over 200,000 square feet. Lewis Bros' are members of a family who have been manufacturing tinplate for many generation in England.

Sustains the N. P.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The supreme court of the United States today affirmed the decision of the United States circuit court for Minnesota in the case of the St. Paul & Pacific railroad against the Northern Pacific road. The case involved the ownership of many thousand acres of land along the line of Northern Pacific in Minnesota and which under the decision today remains with the Northern Pacific.

Knute Nelson in Wisconsin.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 2.—A dispatch from Madison, Wis., says Knute Nelson of Minnesota is in the city in the interest of the Minnesota experimental station. He has offered the directorship of the station to Prof. M. A. Henry of the Wisconsin station. Prof. Henry could not be made to say whether he would accept or not, but he intimated that the offer was too large to be refused.

TRY

O. J. BARNES,

THE

CITY GROCER!

Trade at

HOLMBOE'S,

THE ROBERT ST. DEALER

—IN—

General Merchandise!

S. L. COLLINS

—PROPRIETOR OF—

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - Minnesota

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

In connection which I will attend to in person

J. V. E. WYATT,

UNDERTAKER.

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for

NEW GOODS.

A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material.

Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized Under the State Laws.

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $10,500

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections.
Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.

C. HENDRICKSON, President.
O. H. LUCKEN, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce, O. H. Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch.
H. Steenerson. J. H. Locken, C. Hendrickson.
Max Ericsson. L. K. Aaker. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

W. A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom specially invited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

H. STEENERSON

ATTORNEY AT LAW

CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,

GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA

PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estaee

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

THE NEW NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana	FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS	100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.	LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.	Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth.	In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills. Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise.	Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines.	These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.
The valleys of Red, Mouse Missouri Milk and Sun Rivers reached by Great Northern Ry. Line. Half rate excursions Sept. 9, 23, and Oct. 14, 1890 Write F. L. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn	Hunting Fishing.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law,
SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY

OUR NEW

Fall Styles

LADIES,

Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

A GREAT PRIZE.

Any one not now a subscriber, sending the Tribune Co. ONE DOLLAR can get the famous picture, the

The Russian Wedding Feast,

FREE BY MAIL WITH

The Daily and Sunday Tribune	6 weeks
or the Daily (without Sun.) Tribune	8 weeks
or the Evening Tribune	12 weeks
or the Sunday Tribune	26 weeks
or the Farmers Weekly Tribune	52 weeks

This offer is good until June 1st, 1891.

The picture is a beautiful work of art. Reproduced in all the beautiful colors of the original painting, 24 inches by 17 inches.

Send at once and secure a handsome prize.

Postage stamps to the amount of $1.00 will be accepted. Address,

THE TRIBUNE CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

Regular Subscription Rates by Mail.

	1 Year.	3 Mo.	1 Mo.
Daily and Sunday	$8 50	$2 25	850
Daily (6 days)	7 00	1 75	700
Sundays only	2 00	50	2 0
Evening Tribune	4 00	1 00	400
Farmers' Weekly	1 00	35

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, March 12, 1891.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
8:35 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
5:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:55 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:42 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
2:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:35 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

MONTANA EXPRESS DAILY.

7:40 p. m. de	St. Paul	ar. 6:55 a. m.
7:00 a. m. de	CROOKSTON	de. 7:25 p. m.
8:15 a. m. de	Grand Forks	de. 6:20 p. m.
2:30 p. m. ar	Helena	de. 11:00 a. m.

ST. VINCENT BRANCH.
Daily, except Sunday.
Depart 7:15 a. m. ... Arrive 7:00 p. m.

FOSSTON BRANCH.
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Depart 7:30 a. m. ... Arrive 5:00 p. m.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH.
Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
Depart 10:45 a. m. ... Arrive 4:00 p. m.

W. W. FEGAN,
Agent, Crookston.

Bevier (Mo.) Appeal says: When the sub-treasury plan was first presented to the people the politicians were contented with simply ridiculing it. As it grew in popularity, they, aided by the monopoly press, began to misrepresent it and abuse its originators and used all the false arguments at their command to make it appear impractical and visionary. But in spite of the bitterness of the opposition the measure is more popular and has more supporters than ever before. If the opponents of the plan had ever entertained any hopes of being able to make the farerms look upon it with disfavor, they must have been rudely shattered when the result of the vote upon it at Ocala convention was made known. It may be the means also of awakening the old fossils and the subsidized press to the fact that their influence on the people is growing beautifully less, and that they have come to the conclusion to do their own thinking in the future.

The Superior (Neb.) Times says:

And they tell us that the Western farmer is lazy and extravagant, and that the disasters, failures, and hard times which have overtaken him, have their causes in his careless way of doing business, his ignorance and shiftlessness. The Western farmer is poor and many instances he may be careless in his business dealinges and be imposed upon by unscrupulous men, but his proverty is not caused by an unwillingness to work. One glance at the weather-beaten face of the average farmer will unfold to the close observer, the student of human nature, a story of long days of labor, of unremitting toil to build a home in the wilderness and to keep the gaunt wolf of want from the humble doors. The storms of life have left deep traces on that face; the marks of a long struggle for the necessities of life are there, but there are no signs of dissipation, no lines of depravity. He may be unfitted to cope with the sharks who infest the country and live upon the fruits of his labor, but he is not lazy, for a lazy man would starve; he is not extravagant, for almost his sole possessions are willing hands and a stout heart; he is not dissipated, for there is little time or opportuntiy for dissipation for the man who lives by the sweat of his brow on the prairies of Nebraska and Kansas; he is not depraved, for the history of his country shows that his hand has raised the first school house, and his course has ever been to bring up his sons and daughters to be honest, law-abiding, God-fearing men and women. There are thousands of poor people in the cities and towns who delight to ridicule the "hayseed," but these same people are half the time upon the charity of the town and never make an effort to better their condition. The greater part of their earnings go into the saloons, and yet so prevalent is this spirit in the cities that even these miserable improvident, property, stricken wretches scoff at men who do more honest labor in a month than they do in a year, who exercise the most pinching economy to secure homes and be independent, and who waste so little in dissipation that if the saloon had to depend on them for its support, the liquor question would speedily settle itself. And yet the people of the cities, the capitalist, call meetings to raise money for charity and at the same time pass resolutions condemning and denouncing the man who is willing to work for what he receives, and only asks that the laws of his country shall be impartial and give a poor man the same rights which the capitalist enjoys.

Won by Americans.

The Leading Prizes Come to the United States.

In The Queen's last word contest, Mr. Edmund T. Stevens, of Buffalo N. Y., won the first prize of a free trip to Europe and $200 in cash, and Annie B Turner, of Deposit, N. Y., secured the special prize of a handsome, Shetland pony.

The publishers of the well-known Magazine have decided to offer one more Competition, and to the persons ending them the largest lists of English words (of not less than four letters) constructed from letters contained in the three words, "Dominion of Canada" they offer many useful prizes, including $750 in cash, Shetland ponies, China Dinner sets, Gold Watches, and French Music Boxes, Portiere Curtains, Silk Dresses, Mantle Clocks, etc., all to be awarded strictly in order of merit. An elegant Silver Tea Service (valued $30) will be given each day to the persons from whom the largest list is received that day from the State in which they reside. The object Daily Prizes for each State is to increase the interest in The Queen's Competitions in every locality in the United States. Those desiring to contest for one of these valuable prizes may start on their list at once, but send six U. S. 2c. stamps and receive last number of The Queen with full particulars before forwarding your list. Address THE CANADIAN QUEEN, Toronta Canada.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication March 5th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars interest due January 1, 1890, thirty-five dollars, interest due July 1, 1890, and thirty-five dollars, interest due on the first day of January, 1891, which default has continued to the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mederic Desantells and Celanive, his wife, mortgagors, to The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of July, 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of July, 1887, at 11:45 o'clock a. m., in book 33 of mortgages, on page 56.

And, whereas, the said The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of one thousand one hundred and nineteen and 72-100 dollars, with interest on $1105 thereof at the rate of seven per cent per annum, from the 23d day of February, 1891, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The south half (s½) of the northeast quarter (ne¼) and the south half (s½) of the northwest quarter (nw¼) of Section twelve (12), Town one hundred and fifty (150), Range forty-four (44) in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County at the front door of the Court House, in the town of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of one thousand one hundred and nineteen and 72-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 23d, A. D. 1891.

The Loan and Guaranty Company,
of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.

A. Humphreys.
[46-52] Attorney for Mortgagee.

[First publication March 5th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss In Probate Court. Special Term, Feb. 28th, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Ole Isakson Austad, deceased.

Letters testamentary on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Osmund Osmundson, of said county.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in Crookston, on Monday, the 7th day of September, A. D. 1891, at ten o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, the 28th day of February, A. D. 1891.

By the Court. C. M. BENSON,
[46-48] Judge of Probate.

[First publication Feb. 12th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK, In District Court, 14th Judicial District.

Frederick K. McKeen, Plaintiff, vs. James B. Holmes, The Minnesota Title Insurance and Trust Company, Charles P. Haseltine, Neil Farnham, and Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, Defendants.

Notice of Sheriff's Sale under Judgment and Decree. Foreclosure of Mechanics' Liens.

Whereas, a certain judgment was duly obtained, entered and docketed in the District court, in the County of Hennepin, State of Minnesota, in the 4th Judicial District, on the 18th day of December, 1890, and whereas a transcript and certified copy of said judgment was thereafter, to-wit: on the 4th day of February, 1891, duly filed and docketed in the Clerk's office in the District Court, of Polk County, State of Minnesota, in the 14th Judicial District, in the above entitled action, in favor of said plaintiff, Frederick K. McKeen and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of two hundred eighty-seven and 78-100ths dollars, ($278.87), including interests and costs, and in favor of said defendant, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of five thousand four hundred eighty-one and ninety-one one-hundredths dollars, ($5,481.91), including interests and costs, and whereas, in said judgment it was decreed that the judgment so rendered in favor of said plaintiff to the full extent thereof, including interests and costs, and the judgment so rendered in favor of said defendants, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company to the extent of five thousand four hundred sixty-two and 6-100ths ($5,462.06) dollars, including interests and costs, to be specific liens upon the land and appurtenances in said judgment described, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: That tract of land known as block one hundred two (102), of Rail Road Addition to the Town of Red Lake Falls, being a portion of lot six, (6), in Section sixteen, (16), in Township one hundred fifty-one, (151). Range forty-four, (44), of which certain Flouring Mills are a part of the appurtenances, co-ordinate with other, and prior and superior to any right, title, lien or claim to or in said land or appurtenances of the said defendants, James B. Holmes, Charles P. Haseltine, Neil Farnham, or the Minnesota Title Insurance Company or any of them. And whereas it was in said judgment decreed and ordered that the Sheriff of said Polk County State of Minnesota, sell said land and appurtenances at public auction as by law in such cases made and provided, to satisfy said judgment and interest thereon, together with costs of said sale, and to pay the proceeds of said sale, after deducting all lawful expences and charges thereof to and between said Frederick K. McKeen and Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, to the amount of their respective judgments and liens given.

Provided, if said net proceeds be insufficient, then to distribute the same pro rata among and between said judgment creditors; a certified copy of said judgment and decree having been duly served upon and delivered to me. Now, therefore,

Notice is hereby given that I will sell the above described land and appurtenances thereon, at public auction to the highest bidder therefor in accordance with and as directed in said decree on the 30th day of March, 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the county Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said Polk County and State of Minnesota, to satisfy said judgment and claims, together with the costs and expenses of such sale.

Dated February 11th, 1891.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN,
Sheriff of Polk County, Minnesota.

WHITE & EVANS, Attorneys for Plaintiff.
E. D. JACKSON, Attorney for Defendant,
Willford and Northway Mf'g Company.
[43-49]

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW.
McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,
—DEALERS IN—
Shelf and Heavy
HARDWARE,
Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, Ole Olson Gang Plows, F. F. Thompson & Sons Walking Plows. Sole agents for the Domestic Sewing Machine.
A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF
STOVES AND RANGES
SOLE AGENTS FOR
Havanna Press Drills
FOR POLK COUNTY.
Corner Main and Fletcher Sts, - - - Crookston.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, MINNESOTA,
—DEALER IN—
Lumber, Building Paper,
PAINTS, OILS,
Doors, Windows and Mouldings.
ALSO
FARM MACHINERY.
—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—
MILWAUKEE HARVESTER
AND THE CELEBRATED
WINONA PLOWS,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,
CROOKSTON, MINN.,
Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plain and Fancy
DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, FLANNELS,
BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for	$1.00
Rhadames for	1.00
Faille Français for	1.00
Gros Grain for	1.00
Satin Luxors for	1 00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS—

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel	20 cents.
54 inch Tricot	35 "
54 inch Flannel	45 "
54 inch best all wool Flannel	75 "
36 inch Henriettas	25 "

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for	30 cents.
" " "	35 "
" " medicated, for	40 "

A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket	$1.50
" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket	2 00
" 4½ lb. 10¼ white "	4 50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dr Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

SUBSCRIBE FOR
THE HERALD,
The Leading Morning Paper of North Dakota.
Weekly $1.00; Daily $6.00 per Year in Advance.
Daily contains the News of the World, the Latest Telegraphic News, Full Associated Press Dispatches. Address
THE HERALD, Grand Forks, N. D.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION

Of the Rainy Lake Crookston and Pacific Railroad Company.

For the purpose of organizing a corporation under Title one (1) of chapter thirty four (34) of General Statutes 1878, and Acts amendatory thereto, the undersigned hereby associate ourselves together and adopt the following Articles of Incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this Corporation shall be the Rainy Lake, Crookston and Pacific Railroad Company, and the general nature of its business shall be the locating, surveying, constructing and operating a line of railroad from some point on Rainy Lake River or on the International boundary line on Rainy Lake between Rainy Lake and Lake of the Woods, in the State of Minnesota, to the City of Crookston, in the County of Polk in said State, and from said City of Crookston in a southwesterly direction to Southwest corner of said Polk County, thence westerly to the Pacific Ocean, or to a point of connection with some railroad already constructed and operated or in process of construction, to the Pacific Ocean or to some of the arms, sounds or inlets thereof, and also a branch line from or near the crossing of said road over the Big Fork River to Vermillion Lake, and thence to Lake Superior, and to construct side-tracks, switches depots, bridges, telegraph line and all other things necessary or suitable for the full prosecution of the business of operating and maintaining such railroad.

ARTICLE II.

The principal place of business of said Corporation shall be in the City of Crookston, County of Polk, and State of Minnesota.

ARTICLE III.

The time of the commencement of said Corporation shall be the first day of March A. D. 1891, and the period of its duration shall be one hundred years.

ARTICLE IV

The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), divided into Two thousand shares of fifty dollars ($50) each, and the same shall be paid in at such times and in such manner as shall be required by the board of directors.

ARTICLE V.

The highest amount of indebtedness of said corporation shall at no time exceed the sum of five million dollars ($5,000,000).

ARTICLE VI

The names and places of residence of the persons forming this corporation are as follows: Halvor Steenerson, Frank Bivins, Lewis Ellington, John H. Locken, Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Erickson, Chas. E. Sawyer, and O. H. Lucken all of Crookston, Polk County Minnesota, and George J. McManus of Duluth, Minn., and Andrew Eiken, Thomas G. Thompson, William Marin, Thomas H. Bjoin, A. Holmboe; Lars K. Asker, Fred Anderson, Chr O Christianson and H. H. Dickmann, all of Crookston, Minn.

ARTICLE VII

The names of the first board of directors said corporation are as follows, to-wit: Halvor Steenerson, Frank Bivins, Lewis Ellington, John H. Locken, Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Ericsson, Charles E. Sawyer, and O. H. Lucken.

The government of said corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of not less than Nine nor more than Eleven directors to be elected annually by and from the stock holders of said corporation as hereinafter provided.

The annual meeting for such election shall be held in the office of said Company in the City of Crookston on the first Tuesday in December of each year, and until their successors are elected and qualified the said directors shall respectively continue to be such directors

The directors shall, at their annual meeting to be held immediately after the annual meeting of the stockholders, elect a President, two Vice Presidents, Secretary, and Treasurer and may elect a General Manager, and until the next meeting as aforesaid.

Halvor Steenerson shall be President
Charles E. Sawyer shall be 1st vice President.
John R. McKinnon shall be 2d vice President.
Olanus H. Lucken shall be Secretary, and
Lewis Ellington shall be Treasurer, and
Elias Steenerson shall be General Manager.

In case of resignation of any of said officers or directors, or their inability to act, their place shall be filled by the remainder of the board of directors at any meeting called and held for that purpose.

If for any reason the annual meeting for the election of the officers and directors shall not be held at the time above specified, it may be held at any time that the directors may appoint for the purpose and at such place as they may previously direct.

In Witness whereof, the said Incorporators have hereunto set their hands and seals, this 9th day of Feb. A. D. 1891.

In presence of
Alex McKinnon,
E. M. Walsh.

Halvor Steenerson (Seal)
Franklin Bivins (Seal)
Lewis Ellington (Seal)
John H. Locken (Seal)
Elias Steenerson (Seal)
John R. McKinnon (Seal)
Max Ericsson (Seal)
Charles E. Sawyer (Seal)
Olavus H. Lucken (Seal)
George J. McMannus (Seal)
Andrew Eiken (Seal)
Thomas G. Thompson (Seal)
William Marin (Seal)
Thomas H. Bjou (Seal)
A. Holmboe (Seal)
Lars K. Aaker (Seal)
Fred Anderson (Seal)
H. H. Dickmann (Seal)
C. O. Christianson (Seal)

State of Minnesota } ss.
County of Polk }

On this 9th day of February A. D. 1891 personally come before me, a notary public in and for said County: Halvor Steenerson, Franklin Bivins, Lewis Ellington, John H. Locken Elias Steenerson, John R. McKinnon, Max Ericsson, Charles E. Sawyer, Olavus H. Lucken, George J McManus, Andrew Eiken, Thomas G. Thompson William Marin, Thomas H. Bjoin, A. Holmboe; Lars K. Aaker, Fred Anderson, H. H. Dickmann, and C. O. Christianson to me known as the identical persons who executed the foregoing instrument, and each of said persons acknowledged the execution thereof, as his free act and deed for the uses and purposes in said instrument expressed.

ALEXANDER MCKINNON,
Notary Public, Polk County, Minnesota.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by William H Perkins and Mattie L. Perkins, his wife, to the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, bearing date the 4th day of September, A. D. 1888, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 4th day of September, A. D. 1888, at 2:10 o'clock p. m., in book 39 of mortgages on pages 51-54.

And, whereas, such default consists in the failure to pay the following instalments of interest, to-wit: $17.50 that became due March 4th, 1889, $17.50 that became due September 4th, 1889, $17.50 that became due March 4th, 1890, and $17.50 that became due September 4th, 1890.

And, whereas, the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, the holder of said mortgage, has elected to declare, and hereby does declare the whole principal sums in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas, there is actually due and payable at the date hereof, including principal and interest, upon the premises in said mortgage described, the following sum, to-wit: Five hundred and ninety-four and 47-100 ($594.47) dollars

And, whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The west half of northeast quater (w½ ne¼) and north half of southeast quarter (n½ se¼) Section thirty-four (34). Township one hundred and fifty-one (151) of Range forty-one (41) containing 160 acres more or less, according to the government survey thereof. Said premises situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 11th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 20th, A. D. 1891.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY.
Mortgagee.

H. D. DICKINSON,
Attorney for Mortgagee. [N. G. 31] [45-51]

Crookston Meat Market

E. STEENERSON, Proprietor. E. ERIKSON, Manager.

Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of twenty two hundred and [illegible] dollars which is claimed to be due and is actually due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by [illegible] Holmes, as mortgagor, to Frederick W. Miller as mortgagee bearing date the 25th day of May, A. D. 1889 and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of May, A. D. 1889, at 9:10 o'clock a. m., in book 22 of mortgages, on page 507; which said mortgage was duly sold and transferred by a deed of assignment duly executed and delivered by said Frederick W. Miller to The Hauser & Sons Malting Company (a corporation) bearing date the 7th day of April, 1890, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, 1890, at 11:50 o'clock a. m., in book 52 of mortgages, on pages 88 and 89, and no action or proceeding at law, or otherwise, having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage situate, lying and being in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and more particularly described as follows: Lots five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), nine, (9), ten (10), thirteen, (13), fourteen, (14), seventeen, (17), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty four, (24), in block seventy-eight, (78); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block eighty, (80); lots nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), eighteen, (18) nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), and twenty-two, (22), in block eighty-one, (81) lots three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12), in block eighty two, (82); all of block ninety-two, (92); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), twelve, (12), twenty-one, (21), twenty two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block ninety-three, (93); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12) in block ninety five, (95), all in the Railroad addition to Red Lake Falls according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes (if any) on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on Tuesday, the ninth (9th) day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 20th, A. D. 1891.

The Hauser & Sons Malting Company,
Assignee of said Mortgagee.
By Paul Hauser, Sr.
President.

Moritz Heim, Attorney for said Assignee.
[43-51] St. Paul, Minn.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred thirty-five and 82-100 dollars, ($535.82) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by James E. Mitton and Mary M. Mitton, his wife, mortgagors, to Robert J. Adams, mortgagee, bearing date the 3d day of November, 1884, and, with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of November, 1884, at 2:35 o'clock p m, in book "S" of mortgages, on pages 529 to 533, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: The northwest quarter of Section Ten (10), Township one hundred and fifty (150), Range forty-six, (46), west, containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred thirty five and 82-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Feb 23d, A. D. 1891.

ROBERT J. ADAMS, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

WHEREAS, ALBERT GILMOUR AND Jane Gilmour, his wife, of Polk County, State of Minnesota, as mortgagors, did, on the 8th day of July, A. D. 1887, duly execute and deliver to Josiah Upton, of the County of Ontario, State of New York their mortgage bearing date of June 25th, A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The se¼ se¼ Section 6, ne¼ ne¼ Section 7, and n½ nw¼ Section 8, Township 147, Range 44 west, containing 160 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of seven hundred and fifty dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note, with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage, and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee or order, which said mortgage was on the 8th day of July, A. D. 1887, at 5:30 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk, in book 33 of mortgages, on pages 33-36; and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest on said mortgage on the 25th day of June, A. D. 1889, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the 25th day of December, A. D. 1889, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest on said mortgage on the 25th day of June, A. D. 1890, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest thereon on the 25th day of December, A. D. 1890, and the said interest is still unpaid and due; and

Whereas, it was stipulated by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed, that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, his heirs, administrators, executors or assigns, to consider the whole sum hereby secured as immediately due and payable without notice, to said mortgagors or any other party; and

Whereas, the said Josiah Upton, mortgagee, has exercised his option to consider and declare, and does hereby consider and declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and

Whereas, there is now due, and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred twenty five and 23-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof:

Now, therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 21st, A. D. 1891.

JOSIAH UPTON, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN,
LAWYERS,
FOURNET BLOCK,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

DR. M. WATTS.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office over Merchants' Bank,
☞ Professional calls by day or nigh promptly attended to.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

[First publication Feb 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of three hundred thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Christine [illegible] and [illegible] Kirby, her husband, mortgagors, to Charles H. Jefferson, mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of November, 1885, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of November, 1885, at 10 o'clock a. m., in book 23 of mortgages, on pages 49, 50 and 51, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lot number five (5), in block number three (3), in South Crookston, Polk County, Minnesota, according to the recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minnesota, in Polk County, and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of three hundred thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 23d, A. D. 1891.

CHARLES H. JEFFERSON, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of thirty five dollars ($35.00) installment of interest, which became due and payable on the first day of December, A. D. 1888, and a further default having been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars ($35.00) installment of interest which became due and payable on the 1st day of December, A. D. 1889, and a further default having been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars ($35.00) installment of interest which became due and payable on the 1st day of December, A. D. 1890, upon a certain mortgage, made, executed and delivered by John K. Ostgord and Betsy Ostgord his wife, of Polk County and State of Minnesota, mortgagors, to The Netherlands American Land Company, of Amsterdam, Holland, mortgagee, bearing date the 10th day of June, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 13th day of June, A. D. 1887, at 3:00 o'clock p. m., in volume "32" of mortgages, on pages 190 and 191.

And whereas a further default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage by the mortgagors failing and neglecting to pay the taxes assessed against, and levied upon, said premises covered by said mortgage prior to the date of the sale of lands for the payment of taxes, and the mortgagee, to protect the lien of its said mortgage, was compelled to pay and on the 4th day of May, A. D. 1889, did pay, in satisfaction of the taxes then due and delinquent on the said premises the sum of nineteen and six hundreths dollars ($19.06), and on the 31st day of March, A. D. 1890, did pay, in satisfaction of the taxes then due and delinquent on the said premises the sum of twenty-two and three hundreths dollars ($22.03); and the said defaults having each continued for a period of more than thirty days, the whole sum secured by said mortgage is hereby declared to be due and payable, as stipulated in said mortgage in case of a failure to comply with the conditions thereof; and that by reason of such defaults and declaration, there is claimed to be due and payable on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of five hundred twenty-three and eighty hundreths dollars ($523.80), and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and by virtue of the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and conveyed thereby, viz: The east half (e½) of the northeast quarter (ne¼) and east half (e½) of the southeast quarter (se¼) of Section three (3) in Township one hundred forty-seven (147) Range forty-five (45), containing one hundred and fifty nine and 50-100 (159.50) acres, more or less, according to the United States Government survey thereof, together with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold a public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, interest, taxes, and twenty-five dollars as attorney's fees, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made at the front door of the Court House in Crookston, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, by the Sheriff of said County of Polk, at the hour of two o'clock p. m. on the 14th day of April, A. D. 1891, subject to redemption at any time within one year, in manner provided by law.

Dated Moorhead, Minnesota, Feb. 21st, 1890.

The Netherlands American Land Company,
Mortgagee.

W. B. Douglassand Ball & Smith,
[45-51] Attorneys for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred fifty-nine and 05-100 ($559.05) dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Henry Johnston and Ella L. Johnston, his wife, mortgagors, to George McLean, guardian, mortgagee, bearing date the 7th day of February, 1888, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 16th day of February, 1888, at 8 o'clock a. m, in book 33 of mortgages, on pages 546 to 549; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The northeast quarter of Section twenty-eight (28) in Township one hundred and forty-seven (147), in Range forty (40), containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, more or less, according to the government survey thereof, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred fifty-nine and 05-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 23d, A. D. 1891.

GEORGE MCLEAN, Guardian.
Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., Dec. 16th, 1890.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Lars Abelson against Taylor H. Wolford for failure to comply with law as to timber-culture entry No. 1,990, dated May 7th 1881, upon the southeast one-quarter Section 24 Township 154 n, Range 47, in Polk County, Minnesota, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; contestant alleging that the said Taylor H. Wolford has not during the four years last past, planted trees, tree cuttings or tree seeds on said tract, and has not cultivated or in any way improved same during said period; that there is now not to exceed one acre of growing trees on said land and that the whole of said land is in a wild state, the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 25th day of March, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged failure.

[42-47] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

The Polk County Journal.

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, MARCH 19, 1891. NO. 48

PROSPEROUS FARMERS.

MINNESOTA CAN AND SHOULD BE THE SOIL-TILLER'S PARADISE.

To Be Successful, Depend Upon Your Own Efforts, Lose Little Time in Considering Visionary Schemes, and Apply Industry and Common Sense in Equal Parts.

The article which follows was prepared by Mr. F. I. Whitney, General Passenger Agent of the Great Northern Railway, and read to the Minnesota Editors' and Publishers' Association, in St. Paul, Feb. 12. It is well worth careful reading and study by every one, and is of especial importance and value to the farmers of Minnesota:

One of the subjects to be discussed by your association is encouragement of immigration by the state. We are in favor of encouraging immigration to Minnesota because it has splendid resources, a glorious and healthful climate, a surface diversified with forests, prairies, lakes and streams—not matched for excellence in any other equal area in America—a charming landscape, rich mineral deposits, water power, quarries of every kind, an abundance of building material and fuel, two water ways to the sea—one of the six states thus favored—railways, a sturdy and enlightened people, a superior educational system and the largest school fund in the Union, thriving cities and towns, a live and energetic press, and broad and well laid foundations of statehood.

We believe in encouraging immigration to such a state by legislative, individual or community aid, but what is quite as important is encouragement to those already here. We have achieved much, but there is unrest. The state can help restrain and quiet this restlessness through institute work and associated efforts, by showing the importance of diversification and rotation, the utilization of materials and forces now wasted, by the dissemination through the press of new ideas combined with old and economical methods.

It is freely asserted that the general condition of agriculture is not good—indeed it is claimed that affairs in the country are going from bad to worse, while extremists and alarmists make it about as bad as it can be. All sorts of reasons for this condition are alleged. Some have laid it at the door of the tariff, others to the banking system, and so on through a long list of ills, but the main charge is that it is due to legislative favoritism to corporate interests, combined with the extortionate and reprehensible conduct of corporations in general, but of railways in particular. The fact is either forgotten or ignored that the railways depend more upon the prosperity and success of farming communities for support than upon any other source. The best paying roads and those upon which rates are the least, are those which traverse the thriftiest agricultural regions, and vice versa.

LAWS WON'T CURE ALL ILLS.

Railroads, for apparent reasons, desire the building up, not the breaking down, of any interest—the farming interest in particular. The politicians' plan of salvation for the farmers who have failed (and unfortunately they have succeeded in causing a large number of respected and worthy citizens to accept their theories) is legislation. No railway corporation can well object, and the least possible number will object, to a fair system of legislative regulation and restriction; but they may well complain of measures whose authors are really ignorant of the subject they profess to know so much about; whose provisions are unwise, unjust, and positively dangerous, and which, if carried into effect, would prove destructive. A war upon any one of the institutions of the country is harmful to every other.

Many people like to believe that they can secure prosperity without earning it. Once in a thousand times it is done, perhaps, but every one knows that the rule is that "There is no excellence without great labor," a maxim as true as it is old. The successful men of the country are those who have depended in the main upon their own efforts; who have lost but little time in the consideration of visionary schemes or in running after rainbows or politicians, who know and care next to nothing of the theories and opinions of modern social reformers, labor agitators and breeders of discontent, and who at all times and under all circumstances have made the most of situations and conditions.

FARMERS NEED NOT LIVE IN POVERTY.

Farmers are not and cannot be made exceptions to the general law. There are all over the country farmers who are prosperous; they are to be found by hundreds in Minnesota and the Dakotas; men who are well qualified for their calling, are confident of the future, who are today ahead, have something in the old stocking leg, and who are not complaining nor grumbling. They don't wait for chances, they make them, and obey the injunction: "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." They live in the same community where other farmers are in debt, in distress and discontented. They pay the same tariffs as their neighbors; are subject to the same "tyrannical" restrictions; till the same kind of soil; buy and sell in the same markets, and receive only the same favors and enjoy only the same natural privileges. Why are they prosperous and their neighbors unthrifty? If farming is not profitable in Minnesota and the Northwest is it not because of the mistakes of the farmers? The country is adapted very peculiarly to this pursuit. In the main it is rich and productive; it may be if it were less so it would be better, but its citizens must not depend too much on the country, per se, to make them prosperous. The country says, to paraphrase an old couplet:

I give you shelter in my breast;
Your own stout hands must win the rest.

And stout hands, willing hearts and clear heads WILL win the rest, and prove that farming in the West can be made more profitable than anywhere else.

A Combination That Always Wins.

Industry and common sense in equal parts applied together will accomplish the result desired. It is not the man who works the hardest but who works the best that accomplishes the most in the end. It is not always the best educated who are the best farmers. Many a collegian and many a graduate from the agricultural college has failed as a farmer, while in the same pursuit many another man who has been entirely successful could scarcely write his own name. The methods of the one were largely theoretic; those of the other practical and based on common sense.

This is an age of progress. There have been many improvements in farming methods, but at the same time there are certain old methods and practices which have been discontinued merely because they were old, not because they were supplanted by better—indeed nothing as good has been substituted in their stead. There was a time when farming paid and that was when those old methods were in use. A good idea founded on sound principles is everlasting, and a blending of some of the old practices with new ones of value will work a great change for good among many western farmers.

The improvements in agricultural machinery have, as every one knows, wrought great and radical changes in farming methods. So much can be done by machinery that many farmers are loth to do anything that cannot be accomplished by horse power or steam engines. There should be a return to some of the old practices; but it will not be necessary to discard the reaper or thresher for the sickle or flail. All modern machinery ought to be employed, but it ought not to be wholly depended upon. There are other features in agriculture of much consequence. Most we want of the old time, however, is its industry and economy.

Diversity of Crops Means Prosperity.

The farmers of the olden time depended very largely upon themselves for almost everything; hence they were forced, by reason of circumstances, to diversify their industries and employments, and therefore they planted whatever their lands would produce, and they made use of whatever they gathered. If some crops were scant or failures, others were not. If one dependence was lacking when the time came to utilize it a substitute was at hand. At all times they lived within their incomes and bought less than they sold. If the fathers succeeded, why should not the sons prosper? They can or else they have sadly degenerated, and that they will not admit for an instant. We have not too many men farming, but there is too much tendency in producing most that which costs the least labor. The world has not too much to eat nor too many wholesome kinds of food.

How do Eastern farmers on poorer soil, with higher land values and dearer products, compete with Western farmers with better and cheaper soil, and cheaper grass and grains? They do it by utilizing everything. Those who will not so economize fail and come West and fail again. The farmers of Minnesota and the Dakotas depend upon the grain crop. One reason for this is probably because that crop can be planted, harvested and prepared for market by machinery. The result is that if the grain crop fails the farmer fails. He has but one resource. The moral is plain.

The want of system and the general waste which characterize the work of many farmers would bankrupt any railroad, factory or business house as quickly and as readily as it does the farmer. The great packing houses, which come in for a share of public condemnation, survive because they utilize everything; nothing is lost except the squeal of the pig. Down in Maine where I was raised, and where a whole township will hardly produce as much as a section of land here, without fertilization, vegetables are canned and line the shelves of the Western grocers, and, I doubt not, help feed Western farmers.

FARM HOMES CAN BE MADE BEST HOMES.

What a field of study and information opens before the intelligent farmer; he is hand to hand with nature. Sir John Lubbock spent years in watching and studying the habits of ants and wrote an interesting and instructive book about them. The great Darwin gave a year to the study of the common angle or fishworm, and he says in his book on the subject that these little moving things that boys think are only good for fish bait are the most potent factor in making the soil of England suitable for agriculture. Our own Downing spent many a useful year among fruits and berries, as Audubon did among the birds. A mere list of those who have found profit and pleasure in fields and woods and proved themselves public benefactors can be extended beyond the limits of an ordinary paper. There is many a way to make country home life so attractive that the boys and girls will prefer remaining on the farm to be drudges in city stores and shops. No city table can be furnished with the sweet fresh butter, cream and milk, good meats and vegetables that the farm gives at first hands. Very few farmers give their farms credit for furnishing home rent free and a hundred other necessaries and often luxuries which would have to be paid for in cash in the city.

REQUIRE THE BOYS AND GIRLS TO HELP.

The children of the farm should be allowed and taught to help and have an interest in affairs. They should be assigned little parcels of ground for garden patches and to be cultivated for their own benefit. They should be given a share and concern in the live stock and poultry; the feeling of ownership stimulates attention and ambition. I recall an instance where a country girl in an Eastern state sold over $1,000 worth of chickens hatched in an incubator and artificially brooded. There are plenty of girls in Minnesota able and willing to do something of this kind. Incubators [illegible] from 100 to 1,000 eggs. They are heated by a lamp, which beats the hen, for it never leaves the nest, never tramples over the eggs and breaks them, and keeps a uniform temperature. There is an incubator factory here in St. Paul. There should be 10,000 of these hatching machines among the farmer boys and girls of Minnesota. They could be made to pay the interest on many a mortgage and reduce the principal too. Have flower gardens and trees near the house; adorn the home with pictures, if nothing more than lithographs of harvesters and plows. Supply the family with literature; home papers first, farm journals next, and then magazines and books. The bulletins and publications of the state experiment station and of the national department of agriculture are sent free to all, and every farmer should have them.

The methods of the old time farmer in diversifying the crop industries ought to be taken up. Every farmer ought to be familiar with the character of every acre he owns.

Full attention ought to be given to small farming. Every farmer knows the dependence that is placed for household supplies upon the garden and "truck patch." Commonly from an acre of ground enough vegetables can be raised to supply a whole family and at a total cost practically insignificant. To many farmers the idea of raising vegetables for the market seems never to have occurred, and yet the subject is one of importance. On nearly every small farm the grain crop only pays the expense of running the farm; the small crops and incidentals can be depended upon for profit. On every small farm there should be planted at least an acre of potatoes for market. With proper cultivation, involving but little time and labor, the yield will average 100 bushels, worth 25 to 50 cents per bushel. Last fall the price in St. Paul ranged from 65 to 80 cents a bushel and they have been selling at retail all winter for about $1 a bushel.

Navy beans can be very profitably raised. They will grow on almost any kind of soil and produce well with but little attention. Soil that "will not raise beans" is proverbially worthless. They are always worth from $1.50 to $3 a bushel. The present price in St. Paul is from $3 to $3.25. Northern grown seeds are considered the best, and several of the largest seed growers in the country have farms in Minnesota and produce beans, peas, etc., by the carload.

Onions will yield large profit for the time and labor expended in their cultivation. They are singularly exempt from the ravages of insects or diseases, do not require much attention and always command good prices. They will sell at present in St. Paul and Minneapolis for $1.25 per bushel.

As good celery as any in the world comes from Minnesota, and yet we send thousands of dollars every year to Michigan for a product no better than will grow here.

A small popcorn patch would pay, for its product is always worth from $1 to $1.50 a bushel. Present price for a good article, $2.

In our neighboring state of Wisconsin tobacco is a product of such importance that a newspaper is printed in its interest. As long as men will use it, tobacco will be grown. Why not raise some in Minnesota?

Good profits may be obtained on materials that are ordinarily thrown away. Clean baled straw, particularly oat straw, is always in demand by horsemen in cities and towns for bedding and other purposes, and brings from $8 to $10 a ton.

Grow Flax and Grow Rich.

Flax fiber is very valuable or can readily be made so. The tow which comes from a threshing machine, if in a good condition and fairly free from shives, can be sold to the tow mills and factories for the use of manufacturers of mattresses, upholsterers, ship chandlers and others at good prices.

Flax growers will do well to return to old methods if they desire the best returns from this product. As an experiment, the flax from a small portion of the field should be pulled or cut, bound into sheaves and shocked and then, when thoroughly dry, the seed threshed out and then spread upon the ground until the rains and dews have rotted the fiber so that it will part easily from the stalks, then gathered and broken upon the old flax break, then scutched and hatcheled and the long silky fiber twisted into hanks and sold to the linen makers, who will be glad to buy it at 10 cents per pound or more. The tow resulting from the hatchelling can be spun upon an old-fashioned spinning wheel into binding twine at odd times at an expense of but a few cents per pound, and the noted binding twine problem thus be solved by each farmer for himself.

GOOD MARKET FOR FLAX FIBRE.

It is not improbable that the ordinary tow from the threshing can, with a little preparation, be spun into twine. It is, however, quite certain that the preparation of flax fibre for the linen mills will yield bountiful results. It always finds a ready market. We are told by those who are putting up linen mills in Minneapolis that they will take all the fibre that the farmers of Minnesota and the Dakotas can produce. The hand-scutched flax is much better then that prepared by machine. We have it from Eugene B[illegible]e, of St. Paul Park, that he realized $480 from six acres of flax in a single season, without interference with other farm work. The gentleman had promised to attend this meeting, and with a flax break and scutching knife explain what may seem to be a difficult feature in the preparation of the fibre. These instruments were made by the Great Northern railway and the company is desirous that the farmers of Minnesota should try this industry in their spare time. The tools are of wood of simple construction, and a description will be cheerfully furnished so that the rudest mechanic can make them.

And in this connection it will at [illegible] hemp which grows wild [illegible] in abundance throughout Minnesota. The vacant and uncared for lots in the city of St. Paul grow up with it every season. One man has realized as high as $30 a ton for prepared hemp and a ton and a quarter can be grown on an acre. A mill at Champaing, Illinois, last year contracted for 3,000 acres of hemp from Illinois farmers.

Men often idle away time in one way or another that could be most advantageously employed in the potato field, the onion patch, and other work commonly called "tinkering," and generally thought too undignified for men and too insignificant for any one. Things can be engaged in which are not very laborious in their nature and that will amount only to pastime, and when market day comes, $35 from onions, $50 from navy beans, $50 to $100 from potatoes, $50 from other root crops, $100 or more from flax fiber, together with respectable amounts from other sources, will make up quite a snug sum, goodly to see and handy to have.

Always Keep Live Stock in Variety.

Every small farmer can have various kinds of stock. Horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, should all be kept. Good milk cows are indispensable, and the annual difference between a scrub cow and a good one is 100 or more pounds of butter. If the milk cannot be sold to a creamery, butter may be made by the housewife.

Our state is well adapted to the raising of sheep. We can make mutton cheaper and better than they can anywhere else in the civilized world, and when we supply home demand there is plenty of demand abroad, as no European can make first-class mutton as easily and cheaply as we can, and mutton is a favorite meat abroad.

The stock should be cared for and so should the implements. Rust and rot do more for the implement maker in the winter than wear and tear do in the summer, and rain and sun do more in summer than wear and tear. Shelter for animals as well as implements can be cheaply and easily made in Minnesota—if nothing more, poles and straw can be used.

More attention should be paid to poultry. Chickens and turkeys can be profitably raised and are always salable, and, with the abundance of water in the lakes and rivers of Minnesota, ducks and geese can be made a source of income, and something too can be made from fish. Eggs can be preserved against the day of good prices by methods simple and easily practiced. The best grades of poultry should be selected and the fowls given comfortable quarters and other needful attention. The average price received from two eggs will keep a chicken a week and in good condition. We bought last year $3,300,000 worth of eggs from Canada, and in all agricultural products to the value of $18,600,000, or enough to divide $300 each among 62,000 American farmers.

In this land of flowers every farmer can keep bees cheaply and profitably. With proper care and attention a single strong healthy hive of bees will produce every season at least 100 pounds of good honey, worth from 15 to 20 cents a pound. A farmer at Alexandria, Minn., 100 miles north of us, gathered 6,000 pounds, or three tons, of honey from a small apiary.

LOOK AFTER THE MULTITUDE OF DETAILS.

By attention to these little things a man of reasonable industry and intelligence can make farming the occupation that it should be. The merchant makes his best profits from his notions. Every other business man looks closely after the little things. The small farmer especially ought not to reject the staple crop, but he ought not to depend upon that more for real profit than upon his flax field, vegetable garden, berry patches, poultry yard and many other ways and means that can be so easily adopted and utilized.

Let the editors of Minnesota and the Northwest give more attention to the discussion and development of small industries in their towns and specialty and variety on their farms, than creating small politicians and there will be more in it for the country.

Without assuming to tell the editors what they ought to do, I ask if the papers of the farming districts should not give the interest upon which the prosperity of their community depends a large share of space. How few papers solicit contributions from their successful farmers, telling why and how one succeeded with his crops, while his neighbor failed. If the farmer feels unable to do it, let the editor write it up. A hint or suggestion whereby a subscriber is enabled to make an improvement, and in anywise increase his income or better his condition is worth more than the knowledge of the existence of the greatest pugilist that ever lived.

DISCARD THE IDEAL, RETAIN THE PRACTICAL.

It was the expressed ambition of the good king Henry III, of France, that his subjects would become so prosperous that every one of them might have a fowl in his pot whenever he wanted it. Every one desirous of his country's good, will heartily wish, not only that every farmer can have a fowl in his pot for his dinner, but that he may have a happy family in a snug home, a well-filled barn, horses in his stables, cattle in his pasture, sheep in the fold, pigs in the sty, poultry in his yards, vegetables in his garden, money in the bank and peace in his heart. If new fangled modes and methods have failed to bring about this condition for him, let him try some of the old fogy practices which his grand-father found worked so well.

Between hoeing beets and onions, or scutching flax and giving audience of a half day to some small office seeker, stay at home and turn an honest penny. There is more profit in a patch of onions than in a hundred political meetings, be they ever so enthusiastic.

If there is ever supernatural interposition in favor of any one, it is extended in behalf of him who employs all of his time usefully. He uses for his advantage all the means and opportunities, however humble, that God and nature have placed in his hands. There is no royal road to success open to the farmer or anybody else. Every one must hew out his own destiny, and [illegible]

Reply to the Above by a Practical Farmer, the President of Euclid Alliance.

The golden age of farming is about to dawn. In reality the gods, in the likeness of men, have come down to instruct the editors and publishers in the mysteries of that sublime art that is to cause the wilderness and the solitary place to rejoice and blossom as the rose. Minnesota is beautiful for situation, the joy of the whole earth; and the inducements it holds out to those who are willing to give up driving the pen to drive the mule and hold the plow; have been pictured in such real, living and beautiful colors, to the press fraternity of our great metropolis, that there may be reason to fear lest the native born farmers may soon be supplanted, and their happy homes and their peaceful occupations transfered to their envious neighbors of the city.

And is it any wonder that men of intelligence, who have tried to make themselves homes among ungainly piles of brick and stone on Summit Avenue or Dayton's Bluff, should tire of tedious climbing, or shrink from dangerous rides on cable cars, and sicken from breathing the smoky air rising from filthy work shops beneath, and come to the sensible conclusion that there's no place like—a farm? No doubt scores of these unhappy families would be glad to exchange their miserable quarters for a few acres each of land, on the sweet scented prairie, if they could there have a few cows, a "scutching machine" and an "incubator!"

No doubt the happy days are about to dawn. I can well believe that the sober donkey will lift his great ears and laugh for joy when he sees a dignified official of the Great Northern or an erudite editor of the Press riding a harvester and binding the golden grain with twine spun by the fair fingers of their wives. Surely when those 10,000 editorial lads and lasses shall have gotten their 10,000 "incubators" in full working order, every family in Minnesota can have a "fowl in his pot."

Now, brother farmers, this immigration business is assuming serious proportions. We have been discussing the proposition of devoting $1,000 towards aiding the Great Northern in bringing in settlers, but if they propose to fill our lovely Valley with editors and their families, whose industry will deprive the poor convicts at Stillwater of needed exercise, and our worn out hens of needed rest, then we may well think twice before we act. But why should we allow those city editors to appropriate all of this new enlightenment upon farming to themselves? Since some recreant editor has published all of its secrets, let us profit by our opportunity and appropriate to ourselves some of the Promethean fire.

"LAWS CAN'T CURE ALL ILLS."

How strange that we have not known that before. Our wise fathers made a law that no one should use tobacco within ten miles of a house, but, sad to say, in defiance of both law and decency, it has found its way to the parlor. We have usury laws, but still we pay 50 per cent. We have temperance laws, but men will drink. We have moral laws, but still men will injure their neighbors. But notwithstanding all these facts, we farmers have been working and worrying about more law-making. Let us leave this useless and bothersome business to the editors and railroad officials. Politics is too filthy for farmers' hands, any way. Besides, any ordinary farmer will have enough to do to keep his "incubator" in good working order. It is true that we are supposed to govern ourselves, but the slave holders used to vote for their slaves and govern them. Why not let the editors and railroad officials do the same for us?

"FARMERS NEED NOT LIVE IN POVERTY."

If this is true of farmers in general, how doubly true of farmers in Minnesota. Our forests are abundant. Our prairies are broad and fertile. Our hills are full of ore. Our thousand lakes swarm with fish. There comes to us the "grouse," the "mushkodasa" and "the white goose, the waw-be-wa-wa." Our skies are bright with countless stars. Our nights are beautified by the Aurora Borealis. Our atmosphere is so dry that we only "smile" when the mercury crawls into its bulb. We have the black ox and the Jersey cow. Our wives are patient and our children are willing; all we lack is the "scutching machine," the "spinning wheel" and the "incubator." Setting hens are troublesome, wasteful and dangerous things, any way, and the wonder is that we have put up with them so long, when a harmless "incubator" will do better work, and always stay where you put it.

But who will presume to intimate that the farmers of Minnesota are poor? They have thousands of fertile acres under the plow; they send golden butter from the Atlantic to the Pacific; they have built and filled granaries that are the envy of Europe; they have provided for a system of flour mills unsurpassed in the world; they have equipped railroads of which no one is ashamed; they have built up "Twin Cities" that astonish their eastern friends. Minnesota farmers dote on twins. Who can say that we are not rich? Most of the farmers are, it is true, a little short of cash, but that is because they have loaned themselves short to the railroads, elevators and mills, and can't collect their interest. Still they are living in hopes that a few prosperous years will rectify these slight embarrassments, and all will be happy.

"Stout hands, willing hearts and clear heads will win the rest."

Yes, we are beginning to brush the cobwebs from our brains. The fogs are lifting from our mental horizon. Our hearts are willing, our hands are growing strong, and we live in the confident hope that manhood, rooted in so rich a soil, breathing so pure an atmosphere, under skies so clear, will ere long rise up, and with serene dignity, occupy that position of honor and influence that is now held by a gilded puppet.

Let us ever be mindful of "The combination that wins,"—manhood, faith and perseverance.

"FARM HOMES CAN BE MADE BEST HOMES."

There is no limit to the attractions of farm life to the "intelligent farmer." Go to the ant, thou Lubbeck, and enjoy thyself. If such a great intellect as Darwins could find enough in the study of the common earth worm to enthuse his great genius for a whole year, surely any ordinary FARMER could find ample enjoyment for a SCORE of years in studying the habits of a bed bug. Don't say you havn't time for these innocent recreations. Take time. Let the old cow go without being milked—her butter won't pay its own transportation to St. Paul, any way. Study bugs and thereby associate yourselves with the great men of the earth, and be prosperous. It belittles a man to be always thinking of sections of wheat, or how to get 20 pounds of wool from the back of one sheep, or how to put 2,000 pounds of meat around the bones of a black ox; but just get right down to the conscientious study of any common bug and from that day you begin to be a man and a farmer. And then, learn to be unselfish in your enjoyments. As we drink the rich milk, and taste the sweet butter fresh from the dairy, let us think feelingly of the poor editors and railroad officials of St. Paul who have to spread their bread with ancient grease.

"REQUIRE THE BOYS AND GIRLS TO HELP."

Yes, here is the secret of success. Follow the example of your city instructors, and get up and call the children early to help you hunt bugs. It's always the early bird that catches the worm. You have had the children riding the plow early and late, but that is too newfangled. Get them back to the old-time occupation of hunting bugs; they are spry and their eyes are better than yours.

Under any conditions don't neglect the "incubator" there is money in it.

A friend of mine, a physician, started in the "incubator" business eight years ago. That "incubator" was a blessing to the farmers for miles round. It made a wonderful market for eggs, and did not interfere with the chicken trade one bit. And the physician actually made enough in one year, with that "incubator" so that he was able to give up doctoring and go to preaching. I am not sure that every "incubator" will batch out a preacher, but even if it doesn't, "incubators" as a class, are not to be despised. Another man of my acquaintance bought an "incubator." It was cheap, it only cost $100. This man was a collection agent and went into the "incubator" buiness in style, and with enthusiasm. I believe it is uncertain whether he puts eggs or collections into his "incubator," and I do not know that he ever told any one how much he made out of his chickens, but instead of the "incubator" lifting his mortgages, the mortgages lifted him.

"Let the children work the garden." If it takes too much time to show them how to do it, or you are afraid they will let it grow up to weeds, hire an expert gardener to teach them, they need the instruction, and ought to have it.

"Furnish your house with plenty of books and pictures." If you cannot buy books and pay your taxes too, let the taxes go. If you pay your taxes the money is liable to be wasted or stolen by corrupt officials. If put into books and papers, these will give a literary air to the farm house, even if you cannot take time to read them, and the editors and publishers will be supported. But in reality it is not necessary for farmers to spend money in this extravagant way. Almanacs can be had free, and they are always brim full of wit and information. Besides these standard household treasures, reports of experiment stations are sent out free to farmers—that is, you can consider them free after your taxes are paid.

I know that some of you farmers are educated men. I know that many of your wives are graduates of eastern seminaries and colleges, and have a taste for the best literature; but, where will they find it if not in the almanac and the state bulletin? If they need any thing further to read get some cheap paper that treats of "worms" and "incubators." This new fangled idea that women need love stories and illustrated magazines, ought not to be encouraged among farmers' wives. And as for pictures with which to adorn your best room, the harvester men, the thresher men and the "incubator" manufacturers, send out elegant cromos. What could be more tasteful for a farmhouse wall than a beautifully colored picture where a thousand downy chickens are just jumping out fresh from a hot "incubator?"

"KEEP LIVE STOCK IN VARIETY."

Well yes, this is good counsel as we know from experience. We have kept live stock in variety. Have tried almost everything from a Maltese cat to a draft horse, and the only trouble we find in KEEPING it, is to get enough for all to eat and drink. But how long are we expected to "keep" this ever increasing lot of live stock? If any one would tell us how to sell, "live stock in variety," we would be most happy; or if some R. R. official would tell us how to water our stock so as to double its value, we would still be grateful.

"GROW FLAX AND GROW RICH."

Now farmers, we have all grown more or less flax, and we have all grown more or less rich. At all events we each have our deposit in the bank, and these deposits increase to our heart's content. The only trouble is, they have to be renewed so often, and the interest drawn from the wrong side. Very likely when we get a "scutching machine" that will take the usury out of this banking business, we may grow rich by growing flax.

"LOOK AFTER THE MULTITUDE OF DETAILS."

It would be hard to condense a greater amount of wisdom and good counsel, in fewer words, than is contained in this injunction. Our worthy instructor of editors, has told them how the great packing business is managed so economically that nothing is lost but the squeal of the pig. Now this great farming business must be managed with still greater economy. We must see to it, that not even the SQUEAL of the farmer shall be lost. In this farming business there is no end of details, to be looked after, especially in marketing the produce. There are the elevator details, the millers details and the transportation details. In fact, there are so many details that often is nothing left the farmer but a "tale of woe."

I never knew but one farmer that I thought paid sufficient attention to details. I was calling on a farmer last summer. He had been docking his lambs, and he had all of the amputated tails carefully pinched between two heavy posts, and I said to myself, this man looks after details.

"DISCARD THE IDEAL, RETAIN THE PRACTICAL."

This sentiment touches a tender spot, no doubt, in us all. We have all had our ideals, and oh how hard it was to part with them. We have had our ideals of life, our ideals of character, our ideals of manhood, our ideals of friendship, and our ideals of home; but, alas! how many of these have we had to give up in exchange for the common practical things as they really exist.

When we boarded the Great Northern at St. Paul upwards of ten years ago, ticketed for the "land of golden promise," we were full of ideals. An ideal country with ideal weather, ideal farms, with ideal machinery and ideal stock, ideal houses and ideal comforts and ideal lives. Yes, but we have reluctantly given up one after another of our ideals, and have settled down to the practical: the unfinished house and barn, the mortgaged farm, the back taxes, the unpaid interest, the weary wife, the uneducated children and the uncertain future. And now must we discard another ideal picture of "prosperous farmers," as presented by our lerned and sympathetic writer of the Great Northern? Such idealistic hash may be, and no doubt is, adapted to the farming needs of the Press Fraternity of St. Paul, but is, we fear, too stale for the practical demands of the Minnesota farmer. It savors too much of the doctrine of Pharaoh of ancient Egypt. No doubt the company of an onion patch is to be preferred to the company of such politicians as have been in office in Minnesota for the past twenty years, but the farmers have been starting "incubators" all over the country, and when the broods are well hatched, there will be a fowl for the pot of the R. R. official and editor, as well as the farmer. No doubt it is true that, "there is more profit in a patch of onions, than in a hundred political meetings," but the farmers are not so wedded to the almighty dollar, as to be willing to see their country go to the dogs and the devil, for the sake of an "onion patch."

"Every one must hew out his own destiny, and heaven helps those who help themselves." This is the conclusion of the whole matter. The farmers are just beginning to hew out their own destiny, and no doubt, they will hew to the line, and surely Heaven will help them for their cause is just.

And now, with one question, which we would like to have explained, we leave this subject. The farmers, the R. R. owners and the millers of Minnesota, are in partnership, in helping to feed the world. It is acknowledged that they have one common business interest. They are largely of one race. They are all children of a common Father. Then why should one partner in this business pile his million on million, while the other is putting mortgage on mortgage? Why should the wife and daughters of one partner live in superb luxury, with nothing to do but to attend the demands of elegant society, while the wife and daughters of other, have their station assigned in the "onion patch" and at the chicken coop? It cost our fair land the sacrifice of almost a million of her choicest men, to equalize the rights of whites and blacks. God grant that it may not require a like sacrifice to equalize her rights and the privileges of white citizens.

PRESIDENT FARMERS ALLIANCE,
Euclid, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, March 19, 1891.

Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 83.
1 Northern 81.
2 Northern 78.
3 Northern 69.

Wheat fell off one cent this week.

Rev C. E. Page was in the city this week.

The weather on Tuesday indicated that spring is at hand.

Charles Ingeborg will clerk for Alderman & Sylvester after April 1st.

John W. Hack is up from Superior buying potatoes by the carload.

Attorney Martin O'Brien has rented an office in the new Opera block.

Horace Russell left for Lisbon N. D. with his family on Sunday evening.

Tom Adams has moved into the house recently occupied by Tom Morris.

Dr. C. E. Dampier is registered at one of the leading St. Paul hotels this week.

E. D. Childs went to St. Paul on Tuesday evening to see about the drainage bill.

The genial Geo. P. Whitcomb was in on Wednesday. "Where's Tom Sprague?"

Judge Brown expressed perfect satisfaction with the verdict of the jury in the Russell case.

Dunc Morris goes in where Tom was and it looks like old times to see him again at the case.

A. N. Hixson sold a farm last week. He has not sold himself short nor does he intend to do so.

March seems to be making up for the balance of the winter for snow. Get some nearly every day.

The ball at McKinnon Hall on Tuesday evening was well attended and heartily enjoyed by all.

Deacon Bain was up from Fisher last week at the trial; so, in fact was nearly every body else in Fisher.

M. R. Brown went down to St. Paul on Monday evening to attend a meeting of the drainage committee.

If you lost an earring last Friday evening go to Wm. C. Spottswood's store and see if Arthur Stewart has it.

Locken & Solberg have a full and complete assortment of boots and shoes for all. Call and examine goods and prices.

Comrade A. H. Cleveland was down from Mentor on Wednes day, and gave THE JOURNAL a call of both pleasure and profit—to us at least.

Mrs. Arthur Stewart lost a valuable gold watch on Friday of last week and Miss Hattie Bivins found it. The only fault we have to find is that the watch was recovered before the notice appeared in print.

E. L. Smith, whose notice of sale appears elsewhere in this issue, has some extra fine thoroughbred Shropshire sheep for sale. He has taken extra pains with this flock and no better sheep can be found in Polk County. If you are looking for good sheep here is your chance.

Frances St. Germain, one of the Crookston old timers, died in this city last Wednesday. At one time, some years ago he is said to have been rich but had met with severe reverses which stripped him of his fortune and he was compartively a poor man when he died.

Locken & Solberg are now ready with a new and superb line of Gents' Furnishing Goods, to which they are continually adding. Don't forget to call a their new stand (Anderson's old place on Robert Street,) and look them over.

Grand Forks Herald—The acquittal of Russell for the killing of Dr. Bahnsen, of Crookston, occasions no surprise and emphasizes anew the conviction of practical justice that the villain who violates the sanctity of the family of another does so at the peril of his life and forfeits the protection of the courts.

Landlord Ellingbo, of the Norman House who went west several weeks since returned last Wednesday satisfied that Polk County is not the worst place in the world to live in. He says it is there very much like it is here—some are making money and others are not; taking everything into consideration he thinks the chances are better here.

Tom Morris departed for his new home at West Superior, Wis, on Monday evening. Tom has been for many years a resident of Crookston and his departure will be regretted by hosts of friends who will unite with THE JOURNAL in the hope that fortune may smile upon him in his new home. "May he live long und brosper."

J. B. Chapin, county Superintendent of Becker Co., gave THE JOURNAL man a pleasant call on Monday while enroute to Beltrami County to visit schools. Mr. Chapin is one of the Becker County old timers, and was, at one time considered one of the shrewdest politicians in the county. We should judge, from appearances that he has not yet lost his grip. He is one of the best superintendents in the state.

For Sale.

Good farm mare, one carriage and one [illegible]. Address E. G. [illegible] Oxman[illegible]

THE TRIAL

OF

HORACE RUSSELL

FOR THE

Murder of Dr. Bahnsen.

Acquitted!

Our account of the Russell trial last week closed with the Wednesday morning session. At the afternoon session Hugh Thompson was the first witness called. Mr. Thompson testified that he had known defendant and his family. Defendant had always borne an excellent reputation.

B. F. Zarracher sworn: "Live in Crookston; keep a restaurant; lived in Polk County since 1878; was sheriff 4 years; knew the defendant and his family; lived half a block from them in Fisher; I moved to Crookston in '79 or '80; defendant's character was good, very good; have seen him very seldom in the past four years."

Geo. O. Reilly sworn: "Live at Fisher; have known defendant about 10 years; part of the time lived in the same house with him; never heard anything against his character; he was always industrious and kind to his family." Cross examined. "He has been farming most of the time; at times he ran a spindle wheel, they call it; it is a gambling wheel, I believe; he used to run it two or three weeks at fairs in the fall; never heard of his having any trouble prior to this Bahnsen affair; yes, I heard that he was arrested in Crookston in the winter of '90 in a house of ill repute; that was after defendant's wife had gone to Lisbon."

A. D. Stephens sworn: "Live in Crookston; real estate and loans; moved from Fisher in '88; knew the defendant for 10 or 11 years; his character was good; was sober, industrious and upright." Cross-examined: "I remember hearing that he had been arrested; can't say where; don't know anything about his drinking prior to August 26th, 1890; I never knew him to drink."

J. E. O'Brien sworn: "Live at Crookston; hardware; have known defendant six years; saw him in my store last summer; he came in and bought a revolver and some shells; he said he wanted to protect himself against dogs; after he got it he remarked that he did not know whether he had the courage to use it on himself or not, but that he did not care to live any longer; he appeared very much excited; his actions frightened me and when he went out I went and told the police about it and requested that they get the revolver from him; after awhile he came back and told me he guessed he did not want to use it after all and asked me how much I would ask to take it back; told him I would take it back and refund his money, as we were old friends. I thought him laboring under strong mental excitement; could hardly say I thought him insane as he gave me pretty good reasons for his actions."

Cross-examined: "Your opinion is based solely upon his actions as related by you?" "Yes sir."

H. A. Mason sworn: "Live in Crookston; fruits and confectionery; know defendant slightly; saw him in spring or summer of '90 in my place of business and in front thereof; one afternoon he came in, nodded and walked the entire length of store; I had some canes displayed in a rack and he walked up to the rack, saying: 'Are you going to give me a nice cane to-day?' I replied: 'Well, I am not using canes for chromos this summer!' He walked excitedly about the store several times and asked who owned it and if I wanted to sell it; took out a little money and said that a man with all that capital had better buy a square meal than a whole store outfit and went out on the sidewalk where he rapidly paced up and down for some time; I noticed a glassy stare about his eyes, he acted different from a man who was all right; I should call him slightly demented; spoke to policeman Andy Locken about him." Cross-examined: "I did not observe any trace of his drinking that day."

O. Kirkhus sworn: "Live at Fisher; kept butcher shop in '90; remember the shooting of Dr. Bahnsen; know defendant; he came into my shop a day or so previous and without a word seized an axe I had in my hand and attempted to take it from me; he did not succeed; I was frightened, his actions were so wild; soon he let go the axe handle and started for the door, where he called me to come to him and said: 'I am going to Crookston to see somebody, but don't you tell!' He looked like he was crazy; his eyes were glassy and rolling continually round like a wild cat; this was three or four days before the shooting."

A. C. Kennedy sworn: "Live at Duluth; am contractor and builder; was at Fisher last summer to build the Ste. Croix elevator; about two weeks before the shooting I saw defendant frequently; three of us went into a saloon one evening where he was and [illegible] asked him to play; he tried to play three or four games but seemed excited and restless and could not remember trumps, and would bid too high, seemed pre-occupied, and finally threw up his hand and said 'leave it there, partner, I will do something desperate before long, if I live;' this was a short time before the shooting; saw him several times thereafter and thought him insane."

Geo. Mears, a carpenter from Duluth, was with the party above mentioned, and corroborated above testimony, as also did D. Berthiaume, of Crookston, who said that he expressed his belief that Russell was insane at the time this occurred.

M. Campbell testified to being in Fisher last summer and observing the queer actions of Russell from which he concluded he was considerably off.

John Paterson testified as to the defendant's inquiring of him for the county attorney one day last summer and also concerning the arrest; how he was notified on the morning of the 26th of August and went down to Fisher on this side of the river and sent two men down the other side, notifying the inhabitants as they went. He found Russell at the town hall in Fisher about 4:30 and brought him up to Crookston. Told how Russell observed on the way that he supposed that he was entitled to a bounty, as there was a bounty for killing wolves, and he had shot one; that he had had a happy home and Bahnsen had broken it up and then charged him $65 for it.

O. Berthiaume corroborated the above testimony and related the conduct of the prisoner while coming from Fisher, he was wild and flighty, laughing and crying alternately all the time.

Albert White, a prisoner in the county jail, testified as to Russell's conduct since his confinement in the county jail showing insanity.

——— Martin, another prisoner, told how Russell would wash his head frequently during the day; was nervous, forgetful and preoccupied, often very irritable, and very restless and sleepless at night, often springing up in fright and crying out; how he complained of his head being hot; his eyes glassy and his general appearance that of an insane person.

Anton Erickson, dept. sheriff and jailor, corroborated above as to its essential points, showing the flighty actions of prisoner.

Dr. C. K. Bartlett, superintendent of asylum at St. Peter, testesfied as to the condition of defendant's sister, Mrs. Simon's, when she was in the hospital. Said that children of insane persons were considered more liable to insanity than others.

Horace B. Haney sworn: "Live at Fisher; am a farmer; knew defendant 12 years; knew his father and mother and two sisters; knew Mrs N. Simons, defendant's sister; lived about 40 rods from her house; I took care of her two or three weeks about 7 or 8 years ago; she was kept at the house of her father; she was sent to St. Peter; don't know how long she stayed; after her return was when I took care of her; she was very violent at times; we had to build a yard for her and keep her tied up to prevent her doing injury to any one or jumping into the river; three years since she lived in Fisher; she is supposed to be insane all the time; knew defendant's mother, she was a nervous sort of a woman; got mad easily and was very violent when she did get mad."

THULSDAY MORNING.

Thomas Erwin sworn: Lived at Fisher since '78, know defendant; heard of the shooting; defendant was flighty during 1890; wanted to talk of his trouble I did not want to talk with him on that topic; I dont think he was drunk; think he was crazy; he was honest industrious and temperate before this trouble occured."

Henry Tanner sworn: "Live at Fisher; knew the defendant and his family for 12 years; knew his sister; when she was crazy lived within 80 rods of her home."

A deposition from A. R. Russell was here introduced: "Live at Los Angeles Cal.; am 61; am a farmer; have 6 brothers and 8 sisters; lived in Fisher 14 years; Horace G. Russell, the defendent is my son; have two daughters; my father was imbecile in mind at times very much so; his mind would at times entirely leave him; his mother was at times apparently insane; no domestic trouble caused this; his sister Mrs. Retta Simons was in the insane asylum at St Peter in 1878 or '79; she was insane at home before and after that and once she nearly killed her mother; I think it was Horace who saved his mother's life at that time; my occupation in Minnesota was that of a steamboat captain. I went to Egypt from there."

Deposition of Mrs. Angelina Robinson, sister of A. R. Russell, showing insanity in the family, was read, also one from Jonas Russell a cousin of A. R. Russell on the same topic.

J. B. Merrill testified that defendant came to his house one night in January 1890 and waked them up and told them that he was pursued by two men and was apparently much alarmed; after a while he calmed down, and Mr. Merrill took him up stairs to bed; defendant insisted on crawling up on his hands and knees so as not to make any noise. Defendant got out early next morning and went out so quietly that no one knew of his departure. From his actions and appearance that winter and summer should think he was very much off—in fact insane; saw no signs of his having been drinking that night.

Wm. Henry, re-called: saw the defendant a short time before the shooting; his appearance indicated insanity.

H. B. Herrick, re-called: Helped to carry the body into the depot, did not see a revolver upon it.

Levi Brainerd, re-called. Don't know whether Dr. Bahnsen had a revolver or not.

Dr. H. Lankester testified as to the examination of the body of deceased.

Duncan Hamilton testified as to selling defendant a revolver and his shooting one ball into the showcase which defendant paid for. There were but five balls left in the revolver and defendant bought no shells. Some time previous to this he came in and bought a revolver and in a short time returned it.

T. A. Dunlava sworn: "Live at Fisher; saw Dr. Bahnsen a few moments after he was shot; helped to carry him into the depot; saw no one remove a revolver; I heard Mr. White say that he took one from the body; he gave me the revolver afterward; it was loaded; I turned it over to the relatives of Dr. B. later.

Mrs. Winnie Russell, wife of defendant, here took the witness stand, and in a low, evenly modulated tone and with flaming countenance told the story of their wrongs. She told how she had been suffering from a painful female trouble in Lisbon, had been treated for it by a physician there, and, when she came to Fisher the trouble still continuing, Dr. Bahnsen was called. His treatment helped her and after he had made several visits to her house he told her he thought she was now able to visit his office for such further treatment as she would need, and appointed a day for her to visit his office. She went at the time appointed. The doctor's office was adjoining his living rooms over Toftes drug store. After talking outside the doctor asked her to take a drink of beer which she declined, but he thought she had better take it to strengthen her and went into the next room, returning shortly with two glasses of beer, giving her one, which she drank, and at once began to feel very queerly. She told the doctor and he said she had better go into the next room and lie down on the sofa and she would soon feel better. The doctor assisted her to rise, helped her into the next room, placed her on the sofa, sat down by her side and commenced kissing and coaxing her. She resisted his freedom but was powerless to successfully resist his attempts, and he accomplished his purpose. She said that the doctor gave her a glass of water thereafter, examined her and let her go; that she went to his office twice a week for two or three months when she found that she was in an interesting condition. The doctor advised abortion and gave her medicine to accomplish it. The medicine did not have the desired effect and he said an operation would be necessary and told he she must tell her husband. She did so, and her husband refused to have it done and told her he was sure he was not responsible for her condition. She managed to allay his suspicions for the time being and insisted on having the operation performed. He did not consent, but she went to the doctor's office where the operation was performed and she went home and to bed, and was very sick for two or three weeks, the husband meanwhile taking excellent care of her. When she recovered she decided that she would have to leave Fisher as the only way to break up the doctor's influence over her, and urged her husband to sell out and go to Dakota, back to her old home. He told her that all he had in the world was here at Fisher and that he could never do as well in Dakota as here. She insisted on her point and they had some words about it and it was finally decided that she should go for awhile, ostensibly on a visit; started on the 5th day of January, 1890; saw Mr. Russell again in April, he came to Lisbon; he said he had found out everything; after he had told me about the rumors he had heard I told him everything just as I have now told the jury. He asked me to write down answers to questions he would write, and I consented. (Papers exhibited). Yes, these are the questions he wrote and these are my answers. Witness then detailed defendant's actions, which showed a mind ill at ease or unbalanced; said that all the while he was in Lisbon, six weeks, she was positive he did not drink any liquor; she had bought a house there, intending to live there and eventually to succeed in getting him there; he was very nervous and excitable at times, constantly brooding over his troubles, talking about it or writing upon scraps of paper. He would start up out of bed nights and sometimes would dress and rush out doors. I could generally succeed in quieting him, but not always. The letters that he wrote her during the summer of '90 were read in court, which were generally an incoherent, unintelligible jumble, but showing great love for her throughout. In June he wrote me that he was going to prosecute Dr. Bahnsen; I came to Crookston to see my husband. Met Dr. Bahnsen; he asked me what I was here for and I told him; he asked me to go up into his office and deny it all and he would have a bidden witness to what I said; I finally consented, went up into his office and denied that he had had improper relations with me. The doctor asked me if I was going on to Fisher to see my husband. I told him I had to as I had no money with which to return; he said he would lend me $5 and I could repay him when I could; I returned that afternoon; telegraphed my husband from Glyndon not to go to Crookston. About the 19th or 20th of August my husband sent me a check for $200 and a postal order for $5; nothing else in the letter; The next I heard from him he had shot Dr. Bahnsen; my mother told me about it.

James Cassidy sworn: "Live at Lisbon, North Dakota; am father of Mrs. Russell; know defendant; one night, while he was living in Lisbon, in the summer of '90, I was awakened by a great racket at the door, some one knocking furiously and calling me; I opened the door and defendant rushed in apparently very much frightened, exclaiming 'keep still;' I caught hold of him and called to my wife to light a lamp; Mr. Russell objected to that and blew out the match which my wife lighted. Mrs. Winnie Russell soon came and she seemed to quiet him down and he was willing to be led by her; he worked for my brother-in-law six weeks; was discharged on account of his erratic actions which unfitted him for business.

Horace G. Russell, the defendant, here took the witness stand and told the sad story of his wrongs, seemingly omitting nothing. His actions were at times excitable, at times he seemed to forget easily and once, when called to give an account of a vision which he claims to have had, he grew very much excited and throwing his arms around wildly, said: "the air! can you see it? Well, then, neither can I explain this to you!" He remembered his trip to Duluth, his being at Crookston at different times, his purchase of the revolver at O'Brien's hardware store, of shooting it off in the room in St. Louis hotel, of returning it to O'Brien; of the affair at the Bon Ton restaurant; of his visit to his wife at Fisher and her confession; of his first visit to the doctor's office when he showed the doctor his wife's confession and the doctor said "this is a serious matter and I want time to consider it; call this evening." Called in the evening and the doctor told him to sit down in a chair at the opposite end of a table at which the doctor was sitting, who said he had considered this matter of blackmail, then jumped up and drew a revolver and said, "what if I did have criminal intimacy with your wife, what are you going to do about it? Get right out of this office;" remembered trying to get a warrant for the arrest of doctor Bahnsen which was refused him; remembered getting the telegram from his wife not to go to Crookston "but I went, all the same," said he. Remembered getting up early on the morning of the shooting and meeting a Mr. Johnson who was starting for the west that morning and taking a drink with him. He said of the affair at the depot: "I met Johnson as I came out of my room in the morning; he told me he was on his way to take the train for the west; I said I wished I was going along with him; he asked me to have something with him and we went into the Northern Tier together; I accompanied him to the depot and went into the ticket office, I think; as the train came in I shook hands with Johnson and bade him good bye, and as I turned to go saw doctor Bahnsen getting off the train; at that instant he saw me and changed his grip from right to left hand reaching for his pocket with his right hand. I jorked out my gun, started to run and fired, I think; I don't know; everything was wild; he fired at me; I ran into the woods; I don't remember what I wrote, could tell if I saw it, if I did write anything; I don't know how long I was in the woods; I came out after awhile and went to the post office after my letters; they told me I had better go and give myself up; I went up to the town hall where I saw a lot of men; I gave myself up; do not know to whom; I don't know what happened thereafter; I don't remember coming to Crookston." Here the prisoner seemed to grow nervous, tired and very erratic, and after a few more questions court adjourned until Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

On Friday morning Dr. C. K. Bartlett was recalled, who produced the hospital record of defendant's sister, Mrs. Simons.

Dr. Bower sworn: "Am a physician; have made insanity a specialty for 21 years; heredity is a pre-disposing cause of insanity; parents may have one form of insanity and their offspring another; the proportion in Minnesota is about 1 to 660, taking the patients in our insane asylums as the basis; the fact of the prisoner's giving himself up is a symptom of insanity; an insane person is led by his emotions and imagination; prisoner's actions at night indicate strong signs of insanity if a hallucination; a nervous temperament is more liable, more susceptible of insanity; I call defendant of a nervous temperament; under the circumstances as set forth I should not consider defendant capable of determining between right and wrong.

Robert Bain sworn: Live at Fisher; saw Dr. B fall; saw him get off the cars; could not say that I saw Russell shoot, I think Dr. B was between me and Russell; spoke to Russell; said good morning; he seemed calm and collected apparently; he was talking with several persons and he seemed rational; I could see nothing peculiar about him; have known Russell for 6 or 7 years; saw him frequently several times previous to the shooting; thought he was indrunk. Cross-examned:—Am a carpenter and builder; did not see defendant every day; was never with him drinking; could not positively say that he was drinking; was at the station probably 10 minutes before the shooting; saw defendant talk with Hamilton and various parties; could not say what is it was about; think it was about crops; heard him talk with Johnson and bid him good bye; don't know who all he talked to; think he shot the doctor about half a minute after the train arrived; think the doctor stood between defendant and myself; sure he did.

Richard E. White sworn: I live about six miles from Fisher: saw defendant the Sunday before the shooting at Reilly's saloon in Fisher; Brownlee said to him "you were on a big drunk yesterday" prisoner said "yes;" did not hear him say anything to Reilly.

H. B. Herrick re-called—I saw defendant drunk many times before the shooting; on that morning defendant acted about the same as he always did when sober; did not see Bahnsen make a move to draw a revolver; saw him step off the train; defendant started instantly upon seeing Dr. Bahnsen.

Casper Sands sworn.—Am a conductor; remember the shooting; I had charge of the train; heard the shot fired; I was in the third passenger coach; made a jump for the door when I saw something lying on the platform and saw defendant running away toward the rear of train; a passenger on the train jumped off and fired at Russell who ran on toward the village; going south I call it; Russell did not stop.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Alvin Brainerd sworn. Live at Fisher; know defendant; had business transactions with him; tried to sell me his farm; he seemed rational enough when I talked with him.

O. Hanson sworn:—Live at Nesbit 5 miles northwest of Fisher; knew defendant since 1888; saw him on a spree a few times; saw him drunk in April in Fisher; before that a few times a few years back; cross-examined: don't remember how many times; don't remember the occasions; once a year ago in the fall; did not see him drink; only knew he was drunk by his talk.

E. Olson sworn: Live at Fisher; I knew defendant about 12 years; don't know anything about his drinking habits; saw him frequently up to last fall; don't know that I ever saw him under the influence of liquor.

Ole Nelson sworn: Live at Fisher: know defendant: worked for him two years; he acted all right when I worked for him; worked for him a year ago last summer.

O. Berthiaume re-called: I took the revolver from the defendant; yes, every chamber was loaded; I don't know who re-loaded it after the fatal shot was fired he said he had re-loaded it while in the timber.

Mr. Haines sworn: Live at Fisher; saw defendant day before the shooting; in afternoon and evening; he was very drunk when I first saw him, and sober the next; I keep a saloon there.

J. E. O'Brien re-called and testified as before.

Martin Saunaker sworn: Am cashier of the bank of Fisher; know defendant; about the middle of April he withdrew money from the bank; I issued a draft for him on the 16th day of April; he acted perfectly natural at that time.

Mr. Wood testified that he had known defendant several years and had seen him once when he was pretty full.

Mr. Erickson testified that he had known defendant 6 or 7 years; saw him in O'Reilley's saloon; treated him with others; had seen him drink whiskey but never saw him stagger about: saw him once, one year ago in April I think when he was pretty drunk; he said he had some trouble.

Mr. Bowman had known defendant 8 years; was in our store about ten minutes the Saturday before the shooting, pretty drunk, did not see him drink.

Mr. Kingsland, corroborated the above and should consider his capacity for business good.

Mr. Swan sworn: Was in Mr. Thompson's barn that morning; saw Russell coming down the walk; he threw up his revolver, not at me exactly, and said: 'Dont' open your mouth!" He appeared very much excited.

Dr. Bartlett re-called.—The condition of the grandfather would have slight effect upon the grandson; the insanity, of the sister might have an indirect bearing; I think that defendant had sufficient soundness of mind to distinguish right from wrong at the time of the shooting.

Dr. Jones was called as an expert and after being thoroughly quizzed expressed it as his opinion that defendant was fully capable of distinguishing right from wrong at the time of the shooting.

Dr. Heog did not pretend to be a specialist in insanity, had studied such cases somewhat. Thought that defendant was able to distinguish right from wrong at the time of the shooting. After this testimony the court took a recess and it was here that a very highly dramatic scene was enacted.

Wm. Wiedenhoeffer was seized with an epileptic fit which caused great excitement among the bystanders. This so excited the prisoner that with a wild unearthly yell he made a break for a window and would no doubt have jumped out had not two or three of the jurymen caught hold of him and hung on until the sheriff and a deputy could take hold of him. As it was it required four or five men to hold him down until his wife came to him and spoke to him gently when he became calm, exclaiming: "What is all this fuss about anyhow?" As it was then after 5 o'clock the court ordered a recess until nine o'clock Saturday morning.

On Saturday morning Gen. Clapp summed up the case for the prosecution but seemed to lack his usual fire, evidently aware that the case was not one requiring the extreme penalty. He spoke about one hour and was listened to with close attention.

Hon. H. Steenerson then took the floor and held the great audience spell bound for nearly two hours and a half, making one of the best speeches of his life. He carried his audience with him as he followed the accused from a happy boy up to the hour of the shooting depicting the happy home ruined which shattered the reason of his client and wrought all this woe and misery. He quoted copiously from Scripture, showing a greater familiarity with this subject than his most intimate friends had ever credited him with, and when he took his seat Judge Brown briefly charged the jury and at 1 o'clock the jury retired in charge of the deputy and the court took a reces until 3 o'clock.

It was 11 p. m. when the jury slowly filed into the court room and took their seats in the jury box to render their verdict which was "not guilty,"

When the solemn words were spoken that made Horace Russell a free man he did not move a muscle sitting there as quiet and composed as though waiting to see what they would do next, and it was not until Hugh Thomson gripped him by the hand saying: "Get up and thank the jury, Horace," that he seemed to realize that the great trial was really over and he could walk abroad a free man, even then he arose and shook hands with the jury in a perfunctory manner as one walking in a dream.

The verdict seems to meet with almost universal satisfaction although of course there are some who think he should have had a term behind the bars, but to THE JOURNAL it seems as though a term at St. Peter would be more fitting.

MARRIED.

BUGG-BIVINS.—At the residence of Mr Frank Bivins, in Crookston, on Tuesday evening, March 17th, 1891, by Rev. R. H. Batley, Mr. F. W. Bugg to Miss Hattie L. Bivins.

The happy couple settle quietly down to housekeeping in our midst with the best wishes of hosts of friends. Mrs. Bugg has grown up from girlhood in our midst, while Mr. Bugg has been for years employed in the Valley Roller Mills and the friends of both are legion. THE JOURNAL adds its blessing.

Paint! Paint! Paint!

Now is the time to buy paint and use it a little later on. The old reliable brand, "The Northwestern," we are closing out at $1.25 per gallon. Strictly pure. Other goods cheaper.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

TEACHER WANTED.

To commence term on April 6th, in School Dist. No. 55. Apply to the clerk of said district, Jas. Greenhalgh, Jr., Crookston, Minn. [48-50]

Reception Social.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational church will hold a social at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Miller Thursday evening March 19th. Everybody very cordiall invited.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Frist publication March 19th, 1891.

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Peter Nord and Kristine Nord his wife to the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company bearing date the 7th day of December A. D. 1888 and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 14th, day of December A. D. 1888, at 5:30 o'clock p. m. in book 39 of Mortgages, on pages 398-401 and whereas such default consists of the failure to pay the following instalments of interest, to-wit: $17.50 that became due June 7th, 1889, $17.50 that became due December 7th 1889, $17.50 that became due June 7th, 1890 and $17.50 that became due December 7th, 1890 and the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company the holder of said mortgage has elected to declare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sum in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof including principal and interest upon the premises in said mortgage described the following sum, to-wit: Five hundred and eighty six and 60-100 Dollars ($586.60) and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described and covered by said mortgage, viz: The south east quarter (S E ¼) of Section ten (10) in Township one hundred and fifty three (153) of Range forty four (44) containing 160 acres of land according to United States government survey thereof Said premises situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and Twenty Five Dollars attorneys fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston in said County and State, on the 4th day of May A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 19th, A. D. 1891.

Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, Mortgagee.

[43-2] [N. G. 43.] H. D. DICKINSON Attorney.

[First publication March 19, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, March 17th, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Ella Teal, deceased.

Whereas an instrument in writing, purporting to be the last will and testament of Ella Teal, deceased, late of said county, has been delivered to this court.

And whereas, Jackson S. Chapin has filed therewith his petition, representing among other things that said Ella Teal died in said county, on the 27th day of February, 1891, testate, and that said petitioner is the executor named in said last will and testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be issued thereon to said Jackson S. Chapin.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument, and the said petition, be heard before this court, at the Probate Office in the city of Crookston in said county, on Tuesday, the 21st day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when all persons interested may appear and contest the probate of said instrument;

And it is further ordered that notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 17th day of March, A. D. 1891.

By the Court,

C. M. [illegible], Judge of Probate.

[43-45]

J. P. Marcum and family returned on Wednesday morning from a visit to friends and relatives in Iwoa.

M. Davis was in from Euclid on Wednesday. Will drill in some 200 acres of wheat this spring. Prefers the press drill.

rticle on our first page, following F. I. Whitney's paper was written by one of the practical farmers of the Red River Valley, who for years has been putting into practice many of the valuable suggestions made by Mr. Whitney and it will be read with interest by all. It is an an article plum full of meat and will amply repay a careful study.

Farmers who will give systematic attention to the cultivation of sugar beets, and co-operate with the Aricultural Experiment Station, are requested to leave their names with Agent Fegan of the Great Northern Railway at Crookston, and seed and instructions as to proper culture will be sent free—analysis of beets will also be made without cost to the producer. [48-tf]

Rev. R. H. Battey will speak morning and evening at the Congregational church next Sunday, 11 a. m. "Reciprocity and Religion." 7:30 p. m. "The Young Woman Who Works." Cordial welcome to everybody. Be on time. These services will open at the hour and close in one hour. Let the "hired girl" have a vacation and come to church next Sunday night. But Mrs. Housewife will want to hear the discourse too.

Ed. Journal:—At the annual Town meeting held in Grove Park, March 10th the following officers were elected.

Supervisors,—W. W. Attix, chairman, E. F. Steelman, John Quesnell.

Town Clerk,—E E. Abbott.

Treasurer,—John E. Tice.

Assessor,—Tollef Farden.

Justices of the Peace,—George M. Swift, Thor Halderson.

Constable, George A. Bunzey.

Pound Master,—Samuel B. Cochrane.

Money voted for Town purposes $100 money voted for Road purposes $50.00.

E. E. Abbott.

The young people of the Congregational Church give a social at Mrs. A. A. Miller's on Thursday evening of this week. Everybody cordially invited.

Mrs N. P. Stone entertained her lady friends very pleasantly at afternoon tea on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week.

Mrs. Sam Rosenthal who has been quite ill with erysipelas has now almost entirely recovered.

Report of Town meeting town of Sanders.

Supervisors,—C. H. Petterson chairman, S. Engebritson, Lars Larson.

Town Clerk,—Nels K. Anderson.

Town Treasurer,— A. W. Lind.

Assessor,— O. T. Tandberg.

Justices,—O. T. Tandberg, August Hap.

Constable,—Hans Fein.

Overseer of Poor,—Lars Anderson.

For Sale.

On Sec. 29, Euclid, Minn. The subscriber will offer for sale for the next 10 days the following property to-wit:

Eight fine young mares, 5 of them with foal. One five year old gelding, one 4-year old, 4 3 year old, 7 2 years old, 5 yearlings. One registered Polled Angus Bull, 2 years old, 20 well bred fresh Cows and springers, 8 yearlings, 15 Calves, 15 Sheep, 2 Poland China Sows, 2 Shoats, Bronzed Turkeys, Full English Mastiff Pups and Shepard Dogs. One Butterworth 3-horse Tread Mill Thresher and Separator, 2 nearly new McCormick Harvesters, 1 new Mower, 1 old Mower, 1 Wheel Rake, 1 Gang Plows, 2 Sulky Plows, 2 Walking Plows, 1 Broadcast Seeder, 1 Fanning Mill, 1 Cockle Mill, 1 Diamond Feed Mill, 3 Farm Wagons, 1 Sled, Harnesses, Saddles, Dairy Utensils, Stoves, &c.,

Prices low. Terms to suit customers.

E. L. Smith.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. Palmetier,
[36-tf] Lisbon, N. Dakota.

Peterson for April opens with two large fashion sheets, giving all the most novel and graceful designs for spring costumes. "The Tree of the Desert" is a beautifully illustrated article on palm-trees and gives much interesting and out-of-the-way information in regard to the numerous varieties. 'Hannah—A Friend," by Robert C. V. Meyers is a charmingstory written with an exquisite delicacy of touch. "Twixt His Coming and Going" by Anna M. Dwight is illustrated by some lovely photogravures and is a story of unusual merit. "In A Glass Manufactory" is another illustrated article which gives a capital account of the different stages of glassmaking. "Some Curious Easter Customs" by Martha Craig will be found full of interest. Miss Alice Bowman's serial, "Dulce Domum," grows more interesting with each instalment, and the first chapters of "At The Star," by Agnes James, makes one eager for the continuation. The fashion and house-hold departments are as always—simply invaluable. Terms, two dollars a year. Send 5 cents for a sample copy. Address, Peterson's Magazine, Philadelphia, Pa.

AUCTION SALE

OF

HORSES and MULES.

For the purpose of accommodating the many who may want to dispose of their surplus Horses and mules this spring, I will hold an Auction Sale at my Yards and Stables in the city of Crookston, commencing

Friday, March 27th, 1891,

At 10 o'clock a. m., and continuing the same until all is sold.

All persons desiring to enter their stock for this sale, must do so on or before the 20th of March giving description of stock and the terms on which he wants it sold. The terms or cost for advertising and selling will be 5 per cent of the sale. No stock will be allowed to be taken away until settled for. The terms on which each horse or mule will be sold will be made public at the sale.

M. R. Brown.

Closing Out at Cost!

I AM CLOSING OUT

MY ENTIRE STOCK OF

General Merchandise

AT AND BELOW COST

IF YOU WANT

BOOTS, SHOES

OR CROCKERY,

Call at once. All Heavy Goods Going Below Cost. This is a Bona Fide Sale and Everything Goes. Call and See.

A. STURE

LAST CALL.

HARDWARE

FOR THE NEXT

10 DAYS.

From 10 to 20 per Cent

BELOW COST.

Beginning on March 19th,

AND CLOSING

Saturday Eve., March 28,

As I give possession of the store April 1st. I still have a large stock of Mixed Paints and Painters Material, Blacksmiths' Supplies, Cutlery, Rifles and Ammunition, Fence Nails, Glass, Grindstones, Shovels and Spades, Belting and Rubber Hose, Shelf Hardware, &c.

For 10 Days Only!

Wm. C. Spottswood.

Auction Sale.

The undersigned will sell at public auction on Thursday, April 9th, 1891, at his residence on Section 5, in Fairfax, (known as the Sterge place) the following property, to-wit:

Three good work horses.

One stallion.

Three cows.

One heifer.

Two lumber wagons.

One sulky, one buggy, 2 plows, one sleigh also all of my household furniture and other aricles too numerous to mention.

Terms:—All sums of $10 and under, cash. All sums over $10 time will be given until October 15th, 1891 on good approved notes at 10 per cent. per annum.

[47-49] M. O. Meland.

Every One Using Machine Oils.

Best black oil, per gallon, - - 15c

" Eldorado engine oil, per gal., - 25c

Bring in your cans and jugs and save 100 per cent on machine oil.

Wm. C. Spottswood.

Take Notice.

All parties owing accounts and notes that are due are requested to call and settle before March 15th, or they will be left with an attorney for collection. I must have the money. I will continue selling out at and below cost until March 25th.

Wm. C. Spottswood.

For Sale or to Rent.

My farm on Maple Lake, situated one-half mile from railroad. The right party can coin money. If not sold soon will rent. For further particulars address.

Minor Rood, Mentor, Minn.

AUCTION SALE.

About the middle of March, definite date to be fixed and announced later, I will sell at Public Auction at the Red barn, Schraeder's Livery and Sale Stables, the entire outfit, consisting of horses, buggies, carriages, harnesses, whips, robes, cutters, sleighs, and a thousand and one articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale announced later.

Mrs. E. D. Schraeder.

Trade at HOLMBOE'S,

THE ROBERT ST. DEALER

—IN—

General Merchandise!

S. L. COLLINS

—PROPRIETOR OF—

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota

Horses bought and sold on commission.

Everything neat and nobby.

Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

In connection which I will attend to in person

J. V. E. WYATT,

UNDERTAKER.

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for

N E W G O O D S.

A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material. | Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized Under the State Laws.

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $10,500

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections. Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.

C. HENDRICKSON, President.
O. H. LUCKEN, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch.
H. Steenerson. J. H. Locken. C. Hendrickson.
Max Ericsson. L. K. Aaker. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE.

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

Crookston, - - - Minn.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET CROOKSTON.

H. STEENERSON

ATTORNEY AT LAW

CROOKSTON, - MINNESOTA

P. J. RUSSELL,

Attorney-at-Law

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Next to Merchants' Bank.

WANTED.

A few large young fresh cows. Enquire at Fontaine & Austin's.

Benoit & Sylvesterson,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

Heavy and Shelf Hardware

Carry a full and complete line of Stoves and Ranges, Doors and Sash, Barbed Wire. Agents for the Standard Rotary Shuttle Sewing Machine, Richmond Champion Press Drill and McSherry Drill.

Broadway, Crookston, Minn.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estate

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY

OUR NEW

Fall Styles

LADIES,

Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS, - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. R. Northrop. A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh. John Moore. W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

NEW CIGAR STORE

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerchaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of meerschaum Goods. None Finer in the North west.

CALL IN.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, - MINN

E. STEENERSON,

Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of such Co's. ☞ CALL ON HIM!

KOPS BRO'S

103 Third Street,

GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA

PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

from selected Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.

North Star.

Fife.

Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN

COMPOUND OXYGEN

NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records showore 50 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 40,000 invalids

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r.
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collection and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

L. E. GOSSMAN,

Attorney-at-Law,

No. 2 Fournet Block. } Crookston, Minn.

For Sale Cheap.

Four good brood mares and two good work horses cheap for cash or negotiable paper. Inquire of Knudson and Borlaug, at Alderman & Sylvester's livery stables.

Closing Out Notice.

Read the great bargains in another column, which I shall continue until March 25th. Positively no longer. Everything must go at most any price.

Wm. C. Spottswood,
Successor to Stewart & Spottswood.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,

ATTY'S-AT-LAW,

McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, March 19, 1891.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
8:35 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
6:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:55 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:42 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
2:05 p. m.	Pembina	1:23 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

MONTANA EXPRESS DAILY.

7:40 p. m. de.	St. Paul	ar. 6:55 a. m.
7:00 a. m. de.	CROOKSTON	de. 7:25 p. m.
8:15 a. m. de.	Grand Forks	de. 6:20 p. m.
2:30 p. m. ar.	Helena	de. 11:00 a. m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH.

Daily, except Sunday.

Depart 7:15 a. m. .... Arrive 7:00 p. m.

FOSSTON BRANCH.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Depart 7:30 a. m. .... Arrive 5:00 p. m.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH.

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Depart 10:45 a. m. .... Arrive 4:00 p. m.

W. W. FEGAN,
Agent, Crookston.

OVERLAPPING GRANT.

Effect of The Recent Supreme Court Northern Pacific Decision.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Interior Department officials assert that the decision of the Supreme Court in favor of the Northern Pacific and against the Great Northern in the overlapping limits case will affect the lands claimed in the Red River Valley in North Dakota to the extent of forty miles either side of Fargo.

This will save the occupants of lands in Fargo and also preserve the settlers who have purchased lands of the Northern Pacific within the forty-mile limits their rights as against the Great Northern claim. This takes in most of the Grandin form, and there is some doubt on a point which may take in all of this farm.

No legal opinion can be obtained as to whether or not the fifty-mile limit is also preserved in the law. If that is the case the right of settlers for fifty miles north of Fargo will be preserved. The court holds that the Northern Pacific is entitled to lands fifty miles on each side of its road as definitely located; that, although the Great Northern and its predecessors were granted lands in 1857, that by releasing these grants for other grants and by changing its first projected line to other pionts it lost the benefit of the grant of 1857. When the line to St. Vincent was again revived by the act of 1865 the priority of the title, the court holds, became vested in the Northern Pacific.

More About Taxing Railroad Lands.

The Todd County Argus.

The bill lately introduced in the legislature providing for the taxation of railroad lands as other lands are taxed, which was published in last week's ARGUS, brings up a subject which is of especial interest to the people of Todd county. It is of interest because this county has had some experience in trying to collect taxes on railroad lands, and the people are not only alive to the injustice of the present system of taxation but know from experience something of the difficulties that are in the way of securing a remedy. The constitution, Sec. one of article nine, provides that "all taxes to be rased in this state shall be as nearly equal as may be, and all property on which taxes are to be levied shall have a cash valuation and be equalized and uniform throughout the state." That the present system of taxing railroads and their earnings does not come within this provision of the constitution is very easily shown. The railroad commissioners' report for the year ending November 30th, 1889, page 77 gives the total cost of the railroads of Minnesota at $211,825,850 (this valuation does not include any lands owned by the companies outside of their right-of-way, depot grounds and such property as is used in the operation of their roads) and at page 82 the same report tells us that the total taxes paid by all the railroad companies for the year ending December 31st, 1888, was $690,416,26. Presuming the valuation of the roads to be too high, that the stock has been watered and the cost of construction has been more than it should have been and assuming that other property in the state is not assessed at its full value, let us for the purpose of comparison cut down the value the railroad companies place on their own property to $500,000,000 and then compare the amount of taxes they pay with the taxes paid on the same amount invested in any other business. The average rate of taxation in Todd county is not far from 2½ per cent. and I think a low estimate would place the average rate in the whole state at over 2 per cent. Assuming the average rate to be 2 per cent., then $150,000,000 invested in manufacturing, farming, banking or any other industry than railroading, would be burdened with a tax of $3,000,000 while the same amount invested in railroads gets off with a tax of $960,416.26, or in other words, $1,000 invested in railroads pays a tax of $4.65 while $1,000 invested in anything else in the state is taxed $20 or more. Add to this the fact that the "land grant" roads avoid taxation on the large body of lands they are holding at a valuation of from $5 to $10 per acre and pile upon this the proposition of the Great Northern railway company "that any amount of property it may acquire by purchase or otherwise, is and forever shall be exempt from taxation", and I ask what becomes of your constitutional provision "That taxes shall be equalized and uniform throughout the state?" That something should be done to make the railroad property of this state bear its just share of the burden of taxation all fair minded readers I think will agree, but as to just what can be done or how best to proceed there may be no doubt is a great difference of opinion. If the bill referred to above should become a law and secure the taxation of these lands it would still fall far short of an equitable adjustment of the full question as contemplated by the constitution above quoted and while I think the bill should pass if it is the best thing obtainable at this time, I am strongly of the opinion that the whole system of railroad taxation should be overhauled, and made to conform to the constitutional provision of equal taxation. If it be found that taxing railroads on their gross earnings is the best method, then let the rate be fixed so high that all property will bear its just burden.

The railroad companies stand entrenched behind a wall of legislative enactments, largely of their own building, and will fight to the last any provision looking to a change or an invasion of their "vested rights." Those companies receiving their land grants direct from the general government claim their lands exempt from taxation under the provisions of such grants, but since the general government has no power to tax lands it is safe to presume it cannot exempt lands from the taxing power of the state in which they lie after the title has passed into other hands. That the general government could dispose of its land and have the exemption from taxation run with the fee as long as its grantee cared to hold it I think few people will believe.

Some roads, notably the Great Northern, received their land grant through the state and with them a provision that they should be exempt from taxation as long as owned by the railroad companies. There are many difficulties in the way of reaching these companies. The Great Northern claims to be the lineal descendent of the "Minnesota & Pacific railway company" which was created by an act of the legislative assembly of the territory, approved May 22d. 1857, in which it is provided that said company shall pay into the state treasury three per centum of its gross earnings in lieu of all other taxes and provides "in consideration of such annual payments the said company shall be forever exempt from all assessments and taxes whatever by the territory, or state which shall succeed the territory, or by any county, city, town, village or other municipal authority in the territory or state, upon all stock in said company, whether belonging to said company or to individuals, and upon all its franchises or estate, real, personal or mixed, held by said company; and said land granted by said act of congress hereby authorized to be conveyed to said Minnesota & Pacific railroad comany shall be exempt from all taxation till sold and conveyed by said company." This language would seem broad and definite enough to exempt everything the company possesses or could ever acquire, but there are those who consider the purpose of such statutes is not to exempt property from taxation, but to provide a substituted method of securing to the state its proper revenue from the taxable property of these corporation, and our supreme court held in the case of Todd county vs. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railroad company that property owned by said company (apart from the land grant) not necessarily used in the operating of the road did not come under the exemption. Perhaps if the question should be adjudicated it would be found that a very small part of the Great Northern system would come under the provisions of this old charter to the Minnesota & Pacific railway company and that the charter itself when construed by the courts may not have the broad binding import the railroad attorneys attribute to it.

Whatever may be the force or fate of the bill now before the legislature, I feel that the interest taken in this question of equal taxation will not abate until the railroad property is obliged to pay the same rate of taxes that other property must bear, and by way of suggesting to the members of the present legislature who are wasting their time trying to find a way to tax propperty owned by non-residents over which this state has no control, let me say you can be more useful to your constituents if you devise a way to secure such results.

JANUS.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office in McKinnon Block.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon

OFFICE IN

McKinnon Block, Crookston

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,

DEALERS IN

Shelf and Heavy

HARDWARE,

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, Ole Olson Gang Plows, F. F. Thompson & Sons Walking Plows. Sole agents for the Domestic Sewing Machine.

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

STOVES AND RANGES

SOLE AGENTS FOR

Havanna Press Drills

FOR POLK COUNTY.

Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., - - - - Crookston.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,

CROOKSTON, MINN.,

Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plain and Fancy

DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, FLANNELS,

BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for	$1.00
Rhadames for	1.00
Faille Francais for	1.00
Gros Grain for	1.00
Satin Luxors for	1.00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS.—

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel	20 cents.
54 inch Tricot	35 "
54 inch Flannel	45 "
54 inch best all wool Flannel	75 "
36 inch Henriettas	25 "

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for......30 cents.	A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket......$1.50
" " " ......35 "	" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket...... 2 00
" " medicated, for 40 "	" 4½ lb. 10¼ white " 4 50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dry Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN

Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton Grand Forks, Crookston,

AND ALL POINTS

EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on

THE DINING CAR LINE

Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points

IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY

—AND—

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS

PASSING THROUGH

Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana Idaho, Oregon and Washington

CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars,
First and Second Class Coaches,
Pullman Tourist and
Free Colonist Sleepers

AND ELEGANT DINING CARS

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and west, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

East bound.

Passenger 7:10 p. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.

West bound.

Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p. m.

For rates, maps, time tables or special information, apply to C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston, Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication March 12, 1891.]

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Pasca Labelle and Adele Labelle, his wife, to the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, bearing date the 11th day of April, A. D. 1889, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, A. D. 1889, at 3 o'clock p. m., in book 46 of mortgages, on pages 147-9.

And, whereas, such default consists of the failure to pay the following installments of interest, to-wit: $6.73 that became due November 1st, 1889; $6.00 that became due May 1st, 1890, and $6.00 that became due November 1st, 1890.

And, whereas the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, the holder of said mortgage, has elected to declare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sums in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And, whereas, there is actually due and payable at the date hereof, including principal and interest upon the premises in said mortgage described, the following sum, to-wit: Two hundred and twenty-four and 52-100 dollars ($224.52). and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the said debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter (sw¼ sw¼) of Section twenty (20), in Township one hundred and fifty-two (152) north, of Range forty-five (45) west, containing forty acres, more or less, according to the government survey thereof; said premises situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law: which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 27th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 6th, A. D. 1891.

Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company,
Mortgagee.

H. D. Dickinson, Attorney for Mortgagee.

[47-1] (N. G. 87)

W. A. ROBERTSON,

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication March 5th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars interest due January 1, 1890, thirty five dollars interest due July 1, 1890 and thirty-five dollars interest due on the first day of January, 1891, which default has continued to the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mederic Desantells and Celanire, his wife, mortgagors, to The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of July, 1887, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of July, 1887, at 11:45 o'clock a. m., in book 33 of mortgages, on page 56.

And, whereas, the said The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of one thousand one hundred and nineteen and 72-100 dollars, with interest on $1125 thereof at the rate of seven per cent per annum, from the 2d day of February, 1891, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The south half (s½) of the northeast quarter (ne¼) and the south half (s½) of the northwest quarter (nw¼) of Section twelve (12) Town one hundred and fifty (150), Range forty-four (44) in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County at the front door of the Court House in the town of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of one thousand one hundred and nineteen and 72-100 dollars and interest and the taxes if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 23d, A. D. 1891.

The Loan and Guaranty Company,
of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.

A. Humphreys.
[46-52] Attorney for Mortgagee.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by William H Perkins and Mattie L. Perkins, his wife, to the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, bearing date the 4th day of September, A. D. 1888, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 4th day of September, A. D. 1888, at 2:10 o'clock p. m., in book 39 of mortgages on pages 51-54.

And, whereas, such default consists in the failure to pay the following instalments of interest, to-wit: $17.50 that became due March 4th, 1889, $17.50 that became due september 4th, 1889, $17.50 that became due March 4th, 1890 and $17.50 that became due september 4th, 1890.

And, whereas, the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company the holder of said mortgage has elected to declare, and hereby does declare the whole principal sums in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas, there is actually due and payable at the date hereof, including principal and interest, upon the premises in said mortgage described, the following sum, to-wit: Five hundred and ninety four and 47-100 ($594.47) dollars

And, whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The west half of northeast quarter (w½ ne¼) and north half of southeast quarter (n½ se¼) Section thirty-four (34) Town-ship one hundred and fifty-one (151) of Range forty-one (41) containing 160 acres more or less, according to the government survey thereof. Said premises situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law: which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 11th day of April, A. D. 1891 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 24th, A. D. 1891.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

H. D. DICKINSON,
Attorney for Mortgagee. [N. G. 81] [45-51]

[First publication Feb. 12th 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK. In District Court, 14th Judicial District.

Frederick K. McKeen, Plaintiff, vs. James B. Holmes, The Minnesota Title Insurance and Trust Company, Charles P. Haseltine, Neil Farnham, and Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, Defendants.

Notice of Sheriff's Sale under Judgment and Decree. Foreclosure of Mechanics' Liens.

Whereas, a certain judgment was duly obtained, entered and docketed in the District court, in the County of Hennepin, State of Minnesota, in the 4th Judicial District, on the 13th day of December, 1890, and whereas a transcript and certified copy of said judgment was thereafter, to-wit: on the 4th day of February, 1891, duly filed and docketed in the Clerk's office in the District Court, of Polk County, State of Minnesota, in the 14th Judicial District, in the above entitled action, in favor of said plaintiff, Frederick K. McKeen and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of two hundred eighty-seven and 78-100ths dollars ($278.87), including interests and costs, and in favor of said defendant, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of five thousand four hundred eighty-one and ninety-one one-hundredths dollars, ($5 481.91), including interests and costs, and whereas, in said judgment it was decreed that the judgment so rendered in favor of said plaintiff to the full extent thereof, including interests and costs and the judgment so rendered in favor of said defendants, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company to the extent of five thousand four hundred sixty-two and 6-100ths ($5,462.06) dollars, including interests and costs to be specific liens upon the land and appurtenances in said judgment described situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: That tract of land known as block one hundred two (102), of Rail Road Addition to the Town of Red Lake Falls, being a portion of lot six, (6), in Section sixteen, (16), in Township one hundred fifty-one, (151), Range forty-four, (44), of which certain Flouring Mills are a part of the appurtenances, co-ordinate with other and prior and superior to any right, title, lien or claim to or in said land or appurtenances of the said defendants, James B. Holmes, Charles P. Haseltine, Neil Farnham, or the Minnesota Title Insurance Company or any of them And whereas it was in said judgment decreed and ordered that the Sheriff of said Polk County State of Minnesota, sell said land and appurtenances at public auction as by law in such cases made and provided, to satisfy said judgment and interest thereon, together with costs of said sale, and to pay the proceeds of said sale, after deducting all lawful expenses and charges thereof to and between said Frederick K. McKeen and Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, to the amount of their respective judgments and liens given.

Provided, if said net proceeds be insufficient, then to distribute the same pro rata among and between said judgment creditors; a certified copy of said judgment and decree having been duly served upon and delivered to me. Now, therefore,

Notice is hereby given that I will sell the above described land and appurtenances thereon, at public auction to the highest bidder therefor in accordance with and as directed in said decree on the 3th day of March, 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the county Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said Polk County and State of Minnesota, to satisfy said judgment and claims, together with the costs and expenses of such sale.

Dated February 11th, 1891.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN,
Sheriff of Polk County, Minnesota,

WHITE & EVANS, Attorneys for Plaintiff.
E. D. JACKSON, Attorney for Defendant,
Willford and Northway Mf'g Company.
[43-49]

Crookston Meat Market

E. STEENERSON, Proprietor. E. ERIKSON, Manager.

Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of twenty-two hundred and eighty ($2280) dollars, which is claimed to be due, and is actually due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by James B Holmes, as mortgagor, to Frederick W. Miller, as mortgagee bearing date the 24th day of May, A. D. 1889 and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of May, A. D. 1889, at 9:10 o'clock a. m., in book 22 of mortgages, on page 567; which said mortgage was duly sold and transferred by a deed of assignment duly executed and delivered by said Frederick W. Miller to The Hauser & Sons Malting Company (a corporation) bearing date the 7th day of April, 1890, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, 1890, at 11:50 o'clock a. m., in book 52 of mortgages, on pages 88 and 89, and no action or proceeding at law, or otherwise, having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage situate lying and being in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota and more particularly described as follows: Lots five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), nine, (9) ten (10) thirteen, (13), fourteen, (14), seventeen, (17), eighteen, (18) nineteen, (19), twenty (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22) twenty-three, (23), and twenty four, (24), in block seventy-eight, (78); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3) four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block eighty, (80); lots nine (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11) eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), and twenty-two, (22), in block eighty-one, (81); lots three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7) eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12), in block eighty two, (82); all of block ninety two, (92); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), twelve, (12), twenty-one, (21), twenty two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block ninety-three, (93); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8) nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12) in block ninety five, (95), all in the Railroad Addition to Red Lake Falls according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes (if any) on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, ; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on Tuesday, the ninth (9th) day of April A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 26th, A. D. 1891.

The Hauser & Sons Malting Company,
Assignee of said Mortgagee,
By Paul Hauser, Sr.
President.

Moritz Heim, Attorney for said Assignee.
[45-51] St. Paul, Minn.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred thirty-five and 32-100 dollars, ($535.32) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by James E. Mitton and Mary M. Mitton, his wife, mortgagors, to Robert J. Adams, mortgagee, bearing date the 3d day of November, 1884 and, with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota on the 25th day of November, 1884, at 2:35 o'clock p. m., in book "S" of mortgages, on pages 509 to 513, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: The northwest quarter of Section Ten (10), Township one hundred and fifty (150), Range forty-six, (46), west, containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred thirty five and 32-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Feb 23d, A. D. 1891.

ROBERT J. ADAMS, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

WHEREAS, ALBERT GILMOUR AND Jane Gilmour, his wife, of Polk County, State of Minnesota, as mortgagors, did, on the 8th day of July, A. D. 1887, duly execute and deliver to Josiah Upton, of the County of Onario, State of New York in Ir mortgage bearing date of June 25th, A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The se¼ se¼ Section 6, ne¼ ne¼ Section 7, and n½ nw¼ Section 8, Township 147, Range 44 west, containing 160 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of seven hundred and fifty dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note, with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage, and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee or order, which said mortgage was on the 8th day of July, A. D. 1887, at 5:30 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk, in book 33 of mortgages, on pages 33-36; and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest on said mortgage on the 25th day of June, A. D. 1889, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the 25th day of December, A. D. 1889, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest on said mortgage on the 25th day of June, A. D. 1890, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest thereon on the 25th day of December, A. D. 1890, and the said interest is still unpaid and due; and

Whereas, it was stipulated by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed, that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, his heirs, administrators, executors or assigns, to consider the whole sum hereby secured as immediately due and payable without notice to said mortgagors or any other party; and

Whereas, the said Josiah Upton, mortgagee, has exercised his option to consider and declare, and does hereby consider and declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and

Whereas, there is now due, and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred twenty five and 23-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now, therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 21st, A. D. 1891.

JOSIAH UPTON, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN,

LAWYERS,

FOURNET BLOCK,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

[First publication Feb 26th, 1891]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of three hundred thirty-seven and 50-100 ($337.50) dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Christine Estby and John Estby, her husband, mortgagors, to Charles H. Jefferson, mortgagee, bearing date the 23d day of November, 1885, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 28th day of November 1885, at 10 o'clock a. m., in book 23 of mortgages, on pages 49, 50 and 51, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lot number five (5), in block number three (3), in South Crookston, Polk County, Minnesota, according to the recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minnesota, in Polk County, and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of three hundred thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 23d, A. D. 1891.

CHARLES H. JEFFERSON, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of thirty five dollars ($35 00) installment of interest, which became due and payable on the first day of December, A. D. 1888, and a further default having been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars ($35 00) installment of interest which became due and payable on the 1st day of December, A. D. 1889, and a further default having been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars ($35.00) installment of interest which became due and payable on the 1st day of December, A. D. 1890, upon a certain mortgage, made, executed and delivered by John K. Ostgord and Betsy Ostgord his wife, of Polk County and State of Minnesota, mortgagors to The Netherlands American Land Company, of Amsterdam, Holland, mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of June, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 13th day of June, A. D. 1887, at 3:00 o'clock p. m., in volume "32" of mortgages, on pages 190 and 191.

And whereas a further default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage by the mortgagors failing and neglecting to pay the taxes assessed against, and levied upon, said premises covered by said mortgage prior to the date of the sale of lands for the payment of taxes, and the mortgagee, to protect the lien of its said mortgage, was compelled to pay and on the 4th day of May, A. D. 1889, did pay, in satisfaction of the taxes then due and delinquent on the said premises the sum of nineteen and six hundreths dollars ($19.06), and on the 31st day of March, A. D 1890, did pay, in satisfaction of the taxes then due and delinquent on the said premises the sum of twenty-two and three hundreths dollars ($22.03); and the said defaults having each continued for a period of more than thirty days, the whole sum secured by said mortgage is hereby declared to be due and payable, as stipulated in said mortgage in case of a failure to comply with the conditions thereof; and that by reason of such defaults and declaration, there is claimed to be due and payable on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of five hundred twenty-three and eighty hundreths dollars ($523.80), and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and by virtue of the statute in such case made and provided., said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and conveyed thereby, viz: The east half (e½) of the northeast quarter (ne¼) and east half (e½) of the southeast quarter (se¼) of section three (3) in Township one hundred forty-seven (147) Range forty-five (45), containing one hundred and fifty nine and 58-100 (159.58) acres, more or less, according to the United States Government survey thereof, together with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, interest, taxes, and twenty five dollars as attorney's fees, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made at the front door of the Court House in Crookston, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, by the Sheriff of said County of Polk, at the hour of two o'clock p. m. on the 14th day of April, A. D. 1891, subject to redemption at any time within one year, in manner provided by law.

Dated Moorhead, Minnesota, Feb. 21st, 1890.

The Netherlands American Land Company,
Mortgagee.

W. B. Douglassand Ball & Smith,
[45-51] Attorneys for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale,

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred fifty-nine and 05-100 ($559.05) dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Henr. Johnston and Ella L. Johnston, his wife, mortgagors, to George McLean, guardian, mortgagee, bearing date the 7th day of February, 1888, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 16th day of February, 1888, at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 31 of mortgages, on pages 546 to 549; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The northeast quarter of Section twenty-eight (28) in Township one hundred and forty-seven (147), in Range forty (40), containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres more or less, according to the government survey thereof, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred fifty-nine and 05-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 23d, A. D 1891.

GEORGE MCLEAN, Guardian,
Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

[First publication March 5th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss In Probate Court. Special Term, Feb. 28th, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Ole Isakson Austad, deceased.

Letters testamentary on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Osmund Osmundson, of said county.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court for examination and allowance, at the Probate Office in Crookston, on Monday, the 7th day of September, A. D. 1891, at ten o'clock a. m.

It is further ordered that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said Court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, the 28th day of February, A. D. 1891.

By the Court, C. M. BENSON,
[46-48] Judge of Probate.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT,

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom specially invited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, MARCH 26, 1891. NO. 49

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. I outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
¼ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	16 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	60 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

BIOGRAPHICAL.

Ed. Journal: Below you will find a short history of the several town officers of the town of Black River, and how they made their mark:

Jake Powers, chairman supervisors, is a native of Canada; emigrated to the United States in 1877, and settled down at Austin, Minn.; lived there till 1879, when he came to Polk County, taking up 160 acres of land under the homestead law in the town of Black River, being one of the first settlers in that town; he has, at intervals, held many important town offices and discharged the duties of every one of them in an efficient manner. As justice of the peace, an office which he has held very regularly, he bases his opinion on the facts, and not on figures. His smiling way has enticed many a young couple to him to be married, and he could in a month's time marry couples enough to settle up all the unoccupied land in Polk County, if our young people had sense and pluck enough to give him a chance.

Erik Adalfrau, supervisor, was an old Michigan miner, emigrating to Polk County in 1882, taking up 160 acres of land [illegible] town of Black River, and is now a well-to-do farmer. He was elected chairman of supervisors in 1888, supervisor in 1889, 1890 and 1891, giving universal satisfaction. He is school clerk of District No. 94. He is a good musician and furnishes the music at the Swedish Lutheran church at Black River every Sunday at a good salary.

Peter Killburg, supervisor, came over from Germany when quite young, making his home near Lake Pepin for a number of years; in 1880 moved to Crookston and shortly after took up 160 acres of land in the town of Black River; was one of the first officers of the town; was elected school treasurer in '85, and in '90 was elected school director for Dist. No. 43. He is a very pleasing school as well as town officer.

Swan Anderson, town clerk, came from Sweden to America in 1875; kept on moving westward until 1879, when he found himself in Crookston; took up 320 acres of land in Black River same year; in 1885 went back to Sweden after the girl he left behind him and shortly after settled down on his homestead. He is a good farmer, and has a large herd of thoroughbred stock of different kinds; was the organizer of the farmers' alliance club of Black River, being the 4th club in the county; was elected town clerk in '88 and has held that office ever since; has held several other town offices and discharged his duties in a satisfactory manner.

Andrew Swanson, treasurer, was born in Sweden and came to America in 1875; lived in New York and Michigan several years, coming to Polk County in '79 and took up 320 acres of land in the town of Black River and has, to-day, one of the best improved farms in this section. He was elected treasurer when the town was in its infancy and has held that position ever since; he is also school treasurer of Dist. No. 43, treasurer of the St. Hilaire Horse Co, and treasurer of the farmers' alliance club here in Black River. He has handled in his official capacity probably over $100,000, and has not, as yet, attempted to skip to Canada. He is a very obliging official.

John McKearny, constable, is a native of Ireland, naturalized in this country and has been a citizen of the United States for several years. He inherits some of his ancestors' qualities and makes a good officer. He is a close watcher of the times, and believes more in principle than party; he voted the democratic ticket (for trusts and combines) for several years, until he saw the wrong, and in 1890 voted and worked with the farmers for the rights that belong to them and for a free wheat market.

A. M. Hanson, justice of the peace, is a young man, sober and industrious, living with his aged parents on the farm; was assessor in 1890 the duties of which position he discharged in a worthy manner. He will make a good justice. He is secretary of farmers' alliance No. 689 and a firm friend of the farmer.

P. A. Ekstrom, the assessor, is one of the old settlers of the town; was assessor in '88 and '89, was overlooked in '90 but was elected this year by a big majority. Being an old farmer and knowing the value of everything about a farm, together with a good judgment, he is the best qualified man for that position in the town. He is a hard worker for a free and open wheat market and is a true alliance man; has been justice of the peace for the past two years, showing no partiality but serving all alike.

A Reader.

Henry Clews Show How The Reserve Stocks of Wheat Have Decreased.

New York. March 7.—Henry Clews report on the grain market says: The statistical situation of wheat commands general attention, not only at home but abroad, and although it is looked upon as being a strong one, a careful examination of present conditions and supplies a comparison of the latest figures received with those of previous years, shows it to be in reality even stronger than is thought by the ordinary observer. For a period of about nine years the wheat market of the commercial world have been abundantly supplied at prices considerable lower than had ever been known to prevail for so long a period. The deficiency caused by partial crop failure in important wheat-producing countries as in the United States in the years 1885 and 1888—were so promptly supplied from the reserve stocks of other countries that many of the experienced traders were wholly unable to account for or understand the situation; but investigation reveals the following causes for the. With the present facilites for communication and transportation, any calculation as to the probable world's supply, which does not include all the commercial wheat producing countries is necessarily defective and misleading. During the first seven months of the year of 1882 the price of wheat at New York was about $1,50 per bushel, with an active demand, while the world's crop for that year were the largest ever grown, and exceeded the requirements by 200,000,000 bushels. But the reserve stocks at that time had been nearly exhausted. The normal consumption of wheat increases in like proportion to the increase in population, but very high prices have the effect of diminishing consumption. In recent years the fluctuations in price were practically unimportant, and consumption therefore continued normal. The increase in population in the United States is at about the rate of 2½ per cent per annum, but throughout the commercial world it is at the rate of about 1 per cent. On this basis it will be found by the following table that the world's crops have not been growing larger since 1882, the consumption has continued to increaes, and for this reason the present reserve stocks of the world cannot but be very small:

YEAR.	Estimated production (bu)	Estimated Consumption (bu)	Increase in Reserve Stocks (bu)	Decrease in Reserve Stocks (bu)
1882	2,187,000,000	1,985,000,000	202,000,000
1883	1,968,000,000	2,015,000,000		42,000,000
1884	2,144,000,000	2,025,000,000	150,000,000
1885	1,999,000,000	2,015,000,000		46,000,000
1886	2,086,000,000	2,005,000,000	33,000,000
1887	2,127,000,000	2,045,000,000	43,000,000
1888	2,041,000,000	2,105,000,000		61,000,000
1889	1,880,000,000	2,185,000,000		175,000,000
1890	2,040,000,000	2,145,000,000		105,000,000
			428,000,000	429,000,000
Total decrease for the nine years				1,000,000

It appears from the foregoing table that during the nine years the reserve stocks have decreased 1,000,000 bushel. In the period these reserve reached their highest point in 1887, when 840,000,000 bushels had been added to them. During the years 1888-89-90 they were reduced by 841,000,000 bushels, and by June 30 1891, therefore they will be as low, if not lower, than they were June 30, 1882 at which time, as we have before stated, they were almost exhausted. For the year 1891 a crop of 2,165,000,000 bushels is required for the world, and even if made would leave nothing to be carried over to the next year with which to re-establish reserves. If the crop of 1891 should be as small as that of 1889, the situation would be somewhat similar to that of 1867, when wheat was selling at about $3,50 per bushel, though of course at that time gold commanded a heavy premium.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS. - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim,	K. D. Chase,	R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine.	B. B. Northrop.	A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh.	John Moore.	W. H. Crosby
	Chas. E. Sawyer.

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN
Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton
Grand Forks, Crookston,
AND ALL POINTS
EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on
THE DINING CAR LINE
Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points
IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY
—AND—
ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS
PASSING THROUGH
Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana
Idaho, Oregon and Washington
CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF
Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars,
First and Second Class Coaches,
Pullman Tourist and
Free Colonist Sleeper
AND ELEGANT DINING CARS

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and west, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.
East bound.
Passenger 7:10 p. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.
West bound.
Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p. m.

For rates, maps, time tables or special information, apply to C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston, Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

THE OLD RELIABLE
CROOKSTON
LOAN AGENCY
STILL ON DECK.

MONEY
On Real Estaee
MONEY
On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

NEW CIGAR STORE
SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor,
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of meerschaum Goods. None Finer in the North.

CALL IN.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,
One-half Block from Depot.
WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House, and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom specially invited.

Terms $1.00 per Day.

Why Free Passes Should be Abolished.

Minneapolis Times.

The Legislature is so painfully shy of the pass question that it is now almost certain that there will be no legislation this winter, such as the selfrespect of the members and the interest of pure legislation demand. The State allows members mileage to and from the legislature. The system of railroad passes gives the members the right to ride over the railroad that issue these passes every day in the year, including nine months that the legislature is not in session, as well as the three months in which it is in session. More than this, the members receive passes for their families and friends over most of the railroads in the state.

It is plain, that this custom of constant free rides for a legislator, besides being a dangerous abuse a form of corruption, has also other public disadvantages. It tempts members to leave the state's work for their own business or convenience who would not do this if they had to pay their railroad fares.

If this country shuld ever reach that era of reform which all patriotic citizens hope for, it will be told, to the amazement of those who listen, that there was a time in her history, and that the present time, when the railroads of the county were continually asking favors at the hands of state legislatures, and that at this time the men composing those legislatures regularly and constantly solicited and received favors from those railroads which were of a distinct value to them in a money sense. This is a plain, clear, unexaggerated and unembellished statement of the situation of affairs, which this legislature should bring to an end so far as Minnesota is concerned. All that is asked is a law prohibiting legislators, state officers, judges and other public servants from receiving valuable favors from the railroads, so that the railroads shall not be able to establish any hold on them for reciprocal favors in consequence.

The Massachusetts legislature recently considered a proposition to have the state buy their tickets over the railroads and pay for them; then transfer them to the members whose perquisites they should be. The members would thus owe their free transportation to the state, and be relieved from all obligation to the railroads for it. If any evidence were needed that the railroads issue free passes to members with a distinct idea that they are paying for legislative favors, it would be found in the determined opposition of the Massachusetts railroads to this measure. Notwithstanding it comprehended the purchase by the state of tickets which they now deliver free, and thus meant as much cash paid directly into their treasuries, they opposed the change. One of the agents of the railroads frankly declared: "We prefer to give the passes direct ourselves, as we feel that the members will then be inclined to act favorably to our wishes in matters where our interests are concerned." There is a volume in this testmony. It furnishes in itself ample ground for the abolition of the pass system. The present legislature should act in this matter this winter, not only in the interests of pure legislation and for the good name of the state, but from a sense of self-respect and public obligation.

ELECTRICITY AND HEALTH

A favorite illustration to make vivid the comparison between our grandfathers' days and our own, used to be the wonderful development caused by the use of steam power. But that has been cast in the shade by the applications of electricity during only the past ten years. The uses to which it has been put remind us more forcibly that truth is stranger than fiction. Still, though the electric spark has been caught and harnessed for the world's daily work, what it really is remains as much a mystery as ever. Some declare it to be the all-pervading principle in nature, without which any life or motion is impossible, the only tangible and visible ultimate cause and moving force of the whole universe. If this be true (and none can say it is not) then the theory is probable that the position of the body during sleep, if due north and south, is favorable to the great electrical currents of the earth exerting an immense beneficial effect on the health. The business man of to-day generally takes the night for a journey, and such will find that the great north and south line "The Burlington," will afford, in its elegant and luxurious sleepers, a most refreshing night's rest, in harmony with the mysterious electrical forces. For tickets by this line, and any information, apply to agents of this or connecting railroads, or address W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

Closing Out at Cost!

I AM CLOSING OUT
MY ENTIRE STOCK OF
General Merchandise
AT AND BELOW COST

IF YOU WANT
BOOTS, SHOES
OR CROCKERY,

Call at once. All Heavy Goods Going Below Cost. This is a Bona Fide Sale and Everything Goes. Call and See.

A. STURE

J. V. E. WYATT,
UNDERTAKER
Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for
N E W G O O D S.

A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material. | Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, MINNESOTA,
—DEALER IN—
Lumber, Building Paper,
PAINTS, OILS,
Doors, Windows and Mouldings

ALSO
FARM MACHINERY
—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—
MILWAUKEE HARVESTER
AND THE CELEBRATED
WINONA PLOWS,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

S. L. COLLINS
—PROPRIETOR OF—
MAIN STREET
Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.
CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,
Crookston, - - - Minnesota

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.
FINE HEARSE
In connection which I will attend to in person

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS
TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN
COMPOUND OXYGEN
NOT A DRUG
1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.
TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nitrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

KOPS BRO'S
103 Third Street,
GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA
PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

New Millinery Store
ON BROADWAY.
NOW READY
OUR NEW
Fall Styles
LADIES,
Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

A GREAT PRIZE.

Any one, not now a subscriber, sending the Tribune Co. ONE DOLLAR can get the famous picture, the

The Russian Wedding Feast,
FREE BY MAIL WITH

The Daily and Sunday Tribune.......6 weeks
or the Daily (without Sun.) Tribune......8 weeks
or the Evening Tribune.......12 weeks
or the Sunday Tribune.......26 weeks
or the Farmers Weekly Tribune.......52 weeks

This offer is good until June 1st, 1891.

The picture is a beautiful work of art. Reproduced in all the beautiful colors of the original painting, 24 inches by 17 inches.

Send at once and secure a handsome prize.

Postage stamps to the amount of $1.00 will be accepted. Address,

THE TRIBUNE CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

Regular Subscription Rates by Mail.

	1 Year.	3 Mo.	1 Mo.
Daily and Sunday	$10 00	$2 25
Daily, 6 days	7 00	1 75	70c
Sundays only	2 00	50	20c
Evening Tribune	1 00	1 00	40c
Farmers' Weekly	00	35

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,
Attorneys and Counselors at Law,
CROOKSTON, MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property, and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to [illegible] and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, March 26, 1891.

'Round Home.

Wheat—	1 Hard	86.
	1 Northern	84.
	2 Northern	81.
	3 Northern	76.

A. K. Austin is able to be out again.

Mrs. Tom Thorson, of Tacoma, is in the city visiting friends.

Wheat braced up a bit this week reaching 84 for 1 Hard.

J. G. McGrew is away on a trip to the twin cities this week.

Geo. Tripp and E. E. Abbott were in from Mentor on Wednesday.

Michel Brouillet, has moved out onto his farm near Gentilly for the summer.

J. F. Holmes was in from Red Lake Falls last week attending to business before the U. S Land Office.

V. D. Carruth last week received the sad news of the death of his only grandchild, the son of his son Lynn.

Wheat took a two cent jump on Tuesday morning—a kind of a jumping toothache that farmers like to see wheat take, the oftener the better.

Mrs. Frank Gravel gave a very pleasant tea party to a number of her lady friends in honor of Mrs. Thorson, on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs, DeForest Bucklin were called upon to mourn the loss of their little babe, last week. The funeral took place on Sunday at 5 o'clock.

Rev. R. H. Battey has rented the McGuire residence on Ash street, is fitting it up and next week will go to Minneapolis after his family.

If all those who have promised to help us out on subscription and otherwise will do so at this time it will be a favor that THE JOURNAL editor will always gratefully remember.

Call on Mrs. I. U. Jennings for Easter millinery goods, for she has just received a large assortment of trimmed hats, flowers, ribbons, laces, notions, &c., all of the latest styles and at prices lower than ever before. [49-50]

O. S. Johnson writes THE JOURNAL that he will be up from Iowa in a few days with a carload of heavy draught Norman and Clyde mares which he will sell to farmers at the going prices. If you want a good team be sure to see this lot.

Chas. W. Sibley, former editor and publisher of the Fertile Journal, gave us a pleasant call on Tuesday. Mr. S is enjoying a rest from newspaper work for awhile, but will no doubt drop into the harness again as they all do. At present he is seeking wealth via an ink eraser line.

Ray Palmer is out from Tacoma visiting with old friends in the city. Ray looks as though life in the far west did not agree with him as he is extremely thin and does not look to be in the best of health, though he says his health is excellent as a general thing.

George Peake's harness shop took fire on Tuesday evening while he was at supper and before the flames could be subdued the entire stock was completely ruined. The stock was valued at $2,500, insured in the Home for $500. No one seems able to tell the origin of the fire. The building was almost entirely ruined. No insurance on it.

Mrs. Reuben Reynolds came down from Stephen on Wednesday evening where she had been enjoying a visit with her grand-daughter, Mrs. Frankie Dickinson. She remained in the city until Thursday evening the guest of Alderman and Mrs I. U. Jennings and then went on to Duluth. Mrs. Reynolds is not in the best of health.

John Goodnow, the newly elected president of the republican league club of Minnesota, was in the city on Saturday with a view to the organization of clubs in Polk County. In conversation with THE JOURNAL man Mr. Goodnow said that it would be his earnest endeavor to bring the party back to the republicanism of Abraham Lincoln—back to the interests of the people. He claims that the party has been allowed to be run in the selfish interests of a few, who aspire to be leaders, and who in the accomplishment of their own personal interests have forgotten the sacred interests of the people and to this fact in a large degree is attributable to the landslide of last fall. There are those in this county who have cursed THE JOURNAL bitterly, and have done all in their power to injure us in our business and every other way, because THE JOURNAL insists on seeing the sacred rights of the people regarded in preference to the ambitions of selfish politicians and to-day they are full of bitterness against us wishing us all of the ills and evils in the calendar. We believe that this government was formed in the interests of the people and that in the future of the country the party that comes the nearest to protecting the rights of all will be the successful party, for the common people—the masses are beginning to think and to study up the science of government and hereafter there will be less of blind party subserviency for the sake of party, and we believe that this state of things is for the best interest of the country. Mr. Goodnow says that the clubs will be run on the old-time republican principle or will not have his aid. Those who have the management of its affairs are to be selected by the people, and not by the politicians.

City Central Committee.

1st Ward—A. Holmboe, chairman.
2d Ward—J. E. Morrisey.
3d Ward—H. Steenerson.
4th Ward—E. W. Wile.
5th Ward—E. D. Childs.

WARD COMMITTEES.

First Ward—John McKinnon, chairman; A. Holmboe, Louis Fontaine.

Second Ward—John Munroe, chairman; Wm. Munch, John McGlogan.

Third Ward—M. E. Kirsch, chairman; Wm. Watts, R. J. Montague.

Fourth Ward—Henry Wight, chairman; Hugh Robertson, F. L. Durand.

Fifth Ward—E. D. Childs, chairman; R. Smith, E. Emond.

ENTERED INTO REST.

In Fairfax, on Wednesday, March 18th, 1891, at 12:30 p. m., W. G. Cooke, publisher of THE JOURNAL at the age of 36 years and 11 months.

WILLIAM GRANT COOKE, was born in Wheeler, Steuben County, New York, on April 18th, 1854. He was the youngest child of Aaron and Harriet Cooke, two only, Harvey E. and Isabella G. Bartlett, surviving him. The oldest sister, Mrs. Esther D. Arnold, died on May 22d, 1881, in this city. His boyhood was spent in Steuben County, where he received his education at Franklin Academy, in Prattsburgh. On April 1st, 1874, he left Prattsburgh for Glyndon, Minn., at and near which village he stayed until the fall of 1876, when he went to Audubon, in Becker County, to assist his brother, then publisher of the Audubon Journal. On May 1st, 1877, we commenced the publication of THE JOURNAL, printing it at Audubon, and May 1st, 1878, we put in a plant in this city for the publication of THE JOURNAL, the first paper ever printed and published in this city. In 1887 he became the publisher and remained so up to the time when, on March 5th, 1890, he was obliged to give up work and go over to his farm in the town of Fairfax, in the hope that absolute rest and quiet would restore his shattered health, which had begun to fail with a severe attack of La Grippe during the previous winter. But the hopes were vain. The insidious disorder left him with a lung trouble from which he never recovered, but he was able to be about up to within a very few days of his death. During the time he was at Glyndon he united with the Union church at that place and upon the formation of a like church in Crookston, joined it by letter. The best years of his life were given to THE JOURNAL, and it was his earnest endeavor to place it in the front ranks of country journalism, and hard and faithfully did he work to that end. His life was the exemplification of practical christianity, and while he was very anxious to get well so as to resume his post of duty, he patiently endured his great sufferings submissive to the divine will, with the calm and perfect assurance that He in whom he trusted works not as man works, and that He doeth all things well, and he fell asleep as does the little child, in perfect trust and assurance of the life beyond this. During the last few hours he imagined that he was on a journey, the latter part of which would be by water, and his last words were: "Now I am IN the deep water but I am not wet!" And lying over upon his side he quietly and peacefully passed into eternal rest.

The funeral services were conducted at the Congregational church on Sunday by the pastor, Rev. R. H. Battey, who preached an excellent sermon from the words found in the second chapter of Revelations, 10th verse "Be thou faithful unto death."

Although the weather was extremely unpleasant the attendance was good. Some kind friends had procured an anchor made from natural flowers which rested upon the casket during the services and at the close many kind friends went with us to Oakdale cemetery where we deposited all that was mortal of our dear departed brother to await the resurrection morn.

CARD OF THANKS.

In behalf of the family of our departed brother we desire to take this opportunity of returning our heartfelt thanks to the many friends who so kindly expressed their sympathy in our great trial by words and deeds, and especially would we thank the choir for coming out during such unpleasant weather, and those whose love for our dear one prompted the offering of the floral anchor. Our wish for them is that they may long be spared such bitter partings and may Heaven's choicest gifts be theirs.

Call on Mrs. I. U. Jennings for Easter millinery goods, for she has just received a large assortment of trimmed hats, flowers, ribbons, laces, notions, &c., all of the latest styles and at prices lower than ever before. [49 5]

Man Wanted at Once.

For farm work for the season. Apply to M. E. Bartlett, Fairfax, or at THE JOURNAL office.

For Sale.

A good high grade Holstein cow, two weeks in milk. Gives from 8 to 10 quarts at a milking, without bran. Enquire of M. E. Bartlett, Fairfax, or at JOURNAL office.

Rev. R. H. Battey will speak at the Congregational church next Sunday. 11 a. m. "A Religion for Every One." 7.30 p. m. "The Young Man as a Father." The services will open at the hour. All cordially invited. If you are happy, come. If you are sad, come. If you are poor, come. If you are a stranger, come. Don't miss either service.

H. D. Pinkerton, was shaking hands with old friends in the city this week.

Fred Anderson is on the sick list this week. A severe attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Thomas Bjoin is reported very ill. Her friends entertain strong hopes of her recovery.

Mrs E. Lancaster has been quite ill for the past week. Her condition at present writing is favorable.

John Grithin was down from McIntosh on Tuesday enroute to his old home in Chippewa Co., to spend the summer.

Jacob Rosenthal was sent to the insane asylum last week. It is a mild case and his friends have strong hopes of his ultimate recovery.

At the alliance meeting on Saturday last a motion to instruct our members in the house to support the Davis interest bill was voted down.

Geo. O'Brien was arrested at Fisher and brought to the county jail this week. He is charged with having set fire to the Thompson & Johnson elevator and we are told, has confessed that he did it.

Strong efforts are being made to secure the Red River College by subscription and the prospects are extremely favorable. T. B. Walker contributes $1,000 and among the heavy subscribers in this city is Fred Walker who gives $250.

Andrew Thompson was up from Hubbard on Tuesday and gave THE JOURNAL man a call of business and pleasure. He says the citizens are anxious to know what Crookston will do toward aiding them in getting communications established. We think we can assure them that the bonds will be voted all right because we are confident that the large majority of our citizens are anxious to have the road built and are willing to grant the small amount asked of us.

The council met on Saturday evening to consider the proposition of authorizing a vote on the issue of $8,300 in bonds to aid the Rainy Lake, Crookston & Pacific R. R., on Tuesday the 7th day of April. After a discussion of the subject a committee, consisting of E. D. Childs, J. E. Morrisey and A. O. Schmidt was appointed with instructions to report to the council at 3 o'clock on Monday, at which time the committee submitted a majority and a minority report. The majority report favored the proposition. Mr. E. D. Childs brought in a minority report for the following reasons:

1st, Because the proposition does not commit the said proposed Rainy Lake, Crookston & Pacific R. R. Co., to give adequate or indeed any consideration of value in return for said bonds.

2nd, Because by so doing we establish the precedent of bonding the city for the purpose of encouraging enterprises which lie otuside the city limits; a precedent which in our judgment is hazardous in the extreme.

3rd, Because we believe such action to be contrary to public policy and the best interests of the city.

Mr. Childs brought arguments in support of the first and second propositions, prefacing his remarks with the hope that all who did not fully agree with him would give him the credit of having the welfare of the city at heart as he did them. In support of the last proposition the strongest point he made was that this line might have a tendency to keep out other railroads of far more benefit to the city and he was desirous that the election be postponed until a committee could wait upon the Great Northern officials and ascertain whether or not they could be induced to extend the Moorhead Northern into the city. He claims that that line with, the shops that must be built if it comes, with all the Winnipeg traffic coming through Crookston would be of far greater benefit than would this proposed line and he brought many arguments to bear in support of his claims. Upon a vote being taken an election was ordered with only two votes against.

Now we fail to see why the calling of this election need interfere with a committee of conference. Surely the object of every loyal citizen is for the greatest good for Crookston, and, while we believe that this road will be a good thing to have we do not feel warranted in advising the refusal of a better thing providing it should be offered us, and we can see no valid reason why a committee should not be appointed to see if perchance there be a better thing in sight. There is no one probably, who does not think that railroad shops would be a good thing for the city and yet probably no one would care to forfeit a sure thing for a "may-be-so."

For Sale Cheap.

Four good brood mares and two good work horses cheap for cash or negotiable paper. Inquire of Knudson and Borlaug, at Alderman & Sylvester's livery stables.

Closing Out Notice.

Read the great bargains in another column, which I shall continue until March 25th. Positively no longer. Everything must go at most any price.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD,
Successor to Stewart & Spottswood.

TEACHER WANTED.

To commence term on April 6th, in School Dist. No. 55. Apply to the clerk of said district, Jas. Greenhalgh, Jr., Crookston, Minn. [48-50]

Schmidt, the Painter,

IS TOO BUSY

With work this week to write up an ad, but wishes THE JOURNAL readers to call and examine his large stock of Paints and Oils to which he has recently added

WALL PAPER.

Call at the Shop on Broadway.

LAST CALL.

HARDWARE

FOR THE NEXT

10 DAYS.

From 10 to 20 per Cent

BELOW COST.

Beginning on March 19th,

AND CLOSING

Saturday Eve., March 28,

As I give possession of the store April 1st. I still have a large stock of Mixed Paints and Painters Material, Blacksmiths' Supplies, Cutlery, Rifles and Ammunition, Fence Nails, Glass, Grindstones, Shovels and Spades, Belting and Rubber Hose, Shelf Hardware, &c.

For 10 Days Only!

Wm. C. Spottswood.

Benoit & Sylvester,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

Heavy and Shelf Hardware

Carry a full and complete line of Stoves and Ranges, Doors and Sash, Barbed Wire. Agents for the Standard Rotary Shuttle Sewing Machine, Richmond Champion Press Drill and McSherry Drill.

Broadway, Crookston, Minn.

For Sale.

On Sec. 29, Euclid, Minn. The subscriber will offer for sale for the next 10 days the following property to-wit:

Eight fine young mares, 5 of them with foal. One five year old gelding, one 4-year old, 4 3 year old, 7 2 years old, 5 yearlings. One registered Polled Angus Bull, 2 years old, 20 well bred fresh Cows and springers, 8 yearlings, 15 Calves, 15 Sheep, 2 Poland China Sows, 2 Shoats, Bronzed Turkeys, Full English Mastiff Pups and Shepard Dogs. One Butterworth 3-horse Tread Mill Thresher and Separator, 2 nearly new McCormick Harvesters, 1 new Mower, 1 old Mower, 1 Wheel Rake, 1 Gang Plows, 2 Sulky Plows, 2 Walking Plows, 1 Broadcast Seeder, 1 Fanning Mill, 1 Cockle Mill, 1 Diamond Feed Mill, 3 Farm Wagons, 1 Sled, Harnesses, Saddles, Dairy Utensils, Stoves, &c.,

Prices low. Terms to suit customers.

E. L. SMITH.

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMETIER,
Lisbon, N. Dakota.

[36-tf.]

For Sale or to Rent.

My farm on Maple Lake, situated one-half mile from railroad. The right party can coin money. If not sold soon will rent. For further particulars address,

MINOR ROOD, Mentor, Minn.

It is but fourteen months since W. T. Stead, the brilliant English journalist, established in London his Review of Reviews. Already it has attained a circulation of over 150,000 copies. It is said by those who know that the American edition of the Review of Reviews, the first number of which appears in a few days, promises to surpass in popular attractiveness the present publication, and its many excellencies, together with its low subscription price, assures it in advance a universal popularity and a large constituency.

Every One Using Machine Oils.

Best black oil, per gallon, - - 15c
" Eldorado engine oil, per gal., - 25c

Bring in your cans and jugs and save 100 per cent on machine oil.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

WANTED.

A few large young fresh cows. Enquire at Fontaine & Anglim's.

Paint! Paint! Paint!

Now is the time to buy paint and use it a little later on. The old reliable brand, "The Northwestern," we are closing out at $1.25 per gallon. Strictly pure. Other goods cheaper.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

(First publication March 26th, 1891.)

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of interest in the sum of $19.75, due February 1st, 1890, $23.00 due August 1st, 1890, and $23.00, due February 1st, 1891, which default has continued to the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Thomas Moore and Martha Moore, his wife, mortgagors, to The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of August, 1889, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 23d day of September, 1889, at 10.30 o.clock a. m., in book 41 of mortgages, on page 115.

And whereas, the said, The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, the mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of eight hundred and eighty-six and 10-100 dollars, with interest on $875.75 thereof, at the rate of seven per cent per annum, from the 18th day of March, 1891 and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The east half of the northwest quarter (e½ nw¼) and west half of northeast quarter (w½ ne¼) of Section twenty-eight (28), Town one hundred and forty nine (149), of Range forty-two (42) in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the town of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 16th day of May, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of eight hundred and eighty-six and 10-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty (50) dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 18th, A. D. 1891.

The Loan and Guaranty Company
of Connecticut, Mortgagee.

A. Humphreys,
Attorney for Mortgagee. [49-3]

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication March 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of interest in the sum of $18 20, due February 1st, 1889, $23.00, due August 1st, 1889, $23.00, due February 1st, 1890, $23.00 due August 1st, 1890, $23.00, due February 1st, 1891, which default has continued to the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by James Kelly and Anna Kelly, his wife, mortgagors, to The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of August, 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the third day of October, 1889, at ten o'clock and ten minutes a. m., in book 46 of mortgages, on page 481.

And whereas, the said The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, the mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred and fifty and 59-100 dollars, with interest on $930.20 thereof, at the rate of seven per cent per annum from the 18th day of March, 1891, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter (sw¼) of Section twenty (20), Town one hundred and forty-nine (149), of Range forty-two (42) in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the town of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 16th day of May, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of nine hundred and fifty and 59-100 dollars ($950.59) and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty (50) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 18th, A. D. 1891.

The Loan and Guaranty Company,
of Connecticut, Mortgagee.

A. Humphreys,
Attorney for Mortgagee. [49-3]

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

(First publication March 26th, 1891.)

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of interest in the sum of $22.86, due September 1st, 1889, $23.00 due March 1st, 1890, $25.00 due September 1st, 1890, and $23.00 due March 1st, 1891, which default has continued to the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Josiah A. Mead and Sadie Mead, his wife, mortgagors, to The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of March, 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the third day of April, 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., in book 46 of mortgages, on page 139.

And whereas, the said The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, the mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred and fifteen and 16-100 dollars, with interest on $9.6 86 thereof at the rate of seven per cent per annum, from the 18th day of March, 1891, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter [sw¼] of Section twenty-two [22], Town one hundred and fifty-four [154] of Range forty-five [45], in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the town of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 16th day of May, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of nine hundred and fifteen and 16-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty [50] dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 18th, A. D. 1891

The Loan and Guaranty Company,
of Connecticut, Mortgagee.

A. Humphreys,
Attorney for Mortgagee. [49-3]

First publication March 26, 1891.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. District Court, 14th Judicial District.

John Cromb as administrator of the estate of Arthur Yuernault deceased Plaintiff, vs. A. Bray and Dumas Bray Defendants.

Notice of Sale Under Decree. Foreclosure by Action.

In pursuance of a judgment and decree of the Court in this action, dated March 17th 1891, I shall expose for sale, as the law directs, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in the county of Polk Minnesota, on the 9th day of May 1891, at ten o'clock a. m. the following described real property situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota to-wit: The Northwest quarter of section six [6] Township one hundred an fifty [150] Range forty four [44] or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said judgment and costs, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston Minn., March 20, 1891.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN,
Sheriff of Polk County, Minnesota.

[49-3] JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Plaintiff.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT,

ATTY'S-AT-LAW,

McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn.

Take Notice.

All parties owing accounts and notes that are due are requested to call and settle before March 15th, or they will be left with an attorney for collection. I must have the money. I will continue selling out at and below cost until March 25th.

WM. C. SPOTTSWOOD.

Auction Sale.

The undersigned will sell at public auction on Thursday, April 9th, 1891, at his residence on Section 5, in Fairfax, (known as the Steege place) the following property, to-wit:

Three good work horses.
One stallion.
Three cows.
One heifer.
Two lumber wagons.
One sulky, one buggy, 2 plows, one sleigh also all of my household furniture and other aricles too numerous to mention.

TERMS:—All sums of $10 and under, cash. All sums over $10 time will be given until October 15th, 1891 on good approved notes at 10 per cent. per annum.

[47-49] M. O. MELAND.

For Sale.

Good farm mare, one carriage and one cutter. Address R. G. MARLETTE, Carman.

[48-51]

Notice of Mortgage Forclosure Sale.

First publication March 26th 1891.

Default having been made in the payment of interest in the sum of $22.02 due November 1, 1889, $26 25 due May 1, 1890, $26.25 due Nov. 1, 1890 which default has continued to the date of this notice, upon a certain Mortgage duly executed and delivered by Knud K. Volden and Mary his wife Mortgagors, to The Loan and Guaranty Company of Connecticut, Mortgagee, bearing date the first day of May 1889, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 24th day of May 1889, at one o'clock and thirty minutes p. m., in Book 45 of Mortgages on page 276.

And whereas, the said The Loan and Guaranty Company of Connecticut the Mortgagee and holder of said Mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of eight hundred and forty eight and 93-100 dollars with interest on $821.52 thereof at the rate of seven per cent per annum from the 18th day of March 1891, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part therof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south-west quarter (s w¼) of section eleven (11) Town one hundred and forty nine (149) of Range forty two (42) in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court house, in the town of Crookston in said County and State, on the 16th day of May 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of eight hundred forty eight and 93-100 Dollars and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty (50) Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 18 A. D. 1891.

The Loan and Guaranty Loan Company of Connecticut, Mortgagee

[49-3] A HUMPHREYS Attorney for Mortgagee.

Notice of Mortgage Forclosure Sale.

First publication March 26th 1891.

Default having been made in the payment of interest in the sum of $20.55 due November 1, 1889, $21-50 due May 1, 1890, $21 50 due November 1, 1890, which default has continued to the date of this notice, upon a certain Morterge, duly executed and delivered by Martin G. Olson and Mary Olson his wife, Mortgagors, to The Loan and Guaranty Company of Connecticut Mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of May 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 24th day of May 1889, at one o'clock and thirty minutes p. m., in Book 45 of Mortgages, on page 279.

And whereas, the said The Loan and Guaranty Company of Connecticut the Mortgagee and holder of said Mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said Mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of Seven Hundred and ninety two and 33-100 Dollars with interest on $769.55 thereof at the rate of seven per cent per annum, from the 18th day of March 1891, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of a power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The south-west quarter (s w¼) of section Four (4) Town one hundred and forty nine (149) of Range forty two (42) in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the town of Crookston in said County and State, on the 16th day of May 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of seven hundred and and ninety two and 33-100 Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty (50) Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated March 18 A. D. 1891.

The Loan and Guaranty Company of Connecticut Mortgagee.

[49-3] A. HUMPHREYS Attorney for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred fifty-nine and 05-100 ($559.05) dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Henry Johnston and Ella L. Johnston, his wife, mortgagors, to George McLean, guardian, mortgagee, bearing date the 7th day of February, 1888, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 18th day of February, 1888, at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 33 of mortgages, on pages 546 to 549; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The northeast quarter of Section twenty-eight (28) in Township one hundred and forty-seven (147), in Range forty (40), containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, more or less, according to the government survey thereof, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred fifty-nine and 05-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 23d, A. D. 1891.

GEORGE MCLEAN, Guardian,
Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee,
[45-51]

Slavery has been destroyed forever. All glory to the party that did it; but the slavery issue is not one for the politics of to-day. It is the mission of the Republican party to take up the issues with which the people are now concerned in their daily life and thought, and to stand by the right as firmly on those questions as it did in the days of slavery. It is part of the work of the Republican party to reduce the burdens of taxation. It is the acknowledged exponent of the principles of protection. That principle is irrevocably imbedded in our whole system, and people will not permit it to be overthrown; but it is in harmony with that principle to cut down excessive duties, to destroy the protection received by monopolies, and to lessen to the people the cost of all the necessaries of life, without impairing the protection now accorded to American labor. It is possible and it is right to make great reductions in our tariff duties. This we believe the people demand, and this the Republican party has promised repeatedly to give them. The policy of reciprocity is a part of this great general plan. Nothing was more significant in the proceedings of this convention than the tremendous applause with which every mention of that policy was welcomed. This is an issue on which Republicans can be sure that the people are with them. The question of honest money is second to none of political issues of to-day. On that the Democratic party is wholly and hopelessly wrong. The political conflicts of the next few years will be fought out we believe largely on that ground. In the development of our material industries and our absorption in care for those interests, we have neglected the greater subject of finance. It has been left in the disturbed condition into which it was thrown by the necessities of the war period, and the people have either learned falsehood or failed to learn truth from the unsettled and unsatisfactory condition of the currency. It is high time for a great nation like this, standing foremost among the commercial peoples of the world, to set on high principles of sound and honest money, and to protest the country against the unexampled disasters that wait upon financial mistakes. The common sense of the United States will not permit experience of the Argentine Confederation to be repeated here.

It is the duty of the Republican leaders at this juncture to set such principles as these high and clear above the wordy turmoil of lesser issues. It is our part, and we would not assume it, to declare all that the Republican party must do, or to fix the details of its policy; but there are certain things properly demanded of it, and it must answer that demand, or the wavering and uncertainty of the people shown at the last election threaten its future prospects. It needs to revive both the high personal enthusiasm and personal devotion that characterized the time of its growth and its national ascendency, to secure its continued success. Enthusiasm and a good platform must go hand in hand. There will be no trouble about the former, if the latter is secured. The warning to be given at the present time, a warning which recent political events have made stern and emphatic, is that the latter should not suffer neglect. If the Republican party shall substitute for the platform forced upon it by a few leaders, whose course was so sternly rebuked at the polls, the platform on which it stood in earlier days, and which was formed by the great leaders whom it reverences, enthusiasm will not be wanting.

For Republican Success.

Saint Paul Pioneer Press.

The meeting of the league of Republican clubs of Minnesota at Minneapolis on Thursday shows that the party in this state is full of enthusiasm and confidence. An immense number of delegates was present, all of them animated by the spirit of straightforward Republicanism, and all of them ready and eager for the next contest, which is, as they believe and hope, to restore their party to the place of supremacy it occupied without a break for so many years. We have no doubt that this confidence is well warranted, and every Republican must thrill with pride and satisfaction to see the party standing unitedly against the common foe. Too much weight can hardly be given earnestness and enthusiasm in political action. It is the ardent spirit of success, the determination to conquer, the belief that you are on the right side and the winning side which counts for so much in all political contests. Without enthusiasm, even right principles do not succeed. This has been shown over and over again in the local municipal contests of nearly all of our great cities, where right and reform were on one side, and the active, energetic, enthusiastic men were on the other. Even the best cause has a hard time of it when it is committed to the hands of luke-warm advocates. The man who disparages the power of sentiment and feeling in politics is a man who knows little of political history, and of the forces that shape its past and future. For these reasons, the gathering of state Republican clubs is an augury of triumphant success.

But the man who thinks that to be on the side of right principles without enthusiasm is enough to touch the popular heart and rouse the great mass of the people to action, is guilty of no greater mistake than the man who thinks that eloquent periods will cover a multitude of sins; and that elections can be carred for any cause, good or bad, by the simple force of brilliant rhetoric, and bursts of applause from the galleries. The Republican party, to assure its future success, needs the efforts of just such active ardent young men as represented it in the Minneapolis convention the other day; and it needs also that those men should be enlisted in a cause that will engage them heart and soul, and inspire the people who listen to them with a breath of their own earnestness. It needs right principles as well as strong men. It is time for the party to move forward on an aggressive policy, in conformity with the expressed wishes of the great body of voters of this country. Many of the old issues are dead. He would be a traitor, and unworthy of the name of Republican, who should forget, or allow others to forget the glorious work for which that party was created, and which it so successfully accomplished. That record is part of its immortal heritage; but it cannot win future victories on that record alone. It must not be content with erecting monuments to the past. It must show the people that it proposes to work as zealously for the secure building of their future.

A Sample of Railroad Greed.

Moorhead Weekly News.

Railroad officials complain of the severe legislation against them that is proposed in the state legislature. But it is not at all strange that it is so. The railroads bring it upon themselves by their greedy and extortionate methods. We mention a case in point. There has been brisk demand in Montana and eastern Washington for hay and we understand that good prairie hay sells for $17 per ton at points in those states, which would afford a renumerative profit to Minnesota men engaged in baling and shipping it. As soon as the price reached the high figure mentioned the railroad companies spoil the game by advancing the rate for the transportation of hay from 40 cents per hundred to 50 cents per hundred or from $80 per car load to $100 per car load. It is apparent that just as soon as the railroad officials become aware that there is a handsome profit in the shipment of produce from points east to points west or vice versa, and that the scarcity of a given article exists by which its transportation is an absolute necessity, they advance their rates so as to grab the lion's share of the profits. A gentleman in this city a short time since intending to ship 20 carloads of baled hay to western points looked up the rates and he found it was $80 per car load. Yesterday he found that it had been advanced to $100. This advance represents a difference of $469 on 20 carloads, a sum which added to the small profit on the sales would compensate for the trouble of shipping. But the advanced rate leaves no inducement to make the shipments. In this case the railroad officials seem to have overreached themselves and killed the goose that laid the golden egg. A brisk trade has grown up in shipping hay from the Red River valley to points in Montana and Washington, which has probably been almost entirely discouraged by the advance in the rate for its transportation.

Midway News:— One peculiarity of the Republican clubs just organized throughout the state is that the Republicans don't have anything to do with them. They are not exactly self-constituted guardians of the party but they are appointed; how, and whom? There is plenty of time to puncture that bubble.

County Commissioners Proceedings.

The board of County Commissioners met on Wednesday, March 11th for the transaction of business, every member present. Report of delinquent taxes subbmitted, showing that the taxes of Margaret Dufour, reported delinquent, had been paid and receipts therefor issued . Mr. Emard Demars paid since report and receipts issued. Dwyer Bros., no property to be found and warrant returned unsatisfied.

School petition of E. L. Smith and others rejected.

Petition for the formation of a new district composed of Sections 21 to 28 inclusive and 33 to 36 inclusive in Tp. 147 R. 47 was granted.

Petition to form a school district composed of all of Tp. 151 R. 41 was granted.

Petition of A. P. Moen and others presented and set for hearing at next meeting.

O. A. Stortroen offered the following resolution:

Whereas, at the last meeting of the county board a resolution was passed appropriating $500 or so much thereof as may be necessary out of the general revenue fund for the purpose of defraying the expenses of a committee to join other counties in an effort to secure if possible, the passage of a law taxing railroad lands the same as other lands are taxed. And.

Whereas, a request signed by taxpayers, including several railroad magnates of Polk county, has been served upon the county attorney asking him to appeal from the action of the board and from said resolution. Now, therefore,

Be it Resolved, that said resolution granting said appropriation, be, and the same is hereby repealed.

M. E. KIRSCH.

A. C. RHINEHART.

C. P. DEMERS.

O. A. STORTROEN.

Co. Commissioners.

Resolution offered by A. C. Rhinehart:

Be it resolved, that whereas the City of Crookston abated their proportion of taxes on lot 5 of block 2 in Clement's addition to the city of Crookston, it is hereby ordered and the auditor is hereby authorized to cancel all delinquent county tax on said lot.

On motion of A. C. Rhinehart the petition of Adeland Patnaude for abatement of taxes on the nw¼ of section 35 twp. 151 range 43 for the year 1890, on his real estate only be, and is hereby granted, and the auditor instructed to cancel said taxes.

Bond of East Grand Forks Bank for deposit of county funds at 4 per cent. accepted and approved.

On motion of A. O. Stortroen seconded by A. C. Rhinehart, the petition of S. S. Stadsvold for abatement of taxes on southeast ¼ sec. twp. 148 range 39, for years 1888 and 1889 was granted.

Petition of John Star for abatment of taxes, on his real estate only, on northeast ¼ sec. 10 twp. 148 range 39, for the year 1889 granted.

School petition of Hugh Quigley and others praying for formation of new school district composed of the following territory, viz; West ½ sec. 30 and southwest ¼ sec. 19 and all of sec. 31 twp. of Huntsville, also sec. 6 twp. 150 range 49 and sec. 23, 24 and 25 in Grand Forks twp., the same affecting school districts Nos. 34 and 42. Hearing set for next meeting.

The petition of Cesairl Gervais praying that southeast ¼ of sec. 13 twp. 150 range 45 be detached from school district No. 45 and attached to school district No. 191 was rejected.

The individual school petition of Gilbert Abrahamson praying for the detaching of south ½ of northeast ¼ and northeast ¼ northeast ¼ of sec. 33 twp. 148 range 42 in district No 171 and attached to district No. 169. Hearing set for next meeting.

Moved by A. C. Rhinehart and seconded by C. P. Demers that the county pay Geo. A. Ralph $150 on the receipt of six sectional maps, as per proposition of Geo. A. Ralph on file in this office.

BILLS ALLOWED.

Pioneer Press Co. Blanks &c.	$ 18.45
Jos. Mercier, witness J. P. court	2.25
M. P. Dargan, juror " "	1.30
Emil Kindler, " " "	1.10
Oscar Massault, " " "	.70
Gottlieb Garlach, " " "	.90
Henry Smith, " " "	1.10
C. Peterson, inturpreter " "	1.12
John McKenney, juror " "	.70
Swan Johnson, " " "	.90
Philip Brown, " " "	.70
[illegible] E. Smilesang, " " "	.70
[illegible] " " "	1.30
[illegible] " " "	1.30
[illegible] " " "	.90
[illegible] Lewis, justice fees,	13 20
[illegible] Young, hauling wood	5.00
D. Craven, cleaning sidewalk	1.75
McIntosh Tribune, printing	291.80
Crookston Times, "	705.72
Fisher Bulletin, "	292.36
J. T. Beaudry, postage &c.	45.42
Geo. Ralph, services &c.	10.00
A. Sture, 5 gallons oil.	.75
J. E. O'Brien, repairs and wood	45.01
C. M. Benson, wood &c.	22 55
W. S. Booth, Blanks,	3.10
Montague & Bucklen, services	25 00
A. R. Erickson, board prisoners	68.61
John Locken, recording bonds	2 00
John Everson, cleaning vault	7.00
Hans Johnson, wood	70.00
Swan & Hunter, team hire	4.00
O. Ducharme, jailer	100.00
J. P. Johnson, wood	25 00
C. U. Webster, express and postage	8.85
A. R. Erickson, Janitor	.70
F. Walker, repairs on court house	6.15
M. E. Kirsch, freight on wood	9.00
Arny Grundysen sheriffs fees	120.93
Jas. E. Morrisy, repairing safe	10.00
Fontaine & Anglim, mdse.	25.97
C. O. Christianson, insurance	2.00
M. J. Enright, constables fees	14 20
H. Shepard, coroners fees	21.00
A. C. Rhinehart, trip to St. Paul	92 00
" " "commiss'ners fees	21.00
A. O. Stortroen, com's fees, March,	12 00
C. P. MeMers, " "	22 60
M. E. Kirsch, " "	19 00
" com. work, Wadena,	37 00

Bill of Jas. F. Holmes, justice of the peace fees, rejected.

On motion, resolution of M. E. Kirsck for organization of new town of Chester, adopted viz:

Whereas, the citizens of twp. 150 range 40 having failed to hold a meeting for the election of officers within 20 days after a petition of organization having been granted by the board of commissioners of this county at a meeting held by said board on the 14th day of July, 1890.

Whereas, citizen of said township having again applied to this board to organize said town, be it.

Therefore resolved, that the prayers of the petitioners be granted, and that the fractional twp. 150-40 be, and is hereby organized under the name of "Chester," that an election be held on the 30th day of March, 1891, at the house of C. Madson, and that John P. Lyrens, Hans C. Berg and John Agnes act as judges and O. Mattson and Syvert Tugen act as clerks of said election. Adopted.

Application of Clinton Morton prisoner, for clothing, referred to purchasing committee.

Report of clerk of court for year 1890 accepted and ordered published, viz:

Fees rec for year 1890.

Marriage licenses issued		$ 444 000
First citizen's papers		372 50
Second " "		286 50
Abstracts certified		296 50
Notary commissions recorded		20 00
Rec'd civil actions		419 85
Judgments entered		463 25
Miscellenous receipts		204 75
Total receipts		$2,467 35
Add unearned fees deducted from last report		241 90
		$2,709 25
Cr.
By salary for 1890	$1,800 00
Fees returned in civil Cases	88 48	$1,888 48
Balance due county		$ 820 77

Respectfully submitted this 9th day of January 1891.

E. M. WALSH

On motion of A. C. Rhinehart, seconded by A. O. Stortroen, the chairman of the board was authorized to employ A. A. Miller an attorney in the appeal case of E. J. Greften, county school superintendent vs the county commissioners of Polk county.

On motion the auditor was instructed to cancel the personal property tax of Mary Putten for the year 1890.

Moved and carried that all bills audited be allowed

School petition of E. L. Smith and others rejected. Also individual school petition of Cesaire Gervais rejected.

On motion board adjourned sine die.

C. U. WEBSTER,
Cerk of Board.

Farmers who will give systematic attention to the cultivation of sugar beets, and co-operate with the Aricultural Experiment Station, are requested to leave their names with Agent Fegan of the Great Northern Railway at Crookston, and seed and instructions as to proper culture will be sent free—analysis of beets will also be made without cost to the producer. [48-tf]

A question of Veracity.

St Paul Dispatch.

It is not ordinarily the part of wisdom or propriety for persons of a given political faith to intervene on the internal dissensions of the opposition. There is at present a very grave diffculty existing in the ranks of the democratic party which unfortunately involves not any question of political principal, but one of public and individual morals. It is a question which involved the personal veracity of three of the most distinguished public men of the country, Messrs. Grover Cleveland, David B. Hill and Henry Watterson, and it should be settled in a manner satisfactory to every patriotic and responsible citizen of the country. The circumstances which called into existence this question of veracity merit review. Mr. Watterson wrote a letter, addressed to Gov. Hill, urging that gentleman to withdraw his candidacy for the presidency in favor of Mr. Cleveland. The writing of that letter appears to be unquestioned. The mailing of the letter, however, is in dispute, as is also its receipt by Gov. Hill. Mr. Watterson says that he sent, as well as wrote, the letter in question. Gov. Hill denies the receipt of the letter, and certain of his friends go so far as to deny that the letter was either written or mailed. They say the entire affair is a sort of roorback, originating in the desire of Mr. Cleveland and his friends to force Gov. Hill off the presidential track. Just at this point comes something of a dissension. The democratic organ, the New York World, declares itself to be possessed of information that the letter in question was not sent to Gov. Hill; but was sent to Mr. Cleveland, with a request by its author that he pass upon the advisability of sending it to Gov. Hill; that it was returned by Mr. Cleveland with the expression of his belief that it was not expedient to send it to its intended destination and was thereupon deposited in the waste basket by Mr. Cleveland. The Kentucky editor refuses either to affirm or deny the correctness of this last representation, so that the only undisputed question now is the writing of the letter. If Mr. Watterson will not speak, certainly Mr. Cleveland should. If he possesses any sense of magnanimity or even of fairness toward an opponent within his own party he will confirm this statement so far as it relates to him, if it is true. If it is not true, he certainly can materially advance his own interests by denying that any such letter was submitted to him. In any event he should speak. The conviction is quite general throughout the country that Gov. Hill received such a letter. If Mr. Cleveland will say that the letter was submitted to him and failed to receive his approval that will be equivalent to an admission that it was never sent to Gov. Hill and that Mr. Watterson's statement to the contrary was the result of a mere lapse of memory. The subject is now one of altogether too much political importance to be ignored. It is one of prime, almost vital, concern to the democratic party. The people want to know, and they must inevitably find out, what the truth of affairs is. Mr. Cleveland and his friends cannot afford to leave the matter in its present form for certainly up to the latest development the indications are that Gov. Hill was sought to be made the victim of a very low order of political trick.

TRY

O. J. BARNES,

THE

CITY GROCER!

Trade at

HOLMBOE'S,

THE ROBERT ST. DEALER

IN

General Merchandise!

AUCTION SALE

OF

HORSES and MULES.

For the purpose of accommodating the many who may want to dispose of their surplus Horses and mules this spring, I will hold an Auction Sale at my Yards and Stables in the city of Crookston, commencing

Friday, March 27th, 1891,

At 10 o'clock a. m., and continuing the same until all is sold.

All persons desiring to enter their stock for this sale, must do so on or before the 20th of March giving description of stock and the terms on which he wants it sold. The terms or cost for advertising and selling will be 5 per cent of the sale. No stock will be allowed to be taken away until settled for. The terms on which each horse or mule will be sold will be made public at the sale.

M. R. Brown.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized Under the State Laws.

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $10,500

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections. Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.

C. HENDRICKSON, President
O. H. LUCKEN, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch.
H. Steenerson. J. H. Locken, C. Hendrickson.
Max Ericson. L. K. Aaker. A. E. Johnson. St. Paul

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS.
(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

H. STEENERSON

ATTORNEY AT LAW

CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

[illegible] Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.

North Star.

Fife.

Skip Jack.

We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

Party Organizaton.

Northfield News.

This paper is always in favor of any move that will bring conventions nearer the people. The News is the fearless champion and honest Tribune of the people under all circumstances. A convention should clearly voice the sentiments of the majority of the rank and file of the party calling the convention. The delegates, if honest, in every instance will carry out the wishes of the people who selected them. In order to bring conventions nearer the people in Minnesota a change in organization is necessary, or rather a departure from the usual manner by which an organization was formerly effected. The writer believes that the party is strongest which refuses to submit to onemanism and confidently places its destinies in the hands of the people. At the risk of being called forward and officious, The News desires to give what it believes to be a fair plan for the organization of a party convention. We will suppose for instance that the Republicans call a State convention for the nomination of candidates for state offices. The chairman should be selected by the delegates composing the convention without any interference by the candidates or unjustly accused party bosses. He should be chosen on account of his executive ability, his knowledge of parliamentary law and his absolute fairness. The personal interest of this or that candidate should in no way enter into the contest, for the success of the party is more to be desired than the promotion of a few men. After he has been selected, his duties should be to preside over the deliberations of that body and make his decision with entire honesty and unyielding firmness. The selection of general committees should be given to the delegates. Where a general committee is desired, it should be composed of one member from each judicial district, excepting special occasion where a smaller committee may be desired—such to be appointed by the chair. The delegates of each judicial district should select one vice-president and one assistant secretary, one member of the committee on resolutions, one member of the committee on credentials, one member of the committee on permanent organization, and one member of the state central committee. All these should be agreed upon before the convention is called to order. The state central committee selected should be composed of only sixteen members. The state central committee could meet after the convention had adjourned and select a chairman and secretary from its own members. It will at once be seen that this plan of organization would bring the convention nearer the people, and give each judicial district of the state a fair representation in the organization and on the state central committee. It would do away with the bad feeling which might arise on account of all being placed in the hands of one man, and in a great measure disarm critics who might want to feel a little sore over results. It is fair to suppose that the delegates of a judicial district are better able to judge who shall represent them upon the different committees than the man who presides over the convention or the candidates who are chosen by such convention. Then again, it is absolutely fair for the people to say who shall be their representatives and voice their sentiments. There can be no exceptions taken to it for the simple reason that the chosen representatives of the people can select their leaders without any personal interference,—men who will correctly represent the people in their respective districts. A man who is a republican simply for the sake of republicanism, can in no way object to this plan. If a candidate is nominated by a republican convention, his faith should be so great in the party which gave him honor as to give him absolute confidence in the ability of the delegates to choose representatives for the party on the different committees. In a republican convention the representative should be a consistent, hard working and true republican who desires the ascendency of the principles of his party, and not one who simply works for the personal success of a few of its candidates. The writer believes that in all cases the people should rule, and that all bodies should be composed of men elected by the people without reference whatever to the ambition of men. There can be no charges of unfairness or bossism in case a plan of this kind is adopted. All would stand equal, and every republican voter of the state would be sure to have representation. Each district could choose its best and ablest man for the different places. The true republican will not object to any plan that will give the people a distinct voice in the shaping of a policy, or in the nomination of candidates. Is it not true that much of the discontent and unrest which now pervades the state may be averted if some plan of this sort is adopted? There is another point in the matter of conventions. The state convention should be composed of two or three times as many delegates as have been elected in the past. Our safety depends upon the people. The News is well aware that this plan will not prove to be a popular one among politicians but it has great faith in the people, and believes in them. Let the people know that you believe in them, and they will not abuse your confidence.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

Crookston, March 26, 1891.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

TIME SCHEDULE.

West Bound.		East Bound.
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
8:35 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
8:10 "	Duluth	7:00 "
5:25 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	9:55 p. m.
8:20 "	CROOKSTON	7:10 "
9:42 "	Grand Forks	5:50 "
2:15 p. m.	Pembina	1:35 "
4:10 "	Winnipeg	11:00 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN R. R. LINE.

MONTANA EXPRESS DAILY.

7:40 p. m. de	St. Paul	ar. 6:55 a. m.
7:00 a. m. de	CROOKSTON	de. 7:25 p. m.
8:15 a. m. de	Grand Forks	de. 6:20 p. m.
2:30 p. m. ar	Helena	de. 11:00 a. m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH.
Daily, except Sunday.
Depart 7:15 a. m. .... Arrive 7:00 p. m.

FOSSTON BRANCH.
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Depart 7:30 a. m. .... Arrive 5:00 p. m.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH.
Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
Depart 10:45 a. m. .... Arrive 4:00 p. m.

W. W. FEGAN,
Agent, Crookston.

A Finance Primer.

Toledo Blade.

THE BLAND LAW OF 1878.

The silver discussion in Congress was started by the introduction of a bill by Mr. Bland in the House, in July, 1876. Nothing was done with it, and in December, 1876, at the next session, Mr. Bland reported his bill back from the committe on Mines and Mining. It provided for "coin notes" of $50 and upward, which were to be paid out at the mines and assay offices for gold or silver bullion, of which at least 75 per cent, in the form of coin or fine bullion, was to be kept on hand to redeem the notes. These notes were made full legal tender, except where gold was specified in the contract; and the gold "coin notes" were redeemable in gold coin or bullion, the silver ones in silver coin or bullion.

Mr. Bland at the same time reported an alternative bill, originating with Mr. Kelley, which provided for the coinage of silver dollars of 412½ grains, which were to be a full legal tender, except where payment in gold is required by law. It provides for free coinage. On the next day this bill was adopted as a substitute for Mr. Bland's original bill, and passed, but the senate did not reach it, and it died by the expiration of that Congress. This bill, slightly altered in verbiage, was again introduced, in the House by Mr. Bland, and passed on November 5, 1877.

In the Senate it was amended by striking out the free coinage clause, and substituting a provision authorizing the secretary of the Treasury, at his discretion, to buy not less than $2,000,000 worth of silver bullion, per annum, nor more than $4,000,000 worth to be coined into standard dollars. Afterward the amendment providing for silver certificates, whereby any holder of silver dollars may deposit them in the Treasury and receive these certificates therefor, was added. The bill, thus amended passed the Senate February 15, 1878, and the House concurred in the Senate amendment. President Hayes vetoed the bill on February 28, 1878. The same day both Houses of Congress passed the bill over his veto, and it became a law.

Under this bill the purchase of silver at the rate of two million dollars' worth of silver per month, and, its coinage into standard dollars, continued up to the passage of the law of July 14, 1890. which repealed this clause of the Bland law, leaving the others still in force.

THE SILVER LAW OF 1890.

The last measure of legislation affecting silver enacted by Congress is the silver law which was approved on July 14, 1890. It provides, first, that the secretary of the Treasury is to purchase monthly not to exceed $4,500,000 of silver bullion, or as much thereof as shall be offered, at a rate which shall not exceed $1 for 371¼ grains of pure silver. The reason for this limitation is, that there are 371¼ grains of pure silver in a dollar.

Second that this bullion is to be paid for in treasury notes. These notes are redeemable on demand in silver coin, and may be reissued; but no more nor no less shall be outstanding at any time than represents the silver bullion purchased; and the silver dollars coined from it. The notes are a legal tender for all public or private debts, except where otherwise stipulated in the contract. They may be held by national banks as part of their legal tender reserve. They are redeemable in gold or silver, whichever the secretary of the Treasury may wish.

Third, that 2,000,000 ounces of the silver so purchased shall be coined every month into standard silver dollars until July 1, 1891. After that date, only so much shall be coined as may be necessary to provide for the redemption of the notes issued under this law. The clause of the Bland law regarding the purchase of and coinage of from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 worth of bullion monthly is repealed.

The reason the limit of 4,500,000 ounces of bullion was set for the monthly purchases was, that this is the average monthly product of the mines of the United States, after the amount used in the arts, etc., is deducted. Hence the law uses practically all the silver we produce, the bullion is stored in the Treasury, and notes representing its value are issued, which at once go into circulation as part of the currency. That is, notes representing the value of 84 million ounces of silver are added to one circulating medium every year.

OUR DIFFERENT KINDS OF COIN.

It may be well to present in synoptic form the facts as to our metallic currency:

The unit of our coinage is the gold dollar, for the act of 1878 declares; "which, at the standard weight 25.8 grains, shall be the unit of value."

The coins authorized by existing laws are:

Gold —$1, $2½, $3, $5, $10, $20 coins, which are legal tender in any amount.

Silver—The standard dollar of 412½ grains, containing 371¼ grains of pure silver, which is a legal tender in any amount; and the following subsidary coins: half dollar, quarter dollar and dime. These subeidary coins are not full proportional weight, and hence are legal tender only for sums not exceeding $5.

Minor coins—5 cent and 3-cent pieces, nickel and copper; cent, of bronze. These are legal tender up to 25 cents in one payment.

Besides these, we have three distinct kinds of paper money, based on coin or bullion:

First, gold, certificates, representing gold coins deposited in the Treasury;

Second, silver certificates, representing standard dollars deposited in the Treasury;

Third, Treasury notes issued under the law of 1890, representing silver bullion, redeemable in either gold or silver coin, at the discretion of the secretary of the Treasury.

'Looking Up.'

The following story is told of old 'Father Taylor' and it is true of more places than the one mentioned:

Father Taylor once went from a certain town noted for its apathy in religious matters, to a conference meeting, where his brethren in the ministry were comparing notes as to the condition of church work in each other's locality. Presently some one asked Father Taylor how the religious interest was in A——

'Oh' replied that gentleman, 'religion is looking up in A——.'

This occasioned much surprise, as such a declaration seemed directly contrary to general reports.

'How is that?' was asked. 'Is there any general awakening of the churches?'

'No.'

'Any special interest on the part of those outside the churches?'

'No.'

"Well, then, how do yon explain your remark that religion is "looking up" in A——?'

'Why,' said Father Taylor dryly, 'religion is flat on its back in A——, and has to look up, if it looks anywhere.'

FISHER, Minn., March 16, 1889.

ED. JOURNAL: The following officers for the town of Bygland were elected at the recent town election:

Supervisors—Anthon Lindem, chairman; Sven Svenungson, Olaus Martinson.

Town Clerk—Halvor Grundesen.

Treasurer—Jacob O. Jorgenson.

Assessor—August Worden.

Justices—A. C. Asselsline, Thom Benson.

Constables—Edward Monson, Fred Worden.

The alliance ticket was elected from top to bottom, although there was one man who tried to split it as he did at the fall election. He is a member of Bygland alliance, but he got left on both elections, and I am glad of it.

HALVOR GRUNDESEN,
Town Clerk Bygland.

Battle Lake Review.

Just as we had gone to press last week the news of the murder and suicide at Pelican Rapids on election day reached Battle Lake. It seems that Hanson had been drinking, and when he went home to dinner told his wife that if those who favored license carried the election he would open a saloon in the village. His wife told him that he would do nothing of the kind, and added "If you go out this afternoon and work for license I will kill myself and child." He paid no attention to what she said and went down town, and his wife proceeded to carry out the threat she had made. She tied one end of a rope around the neck of her two years old child and hung it on a nail on the door, after which she hung herself. They were both dead when found. Friends this was all caused by whiskey.

☞ Please point out to your neighbors and friends that the ☞ Great Northern ☜ is the desirable route to and from St. Paul and Minneapolis to leading points in Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana and the Pacific Cost. ☞ Round trip tickets and lowest rates to Washington, Oregon and California. ☜

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.
Office in McKinnon Block.

A. A. JUST, M. D.
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston.

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,
DEALERS IN
Shelf and Heavy
HARDWARE,
Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, Ole Olson Gang Plows, . . Thompson & Sons Walking Plows. Sole agents for the Domestic Sewing Machine.
A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF
STOVES AND RANGES
SOLE AGENTS FOR
Havanna Press Drills
FOR POLK COUNTY.
Corner Main and letcher Sts, - - - Crookston.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM,
CROOKSTON, MINN.,
Importers, Wholesalers and Retailers of Plain and ancy
DRY GOODS, CLOAKS, UPHOLSTREY, LINENS, LANNELS,
BLANKETS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LACES, NOTIONS AND TRIMMINGS.

—SILKS.—

☞ Our stock of Silks and Velvets for the next season is the most complete and satisfactory that we have ever offered.

Armures, for	$1.00
Rhadames for	1.00
Faille Francais for	1.00
Gros Grain for	1.00
Satin Luxors for	1.00

The above silks are warranted not to cut or crack.

—DRESS GOODS.—

☞ Woolen materials for Fall and Winter wear show no falling off in variety of design.

34 inch Flannel	20 cents.
54 inch Tricot	35 "
54 inch Flannel	45 "
54 inch best all wool Flannel	75 "
36 inch Henriettas	25 "

—LINEN HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.—

We are doing the best Linen busines in this section of country. Such a business as ours does not come without reason. Our Table Linens are the best that ready money and careful buying can furnish, and they represent every kind, from the plainest cloth the the finest double Damask. Housekeepers, Restaurants and Public Institutions will find it to their advantage to buy from us.

—FLANNELS, BLANKETS, UNDERWEER, &c.—

A good Flannel for	30 cents.	A good 5 lb. 10¼ Blanket	$1.50
" " "	35 "	" 6 lb. 11¼ pink Blanket	2.00
" " medicated, for	40 "	" 4½ lb. 10¼ white "	4.50

☞ Jersey Ribbed Underwear from 30 cents to $1.50 each. ☜

You can buy from us a 40 inch Plush Cloak, Satin Lined, for $12.50.

You can save money on anything you buy from us. The Largest stock of Dr Goods in the Red River Valley.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

We imported last year over $2,000,000 worth of eggs from Canada, and have been doing so at this rate for years. The total value of all farm products brought over the line last year was over $18,000,000, every dollar of which could have been produced in Minnesota and given $300 each to 62,000 farmers. Eggs and poultry have always been in demand in the markets of our rapidly growing Western towns and cities, and no farmer need look for a more profitable investment or a more worthy occupation than that of supplying this demand. A leaflet full of hints about the raising of chickens, turkeys, geese and ducks furnished free by W. W. Fegan, agent of the Great Northern Railway, or F. I. Whitny, G. P. & T. A, St. Pall, Minn.

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

E. STEENERSON,
Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of outside Co's. ☞ CALL ON ELI!

W. A. ROBERTSON
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.
N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.
OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication March 12, 1891.]

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Pasca Labelle and Adele Labelle, his wife, to the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, bearing date the 11th day of April, A. D. 1889, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, A. D. 1889, at 3 o'clock p. m., in book 46 of mortgages, on pages 147-9.

And, whereas, such default consists of the failure to pay the following installments of interest, to-wit: $6.78 that became due November 1st, 1889; $6.00 that became due May 1st, 1890, and $6.00 that became due November 1st, 1890.

And, whereas the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, the holder of said mortgage, has elected to declare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sums in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And, whereas, there is actually due and payable at the date hereof, including principal and interest upon the premises in said mortgage described, the following sum, to-wit: Two hundred and twenty-four and 52-100 dollars ($224.52), and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the said debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter (sw¼ sw¼) of Section twenty (20), in Township one hundred and fifty-two (152) north, of Range forty-five (45) west, containing forty acres, more or less, according to the government survey thereof; said premises situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 27th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 6th, A. D. 1891.

Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, Mortgagee.

H. D. Dickinson, Attorney for Mortgagee.
[47-1] (N. G. 37)

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication March 5th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars, interest due January 1, 1890, thirty-five dollars, interest due July 1, 1890, and thirty-five dollars, interest due on the first day of January, 1891, which default has continued to the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mederic Desantels and Celanire, his wife, mortgagors, to The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of July, 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of July, 1887, at 11:45 o'clock a. m., in book 33 of mortgages, on page 56.

And, whereas, the said The Loan and Guaranty Company, of Connecticut, mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of one thousand one hundred and nineteen and 72-100 dollars, with interest on $1105 thereof at the rate of seven per cent per annum, from the 23d day of February, 1891, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The south half (s½) of the northeast quarter (ne¼) and the south half (s½) of the northwest quarter (nw¼) of Section twelve (12), Town one hundred and fifty (150), Range forty-four (44) in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County at the front door of the Court House, in the town of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of one thousand one hundred and nineteen and 72-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 23d, A. D. 1891.

The Loan and Guaranty Company,
of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.

A. Humphreys,
[46-52] Attorney for Mortgagee.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by William H Perkins and Mattie L. Perkins, his wife, to the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, bearing date the 4th day of September, A. D. 1888, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of September, A. D. 1888, at 2:10 o'clock p. m., in book 39 of mortgages on pages 51-54.

And, whereas, such default consists in the failure to pay the following instalments of interest, to-wit: $17.50 that became due March 4th, 1889. $17.50 that became due September 4th, 1889. $17.50 that became due March 4th, 1890, and $17.50 that became due September 4th, 1890.

And, whereas, the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, the holder of said mortgage, has elected to declare, and hereby does declare the whole principal sums in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas, there is actually due and payable at the date hereof, including principal and interest, upon the premises in said mortgage described, the following sum, to-wit: Five hundred and ninety-four and 47-100 ($594.47) dollars.

And, whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The west half of northeast quater (w½ ne¼) and north half of southeast quarter (n½ se¼) Section thirty-four (34) Township one hundred and fifty-one (151) of Range forty-one (41) containing 160 acres more or less, according to the government survey thereof. Said premises situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 11th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 24th, A. D. 1891.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

H. D. DICKINSON,
Attorney for Mortgagee. [N. G. 31] [45-51]

[First publication Feb. 12th, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK. In District Court, 14th Judicial District.

Frederick K. McKeen, Plaintiff, vs. James B. Holmes, The Minnesota Title Insurance and Trust Company, Charles P. Haseltine, Neil Farnham, and Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, Defendants.

Notice of Sheriff's Sale under Judgment and Decree. Foreclosure of Mechanics' Liens.

Whereas, a certain judgment was duly obtained, entered and docketed in the District court, in the County of Hennepin, State of Minnesota, in the 4th Judicial District, on the 13th day of December, 1890, and whereas a transcript and certified copy of said judgment was thereafter, to-wit: on the 4th day of February, 1891, duly filed and docketed in the Clerk's office in the District Court, of Polk County, State of Minnesota, in the 14th Judicial District, in the above entitled action, in favor of said plaintiff, Frederick K. McKeen and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of two hundred eighty-seven and 78-100ths dollars ($278.87), including interests and costs, and in favor of said defendant, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, and against said defendant, James B. Holmes, in the sum of five thousand four hundred eighty-one and ninety-one one-hundredths dollars, ($5,481.91), including interests and costs, and whereas, in said judgment it was decreed that the judgment so rendered in favor of said plaintiff to the full extent thereof, including interests and costs, and the judgment so rendered in favor of said defendants, Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company to the extent of five thousand four hundred sixty-two and 6-100ths ($5,462.06) dollars, including interests and costs, to be specific liens upon the land and appurtenances in said judgment described, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: That tract of land known as block one hundred two (102), of Rail Road Addition to the Town of Red Lake Falls, being a portion of lot six, (6), in Section sixteen, (16), in Township one hundred fifty-one, (151), Range forty-four, (44), of which certain Flouring Mills are a part of the appurtenances, co-ordinate with other, and prior and superior to any right, title, lien or claim to or in said land or appurtenances of the said defendants, James B. Holmes, Charles P. Haseltine, Neil Farnham, or the Minnesota Title Insurance Company or any of them. And whereas it was in said judgment decreed and ordered that the Sheriff of said Polk County State of Minnesota, sell said land and appurtenances at public auction as by law in such cases made and provided, to satisfy said judgment and interest thereon, together with costs of said sale, and to pay the proceeds of said sale, after deducting all lawful expenses and charges thereof to and between said Frederick K. McKeen and Willford and Northway Manufacturing Company, to the amount of their respective judgments and liens given.

Provided, if said net proceeds be insufficient, then to distribute the same pro rata among and between said judgment creditors; a certified copy of said judgment and decree having been duly served upon and delivered to me. Now, therefore,

Notice is hereby given that I will sell the above described land and appurtenances thereon, at public auction to the highest bidder therefor in accordance with and as directed in said decree on the 30th day of March, 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the county Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said Polk County and State of Minnesota., to satisfy said judgment and claims, together with the costs and expenses of such sale.

Dated February 11th, 1891.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN,
Sheriff of Polk County, Minnesota.

WHITE & EVANS, Attorneys for Plaintiff.
E. D. JACKSON, Attorney for Defendant,
Willford and Northway Mf'g Company.
[43-49]

Crookston Meat Market
E. STEENERSON, Proprietor. E. ERIKSON, Manager.
Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of twenty-two hundred and eighty ($2,280) dollars, which is claimed to be due, and is actually due, at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by James B. Holmes, as mortgagor, to Frederick W. Miller, as mortgagee, bearing date the 24th day of May, A. D. 1889, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of May, A. D. 1889, at 9:10 o'clock a. m., in book 22 of mortgages, on page 597; which said mortgage was duly sold and transferred by a deed of assignment duly executed and delivered by said Frederick W. Miller to The Hauser & Sons Malting Company (a corporation) bearing date the 7th day of April, 1890, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, 1890, at 11:50 o'clock a. m., in book 52 of mortgages, on pages 88 and 89, and no action or proceeding at law, or otherwise, having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, situate, lying and being in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and more particularly described as follows: Lots five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), nine, (9), ten (10), thirteen, (13), fourteen, (14), seventeen, (17), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty four, (24), in block seventy-eight, (78); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), twenty-two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block eighty, (80); lots nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), eighteen, (18), nineteen, (19), twenty, (20), twenty-one, (21), and twenty-two, (22), in block eighty-one, (81); lots three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12), in block eighty two, (82); all of block ninety two, (92); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five, (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), twelve, (12), twenty-one, (21), twenty two, (22), twenty-three, (23), and twenty-four, (24), in block ninety-three, (93); lots one, (1), two, (2), three, (3), four, (4), five (5), six, (6), seven, (7), eight, (8), nine, (9), ten, (10), eleven, (11), and twelve, (12), in block ninety five, (95), all in the Railroad Addition to Red Lake Falls according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes (if any) on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on Tuesday, the ninth (9th) day of April A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 26th, A. D. 1891.

The Hauser & Sons Malting Company,
Assignee of said Mortgagee.
By Paul Hauser, Sr.
President.

Moritz Heim, Attorney for said Assignee.
[43-51] St. Paul, Minn.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred thirty-five and 32-100 dollars, ($535.32) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by James E. Mitton and Mary M. Mitton, his wife, mortgagors, to Robert J. Adams, mortgagee, bearing date the 3d day of November 1884, and, with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of November 1884, at 2:25 o'clock p. m., in book "S" of mortgages, on pages 529 to 533, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: The northwest quarter of Section Ten (10), Township one hundred and fifty (150), Range forty-six, (46), west, containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, in Polk County and State of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred thirty-five and 32-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises; and twenty five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 23d, A. D. 1891.

ROBERT J. ADAMS, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee.
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

Mortgage Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26th, 1891.]

WHEREAS, ALBERT GILMOUR AND Jane Gilmour, his wife, of Polk County, State of Minnesota, as mortgagors, did, on the 8th day of July, A. D. 1887, duly execute and deliver to Josiah Upton, of the County of Ontario, State of New York their mortgage bearing date of June 25th, A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The se¼ sw¼ Section 6, ne¼ ne¼ Section 7, and n½ nw¼ Section 8, Township 147, Range 44 west, containing 160 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of seven hundred and fifty dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note, with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee or order, which said mortgage was on the 8th day of July, A. D. 1887, at 5:30 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk, in book 33 of mortgages, on pages 33-36; and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest on said mortgage on the 25th day of June, A. D. 1889, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the 25th day of December, A. D. 1889, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest on said mortgage on the 25th day of June, A. D. 1890, and on the further sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars due as interest thereon on the 25th day of December, A. D. 1890, and the said interest is still unpaid and due; and

Whereas, it was stipulated by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed, that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, his heirs, administrators, executors or assigns, to consider the whole sum hereby secured as immediately due and payable without notice to said mortgagors or any other party; and

Whereas, the said Josiah Upton, mortgagee, has exercised his option to consider and declare, and does hereby consider and declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and

Whereas, there is now due, and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred twenty five and 23-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now, therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 21st, A. D. 1891.

JOSIAH UPTON, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee.
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

WILKINSON & O'BRIEN,
LAWYERS,
FOURNET BLOCK,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

DR. M. WATTS,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office over Merchants' Bank,
☞ Professional calls by day or nigh promptly attended to.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb 26th, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of three hundred thirty-seven and 50-100 ($337.50) dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Christine Esby and John Esby, her husband, mortgagors, to Charles H. Jefferson, mortgagee, bearing date the 23d day of November, 1885, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of November, 1885, at 10 o'clock a. m., in book 23 of mortgages, on pages 49, 50 and 51, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lot number five (5), in block number three (3), in South Crookston, Polk County, Minnesota, according to the recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Polk County, Minnesota, in Polk County, and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 25th day of April, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of three hundred thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Feb. 23d, A. D. 1891.

CHARLES H. JEFFERSON, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Attorney for Mortgagee.
[45-51] Crookston, Minn.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication Feb. 26, 1891.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars ($35.00) installment of interest, which became due and payable on the first day of December, A. D. 1888, and a further default having been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars ($35.00) installment of interest which became due and payable on the 1st day of December, A. D. 1889, and a further default having been made in the payment of the sum of thirty-five dollars ($35.00) installment of interest which became due and payable on the 1st day of December, A. D. 1890, upon a certain mortgage, made, executed and delivered by John K. Ostgord and Betsy Ostgord his wife, of Polk County and State of Minnesota, mortgagors, to The Netherlands American Land Company, of Amsterdam, Holland, mortgagee, bearing date the 10th day of June, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 13th day of June, A. D. 1887, at 3:00 o'clock p. m., in volume "32" of mortgages, on pages 190 and 191.

And whereas a further default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage by the mortgagors failing and neglecting to pay the taxes assessed against, and levied upon, said premises covered by said mortgage prior to the date of the sale of lands for the payment of taxes, and the mortgagee, to protect the lien of its said mortgage, was compelled to pay and on the 4th day of May, A. D. 1889, did pay, in satisfaction of the taxes then due and delinquent on the said premises the sum of nineteen and six hundreths dollars ($19.05), and on the 31st day of March, A. D. 1890, did pay, in satisfaction of the taxes then due and delinquent on the said premises the sum of twenty-two and three hundreths dollars ($22.03); and the said defaults having each continued for a period of more than thirty days, the whole sum secured by said mortgage is hereby declared to be due and payable, as stipulated in said mortgage in case of a failure to comply with the conditions thereof; and that by reason of such defaults and declaration, there is claimed to be due and payable on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of five hundred twenty-three and eighty hundreths dollars ($523.80), and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and by virtue of the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and conveyed thereby, viz: The east half (e½) of the northeast quarter (ne¼) and east half (e½) of the southeast quarter (se¼) of Section three (3) in Township one hundred forty-seven (147) Range forty-five (45), containing one hundred and fifty-nine and 50-100 (159.50) acres, more or less, according to the United States Government survey thereof, together with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold a public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, interest, taxes, and twenty five dollars as attorney's fees, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made at the front door of the Court House in Crookston, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, by the Sheriff of said County of Polk, at the hour of two o'clock p. m. on the 14th day of April, A. D. 1891, subject to redemption at any time within one year, in manner provided by law.

Dated Moorhead, Minnesota, Feb. 21st, 1890.

The Netherlands American Land Company,
Mortgagee.

W. B. Douglassand Ball & Smith,
[45-51] Attorneys for Mortgagee.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Frist publication March 19th, 1891.

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Peter Nord and Kristine Nord his wife to the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company bearing date the 7th day of December A. D. 1888 and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 14th, day of December A. D. 1888, at 5:50 o'clock p. m. in book 39 of Mortgages, on pages 398-401 and whereas such default consists of the failure to pay the following instalments of interest, to-wit: $17.50 that became due June 7th, 1889, $17.50 that became due December 7th 1889, $17.50 that became due June 7th, 1890 and $17.50 that became due December 7th, 1890 and whereas the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company the holder of said mortgage has elected to declare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sum in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof including principal and interest upon the premises in said mortgage described the following sum, to-wit: Five hundred and eighty six and 60-100 Dollars ($586.60 and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said Mortgage, viz: The south east quarter (S E ¼) of Section ten (10) in Township one hundred and fifty three (153) of Range forty four (44) containing 160 acres more or less according to United States government survey thereof. Said premises situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and Twenty Five Dollars attorneys fee, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston in said County and State, on the 4th day of May A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 12th, A. D. 1891.

Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company,
Mortgagee.

[42-2] [N. G. 40.] H. D. DICKINSON Attorney.

[First publication March 19, 1891.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, March 17th, 1891.

In the matter of the estate of Ella Teal, deceased.

Whereas an instrument in writing, purporting to be the last will and testament of Ella Teal, deceased, late of said county, has been delivered to tais court.

And whereas, Jackson S. Chapin has filed therewith his petition, representing among other things that said Ella Teal died in said county, on the 27th day of February, 1891, testate, and that said petitioner is the executor named in said last will and testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be issued thereon to said Jackson S. Chapin.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument, and the said petition, be heard before this court, at the Probate Office in the city of Crookston in said county, on Tuesday, the 21st day of April, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when all persons interested may appear for or contest the probate of said instrument.

And it is further ordered, that notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 17th day of March, A. D. 1891.

By the Court:
[48-50] C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, APRIL 2, 1891. NO. 50

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. Outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

Time Extended.

A BILL for an Act providing for the Extension of the Time for Making Payments for Seed Grain Purchased under the Provisions of Chapter four (4) of the General Laws of 1889, in certain cases.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That any person having purchased seed grain under the provisions of chapter four of the General Laws of 1889, entitled "An act to furnish seed grain for distribution in certain counties afflicted by frost or blight or hail during the season of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight (1888), to provide for the repayment thereof, and to authorize the boards of county commissioners of such counties to issue bonds for the payment thereof," and who may from any cause have suffered from destruction or a failure of crops during the seasons of 1889 and 1890, may have the time for the payments of said seed grain extended for a term of two years from the time such payments should have been made.

SEC. 2. The county commissioners of county named in said act, shall be empowered to grant such relief upon satisfactory evidence, shown by affidavits of two or more persons, that the person applying for such relief has suffered a failure of crops during the seasons of 1889 and 1890.

SEC. 3. When such relief is granted by the county commissioners of any of said counties, they shall notify the county auditor of their county of the fact, whereupon he shall extend the time of payment of said seed grain for two (2) years from the time such payment should have been made; provided, however, that whenever any person shall acquire relief under the provisions of this act, the state of Minnesota shall have and acquire by virtue thereof a just and valid lien upon the crops of grain of such person raised by him during the years for which the time of payment is extended to the full amount of the indebtedness of said person on account of aid furnished under the provisions of said chapter four.

SEC. 4. Said act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

CROOKSTON BEAUTY HERE.

The Fair Sex of Crookston Here Enmasse Today.

Grand Forks Plaindealer.

Never before within the memory of the oldest inhabitant has such a multitude of Crookston's youth and beauty been visible here at one time unescorted. And by that we mean, that these ladies have taken a day off among themselves and come over here minus the paraphernalia of any male ecorts. A kind of Adamless Eden so to speak. Some of them are here for the purpose of witnessing the daughters of Rebekkah installion tonight, others came over to have correct profiles of their handsome countenances taken by the sun. The following ladies have been noted by The Plaindealer: Mesdames J. V. E. Wyatt, Jas. Lusian, M. Palen, Jas. Slater, Dr. Dampier, Fontaine, Sawyer, Underhill, Marin and Pingree, and Mesdemoiselles Mabel Holt, Drysdale, Childs, M Ayers, Cecillia Cromb, Anna Cromb M. Dravantz, Rich, M. Brown, M. Crookshank, Towey, Nettie Brown, Hall, G. Wright, L. KcCaffray, J. Fairbanks, Cameron, Hancock and Lanman. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. J. Chamberlain, Messrs A. C. Schmidt, Wm. Heidrich and John Moore are along with the party—merely as Dragomans, in case their services might be needed in interpreting Grand Forks dry goods prices the ladies—come again.

Beltrami Telaugraphs

BELTRAMI, March 23, 1891.

A. Noble has resigned his position as manager of the Wells farm and is now located in St. Paul, and is succeeded by Mr. Croft, of Traverse County.

D. E. Fulton and wife, of Ada, were visiting friends here the past week.

Uncle Sam has excused H. B. Budd from jury duty this term of court and Henry is happy again.

Our school district is very fortunate in securing the services of Miss Howind, of Crookston, for the spring term which begins April 6th.

Lewis Gilsoul will run the Ford farm this year. Lewis is a rustler from way back.

Many people are beginning to realize the value of our land. A few strangers have purchased land near here recently, among whom were two Fargo gentlemen who now control four sections in the unorganized town west of here, and will break 800 acres the coming season. All those who are buying uncultivated land will need lumber this spring, and we believe this would be a good point for a lumber yard.

Lewis Seeger has given up trapping and after he finishes his lecture course will devote his time to improving the swamp west of town.

Who is the greater, Columbus or Senator Lommen?

Grand Forks Herald: Walter Alexander, the good-looking and jolly conductor who run on the northern and Dakota division of the Great Northern for about six years, left the country last summer in company with numerous other railroad boys to do as Horace Greely said: "Go west and grow up with the country." He settled in Tacoma, Washington, and began at the bottom of the ladder, but being an expert railroad man, he soon ascended round after round and now we find him again with punch in hand on one of the branch lines of the Northern Pacific and running from Tacoma to Seattle. He during his stay in North Dakota made a host of warm friends, who are glad to hear of his good luck in his new home, and we are sure that in time he will go up higher and finally reach the top round until he will be made manager of the numerous roads now being constructed in the far west, but we are in hopes that when he does reach the summit he will allow those beautiful whiskers to grow, for he never looked quite as handsome as when he wore the "gallivays."

Park Region Pioneer:—F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A. of the Great Northern Railway, is concerning himself deeply of late in the farming interests of the State. His great speech of advice to farmers, made before the Editors' and Publishers' Association in St. Paul last month, has been given profuse publication. THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL of the 19th contains it, and on the same page is a three-column article "by a Practical Farmer, the President of Euclid Alliance," which goes into a running commentary on Whitney to Farmers over the shoulders of the Editorial Association, Railway officialism in farming is done up exceedingly well. Bro. Cooke ought to broadcast the article, in tract form, surely.

Red Lake Falls News:—The coasting party on 7th st hill met with a rather sudden and disastrous termination Tuesday night. The new sled, which holds six or eight persons, was descending, loaded with a merry cargo, when suddenly it veered to one side, ran into the railing, and off the bridge. The speed had been brisk and the concussion threw the different persons right and left. Mrs. H. B. Davis received a severe bump on her lip, which was soon frightfully swollen and painful. Mrs. Jos. Smith was bruised badly with severe cuts in her face and over her eye. George Smith, who occupied the first seat, was also scratched and bruised in the face. J. D. Marshall, S. J. Sprague and others who were on the sled also were slightly but not seriously injured. Though the evening's sport was thus peremptorily put to an end, all may be thankful that no more serious injuries were inflicted. The fall from the bridge to the embankment below was about five feet, and it is nothing less than a miracle that no limbs were broken or lives lost.

Grand Forks Herald:—S. C. Lanterman, a prominent citizen of Hillsboro, and one of its pioneer settlers, died suddenly yesterday, from the bursting of a blood vessel in the brain. He was apparently in perfect health only the evening before. Mr. Lanterman was a contractor, unmarried and lived with his mother and three sisters. He was 48 years of age.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS, - - - $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine. B. B. Northrop. A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh. John Moore. W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN

Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton
Grand Forks, Crookston,

AND ALL POINTS

EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on

THE DINING CAR LINE

Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points

IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY

—AND—

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS

PASSING THROUGH

Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana
Idaho, Oregon and Washington

CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars,
First and Second Class Coaches,
Pullman Tourist and
Free Colonist Sleepers

AND ELEGANT DINING CARS

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and west, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

East bound.

Passenger 7:10 p. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.

West bound.

Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p. m.

For rates, maps, time tables or special information apply to C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R.R. at Crookston, Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estaes

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
SecondStreet. Crookston, Minn.

L. E. GOSSMAN,

Attorney-at-Law,

No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

NEW CIGAR STORE

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

CALL IN.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT,

WM. HEIDRICH, Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

Farmers custom specially invited.

Terms $1.00 per Day.

Benoit & Sylvester,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

Heavy and Shelf Hardware

Carry a full and complete line of Stoves and Ranges, Doors and Sash, Barbed Wire. Agents for the Standard Rotary Shuttle Sewing Machine, Richmond Champion Press Drill and McSherry Drill.

Broadway, Crookston, Minn.

Closing Out at Cost!

I AM CLOSING OUT

MY ENTIRE STOCK OF

General Merchandise

AT AND BELOW COST

IF YOU WANT

BOOTS, SHOES

OR CROCKERY,

Call at once. All Heavy Goods Going Below Cost. This is a Bona Fide Sale and Everything Goes. Call and See.

A. STURE

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,

—DEALERS IN—

Shelf and Heavy

HARDWARE,

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, Ole Olson Gang Plows, . . Thompson & Sons Walking Plows. Sole agents for the Domestic Sewing Machine.

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

STOVES AND RANGES

SOLE AGENTS FOR

Havanna Press Drills

FOR POLK COUNTY.

Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., - - - - Crookston.

S. L. COLLINS

—PROPRIETOR OF—

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - Minnesota

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

In connection which I will attend to in person

Chances.

Of all men on earth, the American is the most hopeful, energetic, and self-reliant. As he would phrase it, he is a "hustler," and all he wants is a chance. Horace Greely's famous advice "Go West, young man," has not lost its value, for the chances are good in the West. But the United States is now, more than ever, a country of good chances and great opportunities, not alone in the west, but south and southwest. The Mississippi Valley, the Rocky Mountain Regions, the golden Pacific Coast and the sunny plains of the South are full of chances for ambitious young men, who are not afraid to work hard. To visit any of these sections of our country, "The Burlington has long been the favorite route, reaching as it does, the most important points in nine of the best states and territories in the center of the continent, and by connecting lines being the short and direct route to all points, from Puget Sound to the Gulf of Mexico. Wherever you think of going apply first for tickets to some agent of "The Burlington." or write for information to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

To Settle All Claims.

A Belief That the Alliance Elevator Company May Square Up.

Minneapolis Times.

George H. White, the assignee of the Alliance elevator company, has at last filed his schedule of assets and liabilities of the insolvent concern. The statements, which the assignee states he was compelled to take from the books alone, as best he could, show that the liabilities are $16,657.31, and the assets $6,429.58. There are in excess of this amount $851.84 in accounts receivable and $1,682 in bills receivable. He finds that there is $80,000 of stock among the assets, part of which has been paid, but there still remains a large amount that is still owing in this resource. It is thought that the full amount of liabilities will be met.

A Farmes's Philosophy.

Prairie Farmer.

I am very much pleased with The Prairie Farmer. When I am reading the articles discussing the questions that are of so much interest to the farming class. I know they are not from professional men—men who are experts at saying, but poor hands at doing. Of course they do not all agree; all the better. Variety is natural. We do not look at the same thing from the same standpoint. Circumstances alter cases. The man who had good crops and got good prices complains little; the unfortunate ones make complaint, and we know the country is full of the latter class. To my mind it is the fact that the farmer is imposed upon by the business class, as they call themselves. It seemes astonishing the number of persons it takes to do the business of the country. What is the cause of all this trouble? The reasons as given are too numerous to recapitulate. I think it is an old disease, and very much complicated, and cannot be cured in a day. But the right treatment is being applied in the form of the F. M. B. A., the Grange and the Alliance. Keep on, brother farmers. The good time has been a long time coming, and of necessity must be a long time departing. If our hopes are not realized in few years, it will be an inheritance left to our children. It is a common opinion that a man who is not fit for anything else can be a farmer; but I say it takes more physical and mental courage to-day to be a farmer (I mean a successful) than a lawyer, a doctor or a business man. Now, as we are sure we are right, let us go ahead; and mark this period as the beginning of the revolution that will restore the farmer to his high and honorable calling. Our calloused hands and bronzed faces are beginning to be seen in legislative halls, and soon our voices, made eloquent by common sense, will begin to attract the attention of the curious and command the respect of the fair-minded. And I hope with farm depression that intemperance, that dark cloud that overshadows our fair land, will be driven to the uttermost parts of nowhere.

Clinton Co., Mo. H. H, CEVELAND.

Fertile Journal:—N. C. Hendricks and family left Wednesday night for Westh Duluth, where Mr. Hendricks will embark in the merchantile business. In Mr. Hendricks removal Fertile has lost one of its best business men and foremost citizens. They were accompanied to the depot by a large concourse of friends who all joined in wishing them prosperity and happiness in their new home.

Call on Mrs. I. U. Jennings for Easter millinery goods, for she has just received a large assortment of trimmed hats, flowers, ribbons, laces, notions, &c., all of the latest styles and at prices lower than ever before. [49-50]

DRS. STARKEY & PALENS

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.

DRS. STARKEY & PALEN

NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic or Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nytrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50 000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey and Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,

GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA

PIANOS, ORGANS

WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY

OUR NEW

Fall Styles

LADIES,

Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies, call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

A GREAT PRIZE.

Any one not now a subscriber, sending the Tribune Co. ONE DOLLAR can get the famous picture, the

The Russian Wedding Feast,

FREE BY MAIL WITH

The Daily and Sunday Tribune..........6 weeks
or the Daily (without Sun.) Tribune......8 weeks
or the Evening Tribune..........12 weeks
or the Sunday Tribune..........26 weeks
or the Farmers Weekly Tribune..........52 weeks

This offer is good until June 1st, 1891.

The picture is a beautiful work of art. Reproduced in all the beautiful colors of the original painting, 24 incher by 17 inches.

Send at once and secure a handsome prize.

Postage stamps to the amount of $1.00 hill be accepted. Address,

THE TRIBUNE CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

Regular Subscription Rates by Mail.

	1 Year.	3 Mo.	1 Mo.
Daily and Sunday	$8 50	$2 25
Daily, 6 days)	7 00	1 75	70c
Sundays only	2 00	50	20c
Evening Tribune	1 00		40c
Farmers' Weekly	60		10c

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r.

D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. [illegible] business pertaining to our profession.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum.

VOL. XIV. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, APRIL 2, 1891. NO. [illegible]

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. Outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m.	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3.75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

Time Extended.

A BILL for an Act providing for the Extension of the Time for Making Payments for Seed Grain Purchased under the Provisions of Chapter four (4) of the General Laws of 1889, in certain cases.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That any person having purchased seed grain under the provisions of chapter four of the General Laws of 1889, entitled "An act to furnish seed grain for distribution in certain counties afflicted by frost or blight or hail during the season of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight (1888), to provide for the repayment thereof, and to authorize the boards of county commissioners of such counties to issue bonds for the payment thereof," and who may from any cause have suffered from destruction or a failure of crops during the seasons of 1889 and 1890, may have the time for the payments of said seed grain extended for a term of two years from the time such payments should have been made.

SEC. 2. The county commissioners of county named in said act shall be empowered to grant such relief upon satisfactory evidence, shown by affidavits of two or more persons, that the person applying for such relief has suffered a failure of crops during the seasons of 1889 and 1890.

SEC. 3. When such relief is granted by the county commissioners of any of said counties, they shall notify the county auditor of their county of the fact, whereupon he shall extend the time of payment of said seed grain for two (2) years from the time such payment should have been made; provided, however, that whenever any person shall acquire relief under the provisions of this act, the state of Minnesota shall have and acquire by virtue thereof a just and valid lien upon the crops of grain of such person raised by him during the years for which the time of payment is extended to the full amount of the indebtedness of said person on account of aid furnished under the provisions of said chapter four.

SEC. 4. Said act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

CROOKSTON BEAUTY HERE.

The Fair Sex of Crookston Here Enmasse Today.

Grand Forks Plaindealer.

Never before within the memory of the oldest inhabitant has such a multitude of Crookston's youth and beauty been visible here at one time unescorted. And by that we mean that these ladies have taken a day off among themselves and come over here, minus the paraphernalia of any male escort. A kind of Adamless Eden so to speak. Some of them are here for the purpose of witnessing the daughters of Rebekkah installation tonight, others came over to have correct profiles of their handsome countenances taken by the sun. The following ladies have been noted by The Plaindealer: Mesdames J. [illegible] Wyatt, [illegible] Dr. Dampier, Fontaine, Sawyer, Underhill, Marin and Pingree, and Mesdemoiselles Mabel [illegible] Drysdale, [illegible] [illegible]

Beltrami Telaugraphs.

BELTRAMI, March 23, 1891.

A. Noble has resigned his position as manager of the Wolfs farm and is now located in St. Paul, and is succeeded by Mr. Croft, of Traverse County.

D. E. Fulton and wife, of Ada, were visiting friends here the past week.

Uncle Sam has excused H. B. Budd from jury duty this term of court and Henry is happy again.

Our school district is very fortunate in securing the services of Miss Howind, of Crookston, for the spring term which begins April 6th.

Lewis Gilsoul will run the Ford farm this year. Lewis is a rustler from way back.

Many people are beginning to realize the value of our land. A few strangers have purchased land near here recently, among whom were two Fargo gentlemen who now control four sections in the unorganized town west of here, and will break 800 acres the coming season. All those who are buying uncultivated land will need lumber this spring, and we believe this would be a good point for a lumber yard.

Lewis Seeger has given up trapping and after he finishes his lecture course will devote his time to improving the swamp west of town.

Who is the greater, Columbus or Senator Lommen?

Grand Forks Herald: Walter Alexander, the good-looking and jolly conductor who run on the northern and Dakota division of the Great Northern for about six years, left the country last summer in company with numerous other railroad boys to do as Horace Greely said: "Go west and grow up with the country." He settled in Tacoma, Washington, and began at the bottom of the ladder, but being an expert railroad man, he soon ascended round after round and now we find him again with punch in hand on one of the branch lines of the Northern Pacific and running from Tacoma to Seattle. He during his stay in North Dakota made a host of warm friends, who will be glad to hear of his good luck in his new home, and we are sure that in time he will go up higher and finally reach the top round until he will be made manager of the numerous roads now being constructed in the far west, but we are in hopes that when he does reach the summit he will allow those beautiful whiskers to grow, for he never looked quite as handsome as when he wore the "galliways."

Park Region Pioneer:—F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A. of the Great Northern Railway, is concerning himself deeply of late in the farming interests of the State. His great speech of advice to farmers, made before the Editors and Publishers' Association in St. Paul last month, has been given profuse publication. THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL of the 19th contains it, and on the same page is a three-column article "by a Practical Farmer, the President of Euclid Alliance," which goes into a running commentary on Whitney to Farmers over the shoulders of the Editorial Association. Railway officialism in farming is done up exceedingly well. Bro. Cooke ought to broadcast the article in tract form, surely.

Red Lake Falls News:—The coasting party on 7th st hill met with a rather sudden and disastrous termination Tuesday night. The new sled, which holds six or eight persons, was descending, loaded with a merry cargo, when suddenly it veered to one side, ran into the railing, and off the bridge. The speed had been brisk and the concussion threw the different persons right and left. Mrs. H. B. Davis received a severe bump on her lip, which was soon frightfully swollen and painful. Mrs. Joe Smith was bruised badly with severe cuts in her face and over her eye. George Smith, who occupied the first seat, was also scratched and bruised in the face. J. D. Marshall, S. J. Sprague and others who were on the sled also were slightly but not seriously injured. Though the evening's sport was thus peremptorily put to an end all may be thankful that no more serious injuries were inflicted. The fall from the bridge to the embankment below was about twelve feet, and it is nothing less than a miracle that no limbs were broken or lives lost.

Grand Forks Herald:—[illegible]

First National Bank OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS, $12,700

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. H. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

Northern Pacific

BETWEEN

Winnipeg, Gilby, Drayton, Grafton
Grand Forks, Crookston,

AND ALL POINTS

EAST AND WEST.

There is nothing better than the service on

THE DINING CAR LINE

Through Pullman Sleeping Cars Daily between points

IN THE RED RIVER VALLEY

—AND—

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS.

PACIFIC COAST TRAINS
PASSING THROUGH

Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana
Idaho, Oregon and Washington

CARRY COMPLETE EQUIPMENT OF

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars,
First and Second Class Coaches,
Pullman Tourist and
Free Colonist Sleepers

AND ELEGANT DINING CARS

THROUGH TICKETS are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and west, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.
East-bound.
Passenger 7:10 a. m. | Freight 9:20 p. m.
West-bound.
Passenger 8:20 a. m. | Freight 8:00 p. m.

For rates, maps, time tables or special information apply to C. A. Sharkey, Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston, Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

THE OLD RELIABLE CROOKSTON LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY
On Real Estate

MONEY
On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

L. E. GOSSMAN,

Attorney-at-Law,

No. 3 Fournet Block. CROOKSTON, MINN.

NEW CIGAR STORE

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, MINN.

[illegible]

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

[illegible]

WM. HEDRICH, [illegible]

Benoit & Sylvester,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

Heavy and Shelf Hardware

Carry a full and complete line of Stoves and Ranges, Doors and Sash, Barbed Wire. Agents for the Standard Rotary Shuttle Sewing Machine, Richmond Champion Press Drill and McSherry Drill.

Broadway, Crookston, Minn.

Closing Out at Cost!

I AM CLOSING OUT

MY ENTIRE STOCK OF

General Merchandise

AT AND BELOW COST

IF YOU WANT

BOOTS, SHOES
OR CROCKERY,

Call at once. All Heavy Goods Going Below Cost. This is a Bona Fide Sale and Everything Goes. Call and See.

A. STURE

ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER,

—DEALERS IN—

Shelf and Heavy HARDWARE,

Mixed Paints, Linseed and Machine Oils, Ole Olson Gang Plows, Thompson & Sons Walking Plows. Sole agents for the Domestic Sewing Machine.

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

STOVES AND RANGES

SOLE AGENTS FOR

Havanna Press Drills

FOR POLK COUNTY.

Corner Main and Fletcher Sts., Crookston.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables.

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS. WEST SIDE.

Crookston, Minnesota

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
[illegible] a specialty.

Chances.

Of all men on earth, the American is the most hopeful, energetic, and self-reliant. As he would phrase it, he is a "hustler," and all he wants is a chance. Horace Greely's famous advice "Go West, young man," has not lost its value, for the chances are good in the West. But the United States is now, more than ever, a country of good chances and great opportunities, not alone in the west, but south and southwest. The Mississippi Valley, the Rocky Mountain Regions, the golden Pacific Coast and the sunny plains of the South are full of chances for ambitious young men, who are not afraid to work hard. To visit any of these sections of our country, "The Burlington" has long been the favorite route, reaching as it does, the most important points in nine of the best states and territories in the center of the continent, and by connecting lines being the short and direct route to all points, from Puget Sound to the Gulf of Mexico. Wherever you think of going apply first for tickets to some agent of "The Burlington," or write for information to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

To Settle All Claims.

A Belief That the Alliance Elevator Company May Square Up.

Minneapolis Times.

George H. White, the assignee of the Alliance elevator company, has at last filed his schedule of assets and liabilities of the insolvent concern. The statements, which the assignee states he was compelled to take from the books alone, as best he could, show that the liabilities are $16,657.81, and the assets $6,429.68. There are in excess of this amount $851.84 in accounts receivable and $1,682 in bills receivable. He finds that there is $80,000 of stock among the assets, part of which has been paid, but there still remains a large amount that is still owing in this resource. It is thought that the full amount of liabilities will be met.

A Farmes's Philosophy.

Prairie Farmer.

I am very much pleased with The Prairie Farmer. When I am reading the articles discussing the questions that are of so much interest to the farming class. I know they are not from professional men—men who are experts at saying, but poor hands at doing. Of course they do not all agree; all the better. Variety is natural. We do not look at the same thing from the same standpoint. Circumstances alter cases. The man who had good crops and got good prices complains little; the unfortunate ones make complaint, and we know the country is full of the latter class. To my mind it is the fact that the farmer is imposed upon by the business class, as they call themselves. It seemes astonishing the number of persons it takes to do the business of the country. What is the cause of all this trouble? The reasons as given are too numerous to recapitulate. I think it is an old disease, and very much complicated, and cannot be cured in a day. But the right treatment is being applied in the form of the F. M. B. A., the Grange and the Alliance. Keep on, brother farmers. The good time has been a long time coming, and of necessity must be a long time departing. If our hopes are not realized in few years, it will be an inheritance left to our children. It is a common opinion that a man who is not fit for anything else can be a farmer; but I say it takes more physical and mental courage to-day to be a farmer (I mean a successful) than a lawyer, a doctor or a business man. Now, as we are sure we are right, let us go ahead, and mark this period as the beginning of the revolution that will restore the farmer to his high and honorable calling. Our calloused hands and bronzed faces are beginning to be seen in legislative halls, and soon our voices, made eloquent by common sense, will begin to attract the attention of the curious and command the respect of the fair minded. And I hope with farm depression that intemperance, that dark cloud that overshadows our fair land, will be driven to the uttermost parts of nowhere.

Clinton Co., Mo. H. H. CLEVELAND.

Fertile Journal:—N. J. Hendricks and family left Wednesday night for West Duluth, where Mr. Hendricks will embark in the merchantile business. In Mr. Hendricks' removal Fertile has lost one of its best business men and foremost citizens. They were accompanied to the depot by a large concourse of friends, who all join in wishing them prosperity and happiness in their [illegible]

DRS. STARKEY & PALEN'S

TRADE MARK.

NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

TREATMENT BY INHALATION.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Headache, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic and Nervous Disorders.

"The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment," Drs. Starkey & Palen have been using for the last twenty years, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of oxygen and nitrogen magnetized; and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent all over the world.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their original (and only genuine) Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1,000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new brochure of two hundred pages, published by Drs. Starkey & Palen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent and a record of several hundred surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Read the brochure!

DRS. STARKEY & PHALEN,
No. 1,529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

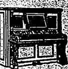
Please mention this paper when you order Com. Oxygen.

KOPS BRO'S

105 Third Street,

GRAND FORKS, N. DAKOTA

PIANOS, ORGANS



WEBER, HAINES BROS., KURTZMANN, MATHUSHEK, McCAMMON PIANOS, Estey and Chicago Cottage Organs. New Upright Pianos from $250 to $1,000, on terms of $10 to $25 per month. New Organs from $60 to $250 on terms of $5 to $10 per month.

Satisfaction guanteed. Write for catalogue and prices. KOPS BROS.
Grand Forks, N. D.

New Millinery Store

ON BROADWAY.

NOW READY
OUR NEW

Fall Styles

LADIES,

Call and Examine.

DRESSMAKING!

We have added a dressmaking department and our dressmaker is now prepared to attend to any order in the latest style of the art. Ladies call and see us at our New Store on Broadway.

Minnie & Mrs. J. L. Bailey.

A GREAT PRIZE.

Any one not now a subscriber, sending the Tribune Co. ONE DOLLAR can get the famous picture, the

The Russian Wedding Feast

FREE BY MAIL WITH [illegible]

The Daily and Sunday Tribune [illegible] or the Daily (without Sun.) Tribune [illegible] or the Evening Tribune [illegible] or the Sunday Tribune [illegible] or the Farmers Weekly Tribune [illegible]

This offer is good until June 1st, 1891.

The picture is a beautiful work of art, [illegible] duced in all the beautiful colors of the original painting, [illegible] inches by 17 inches.

Send at once and secure a handsome prize. Postage stamps to the amount of $1 [illegible] accepted. Address,

THE TRIBUNE CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

Regular Subscription Rates by Mail.

[illegible]

FRANK IVES. D. E. HATLESTAD.

IVES & HATLESTAD

[illegible]

Polk County Journal.

Crookston, April 2, 1891.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 86.
1 Northern 84.
2 Northern 81.
3 Northern 76.

There is a big demand for barley for seed.

Seed wheat is in demand at from 90 cents to $1.

Knut Opheim was up from Fertile last Saturday.

Wheat went off one cent on Saturday but recoverd on Monday.

Mrs. G. P. Houg is very ill with inflammation of the bowels.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bivins, of Argyle, were in the city over Sunday.

Hans Sampson was in from Fosston this week greeting old friends.

For a few days the roads leading to our city will be in poor condition.

Almost seeding time. If all signs don't fail this will be a prosperous year.

Atty A. C. Wilkinson went north to Warren and Hallock on Tuesday morning.

The good looking merchant of St. Hilaire, C. G. Rapp, came down on Monday.

Geo. J. McManus came up from Duluth last Saturday and went out to the farm.

Save up your spare dimes for the opening of the new opera house which occurs on the 13th.

Mr. and Mrs. Keye, of Argyle were down to attend the Odd Fellows entertainment on Tuesday.

A. W. Dawley left for Seattle last week to spend thesummer and perhaps to locate permanently.

The Great Northern is putting in a new platform at the depot. A much needed improvement.

The effect of our sewer system may plainly be seen in the condition of our streets this spring. Mud has no chance.

Monday was one of those blue days what you read about—cold, wet, snowy, rainy, muddy, and everything of that sort.

Peder Engh was down from St. Hilaire last week en route for Angus where he has taken a farm to work on shares this summer.

Call and look over those drills at Benoit & Sylvester's and let the boys give you the good points about them while they quote prices.

Herb Mason is a bachelor for awhile. Mrs. Mason having gone to Chicago for a six weeks visit with friends and relatives at the old home.

Comrade A. J. Hamery was up from Fertile on Wednesday. Says farmers are rejoiced to see so much moisture which insures big crops.

And now the merry aspirant for city office humpeth himself around in quest of the genial voter and verily the remark is "settemupagin!"

Rev. S. H. Barteau was down from Stephen last week. Reports business in that lively little burg good and everybody hopeful for the future.

The Journal learns that P. J. Russel is a "kandidat" for Justice of the Peace. Well, we can't help but believe that P. J. is worthy and well qualified.

Mrs. August George and the Misses Bulock, of Ada, were in the city on Tuesday. Mrs. George is making preparations for a trip to Germany.

Elsewhere in this issue will be seen the law in relation to the extension of time for the payment for seed wheat. All interested will do well to look it up.

W. E. Walker is mentioned as a candidate for alderman in the third word. W. E. is very good kind of material of which to make an alderman.

Everybody who has the best interests of our city at heart will attend the opera at least once during the opening season. There is hardly any one who cannot afford that much.

We hear no opposition to the idea of Mayor McKinnon succeeding himself. He certainly has been an excellent official and we see no reason why he should not be retained.

Judge Spendley, who has been quite out of health for a few weeks is very much improved, we are glad to say and trust that his restoration to health may be speedy and permanent.

Mayor McKinnon has replaced the large plate glass in I. O. O. F. block, which was broken a few weeks since. The breakage was caused by the heaving of the cellar walls by frost.

Have you seen that McSherry drill at Benoit & Sylvester's. Benoit says it is the best drill in the market and if it don't suit you you can take the Champion drill. They are both leading drills.

Fred Anderson is about again looking altogether too slim to run for assessor though he says he will be "in it." There was a kind of an expression about his eyes like he did not exactly mean it, however.

The chattel mortgage sale on Tuesday did [illegible] pan out exceedingly well though one Minneapolis self binder brought [illegible] and one cow $27 which [illegible] good figures, everything considered.

The Journal is informed that the band is about to be reorganized on a more solid foundation than ever. The services of Prof. Casad have been secured which is an ample guaranty of efficiency.

Conductor Flint has brought his fine thoroughbred trotter to the city for the use of good stock fanciers. The animal is in a good family of trotters and will prove a grand acquistion to Polk County flyers.

Tom Dougherty has bought a quarter section of land of Pete Sture at Black River and is moving thereon this week. He will work the farm of A. Sture also, which will make him an abundance of nice rich soil.

C. K. Ingeberg the genial clerk of Stewart & Spottswood, commenced work for Alderman & Sylvester on Monday morning. He is one of the best in the business, and thoroughly understands his trade.

See notice of auction sale of E. L. Smith elsewhere in this issue. The stock he advertises is of the best, as Mr. Smith is one of those men who believe in thorough farming and practices what he preaches.

Rev. R. H. Battey goes to Minneapolis this week after his family and expects to be domiciled in his new home by next Sabbath. The Journal extends a cordial welcome to Mrs. B. and family to Crookston society.

Wm. Wylia was down from Black River on Monday. Says if the weather continues farmers can soon go to seeding as the snow is nerly all gone up there. He says they will sow a large aereage to wheat this season also barley and oats.

Attorney A. C. Wilkinson, who has been on the sick list for some time is improving, we are glad to say, for when Wilk is not feeling well he is too cross for any use—and besides, we don't like to see our best lawyers laid off, even temporarily.

D. Jacobus is a candidate for assessor and The Journal hopes to see him win. He is one of the oldest of Crookston's old inhabitants, coming here way back in the seventies with the first of 'em; is an all round good fellow and would make a capital assessor.

See new ad of McKinnon Bros., the old reliable dealers in agricultural implements. This firm has been in business in this line for years in this city and that they are fully trustworthy is well known to the hundreds in the country with whom they have dealt.

Andrew Steenerson was up from Climax on Monday. To The Journal scribe he said: "I want to say that the article appearing in your issue of March 19th, signed 'President of Euclid Alliance,' was the slickest thing I ever read. I cut it out and pasted it in my scrap book for future reference."

We were told that J. E. Morrisey was a candidate for Justice of the Peace, so we popped the question to him fair and square. "No sir, I am not an aspirant for that nor any other office, unless our folks in the second ward desire to return me to the council, in which case I should not refuse," said he, and we proceeded to smoke.

An extra session of the county board will be held on Friday(to-morrow) to act upon applications for extension of time on seed wheat payments. All who are interested should take notice and present their case before the board. The bill which we print elsewhere in this issue will show who are entitled to extension of time.

Kittson County Enterprise:—John Paulson brought a 19 months old Holstein bull into town Tuesday that weighed 1,055 pounds, a gain of 2 pounds a day from the day he was born. This is as good an animal as we have ever seen. If a few more of our farmers would go into blooded stock it would be better for our country.

You are kindly invited to attend the Congregational church next Sunday. Rev. R. H. Battey will speak, 11:00 a. m.—"The Prosperous Life." 7:30 p. m.—"The Young Woman as a Christian." Strangers come, men of business come, children come, day laborers come, troubled ones come. The service opens at the hour with a cordial welcome for all.

O. H. Truesdell, who was here with the Wilson Comedy Co., was in the city on Tuesday arranging with T. H. Bjoin for the opening of the Opera house. Mr. T. was one of the best of the Wilson company and few better actors ever find their way up here. He informs The Journal that he will be here some time in October next with an entirely new company.

The sale at M. R. Brown's barn on Friday last was well attended, everything going at satisfactory prices. It was made up of small lots of stock by many different owners, not one having enough to pay him to make up a sale, but in this way a large sale was made, proving satisfactory to all concerned. It would be a good idea to make such sales a permanent feature.

While the manly, noble-hearted ones among the printing fraternity last week were giving us nice little notices of condolence and sympathy in the recent loss of our publisher, the Crookston Times gave us a venomous broadside from its mud battery, which we must confess surprised us—under the circumstances. In reply, we wish to say to him that when the editor of this paper so far forgets his manhood as to strike such a dastardly blow at a brother in distress we hope the brethren will all join in and read him out of the [illegible]

Sheriff Hill of Clay Co., was up on Monday looking the city over for the first time in his life. Was well pleased with what he saw and says he thinks we have a fine city here. He says he has it on good authority that the Moorhead Northern will be pushed to this point early this spring which will improve the facilities for reaching Moorhead very much. We hope he is correct in his prophesy as to the coming of thatr road.

Postmaster Dawley informs The Journal that our post office has reached the limit entitling it to be made a second-class office on July 1st. This should be done and a greater allowance made for clerk hire as there is a vast amount of work done here—the distributing point for 36 post-offices. If this matter should be properly presented no doubt our office will be made second-class on July 1st.

The Republican League club organized last Friday evening by electing Hugh Robertson, president, B. F. Zarracher and Thomas Harris, vice-presidents, G. H. Palmer, secretary, and Lewis Ellington, treasurer. R. J. Montague was appointed a member of the county executive committee. E. M. Walsh, C. O. Christianson and B. F. Zarracher were appointed a committee to solicit membership. A convention to elect a member of the State executive committee will be called.

In speaking of the subscriptions to the Red River College last week our type made us say that "Fred Walker subscribed $250," when we meant Will Walker. Mr. Aaker says the work is going forward very encouragingly and he has strong hopes that the college will be secured—but it will require some more generous subscriptions to accomplish it. It would indeed be a pity if Crookston should miss this institution now that it is so nearly won.

E. C. Davis: "Would I support D. Jacobus for assessor? Well now young man you just betcherlife I would! If there is any man more than any other whom I think worthy of it, that man is Jake. As you know he not only came here in the early day but he has put in a good many good big round dollars to help build up this city and if Jake wants that office or any other I am for Jake and dont let that fact escape your memory for one little moment!" Saying which, Mr. Davis put in his genial—old-settler smile and began to talk about the interest bill.

To Our Brethren of the Press.

Our brethren of the press—those who have spoken kindly words of sympathy for us in our sore trial, will please accept our heartfelt thanks for their kindness. Words are poor things to convey feelings in such a case, but the words that have been spoken of him who has gone from us are such as renew our faith in the brotherhood, and they do comfort us. God bless you, brethren. and long spare you like bitter trials, Although in the close competition of business interests strifes are liable to be engendered, in such a trial as this the true printer—the true nobleman—will at once forget the petty business differences and come to the front with words of generous sympathy which shows the true nobility of manhood which exists in the fraternity. God knows why these bitter trials are allowed to be, but that they develope true manhood in the hearts and lives of the brethren in this probationery state, we believe is true, and again, brethren, I wish to try to express my thanks.

H. E. Cooke, Ed. Journal.

Mart Bang was up from Ada at the I. O. O. F. dedication services.

M. O. Roholt was up from the west side on Wednesday interviewing the R. L. C. & P. R. R. magnates.

H. Bennewitz was down from Argyle on Monday evening looking over the new opera house.

Dont forget the opening of the new opera house on the 13th. Local pride in the progress of our city should lead everyone to go at least once.

H. Kroegh has rented the room just south of the stairway in the opera block and will open a first-class restaurant just as soon as the room can be made ready.

Dropping in to see L. I. Benoit one day this week we found his store filled with customers and the whole force on the jump waiting on them. As soon as we could get the ear of the busy proprietor we said: "This looks like business, Benoit. If this keeps on you will need to double the size of your store." "That's just what I propose to do," said he. "My trade is increasing so much that I shall be obliged to build an addition or rent a large store very soon."

Grand Opening

BJOIN'S

Grand Opera House,

Crookston, Minn.,

MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY,

April 13th, 14th and 15th,

AND WEDNESDAY MATINEE.

The new Queen of the Northwest will be opened with the

BOSTON COMIC OPERA COMPANY

OF 25 PEOPLE.

This Company comes with unstinted praise from the western press, and all can rely on a first-class company and first-class operas.

Opening bill .... "La, Mascot."
Tuesday night .... "Erminie."
Wednesday night .... "Oltvette."
Wednesday Matinee .... "Mikado."

East Grand Forks News:—The News expresses profound sympathy for the relations of Bro. W. G. Cooke publisher of the Polk County Journal. Mr. Cooke was a promising young man—only 37 years old and the profession as well as The Journal will sadly miss him.

Chris. Houston tells The Journal of a very narrow escape from death that one of the Knudsons had a short time since. Chris. was going home in quite a severe snow storm and had reached the point on the Red Lake Falls road where that road crosses the N. P. (about a half mile from where the accident occurred by which Sylvester and Magee lost their lives) when he saw the body of a man lying on the railroad track and a train in sight. He ran to the prostrate form and dragged it clear of the rails when the train dashed by, then his strength failed him, and, as he said, he "couldn't have lifted a pound." It was a close call and should be a warning against taking in too much bug juice.

Chicago Tribune: Aiden Benedict's "Fabio Romani," which is being played at the academy, is a dramatization of Marie Corelli's novel "The Vendetta." The play retains all the gloomy sensationalism of the story. Mr. Walter Lawrence was a very good Fabio. Miss Frances Field enacts the heroine with commendable earnestness. Miss Addie Farwell and Mr. C. H. Farwell should be credited with two strong bits of characterization. The scenery and mechanical effects are new and interesting. At the opera house to-night, April 2d.

Grand Forks Plaindealer;—Judge Woodruff eagerly scrutinized the Crookston crowd here yesterday, for Attorney Steenerson, but he wasn't there Steen owes the judge a hat, on a bet, and of course Woodruff is somewhat interested in the Crookston attorney's welfare.

No you dont! The Judge has got the wrong end of himself this time. That bet was for a pair of shoes, doncherknow. Steernerson owns the "corn" and has been looking for a shoemaker who has lasts big enough to make a pair of gun-boats that will fit—hasn't found him yet; if you have a shoemaker in your burg who can fill the bill trot him out and the Judge shall have "them shoes!"

Wilson says: "You may tell the boys that Wilson & Thompson have the finest line of foreign and domestic cigars in the city and that when they have "Ben Hur" for their "Acorn" regularly a short time they will smoke no other goods unless perhaps it be a "Black Rose" which is made up of clippings of imported goods with native wrappers."

For Sale Cheap.

Four good brood mares and two good work horses cheap for cash or negotiable paper. Inquire of Knudson and Borlaug, at Alderman & Sylvester's livery stable.

AT LAST.

IT STANDS COMPLETE.

The New Opera Block.

The grand opera block, which for the past nine months has been in the hands of the architect, the mason, the carpenter, the plumber, the painter and decorator and the scene painter, stands complete—a realized fact and a thing of beauty. To the enterprise and public spirit of Thomas H. Bjoin and Knute K. Austin, Crookston owes this handsome block and the possession of one of the finest Opera Houses outside of the twin cities. The architect is J. W. Ross, of Grand Forks, who made the plans for the hotel Dakotah and many other notable buildings of Grand Forks and Crookston. The building stands 100x100 feet, three stories high and basement. The mason work was done by T. R. Morris, of Fargo, and was well done, requiring 1,050,000 brick, manufactured at the Crookston brick yard. Ground for the building was broken July 1st, 1890. Four large store rooms, with a spacious hallway in the center of the building, face Main street. On the second floor are four suits of rooms suitable for lawyers or doctors, and the grand opera apartments. On the third floor are six suites of rooms, some of which are now occupied by young men as sleeping apartments. W. E. Walker had the contract for the carpenter work and right well has this portion been done. The lumber used was furnished by the Red River Valley Lumber Co. The door posts, girders and all iron work in the building was made by Ald. J. E. Morrisey, proprietor of the Crookston Foundry, and is as good as could be procured from any manufactory in the State. The building is heated by steam, the apparatus for which was furnished by S. C. Wentworth, and the plumbing by B. O. Paulsness. A. C. Schmidt, the genial Queen City painter, did the painting outside of the opera apartment, and it is done with his usual good taste and skill. The electric light wires were put in by the Electric Light Co., of St. Paul. The Acme cement plastering was used, and outside of the opera apartment, was put on by Louis Rivard, of our city. The painting and decorating in the opera apartment was well done by Boerth & Co., of Grand Forks, and the plastering by Budge and Kennedy. The Portage red stone for front is from N. H. Uhlmer, of St. Paul, and the skylight from Rush Bros., Fargo. The stage scenery was painted by Prof. E. Clausen, and is all done in the very latest style of the art from the most approved models, and there is no stage in any city in America better prepared for business in this respect. The house is seated with the latest improved opera chairs, and the carpeting was furnished by Fontaine & Anglim and put in by Tim Donovan. The opera house will be opened by the Boston Opera Company on the evening of Monday, April 13th, continuing three nights. The total cost of the building will exceed $50,000, the opera house portion alone costing over $10,000. That our citizens will appreciate such enterprise and give the proprietors a rousing benefit on opening week we have no doubt. Certainly such enterprise deserves ample reward.

What They Say About the Boston Comic Opera Company.

Portland Oregonian: The Park in its palmiest days never held a more delighted audience or one more generous of applause than that which greeted the Boston Comic Opera Company last night. In point of numbers it far exceeded all expectations, taking into consideration the strong counter attraction of the Emma Juch Opera Company, the 700 chairs on the lower floor were all taken. The opera was a new version of Andran's charming comic opera "La Mascot," of which it is to be said it possesses the beauty of the chief features of the original, while also possessing great scope for those whimsicalities of broad and grotesque humor so much in vogue on the stage to-day. In Miss Pauline Harvey is found a singer of great sweetness and an actress of charming face and perfect figure. The gobble duett and Peppo earned an enthusiastic encore. Wm. H. Newborough, as Lorenzo, and Geo. H. Whitman as Rocco, showed a highly entertaining vein of original comedy, Whitman's grotesque work being received with uproarous applause. Herman Waldo, the tenor, as Prince Frederick, was a distinct musical triumph, his fine stage presence and clear tenor voice earning him unstinted applause and two encores. The company is one of the best ever seen in Portland.

This company will open the Grand Opera House in Crookston on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, April 18th, 14th and 15th.

Vancouver, B. C., News: A great success was scored last night at the Imperial by the Boston Comic Opera Co., who presented the Mascot. The two principal characters, Bettina, the Mascot, and Fiametta, the Prince's daughter, were taken by Miss Pauline Harvey and Miss Bessie German. Both acted with great taste and ability and it is difficult to say to which is due the chief honors. Mr. Newborough made a capital Lorenzo, while Mr. Whitman's Rocco fairly brought down the house. The company is a good one.

Schmidt, the Painter,

IS TOO BUSY

With work this week to write up an ad, but wishes The Journal readers to call and examine his large stock of Paints and Oils to which he has recently added

☞ WALL PAPER. ☜

Call at the Shop on Broadway.

SPRING SALE

—OF—

SPRING CLOAKS

—AND—

JACKETS,

At Fontaine & Anglim's

NEXT WEEK.

McKINNON BROS.,

—DEALERS IN—

ALL OF THE LEADING

Agricultural Implements.

MAIN STREET. McKINNON BLOCK.

☞ Before Purchasing, Give Us a Call. ☜

TEACHERS' EXAMINATIONS

Our genial county superintendent of schools was busy last week with examinations. The following aspirants for certificates appeared:

Mamie A. Bullan,	Crookston.
Clara E. Bullan,	"
F. J. Tousley,	"
Alara Magean,	"
Annie Branett,	"
A. P. Johnson,	"
M. H. Grefthen,	"
Julia Anderson,	"
John N. Kirsch,	"
Miraim Dobson,	"
Mamie E. Sargeant,	"
Maud Sargeant,	"
Julia Brunner,	"
Edith Lusian,	"
Stella McIntyre,	"
Wm. T. Nicholson,	"
Rachael Nicholson,	"
Emma Flemming,	"
Mattie E. Brown,	"
Maggie Ford,	"
Lorena Johnson,	"
Julia Carlson,	"
Maud Leguee,	"
Josephene Kirsch,	"
Agnes Godbout,	"
Jas. Cruikshanks,	Buffington.
Lizzie Cruikshanks,	"
A. N. Horton,	Maple Bay.
Lottie N. Horton,	"
Ethel Deneston,	"
Henry T. McNulty,	"
Carrie Hunter,	"
Carrie I. Moen,	"
E. M. Snedeker,	Mentor.
Minnie N. Smith,	"
Sigrid Grundyson,	Fisher.
Emma T. Grundyson,	"
L. O. Amundson,	"
Abbie Brewster,	"
Sophia J. Sletto,	Valley.
Annie M. Peterson,	"
Hans M. Dahl,	Rindal.
Lizzie A. Copp,	Excel.
Delia Hancock,	Euclid.
Amelia C. Hanson,	Fertile.
Lillian Lawrence,	Erskine.
Nellie Cronquist,	"
Peter S. Finseth,	Roome.
Hattie A. Smith,	Edna.
Mrs. E. Little,	Gentilly.
Bessie Toulouse,	Lambert.
Katie Toulouse,	"

Pluck and Energy Wins.

On Tuesday evening of last week Geo. W. Peake, the Main street harness-maker, was at supper fire broke out in his display room and destroyed a $2,500 stock. The next day, almost before the smoking ruins had cooled, Mr. Peake put his men at work on several orders for harness in the room up stairs and they have been busy at work ever since. Meanwhile Mr. P. has opened out in the shop one door south of the old stand and will use that as a salesroom until he can repair the other building, which will be done as soon as he can get to it. He says The Journal had the correct estimate of the loss.

For Sale.

Good farm mare, one carriage and one cutter. Address R. G. Marlette, [48-51] Carman.

The I. O. O. F. Dedication

Held at their new hall on Tuesday evening was a grand success, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. A large number of guests from neighboring villages were present and all seemed to enjoy the exercises hugely. W. G. Nye, Grand Master, John H. Grasse, Dept. Grand Master, and R. T. Greene, Grand Conductor, were present to conduct the exercises. After the banquet, those so inclined, repaired to McKinnon's Hall where they tripped the light fantastic toe to their heart's content. All who were present unite in saying that they had a grand good time.

Those Bonds.

Our citizens will have an opportunity to say whether or not we shall give bonds in the sum of $8,300, in aid of the Rainy Lake, Crookston & Pacific R. R. We are assured that if the bonds are voted the road will be built and we are positive that the road will be worth all and more than all it costs us in the increase of trade it will bring to our city,—trade which is now cut off by a big swamp in the summer and a long, cold ride in the winter. From all that we can learn of the sentiment of our citizens we are led to the predection that the bonds will carry by a large majority. The tax payers seem to be largely in favor of it and all others have no reason to object. Let us have the road by all means.

Messrs. Fontaine and Anglim have the contract for carpeting and draperies for the new Opera House, and the genial Tim Donovan will be the artist to attend to it. The carpeting will be the newest and latest style called Agra. The boxes will be draped with Old Rose Velours and fringes in the very latest styles; the inside drapings will be Golden Blue Turcomans; the doors leading thereto and the windows will be draped in Old Rose and Biscuit Brown Turcomans; the two large arches and two openings from the foyer will be draped in Golden Blue Turcomans bound and trimmed, with fringes made of same. The ladies' toilet rooms will also be nicely draped to match. It is not every institution in the country that can do this kind of work and they will do themselves proud, regardless of expense.

New Spring Millinery.

LOOK OUT FOR ANNOUNCEMENT

—OF—

GRAND OPENING.

Miss Helen Halvorson is receiving her stock of spring millinery in all of the latest styles of the art, and is prepared to receive orders. The ladies are invited to call before making their purchases.

Another Man Speaks.

Prairie Farmer.

In your issue of Febuary 21, I find an article from the pen of Mr. W. H. Yater, of Marion county, Missouri, which I think something extraordinary. He starts out very nicely and lays down as a premise some unquestioned facts, such as: "We are well aware that the laboring element of this land, farmers, mechanics, shops keepers, etc., are becoming aroused to a realization of their condition as an unenviable one," and he here admits the tyrannical and oppressive power of money. But he says: "In our opinion the hard times and oppression of the masses are brought about by extravangance and profligacy and a lack of personal effort.. Is this the truth? or is it a gross libel on the great conservative, wealth-producing masses of this nation? From whence came the "brain and brawn" that has sustained the country in every emergency; and from whence has come the billions of money that has been necessary to defray expenses and uphold the nation's credit? To ask these questions is to suggest at once the answer:—The wealth producer. Turn to the home life of these wealth producers, and so far from profligacy, idleness and extravagance, they are the most perfect exemplars of the virtues of soberness, industry and economy that this country can produce. They undoubtedly have assisted in bringing on themselves their present unenviable condition; yet not by the methods which Mr. Yater points out, but by giving a too willing ear to political demagogue and yielding a too hearty obedience to the party bosses, who were deceiving them with false issues and lying promises, while these same poor boys who have grown so immensely wealth were frugally and industriously conferring on themselves through the nation's law the power to garner to themselves the harvest of wealth produced by these unsuspecting toilers.

It is the same old story that has made us tired so long, of laziness in the spring and overproduction in the fall. These wealth producers are not asking for other people's property, but are demanding justice—sturdy, old-fashioned American justice—and that it shall be embodied in the laws of the country, and if I am not mistaken in the temper of these people they will get what they ask.

Effingham Co., Ill. VOLNEY WILLETT

Political Treason.

Northfield News.

Last week The News printed an editorial extract from the Minneapolis Evening Journal which took the ground that jealousy among Republican leaders did as much as anything else to bring about the disastrous result in Minnesota in the November campaign. The Journal observes that it can name a dozen men who claimed leadership in the Republican party in Minnesota, everyone of whom wants something for himself, and is determined that others against whom he cherishes a bitter resentment, shall not have any political preference if he can help it, and would rather have the party defeated than have these men get any favors. We don't know where the Journal gathered this particular information, but we do know that it printed the truth as nearly as it could be given. It is an unvarnished fact that the envy, jealousy and selfish ambition of man has done more than anything else to bring the Republican party into its present condition. It has been a sort of rule or ruin policy with some men, and these men seemed to care more for themselves and their political future than they did for the party whose principles they pretended to espouse. Instances have been known where a prominent Republican has drawn his political knife on men in his own party, for no other reason than because he feared that the man might prevent dishonest intrigue in the future. The tendency in off years in Minnesota has been more toward the promotion of party principles. Knives have been religiously held on the grind-stone until such a time as the owners could use them to destroy a member of their own party who at some time may have had the courage to voice his honest convictions and voted for the men in conventions who seemed to him to be best fitted for the positions. Even with the writer's limited experience in politics, he has noticed more of this political blood-letting in Minnesota than would kill half a dozen pary organizations in States less strong than ours. Men in some instance have utterly disregarded the welfare of the party in order to promote then own success at the polls. Candidates for the petty office of coroner have been known to trade the head of the ticket in order to get votes for themselves. Other candidates have been known to make similar sacrifices of their colleagues on the ticket. But then this is not all. A few men who have been prominent in the councils of the party have taken the off year as a time for seeking personal revenge. The results might indicate to chronic growlers that there was some mismanagement, while at the same time the members of the committees in charge of the campaign throughout the State did all in their power to further the cause of the party and its candidates. But it is hard for any committee to secure the full measure of votes for its candidates when a few prominent Republicans are secretly doing all in their power to defeat one or more nominees. We sincerely believe that a political party should give the widest latitude of opinion possible to its members; and no man should be insulted or ostracised because he differs from some of the party leaders in matters of secondary importance. But no man can be a loyal party man who does not give his support to the chosen candidates of the party with which he affiliates. A man goes into a party organization with a full knowledge of its principles, but he cannot become a member in good standing unless he faithfully supports the nominees presented to him by the honest vote of the majority of the representatives of such party in convention assembled. In other words, his initiation is only complete when he supports the candidates on election day. It is this pretending to be a Republican, and the secretly conniving at the defeat of the candidates of the Republican party, that has done so much to bring about the disastrous results keenly felt last November. A political party is like an army, save that the leaders of the former are chosen by the popular suffrage of their fellow citizens; but these leaders once chosen, should receive the honest and combined support of every man professing the pary tenets, no matter what his personal or private grievances may be. No party is organized for the purpose of assisting in personal revenge or for the airing of the personal grievances of its members. By what right then can men who have helped to defeat Republican candidates come before that party and ask for its confidence? There is no doubt but what during the campaign of 1890, men who now pretend to be faithful Republicans, ignored the honestly nominated candidates of the party, and trained their heaviest guns upon some of their party associates. Some of them, it is rumored, expended money and made treasonable moves because they had a personal grudge against a candidate who was victorious in convention in a square and fair contest. It will not be long before some of these men will bob up serenely and try to secure some of the highest honors within the power of the Republican party of Minnesota to bestow. If we can judge from the past history of politics in this State, such men will be most likely to be honored. The bolter in Minnesota in the Republican party seems to have had smooth sailing in the past. There are instances where men openly opposed a ticket during one campaign, and in the next campaign secured prominent positions either by nomination or by appointment in the council of the party. No man who has not faithfully supported the nominees of an honest majority has any rights in the Republican party that the rank and file are bound to respect. Such men have placed themselves outside of the lines of the party. The only way for the Republican party in Minnesota to present a solid front is for the sinners to confess their errors and ask forgiveness for past political treason, and be taken back on probation a while before they are recognized as members of good standing in the party. The writer has no ambition in the direction of political favors, but believes that unless this tendency to knife every one who has the manliness and courage to speak his convictions, is checked, it will result in the ultimate and everlasting defeat of the party at the polls. The Minneapolis Evening Journal deserves much credit for calling attention to such infamous methods at this early date. It is to be hoped that the traitorous members of the party will profit by the advice, for if they do it will be possible to rule again by the accustomed majority. If the members of the Republican party will put aside their grievances, and get together on a common and honest ground, the party will gain the ascendency by an old-fashioned Republican majority in 1892. And six if not seven Republican congressmen will have seats in the lower house of the national legislature.

LINEN MILL DATA.

Spindlers to Be Whirring in Thirty Days Now—A Valuable Report

Minneapolis Journal.

The Minneapolis linen mills received last week two more carlonds of spinning machinery from Scotland. Manager Bayless hopes, with no further delay, to have the spindles whirring within 30 days. The company is receiving many samples of flax and tow grown in this state and much interest is being manifested in the new industry. It is not, however, expected to get a regular supply for the mill from Minnesota until after the next harvest, but the mill will be supplied largely during the interim with fibre from Canada.

The special committee of the legislature on flax and hemp fibres, of which Hon. Chas. M. Bell, of St. Paul, is chairman, has just submitted a very valuable report to the legislature, giving the result of their investigations. The report is thorough and exhaustive and contains letters from some of the best known flax grower and manufacturers of the state. The committee is desirous that the legislature give it a large circulation among Minnesota farmers, holding that the legislature could not expend a few thousands at this time more judiciously than in printing and circulating an edition of at least 100,000 copies of this report. Altogether, the outlook for the new industry is most flattering.

Pensions Helped Avert the Panic.

National Tribune.

The danger of a panic, which seemed so alarmingly imminent at the beginning of last winter, is now definitely past, and the country, recovering from the temporary scare, has started on a new career of prosperity, which we are sanguine will be long-enduring. There is no doubt in the mind of any man at all familiar with the facts that nothing did more to avert the panic than the large pension disbursements. So long as the Pension Bureau was diffusing among the common people about $33,000,000 every three months, there could not be a severely stringent lack of ready money in the country. This $33,000,000 did the work that 10 times that amount would not have done in the hands of bankers and money lords, for it did not lie idle a day. It was turned over and over constantly from the very moment it was received from the Pension Agents' hands. Everybody got some of it, everybody's business was helped by it, and every wheel of industry and trade was lubricated by it.

More money was paid the bondholders than the veterans, but that paid the bondholders was nothing like the help to the country that the pension payments were. It went into the vaults of New York capitalists and bankers, to be used in stock speculations and other operations of no especial benefit to the people. One hundred dollars of pension money probably paid inside of three months, many thousand dollars of debts to butchers, bakers, workingmen, dry-goods merchants, grocers, etc., where $1,000 paid the bondholder lay idle in the bank, or was put up as margins on a stock speculation. Had there been a panic it would have cost the country many times as much money as has been paid out for pensions since the system began. The aid given, therefore, in averting a panic by paying out some $134,000,000 for pensions was an excellent investment for the country, from a purely financial point of view.

Strange Revolution in Women's Dress—Will American Ladies Dare Adopt It?

Some predict that the great change in the fashioning of the clothes which are to be worn by women this coming season is the most wonderful victory of the nineteenth century—if fashion leaders can be induced to adopt it, and appear just once in public so arrayed.

Men will hold their breath in wonder at the marvelous change it makes in lovely woman. "Few of the fair sex can help being beautiful in these glove-fitting costumes," says a writer in a recent number of The New York and Paris Young Ladis' Fashion Bazar. "The magazine is the only one in Europe or America which makes a specialty of giving those inclined to stoutness an unrivaled appearance of sculptured slimness," said Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales. Madame Patti has ordered from the Paris house four magnificent costumes, the designs of which appear in the April number of this Fashion Bazar—and in this magazine only.

Mrs. Harrison is greatly fascinated with the exquisite gem, costume No. 4, in the April number. It is expected she will give an order for an exact counterpart of it, the whole front of which will be incrusted with pin-head diamonds. This gown alone will be worth a king's ransom.

Open The Crookston House.

Pauline Harvey and Troupe Open the Crookston House.

Grand Forks Plaindealer.

Mr. C. H. Truesdell, formerly with the Wilson Theatre company is in the city today. After the disbandment of the Wilson Company at St. Peter, Mr. Truesdell assumed the management of the Boston Comic Opera Company, Miss Pauline Harvey, prima Donna, and is destined to Crookston to make arrangements for the opening of the new opera house there by that company on April 13th, 14th and 15th. The company will play three nights in Grand Forks, April 16th, 17th and 18. In all likehood a number of our citizens will patronize the opening of the new Crookston opera house There's some talk already of a special train being chartered for the occasion.

Marshall County Leader:—The St. Hilaire Spectator last week contained foreclosure publications for twenty-eight farm mortgage sales. The Crookston papers are not far in the rear and there are more than a dozen other papers in Polk county engaged in the same work. The great bulk of this foreclosure business may be set down as a direct result of the nefarious interest legislation going on at St. Paul. It will be a great snap for the newspaper men in this part of the state if the interest bill becomes a law however. The notices referred to above if paid for at legal rates will alone keep the wolf from Bro. Ives' door for many moons.

Prof. O. C. Morton, the geologist and mining expert, has completed a list of 133 metals, minerals, ores and rocks found in the territory tributary to Great Falls, Montana. The Belt Mountain region southeast of Great Falls into which the Great Northern is extending two branch lines, has the greatest variety of minerals in Montana, rightly termed the "Treasure State." The new silver and copper smelter being built at Great Falls will be the largest in the United States.

Leaflets giving desirable information about "Soil Cultivation." "Sugar Beets," "Flax Fibre," and "Poultry Raising," sent free by F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A., Great Northern Railway, St. Paul, Minn. or furnished by Agent Fegan, of this place.

Navy or common white beans can be profitably raised in Minnesota and the Dakotas. As a large quantity of beans is now imported from foreign lands, there is no present danger of overdoing the industry.

Celery is something every farmer should have in his garden. And there should be a good many substantial products in the farm and town gardens. We should produce more of the things we eat than we do. Let us begin the diversity this year; it is coming to that and the sooner we get at it the better. The man who is tied up to one crop is going to lose in the end.

The chicken business is a matter of wonderful importance to the table comfort and the financial outlook of the American farmer. Government statistics show that the annual expenditures in this line is over $500,000,000; and, despite the immense production of eggs, several million dollars worth are annually imported to meet the deficiency of the home supply.

It has been asserted that a given amount of food and attention will produce as many pounds of chicken flesh as it will of hog flesh. If so, why cannot farmers make poultry raising profitable and eat nutritious chicken meat instead of so much bacon? A pound of bird meat will produce more good brain, physical strength and muscular power than a pound of fat bacon.

Few will question the claim that the more a man knows about his business the more profitable he can make it. Competition is so close now in everything that the best posted man is usually the successful one. Farming is a science, and every farmer should not only have the best books relating to his business, but he should take agricultural journals as well as his home papers,

The Agricultural Experiment Station at St Anthony Park, Minn., will supply seed free to Minnesota farmers who are willing to experiment with sugar beets. Practical co-operation is desired. Address Prof. W. M. Hays, at St. Anthony Park. The farmers of North Dakota can get a supply from H. F. Helgesen, Commissioner of Agriculture and labor, Grand Forks, N. D. It can also be had from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Rufus Hatch, the banker and rail road king, made his start in raising vegetables. All cannot make millions of dollars, but all farmers should raise millions of vegetables.

Havermeyer, the great sugar refiner of New York, has a poultry farm, with from 1,200 to 1,500 chickens. He supplies his own table and makes $1,000 or more a year, besides.

The timber culture and pre-emtion laws have been repealed. Public lands can now be taken only under the homestead act. The best free lands yet remaining are found in Minnesota and the Dakotas.

Stockmen should send to the Department of Agriculture, Washington D. C., for the work on "Diseases of Horses." It is illustrated with handsomely colored plates, and is sent free to applicants as long as the edition holds out.

The "Agricultural Grasses and Forage Plants" of the United States, published by the Agricultural Department at Washington, D. C., is a valuable work to any farmer who knows the worth of grass on a farm. Can be had by writing to your Congressman, or to the Department direct.

A good many people think a chicken unworthy of attention, but it is really a great industry. There is a duck farm in New England that netted the owner last year $4,000. Samuel J. Tilden was a great chicken fancier, and all the world knows that ex-President Hayes has a chicken farm,

Eugene Bosse of St. Paul Park, Minn., who has had long and successful experience in raising flax and making fibre, is willing to visit any locality and render what service he can in connection with the erection of small mills, to enable a neighborhood of farmers to have flax straw turned into fibre. For particulars, address him at St. Paul Park, Minn.

AUCTION!

Having disposed of my farm, I will sell at auction on the premises, Section 29, town of Euclid, on Friday, April 3d, 1891, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m., the following property, viz: 5 good mares, with foal; 1 four year old mare; 2 three year old mares; one five year old gelding; 1 four year old gelding; 3 three year old geldings; 3 two year old geldings; 3 yearlings; 1 registered Polled Angus bull, 2 years old; 15 well bred fresh cows and springers; 15 sheep; 2 farm wagons; 1 mowing machine; 1 wheel rake; 2 gang plows; 2 sulky plows; 2 walking plows; 3 drags; 2 old harvesters; 1 sled; 1 Diamond feed mill; 1 sett platform scales; 1 sett double harness; 2 saddles; 1 stove; dairy utensils, &c.

Terms of Sale:—All sums under $10 cash. On all sums over $10, 5 per cent discount for cash, or time until Nov. 1st, 1891, on good approved notes bearing interest at 8 per cent per annum.

E. L. SMITH, Prop.

J. B. [illegible], Auctioneer.

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN, MINNESOTA,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

Doors, Windows and Mouldings

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY

—AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED—

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when in need of anything in my line.

Trade at HOLMBOE'S,

THE ROBERT ST. DEALER

—IN—

General Merchandise!

J. V. E. WYATT,

UNDERTAKER

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered and Orders Taken for

NEW GOODS.

A Full Stock of Picture Frames and Material.

Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK,

OF CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

Organized Under the State Laws.

Authorized capital $200,000. Paid up capital, $50,000. Undivided profits $10,500

Buys Bonds, School and Town Orders. Special attention to collections. Interest on time deposits.

OFFICERS.

C. HENDRICKSON, President.
O. H. LUCKEN, 2d Vice-President.
A. G. GALLASCH, Vice President
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier.
A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

C. O. Christianson. E. P. Pierce. O. H Lucken. A. D. Stephens. A. G. Gallasch. H. Steenerson. J. H. Lockin, C. Hendrickson. Max Ericsson. L. K. Aaker. A. E. Johnson, St. Paul

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,
(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

H. STEENERSON

ATTORNEY AT LAW

CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEAT

ATTYS-AT-LAW.

McKinnon Block. Crookston, Minn

Valley Roller Mills

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE FLOUR

From selected Red River Wheat.

Lee & Herrick's Best.
North Star.
Fife.
Skip Jack.

☞ We exchange flour for wheat on equitable terms.

LEE & HERRICK.

THE THOROUGHBRED

Trotting Stallion

RICHWOOD JR.,

Will stand for the coming season on Monday and Tuesday of each week at Euclid, and the balance of the week at Collins' stables, Crookston.

Richwood Jr. was bred by O. J. Lomen, Decorah, Iowa, sired by Richwood, who has a record of 2:32 and who sired many noted trotters, among them Morfield, record 2:29, Trial 2:20, Kate M. 2:30, and Mohawk 2:50; grand sire Clarks Mohawk, record 2:25, which noted horse sired many noted trotters, among them Mohawk Maid, record 2:20½, single; to pole 2:17. Fashion, record 2:23½; Lady Clark, 2:27; Jessie private trial, 2:20; Blondin 2:26; Mohawk Hambletonian 2:30; Frank 2:50; Bush 2:42; Mohawk Jr. 2:42; Mohawk Hambletonian sired the noted Keno F., 2:17, that was sold for $15,000.

The attention of farmers and breeders is called to this noted descendent of a long line of trotters. Be sure to see him before engaging service elsewhere.

FLINT BROS., Prop's.

G. P. PASEMAN, Manager.

Farmers' Bulletin, No. 3, just issued by the National Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., is devoted to sugar beets. Sent free to all applicants.

For Sale or to Rent.

My farm on Maple Lake, situated one-half mile from railroad. The right party can coin money. If not sold soon will rent. For further particulars address.

MINOR ROOD, Mentor, Minn.

Call on Mrs. I. U. Jennings for Easter millinery goods, for she has just received a large assortment of trimmed hats, flowers, ribbons, laces, notions, &c., all of the latest styles and at prices lower than ever before. [49-50]

For Sale.

A good high grade Holstein cow, two weeks in milk. Gives from 8 to 10 quarts at a milking, without bran. Enquire of M. E. Bartlett, Fairfax or at JOURNAL office.

TEACHER WANTED.

To commence term on April 6th, in School Dist. No. 55. Apply to the clerk of said district, Jas. Greenhalgh, Jr. Crookston, Minn. [48-50]

FARM FOR SALE.

The northwest quarter of Section 20, Township 153, Range 47, two miles west of Angus. Inquire of or write

W. D. PALMSTIER,

[36-tf] Lisbon, N. Dakota.

The New York Times recently printed a series of entertaining letters, descriptive of a trip by Charles Hallock over the Great Northern Railway through Minnesota and North Dakota to Montana. He is enthusiastic over the future of the treasure state, as he is with the entire region traversed by the Great Northern.

Crookston Meat Market

E. STEENERSON, Proprietor. E. ERIKSON, Manager.

Dealers in Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, &c. Orders delivered at any point. For a square deal call on them.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office in McKinnon Block.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon

OFFICE IN

McKinnon Block, Crookston

E. STEENERSON,

Agent for the Continental Insurance Company, N. Y., and the N. Y. Life. Solicits the patronage of all who want anything in that line. These Co's are evidently the best in the U. S. Steenerson, residing in our midst, should certainly receive the patronage in preference to strangers and representatives of snide Co's. ☞ CALL ON ELI!

W. A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

P. J. RUSSELL,

Attorney-at-Law,

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Next to Merchants Bank

DR. M. WATTS,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants Bank. ☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

Another Man Speaks.

Prairie Farmer.

In your issue of Febuary 21, I find an article from the pen of Mr. W. H. Yater, of Marion county, Missouri, which I think something extraordinary. He starts out very nicely and lays down as a premise some unquestioned facts, such as: "We are well aware that the laboring element of this land, farmers, mechanics, shops keepers, etc., are becoming aroused to a realization of their condition as an unenviable one," and he here admits the tyrannical and oppressive power of money. But he says: "In our opinion the hard times and oppression of the masses are brought about by extravagance and profligacy and a lack of personal effort." Is this the truth? or is it a gross libel on the great conservative, wealth-producing masses of this nation? From whence came the "brain and brawn" that has sustained the country in every emergency; and from whence has come the billions of money that has been necessary to defray expenses and uphold the nation's credit? To ask these questions is to suggest at once the answer:—The wealth producer. Turn to the home life of these wealth producers, and so far from profligacy, idleness and extravagance, they are the most perfect exemplars of the virtues of soberness, industry and economy that this country can produce. They undoubtedly have assisted in bringing on themselves their present unenviable condition; yet not by the methods which Mr. Yater points out, but by giving a too willing ear to political demagogue and yielding a too hearty obedience to the party bosses, who were deceiving them with false issues and lying promises, while these same poor boys who have grown so immensely wealth were frugally and industriously conferring on themselves through the nation's law the power to garner to themselves the harvest of wealth produced by these unsuspecting toilers.

It is the same old story that has made us tired so long, of laziness in the spring and overproduction in the fall. These wealth producers are not asking for other people's property, but are demanding justice—sturdy, old-fashioned American justice—and that it shall be embodied in the laws of the country, and if I am not mistaken in the temper of these people they will get what they ask.

Effingham Co., Ill. Volney Willett

Political Treason.

Northfield News.

